Warrant closes Oct. 6

Town meeting members face 28 articles this fall

Winchester town meeting members will be faced with 28 articles on the town warrant this fall town meeting which begins Monday, Nov. 6.

The following is a list of the articles and a brief explanation of each: Article 1: Receive the reports from the town officers;

Article 2: Charter changes. Town meeting will clarify the dismissal procedure of the acting town manager; the process for hiring temporary and seasonal help; extending the time for posting and filling vacancies; permitting the adoption of the school budget at an earlier time following a public hearing; establishing a cutoff of 45 days for warrant articles; requiring 10 voter signatures for a warrant article; changing the word "district" to "precinct"; correcting grammatical and typographical errors; forming a nine-member school committee; forming a seven-member school committee; forming a six-member department of public works board; electing a five-member department of public works board;

Article 3: By-law changes. Establishing a permanent human services committee; establishing the duties of the capital planning committee; defining the selectmen's duties regarding Wildwood Cemetery; availing copies of town laws by the town clerk to citizens; setting a number of dogs permitted per resident in town; extending a town meeting member's speaking time at town meeting; forfeiting a town meeting member's seat if vacant; correcting typographical errors in the by-laws;

Article 4: Transferring from sale of real estate account to pay judgments. The issue is in Superior Court litigation at the present time and, if a decision is not reached by November, the matter will be stricken from the warrant;

Article 5: Ratifying or rejecting collective bargaining agreements and appropriating funds for town and Town Employees Association and town and police negotiations. The town is awaiting a "long overdue" fact-finder's report in the police talks and, with the TEA, a fact finder has just been appointed;

Article 6: Supplementary appropriations. Ratifying or rejecting $48,000 in hauling and disposal costs;

Article 7: Accepting highway safety grant and appropriate funds for a $7000 police cruiser and a $1000 radar unit;

Article 8: Accepting or rejecting a mini-bus system in town. The article will be stricken if the MBTA rejects Winchester's proposal;

Article 9: Management information system study. Hiring a consultant to look into the needs of all of Winchester's operations and to see if it is necessary to update or replace computer equipment in town;

Article 10: High school construction litigation. Case has been continued so the article may also be stricken this November;

Article 11: Assessor's appropriation. Approving or rejecting a board of assessor's request for additional funds to begin 100 percent revaluation in town even though the board has not decided to go ahead with valuation this year;

Article 12: Petition the general court for the release of park restriction on the department of public works complex land;

Article 13: Conservation Commission. Transferring 22 and 26 Highland ave. to the commission;

Article 14-22: Planning board zoning changes;

Article 23: Licensing of dancing schools in town;

Article 24: Library gift. Accepting a bequest from the estate of Margaret Linnane to the Winchester Public Library;

Article 25: Approve anti-recessionary funds.

Article 26: Report of Alternative Uses of Schools Committee;

Article 27: Report of Committee on Names. The committee establishes names for parks and buildings in town;

Article 28: Report of other town committees. Stricken from the original articles was a proposal to transfer the police department into the Winchester Savings Bank on Mt. Vernon street. Town Manager Thomas Groux said the town and the bank could not move on the proposal before the town meeting.

For kindergarten

Parents petition to change schedule

"How can you be in two places at once?" reads the proverbial question, and some of Winchester's kindergarten teachers are facing that very dilemma.

As a result of pressure from parents to extend the afternoon kindergarten sessions from two to three hours this year, the school board voted to change the schedule. (Morning sessions were already three hours long.) Under the new scheme, the morning session ends at 11:45—and the afternoon session begins at 11:45.

Now a group of parents is petitioning the board to reverse their decision and go back to the old schedule, arguing that the whole purpose of extending the afternoon session—to give students more time with the teacher—has been defeated by the confusion of having no break between the two sessions.

The parents are planning to take their petition to the school committee meeting at Sanborn House tonight. However, board Chairman Constance Papas said that since the topic was too late to make the regular agenda, the committee would receive the petition and hear a few comments from parents but avoid any lengthy lengthy discussion until their Oct. 16 meeting.

The problem for the kindergarten teachers is two-fold. First of all, three teachers handle a morning session at one school and an afternoon session at another school. Because of the new schedule, they cannot travel between schools and be at both sessions for the entire scheduled time.

Secondly, teachers by contract are allowed one half hour for lunch, and there is no time for this either under the new schedule.

The administration has tried to adapt to this situation in several ways. Superintendent William MacDonald assured that the teachers were being allowed a half hour for lunch and, where necessary, an extra 15 minutes for travel time between schools. MacDonald said that in the interim period, other staff members were covering the kindergarten classes

One of the parents' complaints is that unauthorized personnel were being used to cover the classrooms, including "janitors, secretaries, and teacher aides."

MacDonald denied that janitors were being used to cover classes and said the schools were using "a teacher aide where they are available, a clerical aide when available, or a lunchroom aide, and, wherever possible, an education specialist." He said the specialists and physical education instructors were providing legitimate instructional time for the children.

Noonan parents have said they will "boycott" the first portion of the afternoon session by not bringing their children in until 12:15. The parents say they feel the interim period is being spent "babysitting" the children.

Last spring, parents urged the school board to extend the afternoon session. Morning sessions were (and still are) three hours long, running from 8:45 to 11:45. Afternoon sessions used to run from 12:45 to 2:45 p.m. They now run from 11:45 to 2:45.

Teachers commute from morning to afternoon sessions between Parkhurst and Vinson-Owen, Lincoln and Mystic, and Washington and Noonan. A single teacher handles the two sessions at Muraco; and Ambrose has a half-time teacher for its one morning session.

"We're in a spot where it's really educationally unsound," commented Richard Young, principal at the Muraco School. "The wear and tear on the kindergarten teacher is such that over the long run, I think the advantage of the extra time will really end up being a disadvantage... We're not really giving them more time."

Meetings scheduled

School use study under way

The committee set up to study alternative uses of closed schools in Winchester is looking for public input, and they have scheduled a series of meetings through October which are open to the public.

The committee, which has chosen local consultant John Kent to perform the study and make recommendations, consists of Carolyn Ward, Harry Chelaflo, and Charles Tseckares.

They will begin by looking at the Parkhurst School, scheduled to close in Sept., 1979. Noonan and Washington are set to close the following year; and the administration will be moving from Sanborn House to the Lynch School, also in 1980.

The schedule of meetings runs right up to town meeting; the committee hopes to have a report ready by then. The meeting schedule is as follows:

Friday, Oct. 6, 5 p.m., regular meeting, first floor conference room. Review of neighborhood meetings.

Young added that the teacher at Muraco "doesn't take a lunch break" and works six hours straight with two classes of kindergarten children. "We've been trying it since the beginning of school, and it's just not working out," he concluded.

Though she admitted she hasn't had enough time to think the problem through, Mrs. Papas felt that "the new hours are working well in some schools and not so well in others. If we all get together and talk it through, I think we can work out the problems. I think it's a question of what is happening in the classroom when the teacher's not there."

An additional complaint from parents is that they have little or no time to meet with the teachers before or after school. MacDonald pointed out that "that's a legitimate complaint" but suggested it was caused more by the teachers having to commute between schools rather than by the schedule.

Lincoln parents met at the home of Susan Forgive Tuesday and generally agreed with the Noonan parents' position. (Rosemarie Eggert, a Muraco parent, reports on that meeting in this week's Guest column on page 4.)

Diane McCord from Muraco said the parents there were not responding as positively to the petition drive as they were at other schools. She noted that the Muraco teacher stays in the same building all day. Mrs. McCord also felt some of the new parents who had not had experience with the old schedule were standing behind the concept of maintaining three-hour kindergarten sessions for both morning and afternoon classes.

For candidates

GOP women plan buffet

Winchester voters will have a chance to hear Republican candidates for state and local office at the Winchester Women's Republican Club's annual buffet supper Oct. 12.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church. The food served is cooked by club members, and instead of a fee, members bring casseroles, salad, or dessert.

Townpeople are invited to attend to hear such Republican candidates as Frank Hatch, John Sears, and local Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr.

Those unable to bring food will be asked to make a small donation towards expenses. Chairman of the program is Marcia Saltmarsh. Jennifer Flowers is organizing the buffet. Reservations may be made by calling Susan Pond at 729-1437, Mrs. Ralph Swanson club president, at 729-2423, or Mrs. W.E. Underwood at 729-2264.

Candidates night in Wilmington

Sen. Edward W. Brooke and Rep. Paul Tsongas will speak at a candidates night sponsored by the League of Women Voters next week in Wilmington.

Leagues of a group of towns including Medford, Stoneham, Reading and Wilmington are holding a public forum for the candidates running for the United States Senate, as well as the candidates for Secretary of State, Attorney General, Treasurer and Auditor at the state level.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 12 at the Wilmington High School.

This is a service to voters and all are welcome.

Malden man, 69, dies while cleaning gutters

A 69-year-old Malden man was stricken by a heart attack Monday while cleaning gutters on a Chestnut street house and fell several feet backwards off a ladder he was working on, according to Winchester Police.

Paul H. Smith was pronounced dead on arrival at Winchester Hospital at about 9 a.m. by Dr. James Selevan who listed the cause of death as a heart attack. He said the fall did not cause his death, according to Winchester Police Officer Kevin Mawn, who investigated the accident.

Mawn said a 25-year-old fellow worker of Smith's was talking to Smith when the conversation lapsed and he saw Smith falling from the ladder. Mawn said the fellow worker tried to break Smith's fall and managed to grab him before hitting the ground. Four Winchester fire fighters tended to Smith before a Woburn ambulance transported him to the hospital. The Winchester ambulance was busy on another call.

Mawn said he was surprised that Smith was 69. "He was in good shape and he looked a lot younger than 69," he said. Mawn said Smith and two younger co-workers specialize in roofing and gutter cleaning, but the three men were not incorporated as a company. He said the trio's truck was registered to Smith under Smith's name and not a company name.

In other business, a runaway motorist struck a traffic signal early Saturday morning at Laraway road and Church street and damaged a curb, shrubs, and a bike rack.

Witnesses said the light pole stretched across Church street, blocking traffic before department of public works employees removed the fixture. The light pole was replaced Tuesday. Police said the motorist had left the scene before a cruiser arrived.

Kay Ross leaves fire dept; fellow workers praise her

Kay Ross is heading west. After four "wonderful" years as senior account clerk of the Winchester Fire Department, Kathryn Ross is packing her bags this week and moving to Phoenix, Ariz. Monday.

Friends and co-workers honored her at two occasions during her last weeks of work.

Members of the Winchester women's clerical union gathered recently at the Colonial Hilton Inn in Lynnfield to bid her farewell and present her with a gift—jewelry.

Kay is president of the women's association.

Soon after the Colonial Hilton dinner, on her last day of work last Friday, about 20 fire fighters shared cake and ice cream between fires with Kay in appreciation of her service. Fire Chief Robert McElhinney said Kay has been "a very faithful worker." He continued, "She's dependable, honest and sincere. She has a lot of humor. Amongst the problems, she would always manage a smile and it would make our day go better."

The chief said Mrs. Ross has especially been helpful to him. "I have been associated with her since September of 1975 when I became chief and, at that time, she was a big help to me since she knew how the department operated and I was just learning. It was nice to have her in here," McElhinney said.

Mrs. Ross said she loved her four years working at the fire station. "I worked with marvelous people and a great bunch of guys," she said.

As her final hours passed away on the second floor of the fire station, the men tried to get Kay to slide down the fire pole for her first and final time. But, she said, she purposely wore a dress Friday so that she would not have to make the slide.

Topsfield Fair

Now celebrating its 154th year, the Topsfield Fair is just as much an extraordinary as ever. It's a world unto itself, with animals, flowers, midways, performances, lots of competitions and mountains of food, to mention just some of the features. In fact, you may have to go two or three times, just to get acquainted with it all.

Fall Foliage

The autumn leaves are turning to red and gold all around Metro-Boston. Now's the time to get out and see them—by car, bike, foot, train, even canoe.

Fire dept. battles Fells fires to begin fire prevention month

Some Winchester fire fighters spent most of their weekend battling incendiary fires at the Fells this weekend, according to Fire Chief Robert McElhinney.

McElhinney reports that at least 12 acres of forest land were destroyed by fires which were believed to be set by juveniles.

The fires come at the beginning of fire prevention month across the nation. The chief said the fires, which stretch along the north, south, and middle reservoirs of the Fells, are "very difficult to fight."

He said the fires are usually set in remote areas where there is no water. He said in one fire this weekend, fire fighters had to lay 1800 feet of hose to get to the fire.

According to the chief, he has sent a letter to Metropolitan District Commission police who have jurisdiction over the area to patrol the area more heavily for "a bad element" of youths who McElhinney believes have set the fires.

McElhinney also requested from the MDC a water tank truck to provide enough water for fire fighters to battle the fires. He said his men spent about 25 hours over three days last weekend fighting the fires. He said he has sent "up to three trucks" to the fires.

McElhinney said because the heat is so intense in the Fells fires that underground fires are ignited and the only way to extinguish those fires is to "flood the area with thousands of gallons of water." He said the fire teams left Sunday evening after dousing a fire and had to return Monday morning to extinguish underground fires.

go up to fight the underground fires," McElhinney said.

In other fire calls, the Winchester Fire Department was called Friday night to assist Medford fire squads in battling a four-alarm fire at a furniture store on Boston avenue.

In fire prevention month reports, Chief McElhinney said carelessness, disregard for established fire prevention policies, and ignorance account for a "large percentage of the nation's 1.3 million building fires each year." He said other than incendiary fires, current statistics show that the leading causes of fire are: electrical; smoking and matches; heating and cooking equipment; open flames and sparks; children and matches; flammable liquids; and chimneys and flues.

Winchester Fire Department's suggestions for avoiding such fires include:

Electrical: Heed warnings such as sparking equipment, dimming lights, blowing fuses. Take defective equipment out of service immediately.

Smoking and Matches: Obey the age-old warning not to smoke in bed. Let ashes and cigarette butts cool overnight in ashtrays.

Heating and Cooking Equipment: Keep in good working order, free of grease, well away from furnishings, such as curtains which catch fire easily.

Open Flames and Sparks: Again, keep away from combustible furnishings, and guard against clothing catching fire.

Children and Matches: Keep matches and lighters well out of the reach of children.

Flammable liquids: Store only minimal amounts, keep in a cool place away from pilot lights and other open flames.

Chimneys and flues: Keep in good repair and clean at least once a year.

Chief McElhinney also suggested that families plan their escape route before fire strikes.

He said, "If we all practice these recommendations, Winchester will continue to be a fire-safe community."

Contradictions?

Gunshot victim recovering; police investigating stories

Richard J. Zanolli, the 23-year-old man who was accidentally shot last week at the White Hen Pantry on Main street, is doing "very well" at Winchester Hospital, according to Dr. Hugh McCarthy, chief of surgery.

Dr. McCarthy reported that Zanolli may be taken out of the intensive care unit this week after surviving a 38-caliber gunshot wound through his heart, lung and major arteries. Dr. Thomas Boyd last week performed emergency wound treatment on the man and Dr. McCarthy attributed the man's welfare to Dr. Boyd's work.

Winchester Police will interrogate Zanolli, of 7 Kenwin rd. on the accident as soon as he leaves the intensive care unit. Police Chief John McHugh said Monday that there are unanswered questions about the accident.

He said he does not believe the gun would have been discharged by falling to the floor even if it was cocked. According to witnesses, Zanolli and a friend had entered the store late one night last week and that the friend's gun fell out of his jacket pocket, hit the floor, discharged and hit Zanolli who was standing opposite the friend on the other side of a counter.

Chief McHugh said the friend's gun has since been turned into police by the friend's father, a Winchester police officer. Police have also revoked the man's gun license.

According to the chief, the gun was not holstered and that the friend was carrying it between his belt and his person by his stomach. The chief said the friend had gone to the bathroom in the store and transferred the gun from his belt position into his jacket pocket.

Witnesses said the friend was leaning over a counter and, when he stood upright, the jacket caught the counter and pushed the gun out of the pocket. "Even if it (the gun) was cocked, I don't think it would have gone off," Chief McHugh said.

The gun has been sent to the State Police ballistics unit for investigation. McHugh said the investigation will either confirm or falsify witnesses' stories about the incident.

According to McHugh, some witness stories have been contradictory. He said one witness said he heard a shot and then a thud. (a body hitting the floor), while another witness said he heard a thud and then a shot.

McHugh said the 21-year-old man works for a Burlington gun shop and was licensed to handle a gun since, in his job, he would have to transport guns.

No charges have been filed against the man, Sgt. Angelo Amico and Sgt. Inspector Roland Roy are investigating the case.

The Star inadvertently reported last week that charges will be sought against the man whose gun discharged when it fell to the floor, wounding Richard Zanolli. No charges have been brought against the man.

★ Police

said $40 in cash, $5 in pennies, and $8 in gas was stolen from the property, but there was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Winchester Police Friday arrested a Woburn man in connection with a larceny at the Winchester Red Cross building two weeks ago.

Patrick Kline of Woburn was charged with uttering a forged check, breaking and entering in the daytime, and larceny over $100, arraigned in Woburn District Court, and was released on personal recognizance. His case was continued to Oct. 12.

Police arrested Kline when he tried to cash the stolen checks at the Bay-Bank Trust Company. The company's cameras captured the suspect on film and police were able to apprehend him at his home.

A two-hour blackout left about 200 Winchester residents without electricity Sunday night. A defective switch in a Stoneham circuit caused the blackout, according to William Jones, an Edison Co. official.

The blackout was reported at 5:50 p.m. and electricity was not restored until 8:08 p.m., Jones said.

Jones said it took that long for his men to locate the problem which affected residents of Forest street, parts of Washington street, Hinds road, Sunset road, and Sawmill Brook road.

2nd government lecture Tuesday

The second in a five part lecture series entitled, "Our American Government: Its Origins, Current Problems and Future Prospects," will be offered on Tuesday evening, Oct. 10 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., in the Social Studies Open Area at Winchester High School.

Once again, William P. O'Connor, director of social studies for the Town of Winchester, will be the featured speaker.

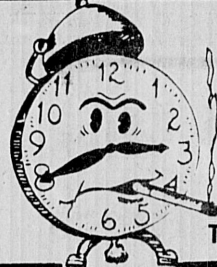

His talk will focus on the development of our current federal system of government, highlighting the Philadelphia Convention, the ratification of the Constitution, the crisis in federalism during the Civil War period, the growth of the executive branch of government during the 20th Century, and the limitation of executive power in the post-Vietnam, post-Watergate era.

O'Connor will draw on pertinent events and personalities of the administrations of Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Polk, Lincoln, The Roosevelts, Wilson, Truman, Johnson and Nixon.

The lecture series is being jointly sponsored by the Winchester Adult Education Program and the Winchester High School Social Studies Department and is free of charge.

In The Odyssey, Homer wrote the "Laughter-loving Aphrodite went to Cyprus to Paphos where is her realm and fragrant altar." Located in the Eastern Mediterranean 44 miles south of Turkey and 64 miles west of Syria, Cyprus has been the subject of many great legends. It is said that Venus or Aphrodite was born there, arriving on shore in a giant seashell. This legend has been glorified in paint by both Botticelli and Odilon Redon, and the beach where Venus is said to have landed is today a popular bathing spot, located between Paphos and Limasso, in the south part of the island.

Final vote Monday

Liquor license regulations proposed to selectmen

One and a half years after the town directed the selectmen in a spring referendum to develop rules and regulations for serving alcoholic beverages in restaurants, selectmen Monday night addressed the rules.

Selectman Chairman Edward O'Connell said the board has been "delinquent" in adopting the rules, but Town Manager Thomas Groux said it was more his fault than the selectmen's for the delay. The rules will be adopted Monday after refinement by the town counsel.

The following is the proposed regulations for opening restaurants serving alcoholic beverages:

Preamble

The board of selectmen, by exercising their licensing authority intend to secure for the benefit of the Winchester residents a quality restaurant in an appropriate facility which shall be given the privilege and license to serve alcoholic beverages.

Authority

The board of selectmen are authorized to issue up to three licenses in the Town of Winchester for the sale of alcoholic beverages by restaurants having a seating capacity of not less than 100 persons. (Authority, Town of Winchester election, March — 1978; Chapter 908 - Acts of 1977.)

Rules and regulations; amendments; conditions and restrictions:

Any license issued by the Winchester Board of Selectmen under the above authority shall be processed in accord with the procedures listed herein and shall be subject to the rules and regulations for such licenses attached to these instructions.

The board of selectmen may, from time to time, adopt further rules and regulations or amend the existing rules and regulations and all such changes shall apply to existing license holders from the date of the adoption.

The board of selectmen may attach such conditions and restrictions to each such license as it deems to be in the public interest.

State statutes and ABC regulations:

License holders shall also be subject to the statutes of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the rules and regulations of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission as applicable.

Local laws, codes

All such licenses shall also be issued contingent upon the continued compliance with all appropriate state and municipal licenses and permits which may pertain to the operation of premises such as, but not limited to, the state building code; common victualer license requirements; food handlers permit; and, if appropriate, entertainment and/or amusement licenses.

Compliance by property owner:

Property occupied by the licensee, whether owned or leased by the licensee, shall conform with all town by-laws and codes. Failure to comply with said by-laws or codes shall be sufficient cause for revocation or suspension of said license by the board of selectmen.

Filing of application, fee, s licenses:

All license applications must be "complete" before being processed by the board of selectmen. An application shall be considered "complete" and therefore accepted by the town when it has been filed in accord with these procedural instructions and all forms required have been fully completed and executed.

Filing fees must be paid prior to acceptance of the application by the town. Annual license fees shall be payable immediately upon approval of the license by the board of selectmen. Filing fees and license fees shall be paid for by certified check.

Filing fees are non-refundable once an application has been accepted by the selectmen. License fees shall not be prorated and once paid are not refundable in whole or in part.

Public hearing, notification of abutters:

Upon acceptance of an application, a preliminary determination that the tendered documents are sufficiently complete so as to warrant consideration of the merits of the application(s) the board of selectmen will hold at least one public hearing.

The public hearing shall be conducted within 30 days of acceptance of a complete application. The applicant shall notify all abutters of the public hearing and of his intention to seek a liquor-restaurant license from the town.

Prior to the public hearing, the applicant shall present evidence to the town of his compliance with this notification requirement.

Non-compliance:

Any license issued for the sale in any manner of any alcoholic beverages shall be issued on the condition that there shall be strict compliance with all of the rules and regulations of the board of selectmen as described herein.

The failure to comply with these rules and regulations shall be a sufficient cause or grounds for refusing to grant the license or permit, or for suspending, canceling, or revoking a license or permit already granted after giving said licensee due notice of the alleged non-compliance and an opportunity to be heard.

Content of Application

Standard form:

Applications shall be made on forms provided by the town of Winchester which, at this time, are as follows: Form 985, liquor application; Form 985 statement under chapters 652-1955; Form 976A common victualers license; Form 977A inn holders license; Form 983 application for transfer (if appropriate).

Building and site plans:

In addition to the above forms, each application must contain the following information shown on a plan drawn to scale by an architect or an engineer.

The net floor area and dimensions of the existing room or rooms requested to be licensed, including dining rooms, functions rooms, and rooms in which alcoholic beverages are to be stored;

The location of any proposed service bars;

The area in which sets or benches are to be securely fastened to the floor forming what are commonly called booths;

The area in which there are to be moveable or unsecured seats; and tables;

The total number and arrangement of seats;

Entrances and exits;

All rooms not being requested to be licensed, if said rooms are to be on the same floor as those rooms to be licensed, shall be labelled as to their function, such as kitchens, coat rooms, toilets, rest rooms, lobby, etc; and

The minimum amount of illumination to be provided in all the separate areas of the facility.

Site Plans:

Off-street parking;

Landscaping;

Exterior lights and signs;

The board of selectmen may, in considering a license application, request for review purposes, copies of proposed menus and description of food to be served and the manner in which such food shall be served.

The board may also examine into the experience and qualifications of the manager and other principal operators of the licensed premises prior to the issuance or renewal of said license.

Authority and qualification

No corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth, or of any other state or foreign country, shall be given a license to sell, in any manner, any alcoholic beverages unless such corporation shall have first appointed, by vote of its board of directors or other similar board, as manager or other principal representative, a citizen of the United States and shall have vested in him, by properly authorized and executed written delegation as full authority and control of the premises described in the license application of such corporation and of all business therein relative to alcoholic beverages as the licensee itself could, in any way, have or exercise if it were a natural person resident in the Commonwealth nor unless such manager or representative is, with respect to his character, satisfactory to the licensing authorities.

Licenses and fees

Filing fee:

A filing fee of $500 will be required and must be paid at time of original application. The filing fee shall not be refundable in the event the board of selectmen approve or deny the license applied for.

License fee:

The annual license fee for the alcoholic-restaurant license shall be $1,000.

Renewals:

A filing fee of $100 will be required and must be paid at the time of any renewal application.

Transfers:

Each transfer of ownership application shall be accompanied by a $250 fee. A transfer of location shall be considered an original application and processed as such.

Duration:

All licenses, once issued, are valid until Dec. 31 of each year and must be renewed prior to that date. It shall be the responsibility of the licensee to file a renewal application at least 30 days prior to expiration of the existing license.

Renewals

Renewal applications shall require updating of all previously filed statements and plans where appropriate.

Failure to renew:

Failure to renew prior to expiration shall result in a loss of license and any subsequent license must then be treated as a completely new application.

Rules and regulations

Hours generally:

The hours during which sales of alcoholic beverages may be made by any licensee shall be from 11 a.m. to midnight, Monday through Saturday and from noon to midnight on Sundays.

All alcoholic beverages procured prior to closing time shall be consumed by such hour or removed from the customer.

Hours - dining room:

The hours during which the sales of alcoholic beverages may be made in a dining room are further limited to the time when the dining room is open and full food service is available.

Food service, private functions

The service of food is required in all areas in which alcoholic beverages are to be served, except in case of private functions. Such functions may be held only in rooms duly licensed for the service of alcoholic beverages and shall be closed to the general public.

Seating requirements

In determining whether a facility meets the minimum seating capacity as set forth in Chapter 908, Acts of 1977, the board of selectmen shall apply the standards set forth in the regulations of the department of public safety.

Services bars:

Stools or benches at service bars are prohibited;

The sale or service of alcoholic beverages at service bars is prohibited;

The location of service bars shall not be changed unless approved by the board of selectmen and unless an amended plan is submitted to the board showing the proposed change.

Cocktail lounges, dining rooms:

Cocktail lounges are prohibited;

The sale or service of alcoholic beverages is prohibited in any area not licensed by the board of selectmen and no change in such area or location shall be made without prior approval of the board of selectmen and unless an amended plan is presented to said board;

No alcoholic beverages shall be served at counters or any similar type of location notwithstanding the fact that meals and other food service may be available at such locations, nor shall the area comprising such counters and related seating be used in computing whether or not the facility complies with the minimum seating capacity as set forth in Chapter 908, Acts of 1977.

Supervision - presence:

The manager or representative of the licensee shall, at all times during which alcoholic beverages are being sold pursuant to the license of such corporation, be present in the licensed premises and shall be available to the licensing authorities during all such times unless some other person similarly qualified, authorized and satisfactory to the licensing authorities and of whose authority to act in place of such manager or principle representative shall first have been certified to the licensing authorities in the manner aforesaid, is present in the premises and is acting in the place of such manager or principal representative.

The full name, residential address, business and home telephone numbers must be on file in the selectmen's office. Failure to have such information on file and current shall alone be sufficient cause for revocation or suspension of such license.

Violation of rules and regulations:

Any license issued under these rules and regulations may be suspended or revoked by the board of selectmen when any of the rules or regulations are violated.

Suspension or revocation shall be initiated by the board by written notification of license holder. The board shall hold a public hearing upon such suspension or revocation.

The hearing shall commence within two weeks of the notice of intent to suspend or revoke said license.

Exercise of license:

The applicant agrees that if granted a license hereunder, he shall commence the construction or alteration of the licensed premises within 45 days and be in full operation within four months from the date of the license unless a longer period is authorized by the board.

Thereafter, said licensee shall continuously operate the licensed premises in accordance with the terms and conditions of his license.

The closing of the licensed premises for any reason for a period of seven consecutive days or more, or for any 10 days during the calendar year without prior approval of the board of selectmen shall be deemed to be an abandonment of the license and sufficient grounds for revocation.

Order:

The manager or representative shall, at all times, maintain order and decorum in the premises and in the immediately surrounding area of the premises and shall cooperate in all ways with town officials including representatives from the Building Department, Board of Health, and the Fire and Police departments in ensuring safe and orderly facilities.

Police reelect officers

By acclamation the members of the Winchester Police Association reelected the current association officers to another one year term. The election, held Sept. 27, reelected Charles T. Culhane president; Jack Alford, vice-president; Kenneth Albertelli, secretary; and John Guarente, treasurer.

A spokesman for the association stated, "the membership supports the leadership in contract negotiations with the town. The vote is a sign of solidarity." The association was formed one year ago after months of informal negotiations with the town failed.

Association President Culhane recalls that there was reluctance to establish a formal labor organization. "The Winchester Police are the lowest paid comparable department in the area. We had no choice. Our pleas fell on deaf ears. Between 1972 and 1976, the last time we had a salary increase, our average increase has been 5.5 percent per year. Far less than inflation."

Last April the town and the association submitted the dispute to a state-appointed fact finder. The report is awaited momentarily.

Culhane stated, "we sincerely hope the town will settle when the report is issued. Sixteen months without a salary increase is difficult, especially for men with families."

Koko Boodakian & Sons & Sons & Daughter, Inc., invite you to save a great deal of money.

We're celebrating the 40th anniversary of the October day when a young, oriental rug expert from Kilis in the shadows of Mt. Ararat, first unlocked the doors on a proud new venture in the heart of New England . . . Koko Boodakian & Sons.

It was more than the grand opening of a showroom for what has come to be a million dollar inventory of Oriental rugs . . . it was the culmination of a dream. With his three sons, trained from childhood as he had been, in the intricacies of the oriental rug arts, Koko was launching what could and would become the largest comprehensive rug and carpet specialty house in the northeast.

Today, his three sons have been joined by their three sons, a daughter, and a nephew, to guarantee you the same personal attention in every facet of the expert service on which the Boodakian reputation is built. And to celebrate the unusual consistency of this three-generation family business, we offer you these unprecedented, October-only . . .

Referendum questions

Each week, the Winchester League of Women Voters is providing an analysis of one of the referendum questions to appear on the November ballot.

Question No. 1, on property tax classification, appeared Sept. 21. The second and third questions appear this week. Question No. 2 deals with the state budget extension; Question No. 3 deals with distributing voter information.

The local League has a speakers' bureau which will send out someone to talk to local organizations and gatherings on the referendum questions. While the LWV does take stands on some of the issues, the referendum speakers are provided simply to explain the questions. For more information, contact Marsha Wood (729-1976) or Susan Keats (729-9317).

State budget extension

This proposal would allow a first-term governor, eight weeks after the year's legislative session is convened, to submit his proposed budget for the coming year.

If passed, a governor, who had not served in office during the preceding year, could take up to eight weeks after the legislature convenes to submit his budget. A continuing governor would be held to the current three-week time limit.

If defeated, all governors would be bound by the current three-week deadline for budget submission. Current provisions which allow the legislature to grant extensions, if petitioned, also remain in effect.

PRO: Supporters argue that the longer time period gives a new governor more time to examine and deliberate upon the state budget, and would encourage smooth budgetary transitions.

CON: Opponents argue that a time extension would impede the legislature in passing and enacting budgets, and note that a new governor has historically received sympathetic treatment when petitioning for extensions.

Distributing voter information

This proposal would require that the secretary of state's office distribute information about questions appearing on state election ballots to the residence of each eligible voter in the state, rather than to each individual registered voter in the state.

If passed, the voter information booklet published by the secretary of state's office would be sent to the residence of each eligible voter.

If defeated, the law would continue to require that each registered voter receive a copy of the voter information booklet.

PRO: Supporters, including the secretary of state and his staff, argue that this amendment would insure that all eligible voters receive the voter information booklet, including those who register just prior to the election. They say the procedure would also avoid duplication, and would save some $75,000 per election in postage costs. This procedure was practice once before by the Secretary's office, and is planned for the distribution of this year's booklet.

CON: Opponents wish the constitution to continue to require that each registered voter receive his or her own copy of the booklet, and question the importance of the monetary savings when balanced against the inconvenience of sharing the information booklet among an entire household.

Schedule should be changed

By ROSEMARIE EGGERT

A meeting of Lincoln School parents was held at the home of Susan Forgere, 29 Maxwell rd., Tuesday morning to discuss the problem now facing kindergarten parents in many of the Winchester schools.

Parents discussed the petition being circulated to return to the old kindergarten schedule (morning, 8:45-11:45; afternoon, 12:45-2:45).

Although the new schedule (morning, 8:45-11:45; afternoon, 11:45-2:45) has been in existence only a few short weeks, it has already presented a rash of problems and complaints from both parents and teachers.

The Lincoln parents were asked to sign a petition to be submitted to the school committee Thursday evening at 7:30. Similar petitions are being circulated at other schools.

Because there is no break between the morning and afternoon sessions, some teachers are being asked to dash between schools, as is the case with Miss Richardson at Lincoln School. At present, janitors, secretaries, and teacher aides are being asked to fill in for teachers during the time the teacher cannot be present.

Similar problems have arisen at other schools, where in some cases teachers have decided not to take lunch breaks rather than create confusion for the children. Teachers are permitted one half-hour for lunch and at present most are getting little or no break at all.

Parents from all the involved schools seem to feel that this is most unfair to the teacher and would eventually lead to poorer quality teaching due to overworked and hungry teachers.

For the present time, most parents feel that the best solution is to return to the old kindergarten schedule until further study can be made of the problem.

The original purpose of extending the afternoon session to three hour full hours—more time with the teacher—has been defeated, and most parents agreed it has become nothing more than child care.

Other points brought out by parents include:

— Most parents felt their children could adjust to the problem, but that it was unfair to the teacher.

— Parents have little time to see the teacher before or after school.

— People not legally responsible for children should not be expected or permitted to be in charge of them.

— The kindergarten program is not emotionally favorable for children under the present circumstances because of the confusion between sessions.

Interested parents have been asked to attend the school committee meeting Thursday tonight at the Sanborn House on High street.

Local Rep. Sherman W. Saltmarsh presented The Star's Dot Lord with a special plaque from the Legislature, recognizing her for her 57 years of service with the newspaper. Reception was held at the Jenks Center marking Dot's 80th birthday last week.

Vote yes on 1

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I overheard (with joy) today that a recent poll of Massachusetts voters shows an 86 percent favorability rate toward property classification (Question No. 1 on the November ballot).

We are all aware of the devastating effect 100 percent revaluation has had on numerous cities and towns in Massachusetts. Some cities have collapsed and others (such as Boston) have not!

Boston, along with other Massachusetts cities and towns, is a major tooth in the state's economic flywheel. It is a major center of industry and business that benefits most suburban communities in one way or another. For example, there are many Winchester residents who earn their salaries within the city of Boston but come home to the quiet country surroundings of $70,000 homes each evening. But Boston is also a community crammed with thousands of middle income homeowners hiding beneath the lurking cloud of 100 percent revaluation.

I believe it is the responsibility of all residents throughout this state to vote yes on Question No. 1 and allow property to be classified according to its use, thus eliminating 100 percent valuation.

If they (the voters) don't, then the effects effect(s) on our state's older cities such as Boston could be far more reaching than currently meets the eye. There is no doubt that some financial chaos would result statewide if the "Big City" homeowners must shell out another $600 per year on their property tax bills.

Thank you all

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

To all my friends, relatives, and acquaintances who took the time to drop in and say hello at the senior center last Thursday, I'd like to say thank you for your friendship and affection, and thank you for making my first 57 years at The Star such a rich experience. And thanks for the party!

Antonelli thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all of the voters who nominated me in the Primary as the Democratic Candidate for Middlesex County Treasurer. The acceptance of my qualifications throughout the County was certainly gratifying.

I respect the right and privilege of other voters to choose their favorite candidate; however, I urge all voters in Middlesex County to vote in November for the important position of Middlesex County Treasurer.

Nothing is fair

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I always wonder what kind of people oppose health insurance for our people who do not have any cash for medical purposes.

There are plenty who do not have money for doctors and hospitals and right in our affluent Winchester, Mass.

Even Medicare and this kind of insurance is taken out of the elderly's SS each month. You have to reach a $100 deductible before Medicare will pay.

If you haven't paid your deductible for Medicare, you pay the doctor whether you have any money or not. Some way you get it together. Nothing is fair.

These politicians who get a foothold on a good job (have) their expenses paid by government, even medical. With their large raises they aren't worth medical care, also trips, etc.

If you are poor, doctors in a general sense are not interested. I have proof of this as I have friends who are in bad shape and can't get help without cash.

The ERA paradox

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

It sure is funny the way the ERA militants keep saying that the polls show that the people want ERA — but never want to risk putting ERA on the ballot.

They know that, when a state ERA was on the ballot in New York and New Jersey in Nov., 1975, it was overwhelmingly defeated. Likewise in Wisconsin in 1973.

The Nevada Legislature voted to put the federal ERA on the ballot in November this year.

Would you believe the ERA-ers have filed suit against the Nevada Secretary of State to prevent him from obeying the law!

After ERA was defeated in Virginia earlier this year, the stop ERA delegate asked every legislator who voted for ERA to sponsor a bill to put ERA on the ballot in Virginia. Every pro-ERA legislator said, "No."

Also, in Illinois, the militant ERA-ers defeated a bill to have an ERA referendum.

Rotondi thanks

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On behalf of myself and my family, I would like to extend my thanks and gratitude to the people of Winchester for the confidence and trust they displayed in me on Primary Day by choosing me as the democratic nominee for the Fourth Middlesex District.

It is heartening to me as a public servant in the era of supposed voter apathy to see the interest that this race engendered.

I am particularly grateful to the people of Winchester that I had the opportunity to meet during the campaign for taking the time to listen to me and to share their opinions with me. Although not everyone agreed with me on every issue, the courtesy and kindness that they extended me will be something that I will remember always.

It is my desire to continue to serve the people of Winchester in the best way that I can as a state senator. I hope that with their support in the final election in November I will be given the opportunity to serve them again for the next two years.

I will never violate the public trust and confidence that has been placed in me.

Again thank you!

Samuel Rotondi
State Senator
Fourth Middlesex District

Successful event

Tax question on ballot

By The Observer

Of 11 public policy questions approved by Atty. Genl. Francis X. Belotti, only one will appear on Winchester ballots, and it has to do with lowering property taxes.

Public policy questions are different from the seven state-wide referendum questions which will also appear on the ballot. The policy questions are non-binding and serve as guides for legislators in particular districts.

Under state election law, 1200 voters in a senatorial district or 200 voters in a representative district may apply to have a question placed on the ballot in the district. Some questions appear in one district only, others may appear all across the state. How the voters vote gives the local senator or rep an idea of how to vote on a particular issue.

The attorney general examines each proposal to determine if it is a "question of public policy" as defined by law.

The one policy question local voters will have to decide on is a proposal "to reduce and limit local property taxes." A related proposal which appears on ballots elsewhere concerns a bill which would set a property tax limit of two and one-half percent of the full cash value as the maximum property tax. In addition, this other measure would place a yearly limit on total state tax revenue.

The other questions appearing elsewhere on Massachusetts ballots include:

— A moratorium on the MBTA Red Line extension through Cambridge;

— A proposal to make youth employment a top priority;

— A proposal to require the democratic selection of legislative leadership;

— A proposal restricting smoking;

— A moratorium on the construction of nuclear power plants;

— A proposal requiring a neighborhood impact statement as a prerequisite to the closing of an elementary school;

— A proposal providing for mandatory deposit on soft drink and malt beverage containers;

— Proposals dealing in the area of solid waste disposal and trash incineration.

The questions are available for inspection in the attorney general's office. For any further information on the election, call state elections and registration office, 727-2828.

Note: there will be seven referendum questions statewide. The local League of Women Voters has prepared explanations of each, along with pro and con arguments. The explanations are running each week in The Star.

Priscilla Morse, of 48 Franklin rd., dropped by The Star office this week to identify one of the persons in last week's editorial page photo of Waterfield road in 1915. Mrs. Morse was herself in the picture as she stood by her father Jonas Laraway. Mrs. Morse reports she was 11 years old at the time.

The little girl sitting on the bridge in the right foreground of the picture is Annie Chitel, according to Mrs. Morse. Annie was sitting on the bridge wall because she was nursing a broken ankle and could not stand to watch the parade, Mrs. Morse said.

We thank Mrs. Morse for taking the time to come down to The Star and identify the little girl. There is still one more person unidentified in the picture to the left. Can you identify him? Let us know.

Apparently all is not lost for the Winchester SPEDY youth jobs program. The program, which has been serving local youth for several years now by offering them part-time employment during the summer months and after school during the rest of the year, was in danger of losing its funding.

However, Medford CETA Director Gloria Williams has reportedly decided not to cut out the entire program, and funds for SPEDY (which is run through CETA, the federal job training program) will be available for the fall program.

However, says Howard Chase, who coordinated the local CETA programs, "We know it's going to be funded, but we don't know how much."

Because of the delay in funding approval, the program has been postponed from the middle of this month to sometime after Nov. 1.

Due to a typographical error, an editorial last week on the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School in Wakefield reported that a school employee was fired with due process. It should have read "without due process."

50 years ago

Considerable interest was aroused on Tuesday, Oct. 2, by the moving of the old Nauffts house from the place where it long stood at the corner of Main and Vine street up the hill to its new destination on Vine street, between the Ambrose and Millett residences. The house which is of good size was slowly drawn up the steep slope of Vine street by two horses hitched to capstans, and to the casual observer it seemed almost impossible for the relatively small animals to move so great a weight. The Edison Light poles on the Northerly side of Vine street had to be taken down to allow the house to pass. It was removed from its former location to make room for another gasoline filling station.

All the residents of the Wedgemere section extend to Mr. Ralph E. Damon of Everett avenue, a local representative of the B & M, their sincere appreciation for his long and strenuous efforts to remedy the serious conditions at the Wedgemere station.

The new driveway which has been installed, has been put in at the expense of the B & M, across the state reservation only after considerable effort on Mr. Damon's part.

No more dangerous spot in Winchester could be found than the old exit from the Wedgemere Station about dark, when automobiles and pedestrians are endeavoring to get across the Parkway onto Bacon street. The purpose of the new driveway is to have the entrance for automobiles near the junction of Bacon street and the exit onto the Parkway. This is going to be a great help and eliminate the great danger that has heretofore existed, particularly to pedestrians.

It is hoped that every one will try to co-operate to work out this traffic problem.

Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department picked up three Somerville boys who at 2 o'clock last Saturday, Sept. 29 morning were attempting to get a canoe over the dam in the center from the Aberjona River to the Mill Pond. They had picked up the canoe somewhere below the center and were equipped with a life preserver which they had acquired at the expense of the Metropolitan District Commiseion. At headquarters the boys gave their names as Paul and Charles Withington of 52 Flint st. and Neil Kelley of 75 Rush st. Their ages ranged from 10 to 13 years and they explained that they had run away from home to take a canoe trip. After some fatherly advice, the authorities turned them over to their parents who may have continued the advice still further.

The stories reprinted here were taken from old editions of The Winchester Star and were compiled by Henry Simonds, local historian. By and large these articles are taken from the same month they appear here, 50 years ago.

Invitation to a fair

The following poem was written by Clarence S. Borggaard on the Winchester Seniors Association fall fiesta fair Oct. 4 and 5:

A little nonsense now and then,
To be relished by the best of men
So come ye to ye seniors' fair
You'll find many bargains there.

There's jewelry, exotic plants,
And what are called 'white elephants'
A lottery to try your luck
You get three tickets for a buck
Although to gamble is a sin,
You get an afghan if you win!
And if you lose, the dough is gone,
But helps the center to carry on.

(The center needs a lot of jack to keep off the taxpayer's back)

So bring your neighbors and your friends,
And rummage through the odds and ends
Spend here a dollar, there a dime,
Look it over — take your time.

If thousands come, and thousands will We'll have some money in the till

And then to make the day complete
You'll eat lasagna mixed with meat
The K of C has loaned their hall,
The seniors thank them, one and all.

On third try

Taxi owners fail in bid for rate hike

Three times have the Winchester Taxi Owners Association requested a rate hike of the board of selectmen and three times have the selectmen sent it back to the association for further study.

Monday night, Richard Terzian, taxi association president, personally approached the selectmen with three other town taxi owners about the 25-cent rate hike increase, but the personal touch did little good either.

Selectmen Chairman Edward O'Connell said Terzian's previous responses to selectmen's questions "do not give us much to go on." The selectmen told Terzian Monday that they would like to get the cost-per-mile factor of running a taxi in Winchester.

Also, selectmen said they would like to see a method and life of depreciation study and a comparison of costs in 1976 of running a cab and the 1978 costs to do the same.

Terzian Tuesday said he submitted the requested information and would have done it earlier if the selectmen let him know exactly what they wanted. Selectmen have said they made it clear what they wanted.

Terzian and the association requested the increase more than a month ago because they said they have not realized an adjustment for nearly three years. The last time they received one was in January of 1976.

Terzian said increased insurance charges, fuel costs, oil, maintenance and repair, and tires have made it "impossible" to run a taxi business in town.

Terzian said business in Winchester recently "has stunk."

In Tuesday's report to selectmen, Terzian figured that it costs 55 cents per mile to run a taxi in town. Compared to 1976, the amount increased 10 cents, up from 45 cents. The costs include gasoline, depreciation, maintenance, excise taxes, office miscellany costs state taxation, and insurance.

While the cab owners were doing their homework, the town was doing its own.

Town Manager Thomas Groux instructed Lt. Andrew Crawford of Winchester police to contact seven neighboring communities and compare costs and processes for running cabs in those towns.

Terzian said, "You can't compare Winchester with any other town. It's one of a kind."

Crawford asked each town the same five questions: does the town's governing body issue taxi licenses?; if so, does the governing body set rates?; do they limit the number of taxis licensed within the town?; do they insist on metered cabs? (Winchester's cabs are not metered); what are the fares charged?

Selectmen issue licenses in Arlington, Stoneham, Lexington, Wakefield, and Reading and the city council issues them in Medford and Woburn.

Woburn is the only community that does not set rates on taxi companies of the seven towns asked and its taxi association has agreed with the no limits policy.

In Stoneham, the board of assessors sets rates whereas in the other towns, the selectmen or city council sets them. Medford is the only community questioned that has a taxi license limit in town. The limit there is 40 and 18 are now in use. There's no limit in Arlington and they have three companies with licenses. Lexington has one company with nine licenses and no set limit and Wakefield has nine licenses out with no limit too.

The towns are divided on the metered cabs question. Arlington insists on cabs with meters, as does Lexington and Medford. Wakefield, Woburn, Reading and Stoneham, however, do not require the meters. The fares charged in each town vary also. Arlington charges 60 cents for the first fifth mile and thereafter 20 cents. Stoneham charges $1.10 for the first mile and increases from there.

Lexington is the same as Arlington and Woburn and Wakefield has zoned rates with a $1 minimum. Reading has zoned rates also, but has a 95-cent minimum. Medford's minimum rate is 70 cents and 10 cents for each one-seventh of a mile. Winchester charges $1.20 minimum in zoned rates.

Selectmen Richard Wilsack called for a statement of income from the taxi owners before he could make a decision on the rate hike request. O'Connell said the association's "sketchy information does not allow for an informed decision."

Terzian said even his regular customers support a rate hike. "It's the riders that we get just once or twice a year that call to complain. Our regular customers love our service," he said.

For school board

Parkhurst, principals, 766 on agenda tonight

The school committee will be digging into policy guidelines and the question of whether or not to close the Parkhurst School at their meeting tonight.

The board is holding their first regular meeting of the month at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanborn House on High Street tonight rather than Monday because of the Columbus Day Holiday.

Up for general discussion are policies on principals—that is, how many the system should maintain as it closes schools, and what their duties should be—and staffing formulas as they relate to special education programs.

The administration will be bringing position papers before the committee and discussion will continue on principals and staffing at the board's Oct. 16 meeting. Also to come up at that time is the issue of split classes.

Special Education Coordinator Frank Bianco will present the school committee with a proposal to match the systems' staffing formula with a state formula which weighs the various special education programs.

One reason the school board added extra staff to some elementary schools last spring was to lower the student-teacher ratio in classes where special education students were to be "mainstreamed" or brought back into the regular program.

Fall enrollment figures show the Ambrose enrollment to be "pretty heavy" according to board chairman Chairman Constance Papas; as a result, there is a chance the Parkhurst School will not be closed as scheduled next fall. Many of the Parkhurst students would have to be transferred to Ambrose if their school is closed. The school board has stated that they would put off closing Parkhurst for a year if the closing would result in overcrowding at Ambrose.

The committee will also talk about a report from Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum Walter Gleason concerning the teacher evaluation instrument. A study committee has recommended 11 changes in the present instrument, and Gleason will be bringing the recommendations before both the school board and the teachers for their approval. The school board, however, has final say over the make-up of the evaluation instrument.

Kindergarten petition

Parents from several schools around town are expected to show up to present a petition asking the school board to return the kindergarten program back to its old schedule.

The board extended the afternoon session to three hours for this fall in order to make those sessions as long as the morning sessions. However, the schedule change has resulted in a tight schedule for teachers. Parents and some administrators feel the new schedule is unfair to the teachers and that, in the long run, the extra hour is not doing the children any good. (See related story.)

Mrs. Papas said her board would take the petition under advisement and reserve detailed discussion of the issue for the Oct. 16 meeting, if necessary.

Other items to be discussed include, an annual approval of the policy for determining eligibility for free milk, free meals and reduced-price meals in the schools; and the effect of a new Federal Communications Commission ruling on high school radio station WHSR. The new ruling may force the station off the air.

Executive session

Meeting in executive session, the committee will be discussing a possible settlement of a class action grievance brought by the teachers over the evaluation instrument used for the 1976-77 school year. Mrs. Papas reports that she and the teachers' negotiators reached an agreement during a recess of an arbitration hearing on the matter on Friday. The agreement needs the school board's approval.

Also in the executive session, the board will be asked to approve a settlement with the principals over contract language, to go into effect immediately, describing the method by which reduction in force ("RIF") will be handled as schools are closed over the next few years. The language was agreed upon by the negotiating teams for the board and the principals.

The principals current contract expires in June, and the two teams expect to begin negotiating a new one soon.

Letty attends school

Donald Letty, of Winchester, assistant national bank examiner, attended the 34th annual session of the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin-Madison last month.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference of Bankers Associations from 16 Midwestern states.

To be listed as a graduate of the school, a banker must attend three of the annual two-week sessions at the University and satisfactorily complete extension problems between the resident sessions.

Robert R. Nagle

Nagle joins Raytheon

Robert R. Nagle, of Pine street, has joined Raytheon Company as publicity manager for the company's government group.

He will be responsible for publicity programs of the company's missile systems, equipment, submarine signal, and electromagnetic systems divisions, and of a subsidiary, Raytheon Service Company.

Most recently manager of corporate communications for Microwave Associates, Nagle also served for five years in the public relations department of Sanders Associates. Prior to this, he was public affairs manager for the American Automobile Association in New Hampshire. Earlier, he was a technical editor with Stone and Webster Engineering Corp.

He received a B.S. degree from Boston University in 1967 and is currently working towards a master of business administration degree at Babson College. He is a member of the Public Relations Society of America.

Married to the former Gloria J. Klebasko of Shamokin, Penn., Nagle is a native of Braintree.

Nagle served in the U.S. Army for 18 months, including a one-year tour overseas in Vietnam. He received the Bronze Star for service.

Foti gets post

Robert Howard, president of Casco Real Estate of Lexington, announces the addition of Edward Dean Duncan of Lexington and Norma Foti of Winchester to his staff.

Mr. Duncan, a resident of Winchester for several years, is a past master of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. and A. M. and was associated with the Winchester Cooperative Bank as treasurer, director and a member of the investment committee.

After retiring as president of the Lexington Savings Bank, he became a licensed real estate broker.

Prior to entering real estate sales as a broker in 1977, Mrs. Foti was employed for 10 years as a registered nurse at the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. Foti lives on Ridge street with her family.

Casco specializes in Residential Real Estate Sales appraisals and management in Lexington, Concord, Bedford and Winchester area.

Airman Richard Aufiero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Aufiero of 38 Pilgrim dr., has been assigned to Homestead AFB, Fla., for duty in the U.S. Air Force food service field.
The airman, who recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.
Airman Aufiero is a 1978 graduate of Northeast Regional High School, Wakefield.

Mulcare assigned
Airman John R. Mulcare, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulcare of 4 Rangeley Ridge, has been assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.
During the six weeks at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.
Airman Mulcare will now receive specialized training in the supply field.
The airman, a 1975 graduate of Winchester High School, attended Bunker Hill Community College, Boston.

Clampa visits Edwards
A Winchester resident was among the more than 100 recent National Guard enlistees who attended a unique pre-basic training weekend orientation program at Camp Edwards on Cape Cod.
Private John J. Clampa, of 78 Swanton st., is a member of Headquarters Company, 101st Engineer Battalion, Reading.
The two-day pilot project is designed to introduce the enlistee to key aspects of military life and ease the transition from civilian to recruit at basic training.
Virtually all non-prior service personnel who join the National Guard are required to attend basic training for seven weeks and an advanced individual training school. Afterwards, the Guard member returns home to complete his obligation by attending monthly drill weekends and a 15-day summer encampment each year.
Pvt. Clampa will enter basic training at Fort Wood, Mo.

Two honored
Two Winchester residents were recently honored in a civilian award ceremony at Hanscom Air Force Base.

Sonja Katarina Swanson weds Mark Tyree Green of Virginia

Sonja Katarina Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swanson of 44 Swan rd., was married recently to Mark Tyree Green of Fairfax, Va. at the First Baptist Church.

Green is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Green of Oakton, Va.

Marta V. Swanson was her sister's maid of honor and Lawrence Green, brother of the bridegroom from Richmond, Va., was best man.

Attendants were Barbara Dalton Swanson of Pelham, Susan M. Swanson of San Diego and Karen Swanson Weidner of Lancaster, Penn., sisters of the bride, and Monika Dietze of Vienna, Va.

Ralph Dietze of Vienna, James Spence of Berlin, Md., Jeffrey Wilson of Fairfax, and James Yardley of Willmette, Ill. were ushers.

The Rev. Howard Krueger officiated and Ms. Linda Milani soloed while Michael Ambrose played the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Priscilla gown of ivory silkened organza. She had a bodice appliqued with white alencon lace, fashioned with a wedding band neckline and long tapered sleeves. She wore a skirt appliqued and edged with matching lace, ending in a cathedral train. A finger-tip length mantilla, appliqued with bouquets and alencon lace, fell from a Juliet cap.

The bride attended Winchester schools and Fisher Junior College and is a former Hart model. She is employed as a flight attendant for Trans World Airlines.

The bridegroom received his bachelor of arts degree in fine arts from the University of Northern Colorado and is self-employed as a carpenter.

Following a wedding trip to Honolulu, the couple resides in Fairfax.

The Boston Arts Group Lunchtime Theatre (BLT) will perform two short plays, "The Dock Brief" at 10 a.m. Thursday, October 12 and "Loveliest Afternoon of the Year" at noon at Epiphany Hall. Jim Butterfield will present a seminar on the Hows and Whys of Production at 11 a.m. A salad bar luncheon will follow the morning program. Tickets will be sold in advance only, so join the Winchester Wellesley Club and call Nancy Hudson, ticket chairman, at 729-10601.

'Coping With Stress' Friends meeting topic

"Coping with Stress" will be the subject of the Friends of Winchester Hospital 28th annual meeting Thursday, Oct. 19th at the home of Mrs. Michael Hurley, 20 Hillcrest Pkwy.

Coffee will be served at 9 a.m. with the program to begin at 9:30 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kenney, director of the social service department at Winchester Hospital, will outline stress and the aging process and identify... Dr. Edward Heck, director of volunteers, at Winchester Hospital, will discuss the individual "fingerprint of anxiety" and address the topic of coping with stress.

Helen Craig, president of the Friends says "We are delighted to have two such fine speakers for our annual meeting to address a topic of concern to us all."

Friends of Winchester Hospital is an auxiliary of more than 500 men and women in communities surrounding the hospital. Nearly 300 active volunteers work in 22 different volunteer services within the hospital. Prospective volunteers are invited to attend and may call Mrs. Phyllis Hollinshead, director of volunteers, at Winchester Hospital for further information.

Marashlian named asst. pastor

Aram T. Marashlian, Jr., of 41 Lebanon st., is the new assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church of Winchester. Marashlian has been a town resident since 1960, and is presently a student at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary of Hamilton. After a Christian conversion experience, he felt led to prepare for the pastoral ministry. He graduated from Gordon College, Wenham, in 1977 with a B.A. degree in Bible.

Aram has been in the carpet business for some time, even before his decision to enter the Christian ministry. He was trained in the carpet business by his uncle, Mr. Aram T. Mouradian, owner of Mouradian Rug Galleries of Winchester.

He is a member of Grace Chapel, Lexington, and has been involved with teaching adults, youth and pre-school children. He has done some pastoral work at Watertown Evangelical Church for three months.

He will be assisting Rev. Howard A. Krueger, pastor of the Baptist Church, as participant in the church's ministry, by teaching the adult class of Sunday mornings, functioning as worship leader and occasional preacher, and visiting in the homes of the congregation. Marashlian is married to the former Sonya R. Nazarian of Watertown. They have a daughter, Juli Lisa, who is a freshman at Lexington Christian Academy.

About town

Thomas E. Dickinson of 10 Eaton st. has accepted the voluntary position of community chairman for Winchester in the 1978 Campaign of the United Way of Massachusetts Bay. As community chairman, he will be responsible for the entire United Way campaign in Winchester.

Dickinson was also community chairman for Winchester in last year's successful United Way Campaign. He is assistant treasurer of the Winchester Savings Bank and has been a corporate officer of that bank since 1974. He is a graduate of the supervisory school of the National Association of Mutual Savings Bank and a graduate of the Graduate School of Savings Banking at Brown University.

The United Way Campaign begins September 14 and will continue through November. Money raised helps to support 162 human care agencies serving residents in 86 cities and towns in the Mass. Bay area.

Nearly 150 health care professionals from Massachusetts hospitals attended a recent update on the rehabilitative capabilities of New England Sinai Hospital, a post-acute specialty facility in Stoughton. Winchester Hospital social workers Dorothy Roemer and Annette Bunn attended the afternoon conference. Norman S. Fiecke, Lloyd W. Law Jr., Charles C. Parkhurst, Harley Rogers Jr., and Robert M. Smith, all of Winchester have been named to Who's Who in America. More than 12,500 Americans are making first-time appearances in the 40th edition of the biographical directory.

Barbara Haber of 5 Woodside dr., Curator of Printed Books at Radcliffe College's Schlesinger Library, has compiled an annotated bibliography of 450 contemporary books about American women. Titled "Women in America: A Guide to Books, 1963-1975," Ms. Haber's book identifies significant themes in the lives of women, such as abortion, education, feminism, health, marriage, sex roles and work, and examines both the writers' insights into female experience and the value of those insights to women in general.

Christine Andersen, 16, of 38 Hutchinson rd., was the winner of a Tennis Match Contest sponsored by Brigham's and radio station WROR. Her prize was tickets and an all-expense paid trip to the finals of the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament held in Flushing Meadow, N.Y.

Chris and her father George Andersen, recently joined the staff of the department of the state auditor.

A junior at Winchester High School, Chris has been a tennis player since age 12.

Twelve year old Laurie Glynn of Winchester was the first prize trophy winner in the women's division of the Woburn Fall Five-Mile Road Race.

Other local runners competing were John Cade, Robbie Glynn, Phil Cade, Margaret Miller, George Miller, Cynthia Rudolph, Peggy Cade and Ed Wade.

Timothy Johnson, a student of Winchester High School and son of F.R. Johnson of Winchester, has been attending the two-week long high school II session of the American Management Association's Operation Enterprise program for high school students at the AMA Point in Hamilton, N.Y.

Established in 1963, Operation Enterprise brings together students from all parts of the world in an informal, non-academic atmosphere. They join discussion leaders from the world of business and education in a sweeping analysis of the challenges, opportunities and responsibilities of business leadership.

Thomas Gosnell, a Winchester resident, will be among the 2500 delegates attending the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) annual convention in Washington, D.C. the week of Aug. 21.

Gosnell, a Latin teacher at Boston Latin Academy and editor of the Boston Union Teacher, will be one of 26 delegates representing the Boston Teachers Union (BTU), local No. 66 of the Massachusetts Federation of Teachers (MFT), at the five day convention.

Joseph A. Califano, Secretary, Health, Education and Welfare, will deliver the keynote address at the opening session.

The Volunteer Association at New England Rehabilitation Hospital in Woburn has elected officers and committee chairmen for this year, and Margie Johnson of Winchester was chosen to head the decorations committee.

Volunteers are junior and senior high school-aged youth who serve in many capacities at the 200-bed facility. During the past summer, Winchester youth were some of the 70 serving at the Rehab.

State Auditor Thaddeus Buzko announced recently that Karen M. Kelleher of Forest street has joined the staff of the department of the state auditor.

Ms. Kelleher, the daughter of Frank G. and Angela Choate Kelleher attended Matignon High School, No. Cambridge, where she graduated in 1974.

A recent graduate of Suffolk University, Ms. Kelleher earned her BS degree in business administration with a major in accounting.

Gold Key member of the National Honor Society, Ms. Kelleher earned a listing in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" and was voted Bentley's outstanding student athlete.

Ms. Kelleher was a member of Delta Alpha Pi, varsity team member of tennis and basketball, Vice President of the class of 1978 for four years and treasurer of the student government association.

There's at least one family in town—vagabonds all—who have had their portraits spread far and wide across the globe.

That's a family of raccoons who spent last winter hiding out in the upper reaches of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Buchheim of 8 Wyman ct. Freelance photographer Don Young caught the family moving out for the summer in a series of pictures that have been reprinted in newspapers in Arizona, California, and London, including the International Herald Tribune.

Susan Harris of Winchester High School has been selected as a member of The Boston Globe's High School Focus Program. Miss Harris, editor-in-chief of the Red and Black, the high school's newspaper, will be writing about four pieces during the 1978-79 school year.

It is The Boston Globe's contention that all too often a negative image of the average high school student is fostered due to the excessive publicity given to deviant student behavior. In an attempt to alleviate the problem, The Globe's High School Focus Program will give recognition to those students making positive contributions to their school communities.

The articles will be school and/or student oriented in nature and will appear in the Living Section of the Tuesday and Thursday editions of The Globe. Miss Harris is one of 13 students who have been selected from the Greater Boston Area to participate in the program.

Mary Traina of Winchester is chairlady of the Wilson Iannessa Foundation eighth annual Fashion Show Benefit to be held Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Chateau De Ville, Saugus.

Fashions and commentary will be presented by Bobby Baker of Chestnut Hill. Information about tickets may be obtained by calling Diane Marasca at 729-3275.

Ten local residents participated in the record-breaking 1977-78 Tufts University Annual Fund appeal.

They are Mrs. J. S. Ahern, Donald J. Halpin, Janet B. Neipris, Mrs. Victor F. Lawson, Edward F. O'Connell, Joseph J. Moran, Mrs. Ralph M. Manning, Mrs. Evander French Jr., Mrs. Constance C. Blanchard, and Mrs. James Ryder.

Renée K. George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. George of 36 Squire rd., and a 1976 graduate of Winchester High School, has been named to the Dean's List and selected by Smith College to study at the University of Florence Italy for her junior year.

Renée is one of 12 students selected for the program and will be studying art and architecture.

Stephen Zhoya of Winchester is a member of Polynotes, a small group of talented singers drawn from the Polymnia Choral Society. This group has been performing for community clubs and organizations in the greater Boston area for the past three years.

Mrs. Donald (Darlene) Burnham of North Reading and Derry, N.H., recently won the Jordan Marsh "DuPont Marvelous Ms. of Boston Contest."

Mrs. Burnham was nominated by her employer at College Marketing Group, Inc., of Winchester, where she is in charge of the accounting department.

Lisa O'Halloran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. O'Halloran of 20 Mayflower rd., was awarded a silver bowl for finishing first, crewing for her father, in the senior division of Summer Beetle Cat Racing at the West Dennis Yacht Club.

Lisa and her father also won the annual Jack Tulley Match Cup. This past summer Lisa was commodore of the Junior Yacht Club. Lisa is in the 12th grade at Winchester High School.

Edward A. Livingstone of Cambridge street, president of the Boston Chapter, US Naval Academy Alumni Association, was on hand recently to greet academy alumni and their guests at a reception held at Boston College before the Midshipmen went up against BC on the gridiron. Among those attending the cocktail party and reception were Adm. Thomas Hayward, chief of naval operations, and Rear Adm. William Lawrence, superintendent of the US Naval Academy.

CAR CARE TIP:
"A good finish can bring an extra $600 on a used car!"
The used car manager of a local auto dealership told us that, if two identical cars set side by side... both with the same exact equipment and same mechanical condition... the one with the superior exterior finish could bring as much as $600 more!

Births

Dade-Porter granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Dade of Hillcrest parkway and Mrs. Philip G. Porter Jr. of Horn Pond Brook road are the grandparents of a newborn baby girl, Cheryl Lyn, second child and first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Dade of Reading. Cheryl Lyn was born Sept. 19 at Winchester Hospital.

Katie September Peak

Katie September Peak was born Sept. 12 at Winchester Hospital, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Peak of Woburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Buzzotta of Winchester are grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maggio and Mrs. Esther Buzzotta, all of Winchester, are great-grandparents. Mrs. Jackie Fritze of Worcester and Leo Fritze of Hampton Beach, NH, are also grandparents.

Archival center

The Winchester Archival Center, located at 15 High St., is open Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 2-5 and Thursday evenings from 7-9.

Drum, Bugle Corps Seeks New Members

The Heightsmen Drum and Bugle Corps is accepting new members for the 1978-79 season.

There are openings in the bugle and drum lines and in the color guard. Members must be between the ages of 12 and 21 years of age.

Anyone interested should contact corps representatives at practices in the parish hall of St. John's Episcopal Church on Pleasant Street, Arlington, Mondays between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Applications can also be had on Thursday evenings when the corps practices in the Hardy School on Lake Street, Arlington, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., and on Sundays from noon until 2 p.m., in the gymnasium of Arlington High School.

Present plans call for the corps to return next summer to the American Open Invitational in Butler, Pa., to take part in the Class A show. The corps will also make a Canadian tour to defend the Canadian-American Invitational title it won this past summer. The corps will also take part in the Drum Corps International Nationals in Atlanta, Ga.

On a regular basis the corps will compete locally in the Eastern Mass. Music Circuit Class A division with guest appearances at shows in Connecticut, New York and New Jersey in United Organization of Eastern Corps shows.

Previous experience with a competing drum corps or band is helpful but not necessary for membership. Beginners will be taught to play an instrument of their choice to use color guard equipment as well as the intricacies of marching and maneuvering.

The corps plans to make a limited number of scholarships available to members who qualify. The scholarships may be used at schools chosen by the recipients.

The Heightsmen Drum and Bugle Corps is a non-profit, educational organization owned and operated by its board of directors under a charter granted by the Commonwealth of Mass., in 1973. There are no restrictions on memberships except those relative to age requirements.

For further information prospective members may call Field Manager Robert Doneski or business manager G. Frank Mahoney, both of Arlington.

We rented two apartments on the first day for Mrs. Collins of Winchester.

Call 643-7900 for a classified in The Arlington Advocate, Belmont Citizen and Winchester Star.

Keep That Great GM Feeling With Genuine GM Parts

First meeting of Sodality set October 10, 7:30

The first meeting of the 1978-79 season of St. Mary's Sodality will take place the evening of Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Mary's School Hall.

Chaplin Fr. Sheehan will offer mass, during which a ceremony of renewal and dedication to the Blessed Virgin and Sodality ideals will take place. Sodality medals will be conferred on all members present.

Canterbury Cotillion Nov. 3 in No. Reading

Plans are underway for "The Canterbury Cotillion" to be held on Friday, Nov. 3 at the Hillview County Club, North Reading.

Ray Leach's orchestra will provide music for dancing. This is the Friends' one big fundraising event of the year. Members of the committee making plans for the occasion which features touches of an old-fashioned cotillion, are: Marie Carswell, chairman, Marilyn Georgis, Rita Harms, Ann Hughes, Nancy Hunter, Betsy Hurley, Barbara McFadden, Lis Reich, Carolyn Ryan, Area Sidebotham, and Rose Westra.

The Friends are a service organization giving many thousands of hours of volunteer service for the benefit of the patients at Winchester Hospital, but each year they are able to give an expensive piece of patient-care equipment, made possible by the proceeds of their fall dance.

The Cotillion is open to the public, and those wishing to attend should contact Mrs. George Hunter, 729-1377.

St. Mary's club plans Octoberfest

St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club is planning an Octoberfest celebration on Saturday, Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m., in St. Mary's Hall.

The event will include a complete German dinner and singing and dancing to a German band.

The evening is being hosted by Larry and Erna Worthen and Joe and Kathie Costello.

For reservations, call Mrs. Philip Stackpole at 729-7937; Mrs. Richard Fennell, 729-8524; Mrs. John O'Callaghan, 729-6539; Mrs. Frederick O'Herron, 729-5919; and Mrs. Robert Costello, 729-2288.

Bloodmobile 16th at St. Eulalia's

arlington and Winchester Wide 2 times D. St. Eulalia's

On Oct. 16, from 2 — 7:30 there will be a Red Cross Bloodmobile at St. Eulalia's Church Hall, 50 Ridge Street. Anyone between the ages of 17 (with written parental consent) and 65 years, in good health, and weighing 110 pounds or over is invited to donate blood on that day.

Although St. Eulalia's Parish will sponsor the bloodmobile and encourages its own parishioners to participate, non-parishioners will be most welcome. The need for blood is always great. Appointments should be made by calling the Winchester Red Cross office.

Battle of bands at Burlington Mall ball

There'll be a battle of the bands at the Aleppo Shrine - Burlington Mall Charity Ball to be held Sunday evening, Oct. 8 on the Mall.

Lester Lanin, the dean of Society Dance Bands, will headline the impressive group, but there will be a sound and beat for every musical taste, from the Big Band Sound to current disco, at the gala social affair which will be attended by close to 2,000 people.

All proceeds of the ball, which celebrates the 10th anniversary of the Burlington Mall and the Shriner's Burns Institute, will go to the Aleppo Temple Shrine, which supports the Burns Institute and many other hospitals for handicapped children throughout the United States. Donating their services for the charity ball are two big 18-piece bands, including Dick Donovan's Orchestra.

The Burlington Mall will provide an enchanted setting for the ball with its sparkling fountains, parquet dance floor and myriads of twinkling lights. Food will be in abundance with unlimited hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, gourmet buffet dinner and champagne fountains.

Tickets are still available at the Burlington Mall office.

Schwamb Mill Has Bargain Bird Seed

Winter can be for the birds thank to the Old Schwamb Mills participations in Bird Seed Savings Day scheduled for Oct. 21.

Cold weather means hard times for birds. Some householders feed birds and fill feeders for a while and then drop off when the mercury dips to zero. The result is that the birds, accustomed to handouts, aren't able to fend for themselves.

The Old Schwamb Mill says that once a person starts feeding birds he should continue until the end of April. Patricia Fitzmaurice, director of the Old Schwamb Mill says, "A small amount of seed can be vital. On an empty stomach, a bird such as a chickadee cannot survive a full night in below zero weather."

On Oct. 21, high quality low cost seed will be offered on Bird Seed Savings Day by The Old Schwamb Mill, in cooperation with more than 150 similar conservation organizations in 20 eastern states.

Sunflower, several wild bird food mixes, thistle, cracked corn, peanut hearts, suet cakes and a wide selection of feeders will be on sale. Proceeds help these non-profit organizations support their educational programs.

For this special one day event all seed must be ordered in advance before Oct. 10 by calling The Mill at 643-554.

Campo, Somerville board chairman, announces candidacy for register

Robert V. Campo, chairman of the Somerville Board of Assessors, has announced his candidacy for election to the office of Register of Probate in Middlesex County.

Campo, the number one vote-getter in the last City of Somerville election, had to gather more than 10,000 signatures to appear as an Independent on the November ballot for the general election. Nomination papers were certified in many of the cities and towns throughout the entire county. Middlesex County, is not only the largest county in the Commonwealth, it is also the eighth (8th) largest county throughout the world.

Campo said, "In touring the various cities and towns, I feel that many voters are not aware of how frequently the several functions of the Register touch upon their daily lives. Matters pertaining to wills, child custody, the appointment of guardians, divorce and insolvency are just a small part of the regular business of the Register."

"The Registry of Probate, with a budget of over $1 million, clearly needs someone with strong administrative abilities. The Somerville Board of Assessors is responsible for over $100 Million of taxable property and the supervision of numerous employees. As chairman of that board, I have worked to broaden the tax base in order to relieve the already over-burdened tax-payer, especially the senior citizen."

"An inventory of all property has been undertaken for the first time in the history of the city, with the result that the assessor's office is both more efficient and better able to respond to the needs of the people it serves."

"For years the Registry of Probate has languished in the dark ages. It is about time that it was brought into the 20th century. If elected, I intend to upgrade and overhaul much of the archaic Probate practice, to obtain funds in order to modernize equipment and operation of the Probate, and to start an educational program so that the taxpayer will know what the Probate is all about."

Robert V. Campo

Campo is married to the former Joan Burke. With their five children, they reside at 7 Cypress St. He has been in many community organizations and was a postal worker for 26 years before entering politics. He is a product of the Somerville public schools and is continuing his education at UMass and MIT.

"During the months ahead, I intend to visit all of the 54 cities and towns in Middlesex County. I am looking forward to meeting the people and I welcome the opportunity to both listen to their views and to share mine with them."

Scuba course

The North Suburban YMCA offers a scuba course. Tanks, snorkel, and fins can put you right into the inner depths of the sea, but they can also put you into your coffin. Scuba diving can be fun and wholesome recreation, but it can be dangerous, too.

Registration for fall classes will be Sept. 17 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. For further information, call the Y at 935-3270.

Coast Guard report cites problems

A report just published marks the completion of the Coast Guard's first phase of studying the problems physically handicapped persons encounter in recreational boating.

The report, "National Recreational Boating and the Physically Handicapped", describes present conditions facing the physically disabled boater, and directly addresses such areas as access between shore facilities and boat, special requirements while afloat and other safety needs.

The study will be of interest to physically disabled boaters and others with a concern for the problems of recreational boating and the handicapped.

The study is the work of the Human Resources Center of Alhambra, N.Y., and will form the backbone of further research for the Coast Guard. The findings will be used in establishing guidelines to increase safety and accessibility in recreational boating for the handicapped — the research project's second phase. The author of the study is Dr. Eugene Hedley, himself an active physically handicapped boater. The Coast Guard funded the work through the non-profit section of the State Boating Safety Assistance Grant Program.

The Coast Guard also was a participant in the study.

Coast Guard figures project a 5 to 10 percent annual increase in the number of new boaters over the next two decades, but it's likely that the growth rate among the nation's 20 million disabled individuals will be higher, for the following reasons: The proportion of physically handicapped persons presently involved in recreational boating is lower than the proportion for non-handicapped persons; thus, because of the current efforts aimed to improve conditions for physically handicapped persons, their potential for becoming boaters is much larger.

One area specifically covered in the report is the use of personal flotation devices (PFDs). It was noted that while boating programs conducted for the physically handicapped usually insisted upon use of Coast Guard approved PFDs, none had tested the effectiveness of the PFDs when used by a handicapped person.

The researchers urged a review of available PFDs, commenting that while approved PFDs may meet the needs of those persons with some disabilities, no systematic testing has covered the entire range of physical handicaps.

A limited number of copies of the report, "National Recreational Boating and the Physically Handicapped" are available from: Human Resources Center, Alhambra, N.Y. 11507

Class theme chosen here

"Our Common Humanity" is the theme of Sunday morning adult classes at the Parish of the Epiphany this month. Leading the session this Sunday morning will be Dr. Bernard Harleston and Marie Harleston, former Winchester residents.

Dr. Harleston is professor of psychology and dean of the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences at Tufts University, and Ms. Harleston, a psychiatric social worker, currently is leading a special project in racial awareness in the Lexington public schools.

The third program Oct. 15 will be led by Dr. Charles V. Willie, a member of the faculty of the Harvard School of Education. Dr. Willie is a prominent layman in the Episcopal Church. He formerly served as vice-

Tennis for Early Birds

If you like playing early in the morning, sign up to be a Tennis 128 Early Bird! Here's how Early Bird works: For Monday - Friday play, you pay one charge at the beginning of the season of $175. Play weekday mornings, 6-9 a.m. We'll reserve five courts for 70 players. Just show up weekdays, 6-9 a.m. and you'll have a match with someone of your ability level (one of our pros will hit with you at the beginning of the season to check your level of play.) So, if you like a variety of playing partners, and like to get up early in the morning, join the rest of our Early Bird crew.

For $40 more, you can become a 7-day Early Bird.

Tennis for Insomniacs

Can't sleep at night? Try our insomniac special. Here's how it works: Pay $175, and you can play Sunday through Thursday from 10 p.m. to midnight. We'll reserve five courts for 60 players. Like the Early Bird Special, we'll have a pro test your level of play, then arrange matches for you when you show up.

Average increase in property taxes only 1.9 percent

The average increase in property tax levies is 1.9 percent for the first 125 Bay State communities reporting fiscal 1979 tax rates, according to a Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation analysis released today.

Last year's tax increase for the same 16 cities and 109 towns averaged 8.8 percent. Winchester increased from $73.40 to $74.80 is just under two percent.

If the remaining cities and towns in the Commonwealth follow this early trend, Massachusetts will have its lowest property tax increase since 1966, when it was 0.9 percent. Last year's statewide average increase was 6.6 percent.

Of these 125 rates announced as of Sept. 20, 54 were above the 1978 rate, 13 showed no change and 58 were lower. Eight of these were lower because of revaluations.

The small property tax growth in both 1966 and 1979 resulted from a substantial increase in state aid to localities in those years.

The amount of new state aid to the 125 communities is almost $80 million. Because local expenditures for these same communities are up six percent, the effect of the new aid has been to slow the growth of property taxes.

The effect of the new aid on property taxes is not uniform among the 125 communities. Much of the new state aid for fiscal 1979 was distributed to help poorer communities, with the other localities given a minimum guarantee of some increase over the amount of last year's aid.

In those 28 communities receiving more than the minimum guarantee, property taxes were down 5 percent, while in the remaining 97 communities, they increased 4.7 percent.

There is some indication that the poorer communities may have anticipated the increase in their state aid and decided to spend more than they would have without the increase. Their expenditures were up 6.5 percent while the other communities held their spending increases to 5.7 percent. Thus, the effect on property taxes of the new aid was diminished to some extent in those poorer communities.

The following is a list of reported communities:

PLANNING BOARD NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING REGARDING PROPOSED ZONING BY-LAW AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given that the Winchester Planning Board will hold a Public Hearing on in the Board of Health Meeting Room, Basement, Town Hall, on the proposal to amend the Zoning By-Law as follows:

ARTICLE 15 To amend the Zoning Bylaw by deleting therefrom Section 3.21 and substituting therefor the following:

Any unimproved parcel of land shown or described as a separate lot in a recorded deed or plan, which, if built upon or used for single-family or two-family use would fail to meet any frontage, lot area, lot width or front, side or rear yard requirement by reason of the subsequent adoption of any amendment to this Bylaw, may be built upon for single-family or two-family use, provided:

a) Such parcel of land is now and was at the time of the adoption of such amendment held in single ownership and not in common ownership with any adjoining land; and,

b) Such parcel then conformed to the applicable zoning requirements for street frontage, lot area, lot width and, if now built upon for such single-family or two-family use, will comply with the then applicable zoning requirements for front, side and rear yards; and,

c) Such parcel contains at least five thousand (5000) square feet and fifty (50) feet of frontage on a street, road or way.

Any such unimproved parcel of land which was shown or described as a separate lot in a recorded deed or plan before the adoption of the first zoning bylaw in Winchester on March 10, 1924, which was held in separate ownership as described in sub-paragraph (a) above, and which contained the lot area and street frontage as described in subparagraph (c) above, may now be built upon for single-family or two-family use provided it will, when built, comply with the minimum front, side and rear yard requirements of the least restrictive residential district.

ARTICLE 16 To amend the Zoning By-Law by deleting from Section 4.4, Table of Use Regulation, subparagraph 3, the words "built prior to March 10, 1924."

ARTICLE 17 To amend the Zoning By-Law by deleting the text of Section 5.1 in its entirety and substituting therefor the following:

No separate accessory building shall be erected within fifteen (15) feet of any other building. No accessory building shall be erected in any required yard provided, however, one or more accessory buildings may be placed within a required yard within the RDA-20, RDB-10, RDC-15 and RG 6.5 districts if such accessory buildings: (a) are located in the rear yard; and (b) do not, taken together, cover more than thirty (30) percent of such rear yard; and (c) are not over one and one-half (1 1/2) stories in height; and (d) are not located nearer than five (5) feet to any property line.

ARTICLE 18 To amend Section 5.3 of the Zoning By-Law by adding the following sentence thereto:

In the case of a lot fronting on more than one street, a structure may have access to a street other than the frontage street, if access is not practical to the frontage street.

ARTICLE 19 To amend the Zoning By-Law by deleting from Section 9 - Definitions, the following words from the second sentence of the definition of Frontage, Street: "and that the principal permitted building on the lot is numbered on such frontage street."

ARTICLE 20 To amend the Zoning By-law by adding thereto a new Section 3.46, as follows:

3.46 A mobile home may be placed upon the same lot as a residence which has been substantially rendered uninhabitable by fire or other casualty and may thereafter be used and maintained as a single family dwelling, subject to the following limitations:

a. The mobile home is occupied by the owner or immediately prior occupant of the damaged dwelling house; and,

b. Repair or restoration of the damaged dwelling shall commence within six (6) months of such fire or other casualty; and,

c. The mobile home shall be removed from such lot upon the sooner of:

1) Thirty (30) days following the issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy by the building inspector with respect to the repaired dwelling; or

2) One (1) year following the date on which the mobile home was placed upon such lot.

Information pertaining to said Zoning Amendments may be obtained at the Planning Board office, Basement, Town Hall.

By order of the Winchester Planning Board this eighteenth day of September, 1978.

Selectmen's notes

Committee invite

Members of the town's mini-bus committee were invited to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority's office in Boston recently to discuss Winchester's proposal for bus service in town.

Town Manager Thomas Groux, Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh Jr. and Gary Watros, a Winchester resident and U.S. Department of Transportation engineer, answered MBTA questions about the Winchester proposal. Groux said the trio answered the questions "very well."

He said the MBTA will make a decision on which towns to support before Oct. 16. The MBTA has received six proposals and will fund one-half the operating deficit of two of the communities' systems. One of the six towns begins its town meeting Oct. 16 and it would need the MBTA's decision by then to take appropriate action.

Harvard planner J. David Smith, who developed Winchester's system proposal, could not attend the MBTA meeting because he was attending a convention in New Orleans.

Additional article

The board of assessors notified selectmen Monday night that they would like to submit an article for the fall town meeting warrant. The article, which the selectmen deferred until Monday's meeting when they will take up all the articles, is:

"To see if the town will appropriate a sum of money to be expended by the board of assessors to assist said board in making the necessary revisions in compliance with the lawful orders of the state Tax Commission, and authorize said board to execute the contractual agreements necessary or advisable in connection therewith or take any other action in relation thereto."

Resignation

Council on Aging member Richard Norberg has submitted his resignation to selectmen and Vincent Berger, of 22 Yale St., has been recommended to replace Norberg by Chairman Clarence Borggaard.

Also, C. Peter Svahn, of 89 Thornberry rd., has resigned from the finance committee. He said, "I find that because of the growth of my business, I will be unable to adequately serve as a member of the finance committee during the coming year."

Charles D. Began, finance committee secretary, informed selectmen that Robert K. Quinn, of 23 Dennett rd., will fill the balance remaining of Timothy J. McCarthy, of 37 Canterbury rd., who has resigned.

Frank A. Lucero, of 6 Jefferson rd., will fill the three-year term which was declined by Mrs. Mary Behnke, according to Began.

Kay Ross, senior account clerk in the fire department, has submitted her resignation. Mrs. Ross and her family are moving to Arizona.

Town Manager Thomas Groux has appointed Angie Tuttle, a CETA appointment more than a year ago in the town manager's office, to fill Mrs. Ross's position.

Public hearing

The board of appeal will conduct a public hearing Thursday, Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the Winchester Public Library to act on the amended proposal of the Winchester House Company seeking to develop 105 units of low and moderate income housing on Waterfield road.

The original proposal called for 109 units in a seven-story complex, but the board of appeal reduced its size to six stories and 105 units. The building would now rise 55 feet above ground instead of the company's request for a 65-foot high edifice.

Washington mothers hold school meeting

The opening meeting of the George Washington Mothers Association was held recently in the school auditorium.

President Ann O'Neil introduced the board members and conducted a brief business meeting.

Principal George Flynn introduced the guest speaker, Richard Young, principal of the Muraco School.

Young discussed the open area concept at Muraco, its teachers and curriculum. A question and answer period was held later and Young extended an invitation to all parents to visit the Muraco School.

Refreshments were served by social chairpersons Mrs. Lorraine Tozza and Mrs. Sandy Schmitt.

Regional chapter

Crib death counseling is offered by Tri Community

Tri Community Health Services staff nurse Glenda Green, RN, BSN, has been appointed area resource person to provide counseling to families afflicted by a sudden infant death syndrome or 'crib death.'

In a contract between the Massachusetts Regional Center for Sudden Infant Death Syndrome and Tri Community Health, Ms. Green will be area counselor to families in Lexington, Arlington, Winchester, Bedford, Lincoln, Acton, Carlisle and Concord. She can be reached at Tri Community Health's Lexington Headquarters.

She has just completed her special training in a program co-sponsored by Boston City Hospital and Children's Hospital Medical Center.

The counseling service is designed to offer immediate help to parents who have lost an infant suddenly.

Victims are usually 2-4 months old. Seventy-five percent of the infants die in their sleep. There is no proven cause of death.

According to Ms. Green, a counselor trained to help families cope with a sudden infant death likes to visit the family with information and pamphlets during the first 62-80 hours after the death. The nurse-counselor follows up this visit with frequent phone calls and another visit two to three months later. She will put the parents in contact with a support group of parents who have had a similar experience. She also makes the necessary referrals for all family members.

The Massachusetts Regional Chapter of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is one of 52 local chapters throughout the nation.

Offices of the Massachusetts chapter of this voluntary, non-profit counseling and educational service are at Boston City Hospital where a 24-hour phone service is maintained at 424-5742.

Twin square dance

The Twin Square Dance Club of Arlington and Winchester will hold a free class for beginners on October 5 at 8:30 p.m. in Manion Hall at St. Eulalia's Church in Winchester.

All new and former members are welcome. Johnnie Wedge will be the caller.

Public library offers newcomers meetings

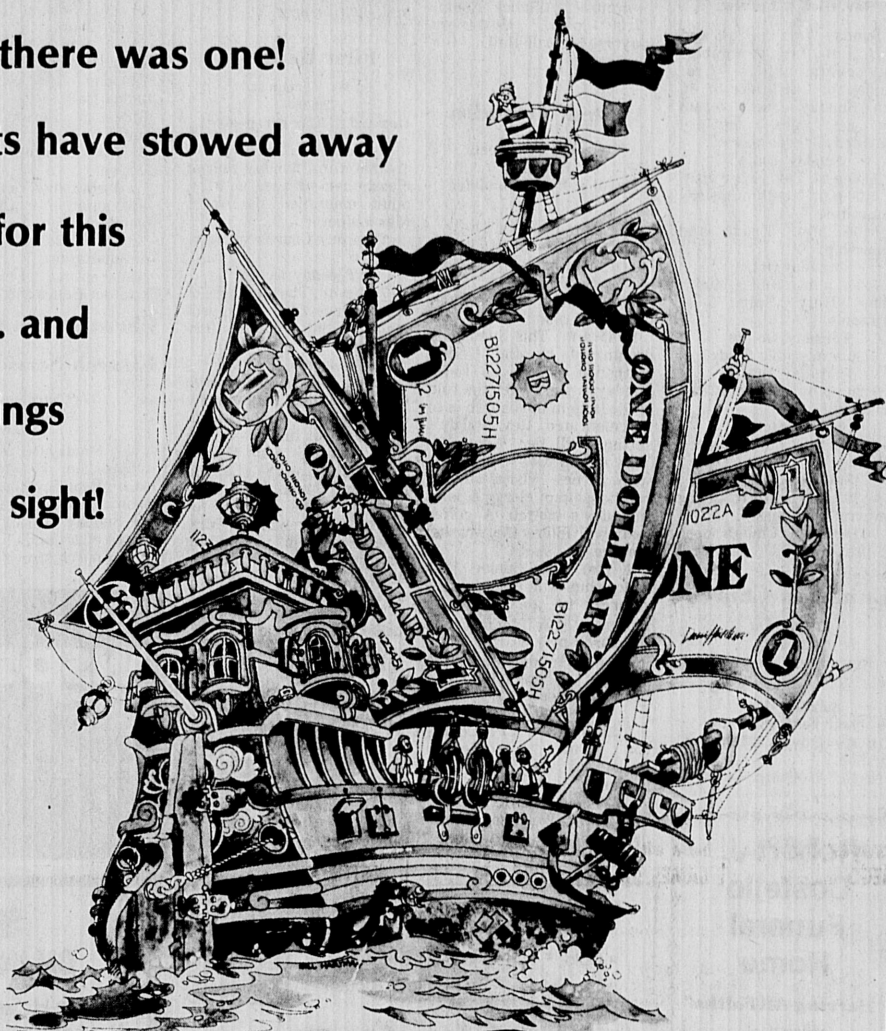

The Winchester Public Library is offering three Wednesday morning programs for newcomers in town to acquaint them with the resources of the area and to offer them a chance to meet each other.

On Oct. 18, there will be an introduction to the town itself. Selectman Barbara Hankins will explain town government and Constance Papas will outline the work of the School Committee.

Martha Ladd reference librarian, will explain what the library offers in the way of information resources on activities and organizations.

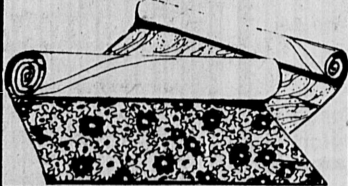

The programs will run from 10 a.m. to 11:30 with opportunity for questions. It is hoped that adults will feel welcome to attend even if they have lived in Winchester for awhile.

B-soccer games at McDonald

BY HUGH MURRAY

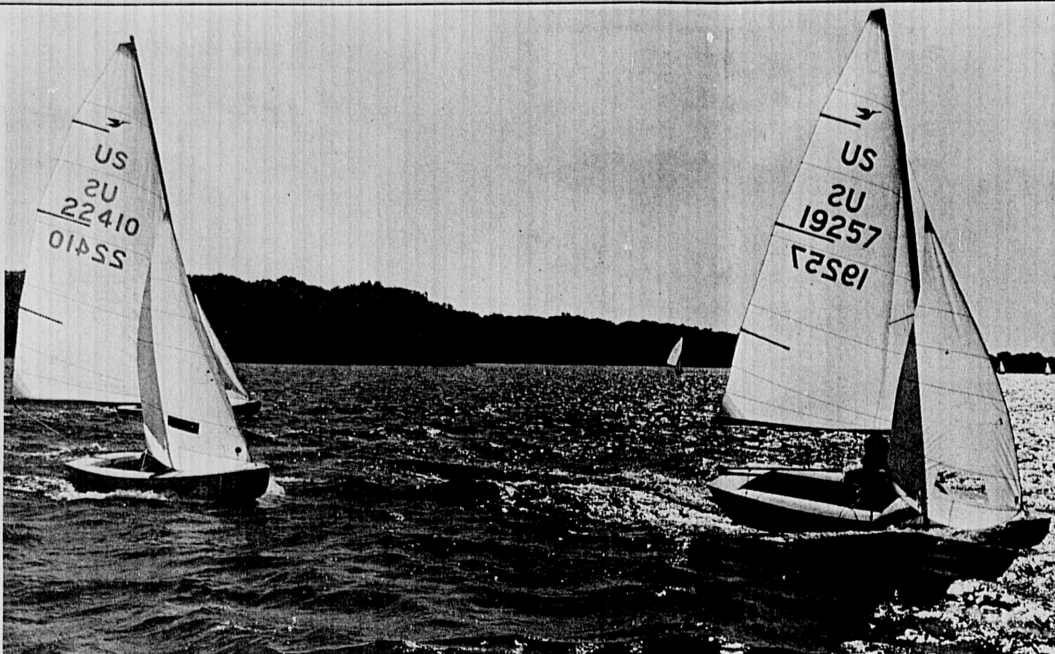

Saturday, Sept. 30th, brought another four games of B Soccer to McDonald Field.

Royal Blue beat Maroon 8 to 4 with Kevin Scully and Rodger Baldauci each credited with 3 goals. Ricky Parker and David Rand played a fine two-way game and there were several good saves by Billy Eaton. Maroon lost despite the brave efforts of goalies John Richmond and Peter Slonicki to stop the Royal onslaught.

In the second game, Orange rolled over Green 13 to 0. Goals were scored by Bob Clower (4), John Donnellan (4), Tim Conley, Steve Masiello and Wells Sampson.

The Black team outpowered the Gold team 8 to 1. Strong play was shown by Andy Mallio and Paul Carpinteri on the Gold team. Black played a fine game led by Nathan Bokil, Mike Driscoll and Ed Brickley. Good defense was attributed to Rich Pelletier and Court Crandall.

In the final B game of the day, Purple won 4 to 2 over Light Blue. John Reidy and Billy Thomas played a strong offensive game. Terry Skahan also played well. Light Blue saw fine aggressive play by Andrew Goodlatte, John Doherty and Tom Lee.

At archrival's field

Girls field hockey team loses to Woburn Squad

BY ALICE GREENE

The WHS girls' varsity and JV field hockey teams both lost painfully to arch rival Woburn last Wednesday. The game was played at the Woburn High field. The final score for varsity was 1-0.

Good defensive free hits for Winchester and an aggressive forward line threatened Woburn's end of the field for a majority of the 25 minute halves. Once in the scoring circle, though, the Sachems could not push the ball into the cage. Besides this deterrent, Winchester also had an unfortunate amount of obstruction and advancing penalties.

Woburn's quick feet and passing were commendable, but because of Winchester's strong defense, they had only 3 shots on goal, compared with the Sachems' 7. Left wing Kate Martin had a fortunate break in the second half and slipped one past Winchester's goalie, Nella Barrow.

Girls' JV lost with a score of 2-0.

Winchester vs. Reading

The Sachems' match against Reading had a more cheerful result with a final score of 4-1 in favor of Winchester. The game was played on Sept. 29th at the WHS field. Reading was lacking a JV team.

After the crushing loss to Woburn, Winchester was hot and hungry for a defeat. The girls on JV had only momentary disappointment about not playing, and were then caught up with cheering on their fellow-classmen.

Center halfback, Linda Pierce was outstanding with long drives, good free hits and she scored the first goal. The second goal was scored on an assist from left wing, Caroline Twomey. Her pass was easily flipped in by co-captain, Beth Noble.

In the second half, Reading sparked to life and had new aggression. The third goal for Winchester was scored with some trouble, but after chaotic whacking of sticks just outside the cage, left inner Debbie Boscoe forced the ball into the net.

In an attempt to block a threatening shot, Reading's goalie covered the ball with her body. This called for a well executed penalty shot by Beth Noble into the left hand corner of the cage, putting a lid on Winchester's victory.

Youth soccer teams cut to four

The oldest boys group in youth soccer had another day of good weather and exciting soccer on their third day at Gin field. Unfortunately, some of the teams showed up with so few players that two game results could not be counted towards the standings.

To avoid this from happening in the future, the number of teams has been reduced from six to four, and this Saturday the following games will be played:

10 a.m. Purple vs Blue.

11:30 a.m. Black vs Green (and Orange).

In the only official game of the day, the Purple Knights secured an early lead against the Royals. But just like the previous Saturday it looked like the would falter again in the second half.

Ted Guthrie started to serve the Royal forwards with dangerous passes and throw-ins and the Parker brothers staged many fast breaks through the middle. With 10 minutes remaining, the Royals tied the score at 3-3, but then Ned White inspired the purple squad to fight back and clinch the victory for the Knights, 4-3.

The Winchester Youth Hockey Bantams were outgunned by Medford Sunday afternoon, coming out on the wrong end of a 7-2 score.

The Winchester contingent got on the scoreboard at the 2:46 mark to take an early lead. Billy Eaton's slap shot was deflected in front with Tom Sullivan tipping home the puck to put the bantams up 1-0.

With less than a minute left in the first period Medford scored to knot the game. Winchester, however, had played Medford evenly during the period, but penalties kept Winchester under strength much of the time.

With Winchester trailing 3-1 early in the third period, Winchester's Tom Sullivan made the most of a rare penalty shot opportunity, faking the goalie and putting a nice backhand behind the netminder on the stick side. This marked the end of the Winchester scoring as defensive lapses took their toll in the third period.

Goalies Giarizzo and Boyle made many excellent saves in a losing effort. Larry Maida looked impressive with several good passes and sharp playmaking. Paul White and John Kisil turned in solid efforts at defense and Steve Masiello's hustle was noted throughout the game.

The schedule makers did the Bantams no favors as they face Lexington and Burlington, two of the league's strongest, in successive weeks.

Medford tops Bantams, 7-2

McCall Spartanettes shutout Wakefield, West Watertown

Wakefield and West Watertown both fell to the McCall Spartanettes Field Hockey team in recent games to give the girls a 2-0 record so far this season.

Coach Jan Keefe credited the girls for their "outstanding effort, attitude and enthusiasm" in shutting out their first two opponents.

Wakefield was their first victim Sept. 26, losing 4-0 to McCall. Determined efforts by forwards Elizabeth Bracken, Karen Brown, Kimberly Brown, Suzanne Cote, Kristen McNamara, Beth Miara, Jennifer Parker, and Patti Taylor put the pressure on the Wakefield defense. Co-captains Kimberly Donlon and Maria Montuori at halfback kept control for the Spartanettes over the midfield. And the fine, consistent play of halfback Martha Davis, fullbacks Julie Gibbons and Paula Papisthathis, and goalie Sarah Richardson combined to give the girls their shutout.

The West Watertown team gave the Spartanettes their second shutout, 5-0, in an away game Sept. 29. The forward line again managed to move the ball downfield with consistency, with Karen Brown, Kimberly Brown, Martha Davis, Kristen McNamara, Melissa Meade, Paula Papisthathis, Jennifer Parker, and Patti Taylor all seeing front line action.

Working both offense and defense at halfback were Kim Donlon, Julie Gibbons, Maria Montuori, and Sarah Richardson. And defensively, through the efforts of fullbacks Suzanne Cote and Beth Miara and goalie Elizabeth Bracken, the Spartanettes thwarted all attacks by the West Watertown squad.

Managing the team this season are Karen Carter and Jeanne Romeo.

JV undefeated

Harriers defeat Melrose, outrun by Watertown squad

By MARK COSTELLO

Elation unto dejection, that was the story this last week in cross country. On Sept. 26, the Winchester High School team looked impressive in a satisfying home win over Melrose. On the following Friday they were beaten handily by a strong Watertown team, at Watertown.

The record of the varsity now stands at an inauspicious one win, two losses.

On the 26th, Winchester defeated a substantially improved Melrose team by eight points, 24-32, (in cross country the lowest score wins).

Team captain Andy Wilsak won the varsity race in characteristic form. Wilsak tore off the starting line, took the lead, set a stiff pace and defied any runner to stay up with him. Wilsak's time was 16:31.

Coming in second was Joe Mahoney of Melrose. Mahoney's 16:43 is the fastest any sophomore has run on Winchester's home course so far this year. Winchester's Jim Wilber was next in time of 17:02. He was third. Behind Wilber and another Melrose runner, in fifth place, was Joe Flynn. Hampered by an injured ankle that requires daily tape, Flynn's time was 17:35. Sophomore Tom Derry was sixth in 17:40. Melrose took seventh and eighth. Mark Costello took ninth in 17:55. Rob Flynn was 10th in 18:01. Greg Cummings was 12th in 18:06.

Erstwhile junior varsity captain, Tom Doocey was 14th in his varsity debut time of 18:32. Rookie Dave Demars, competing in only his second career cross country race, ran varsity with a time of 18:59. He placed 16th.

Like the varsity, the junior varsity romped over their Melrose counterparts, 24-31. Steve Quinn pulled off his fastest time ever to win the JV race. Quinn's 19:05 was good enough to lead the entire field by 14 full seconds.

The number two sophomore on the team, Rick Jarvis was second in 19:19. Coming in third, with a good time of 19:29, was another sophomore John Provinzano. The Melrose JV, who have apparently adopted the classic cross country strategy of running in packs, took the next four places. The pack was broken nicely however, by Winchester's Mark Wilder. Wilder was seventh in 20:17.

Jim Connolly was 10th, just ahead of Peter Delgreco in 20:45. Jim O'Brien finished in 21:03. Jim Cullen ran a 21:05. John Ward and Greg Brown ran to a dead tie in 21:10, followed by Dave Sirchis at 26:27.

Watertown Meet

Refreshed and rejuvenated by their victory over Melrose, Tuesday, the Cross Country team journeyed to the Fresh Pond in Watertown last Friday for a meet against Watertown High. Final score: Watertown 20, Winchester 34.

The meet was held on the bicycle paths around the Fresh Pond. It is a short course, only 2.5 miles, and among the fastest in the league. Watertown is well known for stacking their team with shorter distance milers and half-milers.

The Watertown captain, Velasquez, won the varsity race in 12:39.5. Andy Wilsak was second in 12:46. Yet another chapter in the ongoing rivalry between these two great runners that had, in the past, produced such races as the Velasquez-Wilsak mile long duel at Winchester last spring.

Watertown took the next three places. Joe Flynn made a wrong turn, came back, rejoined the race and finished sixth in 13:44. A Watertown runner was right behind him at 13:45 and Tom Derry was right behind him, eighth in 13:46. Jim Wilber, the number two man on the Varsity team, was disabled by painful muscle stitches and still managed to wring a kick out of himself. Wilber came in ninth in a time of 13:56. Running in clumps, (somewhat like bloodclots) Watertown took the next four places. Mark Costello was 14th in 14:22. Rob Flynn took a 15th, finishing in 14:25. Greg Cummings was 16th in 14:33 and Tom Doocey was 17th in 14:53.

In their seemingly inexorable march to victory, the undefeated junior varsity team, added another hapless victim to their list of conquests. They stomped on the Watertown JV, 22-35.

Opening in a big way, Winchester swept the first four places with Rick Jarvis winning in 14:34, Dave Demars second in 14:37, Steve Quinn third in 14:38 and John Provinzano sprinting to a fourth in 14:56.

With that the Watertown JV appeared over the horizon in force, and took the next seven spots. The parade was interrupted by Jim Connolly at 15:42 and Mark Wilder at 15:48. Peter Delgreco was next in 15:57, with Jim O'Brien at 16:26 and John Ward at 16:27. Greg Brown and David Sirchis put the final touches on an altogether solid JV win with times of 16:37 and 18:56 respectively.

The next race for both cross country teams is scheduled for tomorrow against the reigning Middlesex League champs, Reading. It will be held in Reading. All meets, home or away, start at 3 p.m.

Win two meets

Girls cross country rebounds

By DONNA FARRELL

The Winchester High School Girls Cross Country team rebounded from a season opening loss to Wakefield with two victories.

The Sachem harriers defeated Melrose on the Winchester course by a score of 23-37 (the low score wins). They won again, three days later, defeating Watertown by forfeit on the Fresh Pond course.

In the meet against Melrose, Winchester's Sara Fotsch completed the hilly, three-mile course in 20:30, 17 seconds ahead of her closest competitor. Melrose runners took second and third place, but from then on, Winchester girls flooded to the finish.

Michelle demars placed second for Winchester in 21:37, finishing fourth overall. A minute later sophomore Lauren Fryklund crossed the line, finishing fifth overall with a time of 22:40. She was followed by Barbara Myers in 22:46, Sally Weylman in 23:42 and Lisa Griecce in 23:51.

The stream of Winchester girls was broken by one Melrose competitor, but after that Winchester grabbed the next four slots. Finishing 10th was Donna Farrell in 24:12, followed by Amy Anderson in 24:13, Sandy Earlam in 25:31 and Kathy Cullen in 25:33. After two more Wakefield girls completed, Winchester's Nancy Lane and Diane Franchi finished in 26:13 and 26:41, respectively.

Overall, Winchester was impressive in the Melrose meet, establishing themselves as a power to be reckoned with in the Middlesex League.

On Friday, the Sachems traveled to Cambridge, to compete on the Fresh Pond course against Watertown. The day was cool and clear, and the course was a flat 2.5 miles encircling Fresh Pond. With this combination of conditions, the pace was fast. Wakefield has oney three girls on their team, so it would have been impossible for them to win as a team, but they ran for individual times, anyway.

Despite a head cold, Winchester's Fotsch placed first in 16:31, with Michelle deMars hot on her heels. DeMars beat a Watertown competitor in an exciting finishing sprint, grabbing second place in 16:38.

Finishing fourth overall was Winchester's Lauren Fryklund in 16:58. She was followed by Barbara Myers in 17:32 and Sally Weylman in 17:33, before the next Watertown harrier crossed the line. Finishing eighth was Donna Farrell in 18:23. Ninth and 10th places went to Lisa Griecce and Amy Anderson, both finishing in 18:39. Also crossing the line for Winchester were Diane Franchi in 19:58, Kathy Cullen in 19:58, Sandy Earlam in 20:11, Nancy Lane in 20:27 and Sue Gunby in 21:59.

In a race won by forfeit, the Sachem harriers showed their competitive spirit by finishing in excellent times. Each girl is working hard, to improve as an individual, as well as for the team benefit. Come and watch the meets, they are exciting and very competitive.

The new kids on the block

BY BILL HART

What is red and black, kicks and dribbles, and has 22 legs?

Yup, you guessed it! It's the 1978 Winchester high school varsity girls soccer team. In 1967, two professional soccer leagues were introduced into American sports. Eleven years later, the 1978 Winchester varsity girls soccer team was inducted into the high school curricula.

At the helm, the head coach of the girls' footers is Christopher Scanlon. He was six years a coach of a junior high school soccer team in the Stoneham school system. Last spring, the opening for a head coach of a varsity soccer team was announced. Scanlon applied and was appointed to this new position. A task that he knew would be a challenge to him as well as to his booters.

They practiced two and a half hours each day, two on Saturday, at the Leonard Field. They dribbled, kicked, ran, and cried with pain the first week of practice in late August. Up and down the field they ran kicking a round ball with pentagon designs. Practice - practice - and more practice each day.

They picked their tri-captains: Kelly Gately, Mary Russo, and Kathleen Driscoll, wing, center halfback, and inside forward, respectively. They continually gained confidence in themselves, took pride in their workouts, and began to feel successful. They worked hard by pouring their hearts and souls into the game of soccer behind the tough competitive spirit of Coach Scanlon and his assistant, Donna Tanner.

They entered the '78 season. They are neither exceptionally gifted nor do they exhibit a capacity for rigorous and physical toughness. However, they are together, with a willingness to play like enthusiastic athletes.

So far the story is one win, one loss and two ties. Pretty good for the new kid on the block, with eight games to go.

Kathleen Driscoll, a senior, plays inside forward. So far she is the star on the team with five goals kicked into the net out of a total of 12 points scored by the entire varsity team. Carol Donahoe, Trudy Horne, and Ann Purrell are tough, both defensively and offensively, on the 100 by 65 yard field.

While I dare to say that there isn't a Pele on the field; they all parlay their talent into one and work together as a team. The game against Belmont ended in a 2-2 tie. The Winchester booters kicked 22 shots against the Belmont goalkeeper. Either she is an octopus or the shots were as high as an elephant's ear or as wide as Jimmy Carter's smile.

Before Tuesday's game against Burlington (who were 4-0), Coach Scanlon was determined: "No one is going to blow us out!"

And no one did. Driscoll, Carol Donahoe, Ann Purrell, Kelly Gately, and Barbara Dorsey all scored goals in a 5-1 romp over the Burlington girls.

Badminton play starts Tuesday

BY BOB GALLANT

You can always tell when it's fall. The fair-weather birds start flying south over the hills and ponds of Winchester, and the badminton birds start flying in all directions over the courts and nets of the McCall Junior High School gymnasium.

The annual pilgrimage of all old and new badminton players will get underway Tuesday as it has for high onto 45 years now. According to Whit Gray, president of the Winchester Badminton Club, regular play will be held each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10:30 in the McCall gymnasium from Oct. 10 until mid-April.

Whit and this year's Governing Board, consisting of Al Kajander, Art Regan, Liz Hatcher, Jim Earlam, Tom Dunn, and Phil Robbins, are making an all-out effort to encourage new players and those who have been away from the game for a while to join in the fun (and drop off a few pounds in the process).

Don't be shy about coming down on your own...there's no need to bring someone down to play with. A unique ladder system guarantees plenty of play at all levels of the game.

For further details, call Whit Gray at 729-0582 or any member of the Governing Board.

Disco course continues Oct. 10

In addition to the continuing classes in Russian style classical ballet, new courses in Disco Dance are scheduled for the fall term on Oct. 10 and at the Winchester School of Ballet.

Classes range from Disco I, an 8-week course for beginners (as individuals or couples) including the basic Lindy, Latin, L.A. Hustles, to Disco-jazz and free-form Disco-ballet for exercise and stage dance.

Since popular disco dances vary greatly from place to place, the purpose of the classes is to familiarize the student with the basic steps and various ways to combine them, so that upon seeing a "new" dance, the student will be able to recognize familiar steps and follow the combination, while providing the fundamentals basic to all quality dancing.

Other new courses for the fall season include preschoolers introduction to dance, Jazz-ballet for children, adult beginners ballet for exercise and a special class for boys under 12 years in basic dance, which gives young men the opportunity to become familiar with a variety of dance styles from traditional and classical to jazz.

Classes are taught by the director, Miss Darlene Wighton, who began her classical chester at the age of four. She furthered her dance education at the Hartford Conservatory of Music as well as studying ballet and jazz techniques under such artists as Eric Cooper, Marguerite de Anguera, and Alexandra Danilova of the New York City Ballet Co., and working with several companies.

For several years she was assistant instructor for the late Harriet Hoctor, teaching students of all ages and levels, assisted in teaching choreography, and has had experience training preschoolers, boys, and adult beginners.

Classes are held in Gifford Hall at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, 34 Dix St. For information, please call 933-4976.

Junior tennis tournament ends; about 100 boys, girls compete

The Winchester Junior Town Tennis Tournament has ended with close to 100 girls and boys competing for the championships.

Fine tennis and good sportsmanship was displayed throughout the event. The finals especially had some very close matches. Congratulations go to Sheila Gray who defeated Diane Ladaga to win the girls 12 and under division, 6-2, 6-2. The doubles provided some very good tennis when Terry Elio and Paula Ricciardelli teamed up to beat Sheila and Diane 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

Theresa Aylward became the new 15 and under champion when she defeated Cristina Elio in a close 7-6, 6-3 match. Theresa went on to team with Kathleen Buckley to win the doubles championship over Jodi McNamara and Debbie Willing in a match that wasn't decided until the last point of the game. Their scores were 3-6, 6-2, 7-6.

The boys also gave us some very exciting matches. Paul Sughrue played very well during the tournament to win the 12 and under division over John Raso 6-1, 6-1. John and Paul then teamed up to defeat Marc Cosentino and Mark Herlihy in the doubles 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Chris Julian became the new 15 and under champion by defeating Steven Rothmann 6-4, 6-4 in a tight match. The boys doubles also went down to the final game that saw Paul Ades and Steven Sughrue defeat Chris Julian and Tod Chambers for the championship 6-4, 3-6, 7-6.

Marlene Rothmann, the tournament director, thanks all the players and parents who participated in the event. She said she would also like to thank the Winchester Recreation Department for providing the trophies, the Winchester Tennis Association which provided new balls, Norman Doucette Jr. of the D.P.W. for keeping the courts in good shape, and to Whit Gray for his support.

Girls soccer ties Belmont

BY KELLY GATELY

The Winchester High School girls' soccer team traveled to Belmont seeking its first win of the season but left with a disappointing 3-3 tie.

After trailing 2-0, Winchester came from behind to take the lead 3-2 early in the third quarter only to tie on a late frustrating fourth quarter goal by Belmont.

The Sachems first goal was scored by Barbara Dorsey unassisted. With the goalie out of position, Barbara made an excellent long cross from deep in the corner placing it in the goal to put Winchester back in the game at 2-1.

Kathleen Driscoll then tied the game, taking a beautiful pass from Christine Driscoll on a penalty kick and putting it by the goalie in the second quarter.

Winchester dominated throughout the game and was clearly the superior team. In the second half, the Sachems had 22 shots on net compared to Belmont's 6.

Early in the third quarter Winchester scored what seemed to be the game winner. After a throw in by Nancy Donnellan, Kelly Gately headed the ball in the middle to Kathleen Driscoll who easily beat the goalie for her second goal and a 3-2 lead.

Then, with six minutes left in the game, Belmont scored on a blistering shot into the upper right hand corner and that was all she wrote.

After an optimistic outlook, their record stands at 0-1-2. In each of its three games, the Sachems outplayed its opponents only to tie or lose. With nine games left, Winchester will be trying to turn it around.

J.V. Notes: The J.V. soccer team's record is 1-1-1. After beating and tying Concord, they went on to lose a tough one to Belmont. Led by such outstanding players as Diane Strazullo, Anne Louise Casey, Allison McPhail, Gail Oram and Katie McCarthy, their season should be successful.

Women invited to join indoor soccer league

Christy Davidson (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass S. Davidson, and Linda Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shea, both of Thornberry road, made up patient beds as part of their duties as junior volunteers at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford this summer. The Winchester High School sophomores also got a glimpse of their future careers at the hospital. Christy plans to become a doctor and Linda, a nurse.

Thornberry road neighbors seek careers in hospitals

Two Winchester girls, neighbors on Thornberry road, spent the summer as junior volunteers at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford. The future may also find the two friends working together in a hospital — one as a doctor and one as a nurse.

Christy Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglass S. Davidson of 14 Thornberry rd., and Linda Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Shea of 43 Thornberry were among 80 junior volunteers who contributed a total of 3,200 hours of service to the hospital during July and August. Eleanor S. Jaffe, of 47 Myrtle terr is director of volunteer services at LMH.

Linda Shea, whose mother, Barbara, is a part-time laboratory technician at LMH, plans to become a nurse, and to eventually earn a master's degree in Nursing. "I've always wanted to work in a hospital to help people," said Linda. During the eight hours a week she spent at LMH, Linda worked mainly on the nursing floors — making beds, filling water pitchers, feeding patients, and doing other tasks. "I enjoy feeding patients, and visiting patients who are lonely," said Linda. "Sometimes they really need someone to talk to for a while." Linda has also worked in the public relations office, collating materials used in the hospital's health education programs.

Christy Davidson's interest in becoming a doctor started at a very early age, when the family physician, Dr. Donald Annino, told her that he thought she would make a very good doctor, because she cared a lot about people.

"Since then, my mother has encouraged me to become a physician," said Christy, "and I think I would really like to." Christy's four hours a week at LMH were spent with Linda on the nursing floors, or in the public relations office.

"Once Linda and I were feeding an older patient who had had a stroke. For a while he hadn't talked to anyone or been interested in anything," recalled Christy. "But we kept talking to him as we fed him, and all of a sudden he started talking away! It was a great," she said. "He asked us lots of questions, and he became interested in things again. He even began talking to the other patient in his room."

Both Linda and Christy entered the 10th grade at Winchester High School this fall. Last year, each of the A-students took advanced biology and math, and Christy also took advanced French. Their fall lineup of courses includes chemistry, algebra II, trigonometry, a foreign language, and English. Schoolwork and babysitting are keeping the girls very busy now, but each say they'll be back at the hospital next summer for another first-hand look at their future careers.

Coming to WHS

Coney Island Basketball

"Coney Island Basketball" is being introduced to Winchester High School at 7 p.m. Oct. 12.

What is Coney Island Basketball? It's basketball played Coney Island style, that is on tricycles!

Of course, specially made "jumbo" tricycles will be used for the over-sized "kids" riding them. Teachers from the high school, members of the community, and Winchester High School students will be playing in various team combinations. The feature round will pit teachers against students, in a battle for basketball supremacy.

Presented by Winchester High School Student Union in conjunction with Canyon Bros., Inc., it should prove to be the highlight of the year. Tickets are available in advance or at the door. Everyone is welcome.

Lynch parents learn about English lab

A group of about 50 parents met at Lynch Junior High School Sept. 27, to hear about, and to see at first hand, the workings of the seventh and eighth grade English laboratory as well as to visit standard English classes.

Frances Russell, head of English K-12 for the Winchester public schools, described the English laboratory which was instituted last year as a pilot program at the seventh grade level at Lynch. Evaluations of the program were so positive that the program was added to the eighth grade this year and the program was also put into operation at McCall Junior High.

The purpose of the laboratory is to help the student enhance and transfer the English skills already learned to other academic areas.

During the one period a week laboratory, each student progresses at his own level and pace in a sequence of activity using a variety of texts and materials. The program is a continuous one starting in the seventh grade and continuing through grade eight.

The English laboratory is not just an additional English class; therefore, progress in the laboratory is not reflected in the English grade. The teacher continually diagnoses the strengths and weaknesses of each student and makes two formal evaluations each year.

The major objectives of the laboratory are to teach the student to preview a textbook, follow directions, develop reading comprehension in subject matter, find the main ideas, take notes and prepare an outline, sequence ideas, use pictorial representations, and to choose appropriate reference aids. The basic goal of the laboratory is to have students master at least 80 percent of the prescribed program.

Robert Fitzgerald, principal of Lynch, Peter Miller, coordinator for the seventh grade lab, and Beverly Cronan, coordinator of the eighth grade lab, were available to answer additional questions about the program.

The meeting was sponsored by the Lynch Parents Association. A discussion of the junior high math and science curricula is scheduled for the spring.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a mini-college program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On this Wednesday, the following institutions will be represented:

Bay Path Junior College, Bentley College, Boston University, Champlain College (VT), Dean Junior College, University of Denver (CO), Fisher Junior College, University of Hartford, Hood College (MD), Katharine Gibbs School, Lesley College, New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, New England College (NH), New England Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing, Regis College, Stonehill College, Villanova University (PA), and Wesleyan University (CT).

On Oct. 18, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Burdett College, Central New England College (formerly Worcester Junior College), Douglas College (NJ), Grinnell College (IO), New Hampshire College (NH), University of New Hampshire (NH), Northeastern University, United States Air Force Recruiter, and Wheelock College.

Lavoie, elected

Elaine Stopyra Lavoie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore T. Stopyra, Birch Lane, Winchester and Squirrel Run, Yarmouthport, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Salvation Army of Massachusetts.

Lavoie is director of Public Relations for the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and was formerly Director of Communications for the Dunfee Family's Hotels.

She has a B.S. in government and journalism from Suffolk University from which she was a summa cum laude graduate and a member of Pi Gamma Mu National Collegiate Honor Society.

Her professional memberships include the Public Relations Society of America and Boston; Publicity Club of Boston; Boston Press Club.

Goodwin Promoted

Edward E. Goodwin, treasurer of the Winchester Cooperative Bank, will become executive vice president and executive officer of the bank Oct. 1, it was announced recently by the bank's board of directors.

Goodwin came to the bank in June, 1968 as assistant treasurer and was made treasurer in October, 1977. He will also continue in his duties as treasurer.

Marecek selected

Dr. Miriam Marecek (Zeman) of 10 Marchant rd., has been selected as a member of the National Committee on Early Childhood and Reading Development, sponsored by the International Reading Association. The first meeting was held in Houston, Texas at the annual International Reading Association.

Dr. Marecek, assistant professor at Tufts University Department of Child Study, is an internationally known educator. Born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, she completed her undergraduate studies at Earlham College and her advanced degrees at Columbia University in New York city. Her doctoral dissertation is in Children's Literature and films. Her interests are in beginning reading and media for young children.

She has taught at Wheelock Graduate School, Bank Street College (N.Y.) as well as at Tufts. She has consulted for school systems, publishing houses, and film companies. Her recent guide to "FREE TO BE YOU AND ME," a TV special and film with Marlo Thomas, was published by McGraw Hill.

Prior to moving to the Boston area, Dr. Marecek was associate director of the National Right to Read Administrative Leadership Program, where she directed leadership training and curriculum development for principals and reading specialists and supervised government grants for 40 various school systems across the United States.

Nominated and selected as an Outstanding Young Woman of America, Dr. Marecek recently addressed the Title I teachers of Malden, stressing an integrated way of teaching reading skills as well as an enjoyment of reading. She has also consulted at Belmont Day School and is preparing a series of inservice workshops for kindergarten and first grade teachers for the state department of North Carolina.

Her latest article, "Silver Sandals and golden tassels: enriching language experiences for young children," appeared in the January issue of "LANGUAGE ARTS," published by the National Council of Teachers of English.

Recent Winchester residents, Dr. Miriam Marecek-Zeman and her husband, Dr. Leos J. Zeman, a senior research chemist for ABCOR, Inc., of Wilmington, have one son, Jan Karel age 2 years, and are the parents of a daughter, Alenka Maruska, born Sept. 28 at Boston Hospital for Women.

Advanced Status

The Rev. Kenneth Orth, minister of youth at the First Congregational Church, has been granted Advanced Status in the American Association for Clinical Pastoral Education.

Extensive clinical experience, under the supervision of clinical instructors of the AACPE, on the chronic disease unit of the Tewksbury Hospital as well as the psychiatric unit of the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital was part of the training completed by Rev. Orth.

Following the completion of this work, required materials showing evaluation and integration of the clinical experience were submitted to the Northeast Regional Committee on Certification and Accreditation. After a review of the materials and an interview before the committee, it was voted to grant to Rev. Orth Advance Status in the Association.

The Rev. Orth, a graduate of St. Olaf College and Harvard Divinity School, is also currently involved in the Doctor of Ministry program in the Department of Psychology and Clinical Studies at Andover Newton Theological School. He has been affiliated with the First Congregational Church as Minister of Youth since the fall of 1976.

Supervisor Johnson

Margaret Mary Johnson has been appointed supervisor of physical therapy at Tri Community Health Services Inc., according to an announcement by Jayne A. Tapia, professional director.

In assuming her new position, Ms. Johnson brings 16 years of professional experience in the field of physical therapy here and in England.

She comes to Tri Community Health from the Somerville Visiting Nurse Association. Previous to this she was on the staff of the Youville Rehabilitation and Chronic Disease Hospital, Cambridge, where she has treated patients in a multidisciplinary setting of physical rehabilitation, has coordinated education programs and held administrative posts. She formerly was on the staff at Kennedy Memorial Hospital for Children, Brighton, and the Harold Wood Hospital, Essex, England.

Tri Community's new supervisor of physical therapy received her professional training at Guy's Hospital School of Physiotherapy, London. She holds a B.S. in Physical Therapy from Boston University and is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association.

Ms. Johnson is heading up a physical therapy department which has experienced a growth rate of 22 percent in the past fiscal year. Tri Community Health is the Medicare provider of home health care for the communities of Lexington, Winchester and Arlington.

An area of special interest to her is health promotion and preventive medicine which she feels adds a new dimension to physical therapy. She lives in Arlington.

Russell named

The National Council of Teachers of English has announced that Frances Russell, director of English in Winchester, has been elected NCTE's national chairman of secondary English.

In October, Russell will go to Washington, D.C. for an executive board meeting and will attend a U.S. Office of Education Workshop. Topics to be discussed will include the federal government's role in the minimum competency movement and programs for gifted children.

Miss Russell has announced that three English teachers will participate in the New England Association of Teachers of English fall conference.

Mrs. Beverly Cronan will explain the language laboratory which was piloted in grade seven in Lynch Junior High School last year and is now part of the grade seven and eight program in both Winchester junior high schools.

A trustee of the NCTE Research Foundation has Merna and Jack Wilson and sons Dale and Scott, of Thornberry road, were recently honored for outstanding sales effort by Shaklee Corp. at Shaklee convention in Hawaii. The Wilsons work as a family distributing Shaklee products primarily in the New England area. They were among 2000 Shaklee sales leaders attending the convention.

called the program "a breakthrough in developing more effective and lasting instruction in English language skills."

Mrs. Carol Bashore Lane will explain a Washington elementary school experience that focused on the development of language and reasoning skills through an interdisciplinary emphasis. The experiment was part of efforts to coordinate the elementary and junior high school programs. Miss Barbara Norton of Lynch Junior High School will chair the discussions.

Miss Russell has announced that 25 elementary teachers are now participating in a fall language in-service program that will focus on reasoning and critical thinking skills. Dr. Virginia Biggy of the University of Lowell in presenting the opening address announced that Winchester in initiating such a workshop at this time is "on the cutting edge" of a movement that is gaining momentum on the national level. Other speakers will include Dr. Sylvia Feinberg of the Tufts University Eliot Pearson Child Study Center and Dr. Lee Indrisano of Boston University.

Attendance good at Parkhurst open house

Attendance was excellent at the recent open house held by the Parkhurst School. Caire Keane, president of PTA, addressed the visiting parents and Sally Cusato, president of CSA, also spoke.

New staff members introduced by Principal Andrew Allen were Mrs. Barbara Eason, kindergarten; Joan Rice and Mrs. Jane Hughes, special needs teachers; and Caroline Lindecke, music.

A brief outline of the children's day at school was given by the teachers. After the introductions the parents visited the classrooms.

High school guidance:

Call it 'a safe place'

By CECILY BRADSHAW

A "safe place," in the words of Counselor Kay Tiffany.

By being just this, by providing a non-judgmental atmosphere and confidential counseling, the guidance department at Winchester High School encourages students to come for help. And come they do, bringing problems ranging from a request for a schedule change to a desire for greater independence to a potential for suicide.

Anthony DeBiase, chairman, and the five counselors described the guidance department's work last week in its numerous aspects to the first meeting of the Community School Association, held at Lincoln School.

Career and personal counselor JoAnn Schoenegge described the vocational interest test given to verify a student's career direction and the resource materials used to help the student in making a final choice. In personal counseling, the department recognizes its limitations ("Basically, we provide a place to ventilate") and refers a student to an appropriate mental health association or private counselor when necessary.

Diane Boettcher, responsible for the Max Ed and Career Life Information Programs (CLIP), defines her area as "providing alternatives." Max Ed enables the student to explore various career possibilities through community or career internships or volunteer service. CLIP provides for non-four-year college plans. Students take relevant practical courses in the morning and spend afternoons working, attending classes at the Northeast Regional Vocational School, or taking academic classes at the high school. After vocational testing, they study various career clusters.

Special needs students now have their own counselor, Phyllis Nannis, who described Massachusetts Chapter 76A as the most advanced program in the nation and a model for pending federal legislation.

A student found to have a serious problem is referred for determination of the extent of that need. After assessment of the student's situation by a core evaluator, the parents are contacted and "become allies with the school." An educational plan is drawn up and signed by the parents and the principal (and by the student if 18 or over); this plan then becomes a legal document. Ms. Nannis emphasized that, although a school's legal obligation to the special needs student ceases with the awarding of the diploma, Winchester's guidance department feels a moral obligation to assist the student with post-secondary planning.

College counselor Constance Trickett enumerated the seven things looked for in a student's record: depth of courses (number of years of subject); grade point average (advanced placement courses are weighted by .33, college prep courses by .10); rank in class (cumulative, final grades only, grades 9 through 11); junior-year SAT and achievement scores; college board scores; two written appraisals from junior-year teachers; and outside experience - work (especially important), sports, and talent.

Anthony DeBiase explained the mini-college program, which allows students to talk freely to visiting admissions officers. The counselors frequently see a discrepancy between what the student wants and what the parents want, and urge them to plan together. They also stress the need for getting the family's financial ability across; surprisingly, many students feel barred from applying to colleges they really want in the mistaken belief that their parents cannot afford such schools.

With a ratio of 250 to 1, the gravest problems obviously must take precedence, but most problems are addressed. And, as personal problems and attitudes often manifest themselves in routine course selection discussions, any meeting may lead to valuable counseling.

So, to students and to parents, the guidance department says, "Yes, we're busy, but we're there to be needed - please call!"

Neighborhood co-op begins pre-school

Classes have recently begun at the Neighborhood co-operative Nursery School which meets at the First Congregational Church, Dix Street.

The school is beginning its 10th year of successful operation with three separate groups of preschoolers meeting each week. Younger three-year-olds come on Monday and Tuesday mornings; older threes and younger fours come on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings and the fours on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Both the director-teacher, Betty Jellis, and the teacher, Betsey Brickley, have returned for another year.

The co-operative preschool attracts many families from Winchester and also some from as far away as Burlington and Billerica. The two younger groups have four adults - two professionals and two parent-helpers - with each class of about 20 children so that it is possible for each child to receive individual attention. Each family provides a parent-helper for one session of every 10.

There are one or two openings in each class for the 1978-79 school year. Parents who would like more information may call Joyce Sundstrom, 1 Maxwell rd. of 729-0941.

Marycliff grads invited to reunion

Marycliff Academy graduates are planning a gala reunion for all the academy's alumnae.

IF you are a graduate of the former Marycliff Academy and would be interested in the event, you should contact Mrs. Alma (Chisholm) Rigazio, class of '57, at 25 Clover Hill dr., Chelmsford, 01824, or call 256-4664.

Battle of bands at charity ball

For the first time since the event was started a decade ago, this year's Senior Citizens' Day at Topsfield Fair, Tuesday, Oct. 10 will be attended by delegations from all six New England states. General Manager Paul Corson said that a record turnout of 5,000 is in prospect based on group motor coach reservations.

Admission will be free to all seniors. Those not identified with groups, or travelling by private car, have only to show their credentials at the turnstiles.

A strolling German band, the Gesang Verein Lyra of Cumberland, Rhode Island, will entertain the guests throughout the day. Special stage shows, farmyard contests, arts and craft demonstrations and flower show features are also planned.

The 154th renewal of America's oldest continuous county fair will run for nine days, Oct. 7-15.

Rehab. Hospital volunteers to meet

The annual fall meeting of the volunteers association of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, will be held Oct. 12 at 9:30 a.m.

Presiding will be Mrs. Elizabeth Rayner of Weston, president.

Also participating will be Katherine Welch, vice-president; Mrs. Albert Maggioni, treasurer; Mrs. Loretta Stillman, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Keleher, auditor, all of Winchester; and Mrs. Ann Mawn of Woburn, board member.

Museum films

The following films will be shown Saturday and Sunday, at 2 and 4 p.m. at the Museum of Our National Heritage in Lexington.

"Beginnings of Exploration," will be shown in honor of Columbus Day. The short film documents the first stages in Europe's expansion.

"The Hammerman in Williamsburg," a film from the Colonial Williamsburg series, recreates the environment of an 18th century blacksmith.

For information contact the museum at 861-6559.

Couples A Go-Go

Twelve persons recently participated in the second week of the Couples A Go-Go bowling league.

Appropriate team names were chosen to encourage the best bowling efforts.

The evening went to Guy and Angela Pollino. Guy achieved the men's high game of 193, and total of 531. Angela received the women's high game of 179 and total of 516.

Isable Hart was the hostess after bowling.

Square dances

Sunday evening, Oct. 8th, marks the start of a series of beginner classes in modern western-style square dancing.

The classes have been designed for people with little or no previous experience, but can also be taken by anyone interested in brushing up their skills and learning some of the new figures.

Right from the first evening, participants will find themselves doing easy dances with old-time basics like the Do-Sa-Do and Grand Right and Left. Later progressing to such modern innovations as the Wheel and Deal, Cloverleaf, and Zoom.

No special costume is required, but participants should wear comfortable, low-heeled shoes and easy-fitting, casual clothes.

George Haile, caller and teacher of Beverly, will conduct the classes, under the sponsorship of the Strolling Solos Square Dance Club. It is not necessary to bring a partner, although couples are welcome, as members of the club will be on hand to join in the dancing and demonstrate the fancier figures.

All classes will be held at the Linscott Elementary School, Main and Elm streets, in Woburn, 7:30-10 on Sunday evenings.

For further information, call 933-2353.

You don't have to be a seasoned pro to buy a good camera down at Underground Camera. In fact, many of our most loyal customers never even picked up a good camera before coming to us.

You see, we know cameras so well, we can explain anything you want to know in plain English.

And we'll always take the time to show you how to use anything you buy from us - whether it's a simple pocket camera, a good S.L.R., a sound movie outfit, or a complete home darkroom. (Chances are, we've used the very same equipment ourselves. So we can give you many practical hints that just aren't in the instruction manuals.)

What's more, you have thirty days to return any equipment you're not totally satisfied with for full credit toward the regular low price of anything else in the store.

Because we also know that the camera you like best while you're in the store, may not be the camera you like best once you've had a chance to take some pictures.

Table of Contents:

5• Cover Story/It's The Tops

Now celebrating its 154th year, the Topsfield Fair is as hearty and enormous as ever. Every type of farm animal you've ever imagined, competitions, midways, acres of food, hundreds of flowers, singers, acrobats and roller coasters are just the beginning of the line-up. It's all so vast, in fact, that we'd suggest taking two or even three days to get acquainted with it all. by Maggie Hall

6• Day Trips/Fall Foliage Five Ways

Driving out to see the brilliant, turning leaves is a tradition here in New England — but who says you have to take the usual route? Bicycling down a colorfully streaked back road, floating past trees in a canoe, or even taking in the view from a train window are just a few of the ways to catch this fall at its best. by Liz Horwitt

7• Food/Brunch At The Copley

The peaceful elegance of Boston's Copley Plaza Hotel makes it a prime spot for a gargantuan, relaxing brunch. The offerings live up to the atmosphere, too. From exotic dishes like Swedish Gravad Lax to a simple pumpkin spice muffin, there's something good for every palate. by Steven Raichlen

8• Movies/Boys From Brazil

Hollywood's been banking on anything to do with Nazism for some time now. The latest movie in the category is slick and well-done; but that's hardly enough. by Maggie Hall

Next Week In Metroguide

The Ringling Bros Barnum and Bailey Circus is coming to town next week, a true three-ring extravaganza if there ever was one. We'll take you behind the scenes, where baby tigers are bottle-fed, seven-year-olds swing fearlessly through the air and elephants are as common as housecats.

Save a 300-year-old Frenchman from growing old before his time.

Why we need money for climate control.

Boston's humidity, pollution and severe changes in weather take a relentless toll on the priceless art treasures at the Museum of Fine Arts.

Over the years, 300-year-old paintings can flake, chip and crack. Irreplaceable medieval wooden statues can split. And ancient Greek sculptures can develop black pit marks. Fortunately, there is a solution. A modern climate control system will enable the museum's great art to live virtually forever. It will cost about $10 million to install throughout the museum's six acres.

But if we don't install it, what we all stand to lose can't be measured in dollars.

Why we need money for a new wing.

Galleries and corridors built in 1909 can no longer handle all the visitors and art comfortably. We've even had to pack many works of art away in the basement.

That's why we're planning a new West Wing. It will mean space for exciting travelling exhibitions from around the world, a new contemporary art gallery, a 400-seat auditorium, and more.

All open six nights a week.

Why we need money to move the mummies.

Because space is at a premium, many collections are scattered inconveniently throughout the museum. As a result, the mummies are on the first floor, and the rest of the Egyptian collection is on the second floor.

But while we're installing our climate control system, we'll also be creating new, larger galleries. Not just in a few areas, but all through the museum.

For instance, one gallery will give us a spectacular new way to display the Egyptian collection in one place. And another will let us display our collection of early musical instruments for the first time.

Why we need you.

Some of the money needed for these projects has already come from foundations, corporations and Federal grants. But a lot of it has to come from you.

If you've enjoyed the pleasure that only great art can bring, and want your grandchildren to share that pleasure too, please help us.

It's The Tops: The Topsfield Fair

Country fairs are often considered the ultimate in Americana, the manifestation of those rural roots everyone likes to claim.

By Maggie Hall

There is nothing, nothing, like a country fair, and the Topsfield Fair, the oldest of all, celebrates its 154th birthday on October 7, with a parade through Topsfield, starting at 9 am, to the Fairgrounds on Route 1. The Fair is as much a part of Essex County life as steamers and beer, and Fairtime follows summertime as surely as night follows day.

There are really two Fairs. One is for the thousands of exhibitors who compete for cash prizes, ribbons, and glory. There are awards for flowers, for ducks, for the greatest gingerbread house, you name it.

The other Fair, the real Fair, is purely a spectator sport, for thousand and thousands of visitors every year. Country fairs are often considered the ultimate in Americana, the manifestation of those rural roots everybody likes to claim. They are also lineal descendants of the great medieval fairs, to which people traveled great distances to see the folks from the next village, to eyeball the side-shows and hucksters, the jugglers, animals and traders.

Say you found yourself in a hot-air balloon on Saturday, borne by the winds over the fields of Essex County. Next to the ribbon of Route 1, with your bird's eye view, you would see an irregular circle of white-washed buildings, awash with swirls of fairgoers. You would see horsepulling contests, a Pygmy Goat Show, quilting, sheep-shearing, cake-decorating contests, unicyclists, dog-racing, square-dancing, politicians kissing babies, Indian tepees, butterfly collections, antique tractors, little red hens, big white hens, baby chicks, baboons, balloons, roller coasters, hen-flying contests, cock-crowing contests, Mrs. Essex County, Miss American Honey, apples, potatoes, potatoes and pans. All that's missing is a jousting tournament.

Secure your balloon to the nearest steeple, and with your feet back on solid ground, make your way to one of the entrance gates. Pick up a program on your way in, and hit some of the high spots:

Growing Things

The annual Fall Flower Show is inside the Flower Building, an explosion of color. All the floral exhibits are on display for the duration of the Fair, and a Flower Auction takes place on Sunday, the 15th, at 7 pm.

More bounty of the earth is stored in the Food Fair Building. This is the headquarters for fruits and vegetables, and if you are looking for that old time harvest feeling, this is the place to be. Here are the pumpkins and squash of autumn, the Indian corn, and mountains of potatoes with Indian names from the north: Katahdin, Kennebec, and Chippewa. There are 15 varieties of peaches, ten of pears, and 25 of apples, including crabapples named Hyslop, Transcendent and Dolgo.

Food

There is more food, the baked variety, in the 4-H Building, exhibited by 4-Hers and by adults, too. All the displays are shown with their recipes, and copying is definitely allowed. Baked goods are judged on Monday, Tuesday, and Friday, the 13th (uh-oh), so if you want to gaze upon them in their freshness, go on those days. There are gingerbread constructions with holiday themes, fair tale themes and flight-of-fancy themes.

Smallish Animals

Small animals, in cages, are all over the Fairgrounds. The basic chicken can be found in the Poultry Building, along with its relatives: ducks, ornamental waterfowl, geese, pigeons and racing homers. One highlight of the poultry division is the cock-crowing contest: the feathered contestant is judged on his ability to crow the most in a given length of time. The noise begins on Saturday, October 14, at 11 am, in the Farm Yard Ring (There is a concurrent hen-flying competition).

In the little bitty animals department are the bees. There are no killer bees; mostly what you'll see are the Italians, bees with the familiar yellow and black body work. They are all in escape-proof cases, and most of the displays (in the Grange Building) feature that ambrosial bee by-product, honey. Winnie the Pooh will make personal appearances in the bee-keeping department Thursday through Sunday, in the mornings. Saturday through Wednesday, Gloriann Glawe, Miss American Honey of 1978, presides over the department. There are all sorts of honeys on display, including mead, the drink made of fermented honey and water, and sometimes fruit, that kept the knights in shining armor fortified to face their next dragon. Mead is judged on the basis of taste. The judges have already been chosen. There are also baked goods in the bee-keeping department, anything you can cook with honey. You can lift these recipes, too.

Bigger Animals

For some really big action in really big animals, make a bee-line for the open area behind the Grange Building. Here there are pulling contests for horses and oxen. The 2900 horse contest is on Saturday the 7th at 1 pm, and the three-horse hitch contest is the same day at 6:30. On Sunday, the 1600 class is at 1, the 3300 pull is at 3:30, and the horse free-for-all is at 6:30. There are also competitions in tractor pulling (lawn and garden size only) with stock at 10 am and modified at 2, on October 9. The last day of the Fair, the 15th, is devoted to oxen pulling, with the 2800 pull at 1, the 3200 pull at 3:30, and the free-for-all at 6:30.

Fun and Games

Dust off your pitching arm and plunge down the midway. This is the carnival part of the Fair. There is a half-mile of games like skeeball, toss-the-ring, and throw-the-baseball, and with any skill at all, you can get your hands on one of those electric blue fuzzy bears or a genuine kewpie — short for Cupid — doll. "Skill" is a word used advisedly; all the games are games of skill as opposed to games of chance, so technically, it isn't gambling, and you do have a chance to win. But everybody knows that only a kind and forgiving Providence can get that ball out of your hand and into a winning ring. There are rollercoasters, carousels and special rides imported from Europe. They may make you sick but they won't make you broke — rides are 40, 60, and 80 cents. Games are priced from one-thin-dime-ladies-and-gentlemen-just-one-tenth-of-a-dollar to half a buck.

If your wallet and your self-esteem are still pretty much intact after the midway, go to the dogs. The puppies are running October 9 through 14, at 8 pm. It's pari-mutuel racing, which means that your share of the winnings depends on how much is bet by the crowd. The general rule of thumb is to bet only on the winners, and to quit while you're ahead.

Free Entertainment

The Grandstand Arena is one of the big spots for entertainment, all free, every day. There are three headliner groups: the Hart Family from Tennessee open the Fair on October 7 and 8; the Thrasher Brothers (they had their own television special called America Sings) October 9 through 12; and, by popular demand, the Jack D'Johns, three young men from Fall River who really packed them in at their last Fair appearance three years ago. Their program of music and comedy will close out the Fair with shows on October 13, 14, and 15. Check the program for times.

There is more entertainment, equally free, on the Trianon Stage, in the middle of the Main Oval. The Trianon (it presumably takes its name from its vaguely triangular shape) is where you can see the Mrs. Essex County Pageant (interviews on Saturday the 7th at 9 am, finals on the 14th at 2:30), the Junior King and Queen contest (October 7 at noon), Mitchell's Marionettes (Saturday through Monday at 1, 3:15 and 7 pm), morning worship (Sunday mornings at 10:30, also in the Arena), the Am-Vets Band from Lynn (Sunday, October 8, at 1:30 and 3:30 pm), and gospel music

Advice

Obviously, there is much more to the Fair. Obviously, you can't do it all in one afternoon. A word to the wise: Go at least twice, and ideally three times. Go on the opening Saturday to see the parade and the ceremonial razz-ma-tazz; go again in the middle of the week (it's cheaper and the crowds are smaller); and go on the closing weekend to see if all the judging results jive with your opinions. Then say goodbye to the animals until next year.

Notes:

The Topsfield Fairgrounds are at the junction of Route 1 and Maple Street in Topsfield. There is parking at the River Gate, just north of the Ipswich River; at the Route 97 Gate; in the Wheatland Field, bounded by South Main Street and Salem Road; in the Co-op Field, at the Essex County Co-op Farming Association, also on Route 1; in the apple orchard next to the Old Perkins House on Central Street; and in the Perkins Field, between Central Street and the railroad tracks.

Parking is $1.

Admission to the Fair is free to exhibitors and to children under 12. Otherwise, it is $2.50 for adults on Saturdays and Sundays, $2 weekdays.

There is a first aid station in the Fairgrounds in front of the Home Arts Building.

Picnicking is allowed in the area behind Kiddieland, next to the Administration Building. There are restaurant stands in the Grounds.

The main telephone number for the Fairgrounds is 887-2212.

The Fair is open from 9 am Saturday, October 7 through Sunday, October 15.

Day Trips Fall Foliage Five Ways

Experience the autumn foliage at its best: while cycling down a quiet country lane, or drifting past flaming leaves on a river.

By Liz Horvitt

In autumn, when trees are bursting into flame all over the countryside, a popular New England pastime is to bundle the family into the car, drive along a few back roads and "ooh!" and "ahh!" for an afternoon.

This kind of tree-gazing, however, has some great limitations. You may bypass the best roads to take, and some of the most breathtaking displays of color can't be seen from the road at all. Also, while it's possible to take in a large number of trees in a few hours by car, you can't admire them at leisure and up close, the way you can while traveling on foot, or by bicycle, or in a canoe, for instance.

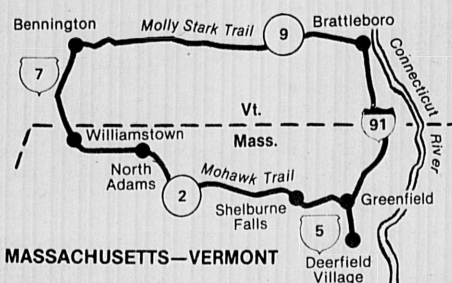

The following organizations offer opportunities for experiencing the Massachusetts autumn at its best, as slowly or as rapidly as you like: cycling down a quiet country lane, or drifting past flaming leaves on a river. They'll provide the necessary information, equipment and guidance for hiking, canoeing, bicycling, traveling by car or by specially chartered train past the finest foliage this state, and neighboring areas like New Hampshire and Vermont, have to offer.

WHEN AND WHERE TO GO BY CAR

The AAA dispenses a variety of information about the best times and routes to view fall foliage (some, not all, available to non-members). If you prefer to travel by car, the AAA can tell you which roads to follow. A route which encompasses the two "all-time favorites," the Mohawk Trail in western Massachusetts and the Molly Stark Trail of southern Vermont, begins at Greenfield (reached by Route 2) on the Connecticut River. Go south on US 5 to Deerfield Village; then back to Route 2 and west along the Mohawk Trail to Williamstown; then north on US 7 to Bennington, Vermont; then east on Route 9, the Molly Stark Trail, through the southern Green Mountains and over Hogback Mountain to Brattleboro, then south on Interstate 91 to Greenfield and back along Route 2 home. Round trip, it's about 323 miles.

For more information write the American Automobile Association, 1280 Boylston Street, Chestnut Hill 02167; or call 738-6900.

RAILROAD EXCURSIONS

On Saturday, October 14, the Mass Bay Railroad Enthusiasts will be holding their Boston to Chatham Fall Foliage Railroad Excursion. The specially chartered Amtrak train will leave South Station at 8:30 am, Back Bay at 8:35 am, and stop at several other towns, including Framingham and Worcester, to pick up passengers. The one-day trip passes through a part of Massachusetts autumn inaccessible to automobiles: along Conrail's former Boston & Albany main line, and past the famous Whistler stone-arch bridges in Middlefield to the summit of the Berkshires. At Pittsfield there are two side trip options: a visit to Hancock Shaker Village ($5 extra) or a trip to the top of Mount Greylock, the highest point in Massachusetts. It commands a view of the foliage of five states, and the additional charge is $4.

The fee for the Excursion is $34.95 ($22.95 for children under 12). To be sure of a place order as soon as possible from: Mass Bay Railroad Excursion, Inc., PO Box 136, Ward Hill 01830; or call William Crawford at 594-3082 or 594-5413.

HOOFING IT

For a slow, full savoring of fall colors, there's nothing like a walk in the woods. You may want a hike guided by experts who know the name of every shrub, and when each is at the height of color; or you may prefer the freedom of exploring on your own. Here are some places where you can pick your own paths.

Refuges, Sanctuaries, Arboretums

Great Meadows Refuge, 191 Sudbury Road, Concord (369-5518). About 3,000 riverside acres, three walking trails. Maps, trail guide. Open dawn to dusk.

Ashmet Holly Reservation, East Falmouth (563-6390). American, English, Chinese and Japanese holly trees. 45 acres, trails. Open Tuesday through Sunday, 8:30 am to 4 pm; Sunday, noon to 4 pm. $1.

Pleasant Valley Wildlife Sanctuary, Lenox (413-637-0320). 680 acres at the side and base of Lenox Mountain; hemlock gorge, alder swamp among the 14 miles of trails. Open dawn to dusk. 50 cents for adults; 25 cents for students.

Stony Brook Nature Center, Norfolk (528-3140). 101 acres of ponds, marshes, woodland, fields. Open dawn to dusk. Free.

Moose Hill Wildlife Sanctuary, Sharon (887-2241). 727 acres of hilly woods, meadow, several miles of trails. Open dawn to dusk. 50 cents for adults; children free.

Broadmoor Wildlife Sanctuary, South Natick (655-2296). 538 acres of woodland, field and marsh, partly on the Charles River. Open dawn to dusk. $1. 12 and under, free.

Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary, Topsfield (887-2241). 2500 acres of meadow, swamp, ponds, islands eskers; largest collection of exotic plant species in New England. 19 miles of trails. Open dawn to dusk. $1.50; children, 50 cents.

BIKING AND CANOEING

Lincoln Guide Service, Lincoln Road, Box 100, Lincoln 01773 (259-0204). The Service sponsors regular cycle tours on New England roads, led by guides who are "experts on bike techniques and repair, local history and environment." Taking back road routes, the tours run past woods, along rivers and pastures. There are regular Sunday rides, weekend tours and one-week trips, for all levels of expertise. Afternoon rides start at 1:30, cover either seven or ten or 24 to 40 miles and cost $2. Day tours on Sundays cover 40 to 50 miles. One-week tours go out to the Berkshires, or up to New Hampshire. The Lincoln Guide Service Bike Shop in Lincoln is open daily 9 am to 6 pm.

The Charles River Canoe Service is part of Lincoln Guide Service. CRCS rents canoes at the MDC Building on the Norumbega stretch of the Charles, from April 1 to October 31 and offers introductory classes in canoeing. CRCS also sponsors trips on the Charles and on other rivers. For further information write The Charles River Canoe Service, 2401 Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale 02166 (527-9885).

American Youth Hostels, 251 Harvard Avenue, Brookline 02146 (731-6692). Besides offering cheap accommodations for travelers, AYH sponsors bike trips around the New England area. For example, this summer's excursions included the Monadnocks, the Green Mountains and the Adirondacks. AYH plans to do several trips this October which will include fall foliage viewing. Write the above address for the AYH October bulletin, which also includes useful information about hostels, traveling tips and more.

The Charles River Wheelmen, 3 Bow Street, Cambridge 02138 (666-8571). Pick up the Wheelmen's bulletin at Life Cycle or The Bicycle Exchange in Cambridge, or write to the above address. Like the Lincoln Guide, the Wheelmen sponsor bike trips for cyclists of all ages and degrees of proficiency, over distances from a few to 100 miles. Frequent local trips are slated for this fall. They will travel through autumn countryside, within 30 miles of Boston — in places like Wellesley and Dover.

Bicycle Coalition, 3 Joy Street, Boston 02108 (no phone). This organization puts out a bulletin of bicycle events in the Boston area and further out, including trips and events in New Hampshire and Vermont. Write to the above address for all information.

Food | Brunch At The Copley

When you consider the elegance, leisurely pace and outstanding food, the Copley Brunch seems eminently worth it.

By Steven Raichlen

Brunch is a culinary halfbreed, a bastard born of the morning meal and midday repast. In this country it has grown from modest proportions to a resplendent gargantuan repast. It's more than a meal — it's a whole afternoon's activity.

My Oxford English Dictionary tells me that "brunch" was an English student slang word — a sort of catch-as-catch-can meal for sleepyhead scholars, who awoke late and ravenous after a night-long's carousal. The august dictionary adds that the word "brunch" made its entree into the English language at the late date of 1900.

Thus I was not caught completely unaware when the phone rang early one Sunday morning.

"Hello," I sleepily answered. "No kidding, you're really on your way to Boston? You'll be here at noon?" Meanwhile, I rifled the refrigerator, which yielded one sad egg, a glass of milk and a couple of wilted carrots. "Yes, of course you should stop by," I exclaimed. "I'm sure we'll manage something."

I answered the doorbell with my sportcoat slung over my shoulder. As I marched my bewildered guests out of the building and back to the car, I explained that they were in for a very special surprise. "You see," I said, "we're going for brunch at the Copley."

There is only one Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston. For 66 years it has been synonymous with class and elegance. The Plaza's White House-shaped facade serenely — and perhaps a little haughtily — faces Copley Square and the mirrory Hancock Tower. The lobby — high-ceiling, aglitter with stucco — bustles with bellhops, business men and tourists. The Copley Plaza Restaurant provides an antidote to all the excitement.

"This way please" — our hostess pronounced the magic words. Much impressed, we gazed at the lofty, barrel-vaulted chamber and the richly paneled walls, lush with greenery made more expansive by mirrors, and tastefully hung with Victoriana. Overhead, a veritable menagerie of stuffed deer, boar and bear heads sagely survey the proceedings below. A talented trio plays chamber music, as jacketed, bow-tied waitresses whoosh silently through the room.

Our particular dining chamber had the air of an elegant hunting lodge. In fact, you could almost imagine railroad tycoon "Diamond Jim" Brady at the next table, downing his mid-morning "snack" of beefsteak, oysters and a gallon of orange juice. The style, the comfort are what a lazy Sunday afternoon requires.

The Copley's brunch menu is an ambitious affair, a grand old hotel-style menu, with 18 different appetizers and 21 entrees. You could dine your way around the world on Blintzes or Welsh Rarebit, on Andalusian Gaspacho or Corned Beef Hash. I was pleased to find on the menu such New England specialties as Fish Chowder, Nantucket Baby Sea Scallops and "Hangtown Fry" (fried oysters).

We passed up the "libations," — Bloody Maries, Bull Shots, and Mimosas served in great hemisphere goblets. As the waitress filled our cups with strong, scalding coffee, she suggested we sample the muffins. The Copley Plaza is no ordinary hotel, you see, and it serves no mere muffins. Magnificent, splendid muffins! Muffins worthy of paragraphs! Sumptuous blueberry muffins, mouth-watering corn muffins, exquisite pumpkin spice muffins which defy all mortal description. I'd gladly give up my typewriter to learn the recipe for those extraordinary pumpkin spice muffins. We calmly set to work on a second, then a third basket of muffins. Meanwhile the waitress came to take our order.

I tried the Swedish Gravad Lax with Dill Sauce. My companions settled on a rather dubious sounding dish of Melted Camembert on Toast with Raspberry Jam. Understandably, I was skeptical about the combination. My friends insisted it was delicious. The Camembert did indeed lose its tang in the baking and wed rather nicely with the jam. Mind you, I wouldn't order the dish in front of a Frenchman, but it's quite tasty.

Gravad Lax is the Swedish answer to smoked salmon. It consists of uncooked salmon fillets, cured with rock salt and fresh dill. I cherish the dish for its incomparably delicate, almost Japanese flavor. If you expect the robustness of salt-cured belly lox or the smokiness of Nova, however, you're in for a disappointment. The Copley's Gravad Lax came in paper-thin, pink slices on lettuce. A word of warning about the Mustard Dill sauce served with it: it's ridiculously sweet. Ask for it in a sauceboat on the side, so you can dole out the poison in small doses.

In spite of the prodigious meal we'd eaten so far, we chose robust, English-hunting breakfast-style maincourses. Mine bore the unpoetic name of "Toad in the Hole": English sausage with Yorkshire pudding. The pudding lay folded like a doughy linen napkin, from which peeped two small sausages. Seasoned with sage or savory, it fell nothing short of splendid. And as an added delight, it hid a pile of savory sauteed onions. Against this starchy background, though, the bready sausages seemed more trouble than they were worth. The beefy, Madeira-spiked Banger gravy made them almost palatable.

Of course the Copley offers lighter brunch entrees. We were particularly tempted by Pecan Waffles or the Boursin and Apple Omelette. Perhaps it's best to leave something for next time. The Chef's Salad, which we did try, proved copious, if undistinguished.

And the cost of this Gargantuan repast? Our bill came out to $30 for three. When you consider the turn-of-the-century elegance, the music, the leisurely pace, the outstanding food, the Copley Brunch seems eminently worth it.

Notes:

The weekend brunch in the Copley Plaza Restaurant, at Boston's Copley Square, is served from noon to 4 pm, Saturday and Sunday. Reservations are advisable, but not required. Dress tends to be casual, but in good taste.

It'll scare the delights out of you.
October 19-29.

Movies Boys From Brazil

Boys From Brazil is technically well-done, expensively produced and slick. But it is still a dirty movie...

The Boys From Brazil
Directed by Franklin J. Schaffner.
Screenplay by Heywood Gould, based on the novel by Ira Levin.
With Gregory Peck, Laurence
Olivier, James Mason, and Lilli
Palmer. Pi Alley; Circle, Natick,
Woburn, Dedham, and Peabody.

By Maggie Hall
Hollywood, and Publishers' Row, have long had a weird fascination with Adolf Hitler and his henchmen. The Boys From Brazil is the latest entry in the "Alive and Well and Living in South America" sweeps.
Based on a novel by Ira Levin (who was also responsible for Rosemary's Baby), The Boys — a cavalier title if ever there was one — tells the story of Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor known as the Angel of Death for his work in Hitler's concentration camps.

Mengele, who is still alive, somewhere, was responsible for 100,000 murders. He killed twins, and their mothers, in the name of research, and injected dye into the eyes of other children, to make them
"fatherland blue." In the movie, he has expanded his efforts into the realm of genetic duplication,
"cloning." Mengele, played by a stout and squint-eyed Gregory
Peck, has his own master-plan:
94 murders to take place within two-and-a-half years.

An American student (Steven Guttenberg) tumbles onto the plot, but is killed before he can explain it adequately to Nazi-hunter Ezra Lieberman, played by Laurence Olivier with a curious German accent, pitched too high for comfort. The role of Lieberman is based on Simon Wiesenthal, the man who tracked down Adolph Eichmann, a colleague of Mengele.

It falls to Lieberman, then, to piece together seemingly unrelated assassinations, to find a pattern, to stop Mengele. Lieberman does not see himself as an instrument of revenge, but of justice. It is his task to bring Mengele to law, not to kill him. Mengele has no such compunction concerning Lieberman, and in his obsession he sees the eradication of Lieberman as an obvious step in his plan.

It is this obsession that brings down the wrath of Mengele's superior (James Mason), not out of any humanitarian motives, but because Lieberman's death and the attendant publicity would set back the Nazi resurgence. Mengele's house is burned, but he escapes.

In the name of all that is holy, do not take children to see The Boys

From Brazil. It is technically well-done, expensively produced and slick. But it is still a dirty movie full of violence, explicit and (more terrifying) implied. The final scenes, when Mengele and Lieberman confront each other in a Pennsylvania farmhouse (in the presence of an irritating child, played by Jeremy Black, who is the real clue to the whole scheme) are revolting.

If you must go, wait until you can see The Boys From Brazil at a bargain rate. Why should anyone get rich from bandying names which ought to be buried along with the lives they destroyed?

Movies | Short Subjects

The Big Fix

Richard Dreyfuss stars as Moses Wine, an ex-Sixties radical with a bundle of mid-Seventies problems. Wine is a private detective in California, investigating political dirty tricks and residual terrorism. Dreyfuss himself co-produced the movie with Carl Borack. Jeremy Paul Kagan directed. Paris; Braintree, Danvers, Hanover Mall.

Bread and Chocolate

Nino Manfredi plays Nino Garafoli, introduced as a sort of vulgar klutz, a misfit in his purple shirt and perfectly awful tie. Nino is an Italian worker who, like so many of his compatriots, has left behind the land of sun and song to find his fortune in Switzerland. The dream of all these workers is to make enough money to import their wives and children, or to return home as heroes. Some live for their dream, some live on it, some lose track of reality altogether. The theme of nostalgia, the real ache for the homeland, is diluted with slapstick and satire. Manfredi has a few moments of quiet desperation: he can't seem to decide whether to be Mastroianni or Chaplin. He doesn't break our hearts, but he's a likeable guy in a likeable movie. Bread and Chocolate is sweet and filling and not, ultimately, very nourishing. With Anna Karina, John Dorelli, and Paolo Truco. Beacon Hill.

Death on the Nile

Based on the archetypal Agatha Christie novel of the same name, the movie version is camped up by producer John Bradbourne and director Richard Goodwin, and played for laughs by Peter Ustinov as Hercule Poirot, the brainy Belgian detective. Bette Davis and Maggie Smith spit one-liners at each other with a kind of "damn your eyes, darling" panache, which is good; Lois Chiles and Simon MacCorkindale strike poses and bare their teeth, which is not so good. It is a decorative movie, not up to the level of the book, but diverting on its own merits. Cheri; Brockton, Chestnut Hill, Danvers, Dedham, Framingham, Lawrence, Woburn.

Girl Friends

An unusual movie with documentary feel. Ostensibly, it is the story of a mutating friendship between a struggling photographer, Susan, and a married, would-be writer, Anne. The true focus, though, is on the wonderfully real Susan (Melanie Mayron), unfolding and snatching images from the people around her. Claudia Weill directed and co-wrote the elusive and frequently sensitive story; Anita

Goin' South

Grease

Entertainment and that's all; or rather, television director Randal Kleiser's idea of entertainment, the kind we've been insulted by for years. This isn't to say that the musical numbers aren't energetic, that John Travolta isn't charming, that Stockard Channing isn't proficient as the high school bad girl. But where is the heart behind the monster? And what in heaven's name is this fascination with the Fifties? Cinema 57; Peabody.

Interiors

Proof, if anyone needed it, of Woody Allen's genius. The film is poised and distant, a cool, introverted look at a family that is trying hard to be a family, but they are too analytical to be happy with each other. Beautiful photography and first-class acting tear at the heart. An unbelievable movie, with Diane Keaton, Geraldine Page, Mary Beth Hurt, and Maureen Stapleton. Exeter; Brockton; Dedham; Lawrence, Woburn.

King of Hearts

The gentle, lunatic, classic movie directed by Philippe De Broca, and starring Alan Bates. Everyone should see it at least once, and some people see it every time it comes around. Who are the real crazies? Nickelodeons in Boston and Maynard.

The Opium War

Lin Tse-Hsu, "the opium war," an historic drama from the People's Republic of China, about the opium trade operated by the British in 19th century China. A rare movie, the first to come West since the overthrow of the "Gang of Four." Galeria.

Rocky Horror Picture Show

The camp phenomenon of midnight, with the action divided about equally between the screen and the audience, whose participation is encouraged to such an extent that discounts are given to movie-goers in costume. Exeter.

Somebody Killed Her Husband

With Farrah Fawcett-Majors and Jeff Bridges, as amateur detectives, and Laurence Guittard, as the corpse in question. Also featured are Tammy Grimes, John Glover, and the Macy's Toy Department. Braintree, Brockton, Burlington, Hanover Mall.

Up in Smoke

A comedy, written by and starring Cheech (Marin) and (Tommy) Chong, two young humorists who hitherto have appeared in clubs and on records. Edie Adams, Stacy Keach, and Strother Martin co-star. Savoy; Circle, Lawrence.

A Wedding

A collection of character pieces, hung on the framework of a family wedding, and the subsequent reception, both of which go merrily astray despite the best efforts of Geraldine Chaplin, who plays a bridal consultant. Director Robert Altman is very good at this genre (see Nashville), he has a fine eye for detail and a loving camera for his cast. Amy Stryker is the bride, Desi Arnaz, Jr. is her silly groom. With Carol Burnett, Dina Merrill, Lillian Gish, and Vittorio Gassman, among others. Cheri.

Who is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe?

Great seats, low prices.

Fifteenth Season

NOVEMBER 9-12

Ron Cunningham's spectacular Cinderella, with music by Prokofiev, opens the new season. With it, Michel Fokine's classic "white" ballet, Les Sylphides, to the music of Chopin. A terrific combination!

JANUARY 27-28/FEBRUARY 1-4

The 1979 Choreographers' Showcase features the best works selected from over 200 entries received from all over the world. A $5,000 award goes to the winner. Too exciting, and too significant, to be missed.

MARCH 1-4

Gaîté Parisienne is Leonide Massine's Parisian delight; a Boston premiere, featuring swirling dances and romantic intrigue. Plus two works by the great George Balanchine: Symphony in C and The Four Temperaments.

MAY 17-20

Three different styles of dance: Wednesday's Class, an American premiere in the Danish style; The Road of the Phoebe Snow, a gripping jazz dance; and Tom Pazik's Trio, with music by Bach.

Remember: Nutcracker and Sleeping Beauty tickets become available first to subscribers.

SECRETARIES

JOB SHARING. It's a unique way to make full use of your talents, 2-3 days or nights a week.

If you have secretarial skills of 70 wpm typing and 100-120 wpm shorthand, and are looking for the opportunity to utilize your talents but cannot work a full five-day schedule, then Ropes and Gray, a highly respected law office located in downtown Boston, may have just what you're looking for.

Based on the team work concept, you and another person will share one full-time job, and be responsible for scheduling the days you work, along with assuring a steady work flow.

The firm offers attractive pay rates of up to $6.40 an hour, and vacation and sick time.

We also have several positions open on our night staff for the hours of 5-10 PM and/or all day Saturday.

If you are an organized individual and would like to further explore this unique concept, either write or call: Mrs. Stella at 423-6100.

Listings Restaurants

A highly arbitrary listing of some of Greater Boston's more notable restaurants. Credit cards are abbreviated as follows:
AE... American Express
BA/V Bank Americard/Visa
CB... Carte Blanche
DC... Diners Club
MC... Mastercharge
 We suggest calling ahead for reservations, whenever possible, to avoid disappointment.

HUB

Bob the Chef-604 Columbus Ave., Boston, 247-9773. Soul food eating at soul-pleasing prices. Arrive before 2 pm for eggs and grits, otherwise, settle for steaks in gravy, black-eyed peas, turnips. Don't miss out on the sweet-potato pie. Open Tues-Sat, 11 am-9 pm. No credit cards, and no liquor, but reservations are accepted.

Cafe Budapest-90 Exeter St., Boston, 734-3388. Elegant and expensive, the fare is haute Hungarian: stroganoff, Wiener Schnitzel, tournedos, and rich, rich desserts. The Cafe is open Mon-Sat, noon-3, and 5-10:30 pm; Fri-Sat until midnight, Sun, 1 pm-10:30 pm. There is a full bar, and reservations are accepted every night except Saturday, when the place is likely to be crowded. AE, BA/V, CB, DC.

Cafe Cybele-South Market Building, Quincy Market, Boston, 367-1324. Downstairs in the South Market, Cafe Cybele is an intimate escape from the hubbub of Faneuil Hall. The kitchen is a combination of French and North Italian: spinach turnovers, pates, chicken Anastasia. Prices are moderate, and the place is very small, so reservations are a good idea. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Wed, 11 am-9 pm; Thurs-Sat, 11 am to 11 pm; Sun, noon to 8 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

Colonnade Hotel-120 Huntington Ave., Boston, 261-2800. A couple of choices: the Cafe Promenade for international food and snacks, with fashion shows and Sunday brunch, and Zachary's, formally continental. Hours vary, call for details. Both, full bar, reservations. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Copley's Restaurant-in the Copley Plaza Hotel, 138 St. James St., Boston, 267-5300. Continental favorites from more than one continent, curries rub elbows with clams Casino on the menu. Moderately expensive, fully licensed. Hours: Mon-Fri, 11:30 am-3 pm, and 5:30 pm-midnight, Sat-Sun, 5:30-midnight, also Sun noon-4 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Dini's Sea Grill-94 Tremont St., Boston, 227-0380. Right on the Freedom Trail, the home of the schrod. Also, sole with lobster sauce. Relaxed family atmosphere. Full bar. Brunch on Special 10 am-11 am. Hours: Daily until 10:30 pm. AE, MC.

Jimmy's Harbor-248 Northern Ave., Boston, 423-1000. Considering Jimmy's location on Fish Pier, it's no surprise that the specialty of the house is excellent seafood. Fairly expensive. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-9:30 pm. Full bar; reservations are accepted Mon-Thurs. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Joseph's-279 Dartmouth St., Boston, 266-1502. Under the aegis of the estimable Locke-Ober, Joseph's offers an elegant setting and a continental kitchen: Rack of Lamb, Sole Marguery. Expensive. Joseph's is closed on Sun, other days the hours are 11:45 am-11:00 pm. Reservations accepted. AE, BA/V, MC.

Maison Robert-45 School St., Boston, 227-3370. Located in the Old City Hall, Maison Robert is elegant and luxurious. It is also expensive, but the kitchen is among the best in Boston: Filet of Dover sole Grand-mere, Veal Orloff, steak au poivre. Plan ahead for a dessert soufflé. The service is meticulous. There's a full bar and reservations are accepted. Maison Robert is open for lunch Mon-Fri noon-2:30 pm and for dinner every night, 6-10. AE, BA/V, MC.

Restaurante Brasilia-58 Boylston St., Cambridge, 354-9038. Unless your mother hails from Bahia, this is the place for Brazilian eating: Feijoada, Vatapa, chicken Bossa Nova. Moderate prices, bring your own potables. Hours: Tues-Sat, noon-3 pm; Tues-Sun, 5-10 pm. No credit cards.

Rusty Scupper-85 Atlantic Ave., Boston, 742-7041. In a restored wharfside warehouse, seafood and steaks, also kushi-yaki, a steak and chicken kabab. Moderately expensive, fully licensed. Hours: 5:30-10:30 pm Mon-Fri; until 11 Sat; 4-9 pm Sun. AE, BA/V, MC.

Sheraton-Boston Hotel-39 Dalton St., Boston, 236-2000. The Falstaff Room, The Mermaid Seafood Tavern, Kon Tiki Ports. Respectively, land-food, sea-food, and South Seas exotica, all with full bars. All are moderately priced, but the hours vary, and you would do well to call ahead.

NORTH

Beverly Depot-10 Park St., Beverly, 927-5402. Take the Boston and Maine to the Depot, for steaks, chops, and all the trimmings, in railroad surroundings. Moderate prices, full bar. Closed on Muns, it's open for dinner 5-10 pm, Sun-Thurs; 5-11 pm Fri-Sat. AE, MC.

Bishops-99 Hampshire St., Lawrence, 683-7143. The standard bill of fare — roasts and steaks — is enlivened by shish kebab and Arabic appetizers: tahini, stuffed grape leaves, baba ganoush. Open daily, 1:30 am-10 pm, Fri-Sat nights 'til 11. Full bar. No reservations are taken on Sat nights, but they are strongly advised on Wed-Fri, and Sun. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Captain Courageous-25 Rogers St., Gloucester, 283-0007. Eat fish, while you look out across the boats they arrived in. Also steaks and chops. Fully licensed.

Winter hours: Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-9 pm; Fri-Sat, until 10 pm. Reservations are accepted. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Century House-235 Andover St. (Rte 114), Peabody, 531-1410. American cooking: Lobster pie, roast duckling Cumberland, twin lobster dinner. Full liquor license. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30 am-10 pm; Sun, noon-9 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The Eastern Restaurant-87 Atlantic Rd., Gloucester. American and Continental cuisine, with New England specialties, and food for your eyes, too: a terrific ocean view. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-10 pm; Fri-Sat, until 11 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

Flake House 1798 Restaurant-1 Billerica Rd (at Rte 129), Chelmsford, 256-4464. A registered National Historic Site, serving American food with some continental accents, like Veal Spaulding, scampi, Trabuoco, and fillet of sole Lafayette. Moderately expensive. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11 am-11 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, MC.

Hardcover-15A Newbury St., Danvers, 774-1223. American favorites like sirloin and shrimp, accented with French touches like crepes. Moderate prices. Full bar. No reservations Fri-Sat, but at other times, they are not a bad idea. Hours: Mon-Thurs, 5 pm-10 pm; Fri-Sat, until 11 pm; Sun, 4 pm-9 pm. AE, MC.

Labardin's-165 State St., Newburyport, 465-9842. Small and informal, this family-owned eatery offers steaks, chops sea food, and Italian specialties, at moderate prices. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30 am-10 pm; Sun and holidays, 4 pm-10. No credit cards.

The Landing-At the Town Landing, Marblehead, 631-1878. Right on the harbor, a mostly seafood menu: Marblehead scrod, seafood casserole, fisherman's platter, and some landbound specialties as well. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: From 11:30 am Mon-Sat, from 10:30 Sun, until 10 pm weekdays, 11 pm weekends. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

WEST

Cafe l'Orange-Thoreau St., Concord, 369-8700. Upstairs in the Concord Depot, the Cafe is low-key, contemporary, and the cuisine is French: boneless rack of lamb, coquilles St. Jacques, duckling. Prices are moderate, reservations are accepted. Fully licensed. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30 am-2:30 pm, and 6-9, ('til 10 pm Fri-Sat), closed Sun. AE, MC.

The Deli-Shopper's World, Framingham, 872-4442. A nice self-explanatory name, and a nice spot to take a break from shopping. Complimentary cole slaw and pickles. Beer and wine only, reservations not required. Hours: opens daily at 7 am; Mon-Thurs until 10 pm; Fri-Sat until 1 am; Sun until 8 pm. BA/V.

The Every Day Gourmet-Mill & Speen Sts., Natick, 653-8010. Not quite everyday, actually, it's only open on weekends. The menu from this teaching kitchen changes all the time. Make reservations, and bring your own things to drink. Hours: Fri-Sat, noon-3 pm, Sun, 10 am-2 pm. No credit cards.

Legal Seafoods-Rte 9, in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Centre, 277-7300. Legal's outpost on the western front is sometimes less hectic than the Cambridge branch, especially if you are willing to eat early or late. Otherwise, the set-up is pretty much the same: the crowds, crowds, crowds are offset by the fish, fish, fish. Reservations for large parties. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11 am-9 pm; Sun, 1-9 pm. AE, and personal checks.

Longfellow's Wayside Inn-Rte 20, S Sudbury, 443-8846. Both the Inn and its kitchen are faithfully and sturdily Yankee. Hot corn muffins are a stand-by. Among the other favorites: Massachusetts duckling, lobster, baked stuffed shrimp. Open every day, 11:30-3:30, and 5:30-9. Sun, 12 noon-8 pm. The premises are fully licensed and reservations are strongly advised. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Old Mill-Rte 2A, Westminster, 874-5941. Down by the old mill stream, and waterfall, a traditional setting for traditional dining. Duckling, prime rib, baked stuffed shrimp. Full bar. Open daily, 8:30 am-10 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Peking Garden-27 Waltham St., Lexington, 862-1051. Sino-American egg rolls and chow mein for the bashful, and a host of Szechuan, Mandarin, and Shanghai specialties for the initiate. A range of prices: House Special Duck tops the bill at $9. Full bar. Reservations are accepted for parties of eight or more. Open Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-10 pm; Fri-Sat, 'til 11 pm. AE, DC, MC.

SOUTH

Christo's-782 Crescent St., Brockton, 588-4200. Huge and crowded, the accent at Christo's is Hellenic. A variety of Greek salads, shish kebab, moussaka. Efficient service, inexpensive. Full bar. No reservations, no credit cards. Open Mon-Sat, 11 am-12:30 am; Sun, 12:30 pm-12:30 am.

The Country Fare-1217 Main St., Hingham, 749-2260. Wildlife from land and sea among the entrees: King Crab casserole, roast duck. Moderately expensive. The premises are fully licensed, and reservations are recommended. Hours: Tues-Sat, 11:30 am-9 pm; Sun, 11:30 am-8 pm. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

The Greenhouse-8 Stagecoach Way, Cohasset, 383-6770. Continental and seafood specialties on the menu, lots of trees and plants to look at (not on the menu). Teriyaki brochette, veal, daily specials like snapper and swordfish. Full bar, reservations advised. Open for lunch Mon-Sat 11:30 am-2 pm, for dinner Mon-Sat, 5:30-11 pm, closed Sun. BA/V, MC.

Inn For All Seasons-32 Barker Rd., Scituate Harbor, 545-6699. Imaginative continental menu, topped off with special desserts, like three-layer chocolate cake and Linzertorte. Entrees include chicken Kiev, veal Oscar, and individual beef Wellington. Moderately expensive. Licensed for beer and wine; set-ups are provided for patrons who bring their own liquor. Closed on Mon, otherwise, the hours are noon-2 pm, and 5-10 pm. Sun brunch 11 am-2 pm. Reservations, MC.

Ken's Fish House-218 Dedham St., Norfolk, 384-8152. A fish house, with steak and chicken, too, for landlubbers. Moderate prices. Full bar. Reservations are required on holidays. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-10 pm. AE, DC, MC.

Plymouth 1820 Restaurant-158 Water St., Plymouth, 746-9565. Escargots, steamers, swordfish, lobster, steak, all manner of things that once trod the earth or swam the seas, all at moderate prices. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11 am-10 pm. Reservations are generally a good idea. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Ronnie's Kosher Restaurant-1179 N Main, Randolph, 986-6743. Strictly Kosher, all the food is made on the premises under rabbinical supervision. Roast brisket, krep-lach soup, and stuffed chicken are a few of the favorites. No liquor. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 8 am-11 am, noon-4 pm, and 5-9 pm; Fri: 8 am-5 pm, Sat: 5-9 pm. BA/V, MC.

Savor the new flavor at the Rib Room.

We took the famous flavor of the Rib Room and added a little spice. We sprinkled some new flavorful dishes like Veal Cordon Bleu and Chicken Mandarin among your favorite cuts of roast beef.

We added some table side preparation for a new continental flavor.

And even our river view adds a subtle new flavor as the seasons change.

Come and taste our new flavor.

A unique blend of the best of the Rib Room with a dash of new gusto.

#48 Timber!

By Don Rubin

That's right, trees.

You know, some people say it takes as few as three of them to make a stand. (One's a tree; two's a couple; three or more, we suppose is a stand.) Ahh, but a forest — nope, nobody really knows. Nobody, that is, but us.

We know, because we planted 'em. Every last one.

And if you folk think you can just come around and enjoy them any time you like, we're afraid you're not out of the woods yet.

We'd like the approximate number of trees in the forest, please. Just a ballpark figure. And don't bother with the weeds. They were there long before we started.

Rules of the Game

- Names of the first ten contestants with the correct answer will be published in METROGUIDE. All contestants submitting correct answers to any of the puzzles through October 26 by the usual deadline will qualify for the Halloween Lottery, and a grand prize of dinner for two with all the trimmings. ## Reservoir open to this weekend

The reservoir area will be open for local citizens to walk or drive through this weekend, Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Normally closed to the public to protect the watershed for Winchester's water supply, the reservoir area is opened every fall by the town to allow citizens to enjoy the scenery for the weekend.

Winchester Trails guides will lead walkers through Sunday starting at 2 p.m. Marjorie Moore and her assistants will meet trekkers at the South Dam entrance, located one-third mile beyond Leslie and South Border roads.

The Trails organization has also prepared flyers for those wishing to drive through the area, pointing out sights of interest. Cars will be allowed, entering at Hillcrest parkway. Motorcycles and horses are excluded.

The walking tour will concentrate on areas not accessible by the driving road.

Tax bills mailed

Town Treasurer Carol Thomas reports that all real estate tax bills for fiscal year 1979 have been mailed. The first payment is due Nov. 1.

If you are a new homeowner having purchased property after Jan. 1, 1978, and have not received a bill, please contact the tax collector's office for a duplicate. All real estate bills have been mailed out in the name of the owner of record as of Jan. 1, 1978.

The tax collector's office will be extending office hours as follows:

Saturday, Oct. 28, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.
Monday, Oct. 30, 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.

Board members schedule visits to all schools

The school committee will be visiting schools this fall to meet with the various parent organizations. The schedule is as follows:

Winchester High School: Nov. 15, Dr. Heinrich Holland and Constance D. Papas.
Lynch Junior High School: Nov. 2, Mrs. Papas and Sandra D. Rodgers.

McCall Junior High School: Oct. 24, Catherine S. Alexander, Mrs. Rodgers.
Ambrose: Nov. 14, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Rodgers.

Lincoln: Oct. 11, Dr. Holland and Mary Jean Weylman.

Muraco: Nov. 1, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Papas.

Mystic: Oct. 25, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Rodgers.

Noonan: Oct. 10, Mrs. Papas and Mrs. Weylman.

Parkhurst: Oct. 12, Dr. Holland and Mrs. Rodgers.

Vinson-Owen: Nov. 8, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Papas.

Washington: Oct. 19, Dr. Holland and Mrs. Weylman.

The Muraco meeting time is 7:15 p.m. All other meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Residents warned at possible reaction to halloween makeup

Parents and children are being warned by area police departments not to use a halloween make-up product until an investigation by the Food and Drug Administration on its safety is complete.

The product, called Blood and Scars, has seriously burned the faces of two young girls in Gloucester, and, as a result, Gloucester Police have taken the product off the market with permission from the Gloucester Board of Health.

Gloucester Police Lt. John Quinn, who is investigating the burn cases, said pictures of the girls' wounds "don't look too good." He said one girl has been released from Gloucester Hospital and the other has been turned over to a dermatologist for treatment.

The halloween kit, manufactured by Topstone Industries Inc. of Danbury, Conn., is a mixture of fluids and dyes which was developed for children to smudge on their faces for halloween. According to Steven Feldman, a Topstone Industries official, the product's ingredients were approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Feldman said a physician from the FDA called him Tuesday and said the girls injured by the product may have suffered an allergic attack to the substance. No warning of such allergic reaction was posted on the kit.

Dr. George Michael, director of the state Food and Drug Administration, said the product was shipped to him from Gloucester late Tuesday afternoon for the department's inspection.

Dr. Michael said he has to "find out from the manufacturer the product's ingredients and if they have been used before." He said he did not know whether the product caused the burns or if the children developed an allergic reaction to the substance.

All 23 kits of the product were taken off the shelves of a Gloucester CVS store. The product can not be recalled until a full investigation by the state Food and Drug Administration is complete. Local boards of health may authorize police to confiscate the product until the investigation is complete.

Clouds darken the woods on the shores of the Mystic Lakes as the breezes start to play a winter tune and a lone rower in his shell glides across the water.

Former employee arrested for unarmed robbery

A former Winchester resident was arrested last week for the Sept. 9 robbery of the Old Colony Gas Station on Main street police report.

Scott Manley, of Martha's Vineyard, a former employee of the gas station, was arraigned in Woburn District Court Friday for unarmed robbery of $200.

According to Chief of Police John McHugh, the suspect allegedly walked into the gas station, took the money, and when an employee tried to stop him, Manley threatened him.

The case has been continued to Oct. 19.

In other police business, state police have confirmed Chief McHugh's theory that there is "no way" the gun that discharged and seriously wounded a Kenwin road man three weeks ago could have been discharged by falling to the floor as told by witnesses.

Richard J. Zanoli, 23, was released from Winchester Hospital Monday after spending a week in its intensive care unit and five days on the general floor.

The Smith-Wesson, 38-caliber gun, a similar firearm used by police officers, is built not to discharge on impact, but only on the pull of a trigger.

Zanoli himself said it was an accident and witnesses said no trigger was pulled. Police are continuing the investigation and no charges have been filed against the owner and carrier of the gun.

Four breaks over the past week netted burglars $1800 in color television sets, according to police reports.

On Friday, a $450, 19-in. color TV was stolen between 8:30 and 5 p.m. from a Highland ave. house. Point of entry was the front door. The front storm door and front door were found ajar when the owners returned home from work.

A $600 21-in. Sony color TV was stolen Saturday from a Bigelow road house while the owners occupied the house, police said. The owners were having a party for an out-of-state friend and guests had left by 12:30 a.m. When the owners woke up the next morning, they found their TV, a $145 Bearcat scanner, and $175 in cash from a purse missing.

One of the owner's children said she heard noises early in the morning and car lights leave the driveway, but police said she thought it was her father. The burglar lightly ransacked the living room and dining room while the family was asleep upstairs, according to police.

About $750 worth of televisions was taken from a Sunset road house Sunday between 11 a.m. and noon, police said. A 17-in. Zenith color TV and 19-in. color console were taken in one hour, and police said it would take about four men to carry the console. The rear door was roken away from its casing, police said.

In another break on Monday, thieves entered an unlocked cellar window of a Johnson road house and made off with sterling silver candle sticks worth $100 and $400 in small coins. Police said the burglary occurred sometime between Oct. 6 and Oct. 9 when the owners were away. The bedrooms of the house were ransacked, police report.

Petition board

Parents seeking change in kindergarten session hours

In one of the more peaceable confrontations the school committee has experienced, parents from several schools in town presented the board with a petition to change kindergarten hours at a meeting Oct. 5.

The petition would have the afternoon sessions start at 12:45 rather than 11:45. Morning sessions would still run from 8:45 to 11:45, and the afternoon session would run until 2:45, as it now does.

What the petition asks is to put kindergarten back on the same schedule it has had for years. The school board agreed to a request from parents last spring to lengthen the afternoon session to three hours, and the result was a scheduling conflict — the morning session ends at 11:45, and the afternoon session begins at 11:45.

Because of the conflict, aides and physical education teachers are covering while the kindergarten teachers eat lunch and travel from one school to another (six schools share kindergarten teachers between morning and afternoon sessions).

Noonan parents Marilyn Davis and Maureen McWilliams got together and circulated a petition asking that the hours be changed until a better solution can be worked out. The school board took the petition under advisement last Thursday. The board will be discussing — and probably voting — on the issue at their next meeting Monday.

Mrs. Davis reported that nearly 300 signatures were gathered, mostly from kindergarten parents. "We got more than half of the kindergarten parents from all the schools except Mystic," she said, noting that the petition may have been "misrepresented" at Mystic.

Mrs. Davis said support from the Washington and Noonan schools, which share a teacher, was close to 100 percent. She added

Local man shot, killed in robbery

Gardy Yagjian, 65, of 47 Wedgemere ave., was shot and killed Tuesday night by a holdup man at his liquor store in West Medford.

According to Medford police, Yagjian was "shot through the heart" at point-blank range by a lone gunman. An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the cash register, police said.

Yagjian owned the High Street Beverage Co., 566 High st., and the store had been a family business for about 40 years. Police said Yagjian was arranging to sell the business and retire this month.

No one witnessed the shooting, but police are questioning an individual who allegedly saw a man running from the store shortly after the robbery at 7:25 p.m. Police believe the suspect escaped in a dark blue sedan heading towards Winchester. Another man was apparently waiting for him in the car.

Noonan School damaged by fire Saturday night

A $3000 incendiary fire heavily damaged the kindergarten room at the Noonan School Saturday evening, according to Fire Chief Robert McElhinney.

McElhinney said the fire was set by a youth using a cigarette lighter and lighter fluid. A hole was punctured in one of the school's windows by heating plastic glass used at the school. A piece of combustible material was then dropped to the window sill and set afire.

The fire then caught onto the window shade and the fire spread to the ceiling.

McElhinney said "the whole school would have gone up" if the firefighters arrived a minute later. He said compressed cardboard ceiling pieces of the old school ignited, dumping several pounds of dust from the above rafters.

McElhinney said if the fire caught onto the dust above the ceiling, the school would have been lost. McElhinney said the school's windows and shades meet the state fire code.

The chief said the entire school filled up with intense smoke during the blaze and that damage may exceed $3000. He said the town's department of public works will probably repair the structure damage.

Police have been questioning youths seen in the area at the time of the fire, but no suspects have been arrested.

The Circus

The Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus is coming to town, bringing with it all the three-ring hoopla any man, woman or child could hope for. It's also a quite unusual world unto itself, with tigers, elephants, clowns and acrobats all live and work in a very special harmony.

County advisory board pushing for more power

The Middlesex County Advisory Board, whose membership represents the fiscal interests of the 54 cities and towns in Middlesex County, held its annual business meeting in Newton's War Memorial Auditorium Sept. 27.

The Hon. Theodore Mann, mayor of Newton, prefaced the meeting by commenting on the new tax rates for the Middlesex communities. Mann criticized the policy of state reimbursements, which he said aids some communities in the cutting of their property tax while others must raise these same taxes.

Mann's office is preparing a legislative packet which would address itself to the problem of the inequities in the present real estate tax structure as it affects the various cities and towns. He asked that the MCAB support this kind of effort to reduce tax rates.

Robert Healy, assistant city manager (Cambridge) was elected chairman replacing Herbert Odell, selectman from Wayland. William Joyce Concord treasurer, was voted vice-chairman replacing Erica Ball, chairman selectman (Natick). Joan Needleman, Esq., (Newton) replaced John Garrison (Lincoln) as secretary. Mary Miley, selectman (Lexington) was re-appointed treasurer for another year.

William Joyce (Concord) and Ingeborg Uhler (Weston) will serve as co-chairman of the budget committee, whose task it will be to direct the efforts of those involved towards a comprehensive review of the Middlesex County Budget.

Jean Kangas (selectman, Buxborough) will chair the legislative task force, which will seek to sponsor legislation on county government, with the aim of making it "more responsive and accountable to the electorate." One of the aims of this subcommittee is to have legislation sponsored that would involve the county advisory board in the direct selection of a new county commissioner in the event a vacancy occurs in the office.

Winchester Selectman Barbara Hankins, chairman of the Middlesex County Hospital Task Force, is assisted by Nancy Gerhardt (Acton) and Robert Halpin (Pepperell). They will review the financial status of the Middlesex County Hospital. For this purpose they will be meeting with Dr. Karam, Director of the MCH, Oct. 25, at 9 a.m.

The task force will coordinate its efforts with Ingeborg Uhler (Weston), who is representing the MCAB on the special hospital commission mandated by the Legislature through Senate Bill No. 1593. This commission will conduct an investigation and study relative to the possible transfer of the fiscal responsibility for the MCH to private or public organizations other than Middlesex County, and to the expanding of the board of trustees beyond the board of county commissioners.

Herbert Odell, outgoing Chairman, was lauded for his contribution to the MCAB in a motion presented by Erica Ball and unanimously passed by the membership with applause.

Sixteen of the 54 communities involved sent representatives to the meeting.

A car in every...

Winchester may yet return to having a principal in every school, but the key question is whether or not the town can and will afford it.

Supt. William MacDonald has come up with a plan to establish a "pupil-principal" ratio which would have a principal for every 250 students. At the bottom line, every school would have one; in smaller schools, the principal would share his time between administrative work and teaching. In larger schools, administrative work would be shared by a head teacher.

For the junior high schools (or, as of 1980, the one grade 7 and 8 "middle school"), the ratio would be 300-to-1; and for the high school, the ratio would be 400-to-1.

"The time has come now to get our train back on the right track," said MacDonald as he presented his plan to the school board at their Oct. 5 meeting. "We have diluted some of the elements necessary to run a class A school system."

The superintendent criticized part time principalships—such as exist in several elementary schools right now—as "a false economy that ultimately builds to inefficiency." The net cost of the proposal for next year is about $3600, according to MacDonald.

The return to a principal in every school, along with having department coordinators teaching only one section in addition to their administrative and curriculum duties, has been a top priority among administrators.

The issue will come up Monday when the school board meets to discuss this year's budget issues.

WHSR in trouble?

A new ruling from the Federal Communications Commission has cast a long shadow over the future of the Winchester High School radio station, WHSR-FM.

The FCC in June issued an order stating that it would no longer accept applications for 10-watt Class D stations (such as WHSR), and those now in operation will be required to either upgrade their operations to 100-watt Class A status or move to an "open" frequency in the commercial FM band on an unprotected basis.

In addition, a minimum operating schedule was established, along with procedures for regular reporting on how the station is serving the community.

After an inquiry into the status of the smaller radio stations, the FCC declared, "It was clear that the low power operations could not be permitted to function in a manner which would block more efficient operations that could serve larger areas and bring effective public service to those who lacked it."

What this means for WHSR-FM is that the station will no longer be granted protection against interference from larger stations in the area. In addition, the station must file for Class A status by January, 1980 or move to a locally suitable frequency in the commercial FM band.

The high school station would also have to increase its hours to at least 36 per week and perhaps as much as 12 hours a day, seven days a week to avoid having to share a frequency.

To add to the station's problems, the school board is planning to move out of the Sanborn House in 1980, and the WHSR antenna is located on the Sanborn House roof.

Changing over to a 100-watt station would cost an estimated $10,000. A full time first class engineer would also have to be hired. And the extended hours would mean additional costs in manpower.

Faculty advisor David Frary is asking the school board to help work out a decision. In a memo to the board, he said he fears the station may lose its license altogether if no action is taken soon.

The board will talk the matter over at their meeting Monday night.

Budget issues

Issues for the next school year's budget will be the main topic of discussion at the school committee's next meeting at the Sanborn House Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Several items to be discussed were brought before the school board last Thursday in a series of position papers from the administration.

The issues at stake include a new policy regarding principals; a central office position; lengthening the kindergarten program to a full day; curriculum changes for a grade 7 and 8 middle school, to be established when the schools consolidate in 1980, and for a four-year high school; and the policy on class size and student-teacher ratios.

Also up before the committee will be a petition from parents asking that kindergarten hours be returned to last year's schedule (see related story).

The board will talk about a new Federal Communications Commission ruling that may force the high school radio station, WHSR-FM, out of business.

And a report on energy costs will be presented to the board.

Evaluation changes

Assistant Superintendent Walter Gleason presented the committee with a series of changes in the teacher evaluation instrument at the board's Oct. 5 meeting.

Gleason, working with representatives of the Winchester Education Association, came up with the "improvements" in response to complaints from teachers and administrators about last year's evaluation format. He reported that the WEA has accepted the changes; the school board also approved the changes pending the ok of committee counsel Richard Murphy.

Board member Catherine Alexander complained that not enough work had been done on the evaluation instrument, citing previous dissatisfaction on the part of both teachers and management. "We haven't enough information to make any kind of decision," she said.

Dr. Gleason reminded her that the changes had been passed by both teachers and supervisors, and that both groups had felt comfortable with the changes, most of which involve changes in wording.

Weighing 766

A proposal to give special consideration to special needs students when determining pupil-teacher ratios was presented to the school board Oct. 5 by Special Education Coordinator Frank Bianco.

One objective of the special needs program is to "mainstream" as many children as possible—that is, to integrate special needs students back into the regular classroom. To compensate for the impact of the extra needs of these students and the extra demands placed on the teachers, Bianco suggested weighing the students according to their particular "prototype."

Depending upon their status, those students would be considered as equivalent to one to three students when determining the pupil-teacher ratio.

The net effect of the proposal will be lower ratios and some extra costs. However, Bianco felt the plan would help "equalize" instruction and suggested the state may help out with reimbursements.

The proposal is up for discussion Monday when the school committee takes up a variety of budget issues for the next school year.

Project LEARN seeking applicants

A new federally funded program, Project LEARN, is seeking applicants from the Winchester area. All students presently enrolled in high school are eligible for career training in one of two fields—either Computers or Allied Health.

In both fields, there will be a wide range of jobs introduced. Classes will meet from 2:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at Medford and Malden high schools.

Students who are ceta eligible, that is with family incomes below a certain point, will be paid $2.90 per hour and will also receive transportation money. Other students may participate in Project LEARN for the career training but will not be paid.

Town hit by two blackouts

Winchester has been plagued with blackouts recently. In the past month, four blackouts have been reported, two in the past week.

According to Edison officials, each blackout had different causes. Last Wednesday, residents in the northeast section of town were without electricity for an hour and 45 minutes when a power line in Stoneham overloaded and "burned the wire down."

The failure occurred during peak usage hours, from 4 to 6:45 p.m.

On Friday, residents of Johnson road and Hawthorne road went lightless when tree growth short-circuited a power line. That blackout lasted an hour and 13 minutes, from 5:27 p.m. to 6:40 p.m.

William Jones, area Edison spokesman, said he hopes there are no blackouts in the winter months "when it really hurts to go without electricity for more than an hour."

★ Kindergarten

(5) The children of previous years have fared well under the original program.

(6) We (the parents) feel that this extended time was granted by the school committee for the convenience of a small group of parents. Apparently the school committee did not take into consideration that 22 and a half minutes of the kindergarten session would not be of the greatest educational benefit.

The petition continues: "To avoid misrepresentation of our petition as an educational regression, we respectfully implore the school committee to establish a committee to reevaluate the kindergarten program in conjunction with actual teaching time..."

Mrs. Davis reported that some of the parents who wanted the hours extended have changed their minds because of the problems with the present arrangement. "Everybody is pulling for the same thing," she said, "quality education for the children."

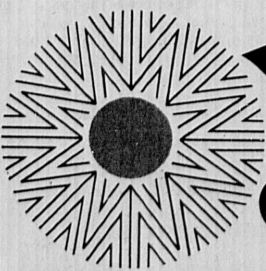

The parents have the support of at least two principals, George Flynn from Noonan and Washington, and Richard Young from Muraco. Both emphasized the importance of the first few minutes of the session to children entering school for the first time.

Mrs. Davis acknowledged that the principals had been supportive but stressed that the petition was initiated by the parents and that there was no pressure involved between any of the interested groups.

Creative movement teaches children music in a new way

By MARJORIE MCCANN-ESTRIDGE

Classes in creative movement and music for young children are being offered this fall at the First Congregational Church by Winchester resident Lynne Rahmeier.

The weekly program designed by Ms. Rahmeier uses the methods of Carl Orff, Kodaly, and Jacques-Dalcroze, European pioneers in the teaching of music to small children.

Beginning with the simplest of rhythmic responses and proceeding step by step to the most complicated rhythmic problems, Dalcroze's system particularly is unique in the field of music education. Known the world over as 'Eurhythmics,' this system of rhythmic education uses the body as the 'interpreter' of musical rhythm, or in effect, as the musical instrument.

Ms. Rahmeier draws on this theory to explore and express in her classes basic music elements through the use of motion, fantasy, and the sound of simple instruments.

She believes that a child's exposure to music in a playful and creative atmosphere stimulates and encourages valuable skills of self confidence, differentiation of sounds helpful to language development, coordination, and physical awareness.

The class may use bean bags, balls, scarves or hoops which can be tossed, bounced, rolled or waved to express changes in tempo. In this way the child's natural energy and physical movement respond to the sound of the music and he learns the feeling of ensemble.

To stimulate imagination and free expression, Ms. Rahmeier expands the musical experience through the use of stories. She might use a fairytale, with the children taking steps of different time values and walking to them like a family of three bears.

When the children are comfortable with the feeling of rhythm, movement and story, melody is added, then singing.

There is no emphasis, however, on performance. 'Self confidence grows when a child creates an expression of herself that is welcomed and enjoyed, not judged right or wrong by outside standards,' Rahmeier added. 'Yet we're constantly helping to form good taste by providing good models.'

While eurhythmics is more often associated with young children, it is a method capable of teaching all levels of musicianship. The complexity of subject and style of approach can be geared to all ages and abilities. One of The Winchester classes includes 10-year-olds who have had instrumental lessons for several years, and many conservatories require eurhythmics for their degree candidates.

In addition to her Winchester classes, Ms. Rahmeier is currently a part-time music teacher in the Lexington public school system, and is teaching Eurhythmics at the Long School and the Belmont Music Schools.

Her background experience includes an MA in English literature, training in piano, dance and choral music, and studies at the Orff Institute, Royal Conservatory, Toronto. More recently, Ms. Rahmeier passed the board examinations for certification in Dalcroze Eurhythmics at the Carnegie Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh.

Since moving to Winchester two years ago with her husband and three children, Ms. Rahmeier has taught chorus at Lynch Junior High, and served as a member of the Governor's Advisory Council on the Arts.

On Oct. 30, there will be an open house during class hours, which are as follows: pre-

For fifth year

Jaycee's haunted house scheduled for Oct. 27-31

For the fifth consecutive year, the Winchester Jaycees will make halloween a little more frightening for children as well as adults.

The haunted house at the girl scout camp off South Border road will again be fashioned and organized by the Jaycees for the benefit of the town.

All proceeds from the Jaycees major fundraising event of the year will be "turned back to the town in some way," according to Scott Henderson, chairman of the haunted house affair.

Proceeds from last year's haunted house, which attracted 8800 brave daredevils, helped rebuild the town's chuck wagon — a mobile canteen which caters to several organizations throughout the year.

This year's haunted house will be open from 6:30 to 9 p.m., Friday, Oct. 27, Monday, Oct. 30, and Tuesday, Oct. 31 and from 6 to 9 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 28 and 29. A special matinee performance will be held Sunday, Oct. 29 from 1 to 4 p.m.

The five-scene, 10-minute long, animated show is staged by members of the Jaycees and their friends. About 20 cast members are required to put on the show every night, Henderson reports.

He said the visitors "become involved in the show voluntarily or involuntarily." He said last year cast members would grab visitors out of line and try to scare them. The frightened visitor would then become a participant in the show because their screams would scare other visitors, Henderson said.

Henderson would not be specific about this year's plans. "We don't want to disclose anything now so that people would expect something," he said.

"We're going to change the order of scenes from last year and have a different entrance, but that's all I can tell you," he said. He would not say where Dracula will be situated this year or if they had captured him yet in the wilds of Transylvania.

The annual affair has "progressed well" since its first year in 1974, Henderson said. He said Jaycees and their friends now build wooden props instead of using only canvas drops. Also, more scenes have been added by the group every year.

The girl scout camp house was secured the first year for the event when the Jaycees "stumbled across it," Henderson said his group was going to use the Wedge Pond boat house, but the camp house has worked out better because it is in a secluded, wooded area, he said.

Henderson, who is also secretary of the Jaycees, said a committee of eight to 10 Jaycees have been working on the fall fund raiser since April and that the committee has been meeting weekly for the past month to finalize plans.

He recommended that visitors arrive early or expect a long wait in line. He said lines last year stretched into the 50-car capacity parking lot of the camp grounds. He said most visitors last year were young adults, but they had some "babies in arms."

Now and then, it works

One hears constantly about corrupt officials and unresponsive government, but rarely about how well the system can work. The free exchange of ideas in the democratic marketplace sounds more often like the complaint department at Filene's Basement.

A reassuring exception to the rule has been the meetings of the committee studying alternative uses of schools.

That committee has met with interested neighbors of the three schools and the administration building slated for closing by 1980. The meetings were well-attended and provided an opportunity for a productive give and take, not only between the committee and the citizens, but among the citizens themselves.

Those citizens who attended the meetings, by the reports we have heard, came away feeling that the committee was quite willing to listen and be responsive to the thoughts of the public. Those who did not have a chance to speak should get their opportunity Tuesday, when the committee will meet in the selectmen's office, starting at 8 p.m., to hear from all interested residents.

The three members of the committee — Charles Tseckares, Carolyn Ward, and Harry Chelaflo deserve a lot of credit for the professional and responsive way they have handled their task. They have an ambitious schedule of meetings lined up between now and town meeting in November.

But what deserves special note is the fact that they have gone so far beyond what was asked of them. Town meeting set up the committee to find a consultant to look into potential uses for closed school buildings. The committee, recognizing the importance of the issue to the town, has taken it upon itself to serve as the forum for the exchange of ideas and opinions, in order to allow the public maximum access to the decision-making process.

And that's government at its best. — DKF

It's the real thing

Television, for all its faults, took a large step ahead the other night. Instead of the same old soap opera, sitcom, cops and robbers concoctions of canned laughter, violence, and all-American T&A, we saw a bit of real life.

"Lifeline" is a new show about real doctors and real case histories with very real scenes from the kitchen to the operating table. Real people, not actors. Real scenes, not staged. Real emotions, not pretended.

The impact such a show has on the viewer is astounding. We are still physically as removed as ever; but the emotional response to seeing a six-year-old boy going through the pre-operation testing and then watching the doctors at work (in a 15-hour operation) inside the child's brain takes your breath away.

And at the same time, you learn something about doctors — or at least about one doctor in particular. Instead of Marcus Welby always at our side, we see an individual who, looking over the x-rays, talks about how sad it would be to lose "such a good kid"; a man who goes to symphony the night before the operation to relax, because he is having nightmares that would make Dracula's stomach turn; a doctor who goes home after a 15-hour operation, pours himself a glass of water, takes a drink, and when the phone call comes telling him they have to reopen the boy's head, who gets back in his car and speeds off to the operating table for another round.

Somehow the show seems out of place. We are used to seeing real things only on the news and on educational TV (though the news has been stretching the point a bit of late).

Much of TV is purely entertainment, with no pretensions attached. But there's a good portion of the programming that pretends to reflect life as it is and barely comes close. Television has been lying to us for years, and it is refreshing, if traumatic, to get a taste of The Real Thing. — DKF

Robert H. Sullivan completes this coming November his 22nd year of service to the Town as an election officer, he being the dean of the staff serving at the polls and when he hands out the ballots for the coming Presidential election when he will have rounded out a long and worthy term of service.

It was in November, 1906, that Dr. J. H. McCarthy, then chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, asked Mr. Sullivan to serve as election officer. The polls were open and the voting had started when it was found that the Democratic Party lacked one officer of its lawful quota. Mr. Sullivan was at work at his barber shop on Railroad Avenue where he is located and doing business today.

While not enthusiastic over the job, "Bob" was always ready to help his party out as he was his friends, and laying aside his razor and scissors, hired himself to the Town Hall, was sworn in, and "faithfully and impartially" performed his duties.

From that time until the present he has served at every National, State and Town election, worked at all primaries and served as checker at Town Meetings. He was familiar with all of the old time orators of the days gone by. He heard the impassioned speeches of the late Nathaniel Richardson, when he moved his fellow citizens to build a new sidewalk or pave a flowing gutter; he heard the late Patrick Holland advocate more water for our Winchester reservoirs, and the late P. T. Swan when he sturdily and vigorously fought for some pet project.

"Bob" took the position of ballot clerk at the time of the death of the late Edwin Robinson, then the dean of the election staff. He has handed ballots to many men of note in the community, including the late Governor Samuel W. McCall, Thomas Lawson, Samuel J. Elder and others. He served as election officers with Henry Johnson, long a prominent figure in town affairs, John H. Carter, Patrick H. Reardon, John T. Cosgrove and many others.

He distributed the ballots for many years, and only when the increase of voters due to women suffrage necessitated dividing the responsibilities of the ballot clerk, did he lose this distinction. Since that time he has handed all ballots to those of our citizens whose family names begin with the letters from A to K.

When it became necessary to check the voters at our town meetings, "Bob" was selected for the job. He knew every voter in town, and on the first night, when the 25 or 30 men arrived who had been in the habit of dropping into meeting just after it had started, on the assumption that no one knew they were not citizens, they were treated to the surprise of their lives by being politely but firmly requested to sit in the gallery. For several years "Bob" checked the voters alone, but under present conditions he has several assistants with him.

In addition to his election duties he has served at many special meetings where voting has been required on contested matters and his knowledge of Winchester citizens has made him a valuable officer in holding the vote strictly to those qualified.

He has seen many exciting sessions, including the big overflow meeting a few years ago when over 200 citizens were refused admission due to the filling of the hall. None of the present staff of election officers approach "Bob" in time of service, and he is a familiar figure to all who visit the polls.

The Star adds its congratulations to the many others who will greet "Bob" when they appear to cast their ballot for the nation's executive.

A haircut was 40 cents and shave at 20 cents at Sullivan's Barber Shop in the Lyceum Building on Shore rd. The Sullivan family operated the Barber Shop from 1895 to 1945.

The stories reprinted here were taken from old editions of The Winchester Star and were compiled by Henry Simonds, local historian. By and large these articles are taken from the same month they appear here, 50 years ago.

Town watch...

What's a school good for?

By The Observer

The Parkhurst Condominiums? The Noonan Home for the Elderly? The Washington Office Building?

You know something's up when 40 or more citizens show up for an informal public hearing — especially when they have trouble getting more than a handful for the formal hearings held before town meeting.

But the committee studying alternative uses for closed schools is packing them in. The committee held neighborhood meetings last week to talk about what local residents would like to see done with the buildings, if and when they are closed.

One thing they all had in common was a desire to avoid any further traffic in their neighborhoods. As for uses, committee member Charles Tseckares reports that "each one has unique possibilities."

Residents near the Washington School, scheduled to close in 1980, already have their fill of traffic and parking problems from the hospital and commuters headed for Route 93. They did not want to see the hospital use of the building expanded beyond the single room to be used this year.

However, residents would not mind losing the playground, since Leonard Field is close by. The most acceptable uses were condominiums or apartments and offices. Washington neighbors decided they'd like to see the present structure remain for potential reuse as a school — and because the building is not bad looking.

The Parkhurst School neighborhood doesn't have Washington's traffic problems — and they don't want them either. The most acceptable uses for residents in that area were condominiums, as long as they were designed within the existing structure. A nursing home and single family house lots were other considerations. Like the Washington group, Parkhurst neighbors wouldn't mind seeing a private school move in.

Parkhurst may close by September 1979 but may remain open until 1980.

The Noonan School neighbors came to their meeting well-prepared with a survey representing 140 residents. People were "overwhelmingly" against adding to traffic in the area, which is an older part of town characterized by narrow streets. They also didn't want industry or a teenagers' drop-center taking the place of the school.

At first the group favored tearing the school down; however, they changed their minds when renovation of the interior for elderly housing was proposed as a possibility. A branch library was also suggested and warmly received (though the building is big enough for a whole library, let alone a branch). The library idea was also considered by the Washington group.

Unlike the other areas, Noonan lacks playground space, and one idea had the whole area being maintained as a playground. One thing residents didn't want was another school. Noonan is set to close in 1980.

As for Sanborn House, where the school administration has offices until 1980, when they will move to Lynch, there were several interesting ideas.

One had the property maintained by the town for meetings, offices, the archival center, and perhaps to rent out space for receptions and meetings for private parties. Another suggestion was to sell it to a private party as a home for a nominal fee with the stipulation that the house and grounds would be maintained for public enjoyment.

House lots were discussed, but the property is quite attractive and few would like to see it torn down and broken up. Another viable idea was to lease or sell it to a business for office space — it certainly would provide a classy atmosphere and a classy address on the business cards. As for the idea of a restaurant, neighbors felt that that was not in harmony with the neighborhood or the school next door (Ambrose).

In general, the reaction from the committee and citizens alike was that the meetings were enlightening and productive. The committee and its consultant, resident John Kent, are now digging into the possibilities to see which are feasible. Another meeting to receive input from the public is scheduled Monday in the selectmen's office at 8 p.m.

Election '78

Residence standards for census

Each week, the Winchester League of Women Voters is providing an analysis of one of the referendum questions to appear on the November ballot.

NO. 4 — RESIDENCE STANDARD

This proposal would require the state census to use federal census criteria for determining residence, subject to any exceptions the legislature might enact. The federal census, taken in years ending in 0, counts the location where a person sleeps most of the time.

Students, persons in institutions, and military personnel are counted at their schools, institutions or military housing. The state census uses domicile.

In the past, domicile has been interpreted as a person's permanent home. However, as the result of a court decision, the 1975 state census counted students, people in institutions, and military personnel at the places where they were found unless they indicated their homes were elsewhere. This practice would continue if the amendment were defeated.

The state census is used for legislative redistricting and for apportioning some state funds, primarily the cherry state monies. Federal census numbers are used for distributing federal funds in the state.

If passed, the proposal would require the state census to use federal census criteria for determining residence, subject to any exceptions the legislature might enact.

If defeated, the present practice would continue to be used.

Pro: Supporters argue that the proposal would make state and federal census records directly comparable, would enable money to be distributed on the basis of figures compiled every five years rather than every 10, would reduce expenses through the use of federal expertise, would have relatively little effect on where people are counted, and would be simpler to administer.

Con: Opponents argue that this change would further increase the distribution of state money to communities with colleges and prisons and would not bring the residence criteria of the local census, used for school, voting, jury, and other purposes, into conformity with the state census.

Although some communities have combined the two census into one form, others would still be conducting separate local census in a state census year.

The local League has a speakers' bureau which will send out someone to talk to local organizations and gatherings on the referendum questions. While the LWV does take stands on some of the issues, the referendum speakers are provided simply to explain the questions. For more information, contact Marsha Wood (729-4976) or Susan Keats (729-8317).

Why wait?

EDITOR OF THE STAR, and People in The 7th Congressional District: "Are rent and property tax boosts killing you?"

"Are you choking on price hikes on food, gas, oil, electricity and almost everything else?"

"If the politicians could figure a way to tax the sun, we would have had solar energy 30 years ago."

"Do you get the feeling our congressmen, senators and administration officials are sitting on their hands with their shoelaces tied together?"

"It's time America stopped being a free lunch counter for the world!"

These are some of my campaign statements in 1974 and 1976. Are they still true in 1978?

It took Mr. Jarvis 15 years to get his Proposition 13 past the politicians in California. Massachusetts' polls are trying to tout inflation as our problem. Inflation is a symptom but the disease is TAXES! We need Proposition 13, here, now, not a watered down version and not 15 years from now.

Being a Marine Veteran of WW II, a member of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Amvets, I take exception to my incumbent opponent's negative, anti-veteran voting record. He votes against veteran's preference (four times), then, he votes to lend Communist Vietnam billions in foreign aid!! (How about a loan program at one per cent for young American couples so they won't have to choose between having a home or having children?)

The incumbent voted against the Hansen Amendment that would bring to the public's attention the cost of $638 million to give away a $50 billion dollar asset (Panama Canal). We'll rue that giveaway. Even now, the Marxist guerrillas are using Panama as a staging area to attack other Latin American countries.

I will bring a logical, compassionate, mature and positive attitude to this office. My practical ideas are too numerous to catalogue in one letter, but I intend to run until elected.

I again challenge the incumbent to debate me in an unrestricted, unrehearsed forum. In 1976 he used the excuse of four candidates. In 1978 only he and I are on the ballot; has he the courage?

Several closing thoughts. Congressman Edward Markey raised funds this year from Washington based special interests to try to get his brother, John, elected in the 5th district. (What are we going back to, the feudal system?)

I question his political strength as an incumbent. He filed only 97 certified nomination signatures more than I (3668 to 3571), district-wide (15 cities and 19 towns). He filed none from Winchester. I should hope he is aware that Winchester is part of his district. Nuff said!

Compliments

EDITOR OF THE STAR: We would like to publicly compliment the new director of the Winchester High School Band, Miss Priscilla Miller. In the few short weeks since school began, practicing only an hour or so a day, Miss Miller has done an outstanding job with this fine group of musicians.

Under her direction this band has developed an infectious "esprit de corps" that spreads noticeably through the stands. It has created a new spirit and vitality in the Winchester football enthusiasts that it has been a pleasure to be part of. Her dynamic performance as Drum Major at a recent game, drew a well-deserved standing ovation from the crowd.

Congratulations to Miss Miller and the entire band! Keep up the good work — we love it!!

No brains

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am beginning to think no one has a brain today. With all these strikes and the poor teachers to fight for everything, such as our teachers having to strike for decent wages. What are people thinking of when just this week gas went up and wages stay the same?

We have to have some kind of justice in our great land. These big wigs get everything for nothing. Why can't we be treated in some kind of a decent manner?

Now Medicare doesn't pay all of these bills for our elderly. They pay a certain amount and then you worry about how you will pay the balance. No wonder people need a psychiatrist today.

Louise Chase

P.S. and where is cash coming for the psychiatrist?

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

LWV meetings to focus on housing, transport, water

Housing, transportation, and water will be the topics at the Winchester League of Women Voters' first three meetings of the year this coming Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

The units will be held Oct. 17 at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Jean Mortensen, 6 Alesworth rd. Oct. 18 at 9:15 a.m. at the home of Judy Muggia, 14 Dartmouth st. (non-smoking); and Oct. 19 at 9:15 a.m. at the home of Monty Aiken, 183 Highland ave. Babysitting can be arranged for Thursday morning.

The League will be discussing the possibility of taking action or doing new studies in these three areas. New developments in town have brought out new concerns in housing, transportation, and water.

For example, the town is considering a proposal to build a 65-foot high apartment complex for low and middle income elderly off Waterfield road near the railroad station.

This proposal for subsidized housing has opened up the whole issue of housing for low income groups and the elderly throughout Winchester.

In the area of transportation, the town is working on a mini-bus system to provide regular transport between downtown and peripheral areas of town. One question which arises is the effect this will have on the center and efforts to revitalize Winchester business.

Water has long been an issue in Winchester, one of the few towns in the Commonwealth with its own drinking water system. Water quality in the Aberjona and Wedge Pond has deteriorated, and the League will be discussing plans to support the upgrading of water quality in the local watershed.

All League members and interested friends are invited to attend the units.

In treasurer's race

S. Lester Ralph wants to change his job

County Commissioner S. Lester Ralph, frustrated with being a constant minority on the three three-man county commission, is running for treasurer this year.

Ralph dropped in to The Star office for an interview recently and expressed that frustration over the way the county government is being run.

A former mayor of Somerville, Ralph was first elected to his county post in 1972 on a reform ticket with Paul Tsongas. Tsongas has gone on to become US Congressman and a candidate for Edward Brooke's US Senate seat; Ralph has remained behind to find himself a one-man minority, usually on the opposite side of an issue from the other two county commissioners, John Danahy and Michael McLaughlin.

Ralph says he decided to run for treasurer this year because he feels he could have a greater impact on county government in that office than as a minority commissioner.

Charging that many county personnel appointments are "made in private, in violation of the open meeting law," Ralph complained that the other two commissioners "have made it impossible for me to attend the meetings" by making sure he isn't around when they get together.

A practicing attorney, Ralph became mayor of Somerville in 1969 and held that post until last year. As commissioner, he cites the turning over of Walden Pond to the state department of natural resources and the closing down of the state training school for truants in Chelmsford as major accomplishments.

Ralph and Tsongas also hired a new administrator to run the county hospital, who he says kept the hospital budget in the black. The new administrator was fired recently, "as was every other competent appointment, because he refused to hire other political appointees," according to Ralph.

Echoing the same theme, he said the county training school had 95 staff members for about 60 students and called the institution, "a dumping ground for political appointments."

As treasurer, Ralph says he can "force compliance with the law" through the powers of the treasurer, who also serves as auditor for the county.

The commissioner says he favors legislation which would take the authority to appoint officers and commissioners (in the case of vacancies) away from the county commissioners, and give it to the county advisory board, a group of 54 representatives from all the cities and towns in Middlesex County.

The advisory board has grown stronger in recent years; they gained the right to veto portions of the county budget last year. Ralph says that by giving the appointing authority over to the 54 members of the advisory board, "there'd be less chance you're going to make a private deal that will keep the county drifting as it has been."

The candidate said "The budget has been a farce in the county up until now." Ralph claims the original budget gets all the news coverage and attention; then after the attention dies down, a supplementary budget is quietly submitted to the legislature's committee on counties. That, says Ralph, is when a lot of politically-oriented jobs are slipped through.

On court reform, Ralph says he is "not optimistic" about the ability of the state to run the courts any better than the county however, he does concede that. "The county did not prove that it was capable of running the courts over the long haul." He adds a cautionary note: "I'm not an advocate of a bigger state government. We're dealing with a legislature that's really not committed to better government."

Ralph decided to run as an independent instead of as a Democrat to keep from being "buried" on the ballot in the Primary Sept. 19. He claims support from some statewide candidates, including Cong. Tsongas, Republican candidate for Governor, Francis W. Hatch Jr., Attorney General Francis X. Belotti, and John W. Sears, Republican candidate for secretary of state.

Says Ralph of the county incumbents: "I'm absolutely convinced that these people do not prevail simply because they have (political) machines; they have little clout, they can be thrown out."

State working to help handicapped find jobs

The average income of disabled people in the United States is half that of the non-disabled, according to a recent Department of Labor study.

As National Employ the Handicapped (NETH) Week was observed, (Oct. 1-7) Division Employment Security Job centers throughout Massachusetts were strengthening their efforts to place the state's handicapped workers in suitable, meaningful and economically gainful employment.

"For a person to be denied access to a job because of a handicap that does not interfere with job responsibilities, is wrong and is a waste of a valuable resource," said John F. Hodgman, director of the Massachusetts DES.

"Properly placed handicapped workers are an asset to any employer," said Hodgman. "The services that DES provides for both employers and handicapped job seekers ensure that a correct match is made between the job's requirements and the applicant's skills.

"Once that is accomplished, the nature of a person's handicap is not important," added Hodgman.

DES job centers have at least one staff member who is a specialist on employment and related services for the handicapped.

Services available to handicapped job seekers include: employment appraisal and counseling; aptitude and interest testing, when appropriate; referral to support services; job development and placement.

Employers interested in hiring qualified handicapped workers can obtain recruitment and screening assistance; information on eliminating architectural barriers; information on Affirmative Action and on other laws relating to the employment of the handicapped.

Addresses and telephone numbers of DES job centers are listed in the white pages telephone directory under "Massachusetts-Employment Security."

Personal care assistants give disabled the chance to live independently

Until now, a severely physically disabled person, after the trauma of his original injury or illness, had few options upon discharge from the hospital: he could live in a nursing home or other long-term care facility, or he could remain dependent on his family at home. Today, a development in health care — the personal care assistant — allows the handicapped person to live independently in the community.

By hiring a personal care assistant, the handicapped person can move into his or her own apartment and begin to be a functioning member of the community. If disabled, or if you would like to become a PCA, you can learn about the concept at a day-long introductory program Saturday, Oct. 28, at the New England Regional Spinal Cord Injury Center of University Hospital in Boston.

The program from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., is free and is open to the public. Speakers will include therapists, nurses and others who work with the physically disabled, as well as handicapped persons who have employed or who are using PCAs. By hiring and training a PCA to care for him, the disabled person takes on the role of employer, and at the same time, he is saving money on the high cost of extended health care facilities.

The New England Regional Spinal Cord Injury Center at University Hospital is one of eleven federally designated "model" regional spinal cord injury centers in the country. It was recently named a "senior" model center by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Registration deadline for the "Introduction to Personal Care Assistants" program is Friday, Oct. 20.

For more information, call Roberta Koonz, rehabilitation community coordinator at the New England Regional Spinal Cord Injury Center, at 247-5998, or write to the center at University Hospital, 75 East Newton St., Boston, 02118.

Winter safety check

Fire is one of the greatest hazards during cold months. As people spend more time indoors, increased use of electrical and heating systems puts extra strain on power sources. Check out furnaces, fireplaces, heaters and appliances before winter sets in.

Fire kills 5 ways

Fire victims succumb to one of five causes — asphyxiation, superheated air or gases, smoke, toxic products and flame. It makes good sense to install an early detection device in your home to alert the household long before the flames make headway.

Antonelli maintains position in county treasurer's race

Democratic Nominee for Middlesex County Treasurer, Rocco J. Antonelli, maintains his position that "ability and experience" are the prime requirements for the county treasurer.

Antonelli, a CPA from Winchester and former city treasurer of Somerville, received more than 37,000 votes while winning the recent Primary Election. He ran first or second in nine cities and 33 towns of the county's total 11 cities and 43 towns.

Campaigning throughout the county for the past three months, Antonelli repeatedly explained to voters that in a time of crisis, the Middlesex County taxpayers need a certified public accountant, experienced in taxation and financial matters to handle more than 80 million of annual county receipts and a budget of more than $50 million.

County government and the county Retirement System (of which the treasurer is chairman) will face many changes and consideration for elimination in the future. Antonelli contends that these facets of the treasurer's position require an experienced and talented financial administrator to fill the job. In addition, county financial reporting is delinquent or non-existing, and a CPA will certainly adhere to the mandate of the General Laws to keep the public informed.

Antonelli's wide experience includes: a masters degree in Business Administration (MBA) from Harvard Business School; former assistant to the president of Algonquin Gas Transmission Co., building the natural gas pipeline extension from Texas to New Jersey to Boston; former assistant treasurer of Lab for Electronics, a Rockefeller interest principal and president of R.J. Antonelli and Company, accountants and auditors of Somerville, for more than 20 years; real estate developer and constructor for many years; nationally prominent public accountant involved in regulatory legislation throughout the United States.

Antonelli, a past president of the National Society of Public Accountants and chairman of the National Legislation Committee, has sponsored and participated in regulatory accountancy legislation in Washington and throughout the United States since 1960. In 1963, he sponsored and enacted the Massachusetts Accountancy Regulatory Statute, served on the Board of Public Accountancy for 11 years, and has served as executive secretary, CPA to the board for the past five years. The executive secretary's position is a statutory part-time job.

Antonelli recently declined appointment to the commissioner of INTERNAL Revenue Service's National Advisory Group for the coming year in order to pursue the Middlesex County treasurer position. He was invited by the United States Commissioner to serve as the national public accountant member of the group.

Antonelli stresses efficient and responsible financial management for all the people and taxpayers of Middlesex County, and fair representation for all 54 cities and towns in both southern and northern Middlesex County. He states that he has the energy and dedication to fill the six-year term, and urges all Democrats, Independents, and Republicans to vote in the final Election for Middlesex County Treasurer.

There being no Republican Nominee, Antonelli supporters claim that he is "first in experience, first on the ballot," and favored to win the Election over the Independent candidate who bypassed the hotly contested Primary Election.

Report callers to police dept.

Take heed of callers representing themselves as members of the Winchester Police Department seeking funds in a solicitation program, police warn.

According to Chief of Police John McHugh, the department is not conducting any fund drive at the present time and any calls soliciting money for the department should be brought to the attention of the police.

The chief said the department has received calls recently from citizens saying a Winchester police officer called their house for contributions to a police fund. When the caller contacted a woman on Cambridge street who knew most of the members of the department, she became suspicious and called police, McHugh said.

In another instance, a local businessman alerted police to such a call and the businessman set up a time for the caller to pick up the money. However, the suspect avoided police custody when he became suspicious of a set up and left the premises before police could apprehend him.

McHugh said, "Any solicitations or fund-raising programs conducted by this department would be fully explained through The Winchester Star before it is undertaken." McHugh assured that there is no such program in behalf of UUUUUU McHugh assured that there is no such program in behalf of the Winchester Police Department being undertaken at the present time.

About town

Diane Renee Leonard has entered the tennis segment of the "All American Girl Competition."

The winner of the national competition will receive $25,000 in cash and a multitude of other prizes. There will be an ABC-TV special telecast of the finals.

The competition is open to all girls from New England from the ages of 18 thru 23. Entry forms may be obtained by writing Academie Moderne, 35 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, 02116.

Sixty teenagers took over at the annual recognition awards ceremony at New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn, and everyone was extremely proud.

The new officers planned and conducted the program, took parents and guests on tours, prepared and served refreshments, supervised the decorations and every other detail.

Various teens spoke and told of their work at the Rehabilitation Hospital. They said volunteering during the summer months had been "rewarding and opened new doors." Maggie Johnson of Winchester said, "I enjoy working here very much and when I get older I hope to get a paying job here."

Among those receiving pins and certificates were William and David Worthen, Meg Fallon, Chris Anderson, Ellen Coates, Jeff Goodman, Janette Pamir, Theresa Pothier, Audrey Aronson, Erica Gerline, Maureen Herlihy, and Margie Johnson.

Selectmen's notes

Adoption deferred

Final adoption of the town's rules and regulations pertaining to alcoholic-restaurant licenses was deferred by selectmen until Town Counsel Douglas Randall reports on the matter and Selectmen Harry Chelaflo returns from vacation.

The Star reported last week that it took a year and a half for the selectmen to develop the regulations. It should have read it took half a year instead.

Petition

A petition by the three residents of Thoreau circle to make the way an accepted land area and an approved right of way was referred to the town engineer by selectmen Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bucci, Mr. and Mrs. Claudio Evangelista, and Dr. and Mrs. Roman DeSanctis notified selectmen that "it is our understanding that Mr. Robert C. Ericson, developer, will have completed all the requirements necessary to comply with present zoning regulations within the next two weeks."

They asked selectmen to "take whatever action that is customary and necessary to have this land area accepted by the Town of Winchester as an approved right of way."

More information

Although Winchester Taxi Association President Richard Terzian submitted more information to selectmen regarding a request to increase taxi rates in town, selectmen Monday night requested more information.

Selectmen Arthur Dunbar said, "Thank them (the association) for chapter three, and ask for chapter four."

Selectmen Hankins said the association

500 attend fall fair at Jenks Center

Five hundred people gathered Oct. 4th at the Knights of Columbus Hall to enjoy a lasagna dinner, one of the highlights of the Winchester Seniors Association Fall Fiesta Fair.

Mrs. Helen Hodgdon organized the event. Mrs. Kay Errico, chairman of the dinner food, did all of the cooking, assisted by her husband, Gerald, Mary and Louis Errico, Elsie and Benjamin Lanni, and Anne and Vito Scaturro also helped cooking. Helpers were Phyllis Diapella, Lorraine Staniewicz and Patricia Huggins. Preparing gallons of coffee were Rose and Ray Eddy.

Twenty-three members of the forum of the First Congregational Church under the leadership of Miss Donna Greene served the dinner. They accepted the responsibility as one of their community service projects.

Paul Marcous, assisted by porters in the large dining hall, added to the festivities. On this committee were: Alfred Latour, Paul Donahue, Tom Legere, Byron Peterson, Mal Masters, Bob and Dot Williams, Ed Sharkey, Bernie Skahill, Henry Fernald, Andy and Paul Marcous, and Alice Baker. They set and reset tables and served the wine.

Serving as hosts and hostesses were Ray and Helen Murphy, Barbara Weedon, Evelyn Jenks, Larry Hutchings and Leonor Rich. Anne Feuss and Marion McMahon officiated at the ticket collection desk. Gunhild Latour, Elizabeth Law, Thomas Rogers and Darryln Bradford dispensed salads and spumoni servings for the enjoyment of the diners. Eighty-eight persons were needed in preparing and serving the dinner.

Throughout the fair, Paul Marcous kept those who attended aware of what was going on by contacting the buyers through the microphones at the K of C Hall and at the Jenks Senior Center.

Randy and Rena Kazazian ran a Snack Bar at the fair. They were assisted by Carol Mawdsley, Betty Karis, Grade Del Solio, Angie D'Attilio, Beverly Hinds, Claire Bertolucci, Ralph Bertolucci, Jane Norberg, Connie Locachio, Dick Fiorenza served as cashier for the two-day event.

Marion and Ralph Hatch, Charles Craven, and Mary Roberts were the financiers, handling and banking all the money received from the many tables. Marion Arrell, Lillian McElhinney and Sarah McGowan were in charge of the contest items.

The chairpersons, assisted by dozens of willing helpers were as follows: Sylvia Saslow, Marjorie Blomquist, Ben and Margaret Goodwin, Ruth Hendey, Anne Hinds, Marion McMahon, Helen Hodgdon, Kay Errico, Betty and Norman Reed, Sue Meade, Rena and Randy Kazazian, Dot and Ken Cullen, Clarence Borggaard, Arthur Fonseca, Pauline McGuigan, Evelyn Jenks, Hilda Hope, Mary McLaughlin, Olive Hatch, Mal Masters, Larry Hutchings, Marion McMahon, May Hamblly.

Clarence Borggaard had his large display of exotic plants arranged out of doors until the wind began to raise havoc, tossing them around. This required moving them to the inside of the center.

Walter Dignam, chairman of the ways and means, organized and carried out plans for the fair. His wife, Grace and members of the Winchester Home and Garden club, provided a Courtesy Table for busy shoppers who were relieved from carrying their purchases from table to table in the crowded areas.

President Anne Feuss and her executive board are grateful to the hundreds of people who did so much to put the fair "over the top," according to Leonor Rich, publicity chairman.

has "taken a step in the right direction," but added "there is nothing here about the number of trips they make or labor charges."

Selectmen Dunbar also questioned figures supplied by Terzian. He said, "$1500 in maintenance costs per year seems a bit excessive."

Terzian submitted a cost analysis per mile for running a cab in town last week.

Free cash

The state Department of Revenue reported to selectmen last week that the town has $1,037,294 in "free cash." The free cash is applied to tax relief for the next fiscal year.

Also, free cash is appropriated towards collective bargaining agreements made between now and the next fiscal year.

Town Comptroller Al Faggiano said the town's estimate in May of free cash was $100,000 less than reported by Edward G. McCann Jr., director of accounts, Department of Revenue.

Flag raising

Selectman Arthur Dunbar and Selectman Chairman Edward O'Connell will participate this Saturday in a flag raising ceremony at the Sons of Italy Home on Swanton street.

The Columbus Day Celebration Committee of the sons invited selectmen to the affair.

A memorial Mass for deceased members will follow the ceremony. Services begin at 9:45 a.m.

Appointment

Selectmen recently approved the appointment of Vincent T. Berger, of 22 Yale st. to the town's Council on Aging.

Berger is an associate member of the council and submitted his application for the position vacated by Dr. Richard D. Norberg who resigned recently.

Bill Rogers (20) and Dave Guarnaccia (28) combine to bring down Minuteman back in Saturday's game. The Sachem defense did their job, holding Lexington to one score as WHS won, 20-6. (Staff photo by Dan Walsh)

Sachem football, 2-1-0, in tie for first

By JON KALMAN

Though you may have heard otherwise, the reason the Winchester-Lexington clash was held at the Minuteman Regional Vocational School was not because of the fan's discontent with Lexington's 1-1-1 record, but because their home field stands have been condemned.

After the sparse turnout for Winchester's 20-6 triumph over Lexington: (and sparse tends to overexaggerate the situation), one wonders whether the Lexington fans did have something to do with it.

The Minuteman have been a team in transition ever since last year's one win debacle. Coach Bill Tighe had hoped to build a nucleus around last season's quarterback Scott Sidman and offensive end Gene Mewborn, but Sidman ended up as a defensive back and James Jackman assumed the quarterback responsibilities. That is, until Jackman suffered an off-the-field injury and Paul Bates was given the nod.

So the stage was set, the Minuteman with a new stadium and a new quarterback facing an ominous Sachem squad. Blowout, right? Wrong. The outcome of the game was in doubt until Winchester quarterback Dave O'Neill sprinted for 76 yards and a touchdown with 1:07 remaining.

That was the icing of the victory; the cake came with 1:36 left and the Minutemen posed on Winchester's 15-yard line when running back Barry Neil fumbled the ball. O'Neill's exploits occurred two plays later.

The Sachem win gives them a 2-0-1 record, and propels them into a three-way tie for first place in the Middlesex League with The Woburn Tanners and Burlington. The Tanners were accused with aggravated assault after their thorough 26-0 shellacking of a Melrose club. Burlington maintained their first place position by clawing out a 16-12 win over Reading.

Winchester played a strong, all-around game for the second straight week as the Sachem offense complemented a tenacious defense.

Winchester's defense, which last week held Stoneham to 148-yards rushing and forced four turnovers, suffered through 92 yards of penalties. The penalties occurred in the fourth quarter and almost reversed the Sachem victory.

The first penalty was defensive interference called against Sachem defensive back Bill Rogers which gave Lexington the possession on the Winchester goal line; the second penalty nullified a Guarnaccia interception and returned the ball back to the Minutemen.

Winchester's offense began the game in their usual fashion, slow. After testing the Minuteman defense for most of the first quarter, the Sachems began their first extended march capped by Tom Murray's two yard plunge.

The drive began just inside the midfield stripe in Sachem territory following Gene Mewborn's punt. Winchester took to the ground, and drove the Lexington defense back to their own 29-yard line. O'Neill then lofted an aerial to Steve Wolfe cutting across the middle for a first down on the Minuteman 18 yard line.

The Sachem's then returned to the ground and fought their way to the Lexington two yard line, where Murray applied the finishing touch to end the quarter. Sachems 6, Minutemen 0.

Lexington's defense is anchored by Gene Mewborn, a 215 pound terror. Mewborn's athletic achievements also enabled Lexington to capture the Massachusetts State Basketball championship.

The Sachem's answer to Mewborn is the Bellino brothers, co-captain Sam and Lennie. Sam was injured in last Saturday's matchup against Stoneham, and sat out this game, so Lennie took over his responsibilities. Lennie's tenacity earned him the Boston Globe's honorable mention following his eight-tackle performance this week.

The Minutemen opened up the second quarter on their 35 yard line following a six-yard kickoff return by David DiSilva. On the second play from scrimmage, Stephen Hamm fumbled and Lennie Bellino recovered on the Lexington 37 yard line.

Winchester capitalized immediately, scoring their second touchdown on a picture perfect pass completion to senior Nick Fitzgerald, who pulled in O'Neill's pass and flashed down the sideline to paydirt.

The two point conversion by Scott Farrar was good, and the Sachems had a 14-0 lead which they kept going into the locker room.

The Sachems and the Minutemen spent the majority of the ensuing third quarter jockeying for field position. With 3:45 left, Lexington began a drive from their 26 yard line which moved them to inside the Winchester 15 yard line as the quarter ended.

Lexington began the fourth quarter posed on the Sachem 13 yard line. On their first play they were called for offensive interference, moving them back to the 17 yard line.

Quarterback Paul Bates, who had been pressured all afternoon by Robert Cooke and Lennie Bellino, threw a pass to Scott Sidman that was broken up by Billy Rogers.

Rogers, however, was called for defensive interference, and the Minutemen were planted on the Winchester one yard line. Paul Tavilla punched through for the score, and the extra point attempt was called back because of a penalty on the offense.

Score: Winchester 14, Lexington 6.

Lexington regained control after Winchester failed to move the pigskin and was forced to punt. The Minutemen's final drive was seemingly thwarted when Dave Guarnaccia intercepted a Bates' pass but defensive holding was called and Lexington maintained possession.

The Minutemen moved downfield to the Sachem 20, but the drive was stopped by Neil's fumble. Two plays later O'Neil zippe down the sidelines for the final touchdown.

The game had ended in Winchester's favor, but the Sachems again faced a pretty good scare. The next Sachem game is at home against Belmont. Kickoff time is 1:30.

Sachem booters lost a close one to league-leading Wakefield, 1-0, Oct. 5 but came back to romp Woburn 3-0 Monday and hold onto a tie with Lexington for second place in the Middlesex League. Here a Wakefield Warrior is foiled by goalie Stewart Downs as defender Jim Kohr puts on the pressure.

Booters overpower Tanners, up record to 7-1-1

By JON KALMAN

There is some good news, and then there is some bad news.

The good news is that the Sachem soccer team beat both Belmont and Woburn to be in second place; the bad news is that Winchester lost to Wakefield and slipped out of first place.

Winchester's 7-1-1 record is commendable by all standards, except that the tie and the loss came at the hands of the two top teams in the league, Lexington and Wakefield.

This is not to say that the Sachems should not have won both those games, they should have; nor it is to say that they are not better than these teams; they probably are. The fact remains though, that Winchester has blown out all the lesser teams in the league, but has been unable to pick up the win against the tougher opponents.

The league is structured this year so that you have a cluster of top teams with only one loss, and a cluster of poorer teams with only one win.

"The championship will be determined by how Lexington, Winchester, and Wakefield fare among themselves," explained the Sachem Coach Gene Bouley. "But every other team in the league has the capability of pulling off the upset and defeating one of these three."

Coach Bouley is confident that Winchester will remain up in the front of the league, and when the time comes will notch the important victories against Lexington and Wakefield.

"We tied Lexington (Sept. 28 at their home field on a windy day with the wind gusting in our faces the whole fourth quarter. When they come here it will be a whole other story," explained Bouley. "Against Wakefield (Oct. 5) we started out slowly and they scored an early goal. The second (quarter) was a draw, but we outplayed them both the third and fourth quarters."

The Sachems chalked up their sixth win Oct. 3 against a strong Belmont club, 6-1. Though the score may indicate otherwise, Belmont is a strong team that just lacks an adequate goalie.

"Belmont can give anyone a game. Their problem has been that any time you take a shot on them, it is a goal," commented Bouley. "In all other facets of the game they are strong."

The Sachems took advantage of the Marauders' weakness, pummeling the Belmont defense the entire game. Their six goals gives the Winchester 27 for the season, with four goals against.

The goals came in flurries. Winchester tested the Marauder defense for about five minutes, and then just swarmed the Belmont end. At the end of the match, Barry McQuillan had notched two goals, and Sergio GUILLEN, Neal Frink, Robert Horne, and Jim Olivier had each tallied once.

The Wakefield contest was another story. The Warriors are a very tall team with a tremendous defense anchored by their goalie. The Warriors height prevented any air attack by Winchester, forcing the Sachems to use the ground to attack.

This turned the game into a footrace, with Winchester ending up forcing their shots, or hesitating when the right opportunity did present itself.

"We had two excellent shots which would have been goals in any other game. Their goalie played an excellent game, as did Stu Downs for us," remarked Bouley. "Our problem was that we were waiting for the good shot and did not capitalize on all the scoring possibilities."

The only goal of the contest was tallied by Warrior James Hanton in the first quarter. Hanton picked up the ball on the right side of the field, maneuvered towards the center and drilled a beautiful shot that Downs had no chance of saving.

That seemed to ignite the Sachems, but despite all their hustling, they never managed a goal. The final score was Wakefield 1, Winchester 0.

The third contest was a Columbus Day victory against the beleaguered Woburn Tanners. Winchester thoroughly dominated the Tanners, but not as well as they were expected to.

"The game was a disappointment," explained a concerned Winchester coach, "What should have been a blowout turned into a sloppy, three goal performance."

The Sachems controlled the entire game, but stopped short of scoring more goals. "You name it, we either tripped ourselves, made a ball handling error, or waited for the defense to catch up to us on all our fast breaks. There was no continuity on our offense," explained Coach Bouley.

The final score was Winchester three, Woburn one. Jim Olivier scored two goals and Charlie Mahoney notched one. Olivier's first goal came with 7:35 left in the first quarter on a rebound of his own shot. He tallied this second goal in the third quarter with a blast by the Tanner goalie into the corner.

Charles Mahoney's goal was a thing of beauty. Charles took a corner kick that hooked into the left side of the goal. The shot was unassisted and signified Winchester's first goal off a corner shot this season.

Winchester's next game is Thursday against Melrose. The game will be played away and will start at 3:30.

The Sachems now must go undefeated to secure the Middlesex Championship they crave, and I think they just might do it.

Field hockey loses to Burlington; beats Belmont

By ALICE GREENE

The ritualistic cry of "Mangie!" (get rowdie) may have turned a few heads at the Burlington High field last Wednesday. The WHS girls' field hockey team turned into one shrieking huddle, clacking their sticks above their heads to initiate the game.

Their excited energy did not help them, though, as they lost to Burlington. Winchester played very poorly in the first half with endless penalties and ill-used corners.

Burlington scored their first goal early in the half on an assist from left inner, Donna Pomphrett and a flick into the cage by left halfback Laura Sheldon. Burlington went on to score two more in the second half leaving the Sachems defeated with a score of 3-2.

WHS had great difficulty keeping the ball out of Burlington's attacking circle and, at one time, had about 10 corners in a row against the Sachems. The forward line's passing was perhaps Winchester's only savior. Good cutting and push passing back and forth baffled some of Burlington's players.

Right wing, Tricia Shanley tied the battle up early in the second half. The ball was lost in a hungry fight at the goal and was about to dribble out when Miss Shanley caught it, and tapped it in.

Winchester's playing improved considerably with new determination. Left halfback, Annette Ferry, attacked well and wouldn't let the ball past her. She drove and cleared it up to left wing Caroline Twomey and inner Debbie Boscoe everytime she had a chance.

Fullbacks, Janet Bishop and Margot von Rosenvinge played tough and let few balls by.

But, Burlington's second goal was driven in by center Cheryl Scott when goalie, Nella Barrow, took a running chance to kick the ball out of the circle. She missed; Miss Scott didn't, and Burlington pulled ahead.

Not for long. Center halfback, Sue Flaherty drove a powerful free hit into the circle and Winchester's co-captain, Beth Noble slid the pass right into the cage.

Now, nerves were tense and Winchester had the pressure on. All play stayed in Winchester's favor until Cheryl Scott, once again, broke away and scored Burlington's winning goal in the last ten seconds of the game.

Darcy Fitzgerald of the JV squad was certainly voted MVP of the day, for she drove in three goals. Allison Shirley's, Robin Hill's and Stephanie Johnson's goals matched Darcy's to result in a final score of 6-0. The game was called early because of rain.

BELMONT VS. WINCHESTER

The Sachems defeated the Belmont Marauders with an easy 2-0 score. Outstanding passing and defense didn't allow Belmont to get past their 25 yard line until 15 minutes into the game.

Belmont's goalie was their total protection against an absolute crush. She seemed unsurpassable at first but center Beth Noble found a hole late in the first and slipped a goal in.

Winchester scored another goal when a drive deflected off a Belmont fullback's foot. The Marauders did get the ball into the cage but a team-mate was off-sides and therefore the goal wasn't counted.

J. V. won with an identical score of 2-0. Darcy Fitzgerald flicked in the first goal and Stephanie Johnson scored the next. The two forwards worked well together throughout the game.

The Sachems' spirits were dampened when Belmont's right halfback suffered an injury in the second half. The WHS girls' field hockey team is wishing her the best in recovery.

High school cross country team splits pair

By MARK COSTELLO

The Winchester High School cross country split a pair last week. Their record is now 2 and 3. The season is a week closer to its end. Chances of a winning season are growing distant.

The team has lost to Reading, Watertown and most significantly, Wakefield. The losses to Reading and Watertown were predictable setbacks at the hands of superior teams. The loss to Wakefield was a regrettable defeat at the hands of a very defeatable team.

As of this writing, the team is pursuing a roughly parallel course to that of last years team. They are beating everyone they beat last year and being beaten accordingly. If they continue this performance for the remainder of the season (as is indicated), they will come into the last dual meet of the year, (there are nine) needing to beat or at least tie their opponent, Woburn, to secure a winning record.

Woburn is the most improved team in the Middlesex League. As the season runs out, so shall that irreparable opening day loss to Wakefield loom all the more irreparable.

On Tuesday of last week, the cross country team thoroughly crushed a feeble Burlington team at home, 15-50. On Friday, they lost to the league champions in Reading, 20-39.

It is impossible to underestimate the Burlington cross country team. They do not in fact deserve to be called a team and they do not deserve to compete in the Middlesex League. Their varsity group consists of one injured runner and three substandard ones. Quinn won a varsity spot by finishing 10th in 18:47.

Skip Lang of Burlington was 11th in 18:48. Sophomore Lang is a finer runner than his time indicates. He was running this race on two severely injured ankles. Even so, he was fifth about a third of the way through. Then, his ankles crumpled under him on a slight uphill. Lang got up, ran again, fell once more and finally dragged himself in at 18:48. His courageous but disappointing performance is somewhat indicative of the tribulations of Burlington cross country.

Winchester's John Provenzano was 12th at 19:20. Senior Larry Stafford of Burlington was 13th in 19:31. Jim Connolly was 13th at 19:50. John Ward finished in 20:22, followed by Jon Haber at 20:47, Greg Brown at 23:54 and Jim O'Brien at 21:09. Jim Cullen ran a 26:11. Dave Sirchis ran a 27:30.

When the dust from this epic finally cleared, coach Joe Cantillon had several things to say. He had three runners under 17:00. He had six runners under 18:00. He had 10 runners under 19:00. His varsity team inhaled the first 10 places. Eight of his runners ran their fastest times ever. Nine of his runners placed as high as they have this year. He would have savored it all the more if he could have envisioned the future and seen what Reading would do to his varsity the following Friday.

Speaking of Reading, the league champs dismantled Winchester in Reading, 20-39.

Winchester had absolutely no difficulties in humbling this already humble assemblage, 15-50. Strangely enough, they performed better this meet than any of the previous meets when there was indeed another team present. Andy Wilsack won the varsity race in 16:39. It was his second fastest time of the year. Wilsack's seasonal record is now four and one. In a major surprise, Joe Flynn, was second in 16:49. It is the first time that Flynn had ever gone under 17:00 on the home course.

In an astonishing performance Flynn nipped nearly half a minute off his previous best. Right behind Flynn was Jim Wilber. Wilber turned in his fastest time of 1978, 16:52 and finished third. Wilber anchored Winchester's sweep of the usually crucial one, two, and three places. For the first time in a long time Winchester had 3 men under 17:00.

Mark Costello was fourth in 17:36. Sophomore Tom Derry was fifth in 17:42. Fifth is the highest Derry has ever placed. Along with Joe Flynn and a handful of sophomores and juniors, Derry forms the formidable backbone of next year's team. Rob Flynn pulled in his highest varsity, placing ever with his fastest varsity time. He was sixth in 17:55. Tom Doocoy was seventh in 18:10 (fastest time), followed by Greg Cummings, eighth in 18:16 (also fastest time). Dave Demars finished ninth in 18:37. Steve Andy Wilsack saved Winchester the embarrassment of a shutout by delivering a clutch first. It was his fourth victory of the year for Wilsack. His time over the short, 2.7 mile Reading course was 13:04. Never known as magnanimous hosts, Reading took the next five places. Joe Flynn and Jim Wilber came in together next for Winchester. Flynn was seventh in 13:45. Wilber was eighth in 13:46. Reading took ninth, tenth, and eleventh places.

Tom Derry was twelfth in 14:10, followed by Mark Costello who was thirteenth in 14:15. Rob Flynn was fourteenth in 14:21. Tommy Doocoy was seventh in 15:11.

The junior varsity fared no better against their Reading counterparts. They lost the first four places, narrowly averted a shutout, and had their status as undefeated altered slightly. To be more specific, they lost 16-56.

Reading JV took the first four places in the race. Readings' Tony Palmer won it in 14:13. Like Wilsack on the varsity, Dave Demars averted the shutout. Demars was fifth in 14:41. Steve Quinn was ninth in 15:10. John Provenzano was eleventh in 15:22. Jim Connolly ran a 15:37. Phil Kirkpatrick was next in 16:14. Jim Cullen ran a 16:27. He was followed by John Ward at 16:28, Greg Brown at 16:40, Jim O'Brien at 16:45 and Dave Sirchis.

Next Saturday, the Varsity team will represent the town at the prestigious Catholic Memorial road race in Franklin Park, Boston. The next dual meet is slated for next Tuesday against an undefeated Lexington team in Lexington. All meets start at 3.

Girls soccer team improves; routs Chelmsford St. Eulalia hockey tryouts tonight at 11

by KELLY GATELY

After a disappointing 0-2 start, the Winchester High School girls' soccer team finally played up to its potential with a 7-0 rout of Chelmsford. They've turned their season around by improving their record to 2-1-2.

From the beginning of the game, Winchester had total control. Led by an outstanding effort by Kathleen Driscoll, who scored five goals in less than two quarters of play, the Sachems dominated throughout the game.

The Sachems jumped out to a quick 1-0 lead as Kathleen Driscoll beat the Chelmsford goalie on a low hard shot into the corner. She later scored two more on similar shots after some excellent ball control in front of the net. At the end of the 1st half, it was 3-0.

Driscoll again picked up where she left off by scoring two more goals in the beginning of the third quarter to increase the lead to 5-0.

Carol Donahoe made it 6-0 on a nice play, dribbling by the Chelmsford defense and then placing a hard shot into the corner. The score was then increased again to 7-0 when Kelly Gately scored in front on a pass from Terry Bergin.

Other excellent performances were turned in by Ann Porell, Mary Russo, Madeline Powers, Diana Donahoe, Christine Driscoll, Prudy Horne, Andrea DeMars, and Dana Dupuis.

Amy Cracknell

Amy Cracknell wins ballet scholarship

Amy Cracknell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Cracknell, of 145 Mt. Vernon Street, was the winner of the Harriet Hootor Memorial Scholarship Drawing for the 1978-79 season.

Mary Bigelow-Vasel, director of the Harriet Hootor Winchester Ballet School at 19 Thompson Street, established the scholarship drawing in September of 1977, in memory of the late ballerina, Harriet Hootor, who began her Winchester Ballet School in 1950.

Miss Hootor retired in June, 1974, and it was then that she turned the school over to Mary Bigelow-Vasel. Miss Hootor died in June, 1977.

The scholarship entitles Miss Cracknell to study at the ballet school for the 1978-79 season. She has been a pupil at the school for about four years. Her sister, Rachel, also studies ballet at the school.

The scholarship drawing is an annual event and usually takes place at the close of the school's registration period in September. It is open to all pupils who have studied at least one year at the school.

Bantams tie Lexington with last minute score

The Winchester Bantams put together a totally balanced team effort, highlighted by a last minute goal, to capture a 4-4 tie against league powerhouse Lexington last Sunday at Burlington.

Winchester broke on top early as Mike Griffin scored from in close, putting home a rebound following Tommy Sullivan's shot from the right side. Danny Sullivan, playing a heads-up game, was credited with an assist.

Lexington carried the play during most of the period, but Bobby Giarizzo's excellent goaltending held the Minutemen at bay. Bobby's alertness and agility thwarted Lexington's chances repeatedly, but finally several flurries resulted in two quick goals, and Winchester trailed 2-1.

Second period action was marked by some brilliant saves by Winchester's Pat Falla, who was literally everywhere blocking shots to keep it close. Falla made some difficult glove saves look easy. Lexington went ahead 3-1 midway through the second stanza, but Winchester's spirit refused to be dampened.

Early in the third period Steve Masiello scored twice from in front with assists on both goals to Steve Tucci. Masiello and Tucci played their finest games of the still young season, flanking the versatile Chris Parker at center. With the game tied, Winchester kept the pressure on. Coley Wilson's good effort with help from Larry Maida and Jimmy Coppins kept the play even against Lexington's veterans during the period.

Both teams battled evenly in a very physical game and Winchester went on the power play with 1:35 left in the game. With Paul White and Steve Marino standouts on defense, Winchester forced the play in the Lexington end. With 1:08 on the clock, Coach Dave Boyle pulled goalie Falla in favor of Paul Tucci who had played exceptional hockey at defense continually during the game. This strategy did the trick, as Paul banged home a loose puck to make it 4-4 with only 58 seconds remaining.

In addition to the spectacular play of goalies Falla and Giarizzo, Winchester's defense deserves considerable credit. Marino and White were again stalwarts on defense, killing penalties and bolstering the power play. Billy Eaton's steady efforts kept the puck in the Lexington end and John Kisil's toughness in the corners deserves recognition.

Paul Tucci was particularly effective on defense, as he managed to handle Lexington's centers repeatedly. Forward Tom Sullivan hustled throughout the game turning in a fine performance. Mike Griffin, skating and back-checking well, also deserves mention.

Next week, the Bantams take on Burlington in what promises to be a good match.

Casey on team at Mitchell College

George Casey, a former All-Middlesex County choice while at Winchester High, is a starting member of the Mitchell College field hockey team.

Casey, a mid-fielder in high school, opens at left wing for the Pequots. He noticed a goal in his first collegiate performance, a 6-1 rout of Union (NJ) College. Since then he has had two assists and used his speed to set up numerous Mitchell goals.

Mitchell, the defending New England soccer champions are currently 4-1.

Tennis booklet awaits publication

The Winchester Tennis Association has published a booklet for its members.

It contains a capsule history of the organization, the constitution of the association, facts about team sponsorship, details regarding all tournaments and many other pieces of information.

The booklet was the idea of and the result of work done by Bobbi McNamara in conjunction with Cynthia Daley. It will be mailed to all association members early next year, along with the notice for the annual meeting.

If anyone would like a copy prior to that time, contact Bobbi McNamara, Bruce Stevens, or Larry Smith.

Coney Island Basketball

"Coney Island Basketball" is being introduced to Winchester High School at 7 p.m. Oct. 12.

What is Coney Island Basketball? It's basketball played Coney Island style, that is on tricycles!

Of course, specially made "jumbo" tricycles will be used for the over-sized "kids" riding them. Teachers from the high school, members of the community, and Winchester High School students will be playing in various team combinations. The feature round will pit teachers against students, in a battle for basketball supremacy.

Presented by Winchester High School Student Union in conjunction with Canyon Bros., Inc., it should prove to be the highlight of the year.

WHSR Winchester's community station

By BRIAN LEVINSON

"This is WHSR-FM in Winchester." Those are the words heard over and over again by regular listeners to Winchester High School's student-run radio station, 91.9 on the dial. Still going strong since it was first put "on-the-air" more than 20 years ago, WHSR continues in its capacity as a community service.

Presently, the broadcast schedule is 2:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. From 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day, WHSR broadcasts educational programming in order to fulfill its requirements to the F.C.C. as an educational radio station. Following the educational programming, music shows take over from 4 to 10 p.m. The music is quite varied as the student disc-jockeys are permitted to choose their own. The music ranges from hard rock, to punk rock, to top 20, comedy and jazz.

Although music fills a large part of WHSR's broadcast day, there are many special broadcasts as well. These include all home football games, all home boys' basketball games, Winchester town meetings, Winchester High School Student Union meetings, and Winchester High School Music Department concerts. WHSR also hopes to add one more special broadcast to its list, that being a live broadcast from the Enka fair.

In a few weeks, WHSR-FM will add Mondays to its broadcast schedule. Shortly

	Tuesdays	Wednesdays	Thursdays	Fridays
4 p.m.-6 p.m.	John Keyes	Charles Merritt	Jean Abdella	Mark Estabrook
6 p.m.-8 p.m.	Charlie Osgood	Steve Kenney	Chris Bosalaers	Trivia show Jon Haber Charlie Perenick
8 p.m.-10 p.m.	Chris Arnett	Brian Levinson	Jim Mueller	John Feeney

after that, the radio station will expand its hours to 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., and then expand them once again to 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Then, due to new FCC rules which require all radio stations to be on the air at least six days a week except for legal school holidays and vacations, WHSR-FM will add Saturday to its broadcast schedule, beginning Jan. 1, 1979.

Although WHSR is a student-run station, it is still a community station. WHSR is more than happy to broadcast community notes and announcements of upcoming events of clubs and organizations. Anyone with such an announcement is encouraged to send it to WHSR-FM at the Winchester High School.

Bloodmobile Monday at St. Eulalia Church

On Oct. 16, from 2 — 7:30 there will be a Red Cross Bloodmobile at St. Eulalia's Church Hall, 50 Ridge Street. Anyone between the ages of 17 (with written parental consent) and 65 years, in good health, and weighing 110 pounds or over is invited to donate blood on that day.

Although St. Eulalia's Parish will sponsor the bloodmobile and encourages its own parishioners to participate, non-parishioners will be most welcome. The need for blood is always great. Appointments should be made by calling the Winchester Red Cross office.

Professional news

Atty. Donald F. Smith

Atty. Lawrence N. Pasquale recently announced that Atty. Donald F. Smith, a resident of Arlington, has become associated with his office in Winchester in the general practice of law.

Mr. Smith is a 1958 graduate of Boston College Law School, and received his master's degree in tax law from New York University in 1959. He has been a member of the Massachusetts bar since 1958, and is a member of the Massachusetts Conveyances Association and a certified land court examiner.

Mr. Smith is married to the former Nina R. Whyte of Lorain, Ohio, and they are the parents of a daughter, Amy. Mr. Smith has been engaged in the general practice of law in Cambridge and Belmont, concentrating in the field of probate and real estate law.

Realtors offer license course

The Massachusetts Association of Realtors is offering a six-week real estate license exam preparatory course, Oct. 23-Nov. 29.

Classes for the 30-hour course are held Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 10 p.m., at the Holiday Inn, Waltham.

According to Course Dean John R. McGrath, Esq., of Boston, the course covers material for both the real estate salesman and broker's examinations. It includes intensive review of laws, rules, and regulations on real estate in Massachusetts, as well as mathematics, terminology, transaction and instrument preparation. For further information, contact the Association office in Boston at 261-3800.

Rev. Thomas McElhinney

Rev. Thomas McElhinney, a Winchester native, will become pastor of the Church of Jesus Our Saviour in Morehead, Ky., beginning Dec. 1.

Fr. McElhinney was ordained to the Glenmary Home Missioners in 1962. He spent nine years working in the mountains of West Virginia prior to his present assignment as representative in the East for Glenmary.

Liberty Belles' Annual Show Saturday

An evening of ringing chords will be heard when the Liberty Belle Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. from Arlington presents their annual show. Saturday is the date for "An Evening with the Liberty Belles and the Sun Tones" at Chevalier Auditorium on Forest street just off Medford Square. The starting time is 7:35 p.m. Sounds intriguing!

The featured guest entertainers are the Sun Tones quartet. The men have made numerous appearances on radio and television, such as Mike Douglas and Jackie Gleason programs. They are the 1961 SPEBSQSA International Quartet Champions.

Also on the program will be two quartets from within the chorus, The Sunshine Express, the 1977 Region No. 1 Novice and 5th place quartet champions, and the Belle Tones, a brand new group making their debut that evening.

The chorus consists of approximately 60 members from the Greater Boston area. They rehearse every Monday evening at 7:45 at the Pleasant Street Congregational Church in Arlington. Guests and prospective members are always welcome at rehearsals.

Nelson's Bakery, 3 Mt. Vernon st., is celebrating its 50th anniversary under the ownership of Donald and Mary Favorat of Lynnfield. Donald Favorat's father, Frank Favorat, originally opened the store in 1928. Working at the patisserie now are, from left, Nancy Papastathias of 6 Wellington rd., Marianne Struthers of 46 Wildwood st., Kate Kent of 2 Center green, and Margaret Favorat, of 8 Wellington rd. The Favorats also own a bakery in Malden.

Play It Safe ...Everywhere You Go!

Carelessness has no boundaries. No one can predict when or where the next tragic fire will happen. That's why it's important that we all do our jobs and practice fire prevention in every way. Make it your business to look for fire hazards...in the home, on your property and where you work! Fix any faulty wiring...immediately; empty trash regularly...avoid buildups; keep heating and cooking equipment in top repair; store old oily rags in metal containers. Make sure you and everyone in your family knows what to do in a fire emergency...before it happens. Play it smart...be fire safe!

Frances R. Cabot

Frances Randall Cabot, 56, of 1636 Great Plain ave., Needham, died Oct. 5.

Born in Winchester, Mrs. Cabot graduated from Wheaton College.

She was a real estate broker, a church musician, and was an active member of the American Guild of Organists.

Mrs. Cabot was the wife of Philip D. Cabot. She leaves two sons and one daughter: Jeffrey Cabot of Needham, Daniel Cabot of Utah, and Deborah Lucatorto of New York.

Memorial services were held yesterday at the Norris Funeral Home.

Donations in Mrs. Cabot's memory may be made to the Jimmy Fund.

Priscilla Dinsmoor

Mrs. Priscilla L.C. Dinsmoor, 84, wife of Daniel S. Dinsmoor of Los Angeles, died recently at her summer home on Dinsmoor Point, Gilford, N.H.

She was born in Purdy's Station, N.Y., the daughter of Edward S. and Charlotte (Hull) Larned and had lived in Winchester before moving to California.

She was a member of the Church of the Epiphany and a former active member of the Winchester SPCA.

Mrs. Dinsmoor was a member of the Class of 1916 of Mt. Holyoke College, and she was also a member of the Winchester College Club.

She is survived by her husband; a son, Peter L. Clarke of Arlington, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy C. Harvey of Intervale, N.H.; a step-son, James A. Dinsmoor of Bloomington, Ind.; two sisters, Miss Dorothy Larned of Winchester and Mrs. Constance Ashworth of Milwaukee, Wis.; eight grandchildren; and a niece.

Memorial services were held at the Church of the Epiphany, Tuesday, at 1 p.m. Rev. John J. Bishop conducted the services. Burial was in Edgell Grove Cemetery, Framingham.

Services were under the direction of Wilkinson-Beane of Laconia, N.H.

Albert J. Mayer

Albert J. Mayer, a lawyer and Winchester resident for 22 years, died Sept. 21 at the Veterans Administration Hospital in West Roxbury after a long illness. He was 59.

Born in Boston, Mr. Mayer was a resident of Medford before moving to Winchester. He graduated from Medford High School and Northeastern University Law School. He also studied tax law at Boston University.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus in Charlestown and the Disabled Veterans in Woburn.

Mr. Mayer was the husband of Eleanor (Deane) Mayer and the father of Anne Leedham of Cambridge; Cathy, Karl and Margaret Mayer of Winchester. He is also survived by a brother, William E. Mayer of Natick.

His funeral was held from the Costello Funeral Home Sept. 25, followed by a funeral mass at St. Eulalia's Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Caroline Stansbury
Caroline Lea (Plude) Stansbury, 87, of 20 Mystic ave., died Oct. 5 at the Woburn Nursing Home.

Born in Boston, she lived in Winchester for the past eight years after residing for several years in Florida.

She was the wife of the late Roland B. Stansbury and she leaves a niece, Mrs. James (Blanche) O'Neil of Winchester.

A funeral Mass was celebrated Saturday at St. Mary's Church. Burial was in Fox Hill Cemetery, Billerica.

Costello Funeral Home directed arrangements.

Former Police Chief Joe Derro moving to Florida

Former Chief of Police Joseph J. Derro can leave Winchester where he has lived for 67 years as long as "they still call me chief" when he returns to visit.

Derro, who retired in 1970 after 10 years as chief and 42 years on the force, is moving with his wife, Concetta, this week to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. where they own an apartment.

The "model couple," as Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh Jr. calls them, will be leaving the house they built at 23 Hinds road but they will not be leaving their friends. "We'll be back to visit out friends," Derro said.

The Derros not only have friends to visit, they have family to visit in the area. "We have five grandchildren in West Newbury that we'll be up to see," he said. The Derros, who have been married 52 years, have 11 grandchildren in all, eight boys and three girls.

Mrs. Derro said "The Derro name is pretty well established." In addition to

In 1928, Derro began his long career in the police department. He spent 20 years "on the streets" working nights as an officer and sergeant and in 1948, Derro was appointed lieutenant. Eleven years later, Derro was named chief, the first Italo-American to be named chief of the police or fire departments in Winchester or to hold a department head position, according to long-time friend Rep. Saltmarsh.

Saltmarsh, who was a selectman at the beginning of Derro's tenure, said Derro was "a very innovative chief." He said, "Up until the time Derro was appointed, law enforcement in general was not as innovative as it should have been. It was very beneficial to the town for the chief to apply some of his creative concepts," he said.

Saltmarsh cited Derro's decision to appoint a juvenile officer in town as one example of his innovation. "There was a lot of people at the time that didn't think Winchester needed a juvenile officer, but as soon as Derro appointed Jim Cogan as the officer, Derro's decision was proven correct." Cogan is still on the force, but on sick leave and Officer Richard Beatty is the juvenile officer now.

"The chief had the perception to see that a juvenile officer was needed," Saltmarsh said. Derro also modernized the police reporting procedures which was "bordering on the archaic," Saltmarsh said. He said Lt. Andrew Crawford and former police chief Edward Bowler developed the new procedure under Derro.

Other accomplishments the chief achieved was making his men do more target shooting and appointing the first inspector in the department. Also, a four car system with one man in each was instituted, replacing the two car-two in each car method. The four car system, which allows for more coverage, (one car in each town quarter) is still in effect today.

In the early days of Derro's police career, police officers had to pay their own way to school. Today, state and local governments pay for police officer's training. "A better educated officer is able to understand problems and how to best cope with them," Derro said.

Derro served in the department during the days when officers "were given a gun, a billy, and a beat," he said. "There was no innovation until I took over. I felt that new police officers should be well-educated and I encouraged officers to continue their education. Police officers should be educated in law, psychology and sociology," he said.

Saltmarsh also said that Derro was very "strict, but very fair." And as Derro said himself "If I said 'no' to someone, I would explain why I said 'no'." "Derro's iron fist had "a tremendous impact on the performance of the department," Saltmarsh said. He said the chief was "not afraid to do what was best for the town and it began to pay dividends."

"For these reasons, I like to think I have contributed something to the town," Derro said. But, for those reasons and others, Saltmarsh and present Chief John McHugh, said they feel he has "definitely" contributed something to the town.

McHugh, who worked under Derro for 21 years, said Derro "always had the interest of the community at heart when he made decisions. He was a good man, a hard man," Chief McHugh said.

"He had good foresight," McHugh explained. "When the drug problem hit the country in the early 60's, Chief Derro immediately seized the problem locally," he said.

Derro was appreciated for his service well before becoming chief. He was recognized as "the best shot" in the department in the early 30's under Chief William McIntosh, the first of three chiefs that Derro worked under. He also served for Chief William Rogers, and Chief Charles Harrold.

Derro becomes the second former chief to is the proposal to move the police station in the Winchester Savings Bank building. The savings bank has indicated that they would be willing to deed the building over to the town for a "nominal fee" but the issue will not appear on the fall town meeting warrant due to lack of time to develop plans.

"I don't support the move to the bank because it would segregate the department. Half the force would be in the front building and the other half would be in the back," he said. "They'd be better off in one of the schools that they're closing or at the Lake street department of public works building."

Derro also remembers the first police cars. "They were touring cars and they had no heat. You know how we kept warm?" he asked. "We used to put two lanterns in the back seat," he said.

Derro's final highlight of his police career came in 1969 when he was elected president of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police

'He (Derro) always put the town ahead of himself'

Rep. Saltmarsh

move to Florida. Harrold is now living in Clearwater, Fla.

Chief McIntosh respected Derro's shooting ability so much that he stationed Derro at the square during the time of the Millen-Faber bank robberies in the early 30's. "The chief wanted me to guard the banks in town from these robbers and murderers," Derro said. The pair of robbers were apprehended and sentenced to life imprisonment before they got the chance to visit Winchester.

Derro also spent several years at the traffic box before the overhead was built. The box was elevated and the officer could control the traffic lights and direct traffic.

Since Derro has left, a traffic box has been constructed at Mt. Vernon, Church and Main streets which he opposes. Derro maintains that an officer in the box is an officer separated from the public. "Officers should be walking the streets, not sitting in a box," he said.

Another decision the former chief opposes

Association. He served for a year and then retired. "It was a nice way to end my career," Derro said.

Derro said he will miss Winchester but "it makes me feel good to visit the offices in town and they (the people) still call me chief."

He said, "There's nothing as dead as an extra police chief" but it didn't seem that way back in 1970 when 500 well wishers came out to Montvale Plaza to honor him at his retirement party. "I told the organizers that they wouldn't get more than 200, but I guess I have more friends than I thought I had. I have too many ties here not to come back," he said.

Joe leaves with his wife, who worked for several years as the assistant treasurer of the Winchester Cooperative Bank, today.

Saltmarsh summarized his feelings on Derro. "He is a compassionate individual who always put the town ahead of himself."

'I like to think I've contributed something to the town'

Joseph J. Derro

Joseph Jr.'s five children, Madeline (Derro) Howard has two children in San Antonio, Texas and Dr. Robert A. Derro, of St. Paul, Minn. has four more children. Joseph Jr. is a teacher at Pentucket Regional High School in West Newbury and Dr. Derro is associate director in the Department of Family Practice at St. Paul-Ramsey Hospital and Medical Center.

Derro comes from a big family himself. He was the second oldest of nine children and when he came over from Italy in 1911 at seven years old, he had to help his father support the family. "It was necessary for me to help out the family. I used to make $7.50 a week on the railroad working with my father," Derro recalls.

At the age of 24, Derro passed the police officer's exam and became a member of the Winchester Police Department. Derro completed just six years of formal school study before he had to quit to help his father. "I took night courses to help me in my career," he said.

"There's no such words as 'I can't do it,'" Derro would say. "Young people today just have to say 'I can do it.'" He said, "I had to work for what I got, and I appreciate it more now."

Extending from the Bay of Biscay to the Sierra Morena on the central plateau of Meseta at a height of nearly 3,000 feet, lies Castile, Spain. The former kingdom of central and northern Spain, it is divided by the Sierra de Guadarrama and the Sierra de Gredos into Old Castile and New Castile. The name Castile probably resulted from the number of castles erected against the Moors. Originally a county of the kingdom of Leon, it became virtually independent in the 10th century. The kingdoms of Castile and Leon were united in 1230. The marriage of Ferdinand of Aragon and Isabella of Castile, in 1469, united the kingdoms of Aragon and Castile; thereafter the history of Castile is that of Spain.

St. Mary's is setting for Warford-Farnam nuptials

St. Mary's Church was the setting for the June 10 wedding of Cathryn Ann Warford and William P. Farnam Jr., both of Winchester. Rev. Jerome M. Curley officiated at the ceremony.

The former Miss Warford is the daughter of Ruann and Harold Warford of 148 Forest st. Mr. Farnam is the son of Mary and William Farnam of 8 Myrtle st.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. A reception was held afterwards at the Winchester Elks Lodge.

The bride wore a white gown with train, long sleeves trimmed with lace, and a lace cameo neckline. She had on a mantilla lace headpiece with a rosette to match bouquet. She carried sonia roses, daisies, and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Karen Warford, the bride's sister, of 148 Forest st. She wore a peach flower print, chiffon cape princess-style dress made by her mother. She also wore a peach colored, large brimmed hat with daisies and matching streamer.

Bridesmaids were Susan and Sally Warford of 148 Forest st. and Gail Blasi of 11 Clematis st. They wore gowns similar to the maid of honor's, all made by the mother of the bride. Susan's was baby blue, Sally's light yellow, and Gail's pale green. And they wore white hats with flowers and matching streamers.

John J. Dooley Jr. of Winchester was best man. John Nash, Robert Schoal, and Paul J. Haggerty Jr., all of Winchester, were ushers.

Ring bearer was Jimmy Williams of Tewksbury, the groom's nephew.

The couple took a wedding trip to Disney

World in Florida and plan to reside at 893 Main st.

The former Miss Warford attended Washington, McCall, and the high schools here and is employed as a receptionist at Mass. General Hospital.

Mr. Farnam works in the town highway department, is a call firefighter, and serves on the auxiliary police.

Paul J. DeLuca wed Sept. 17 to Pamela Gainsborg

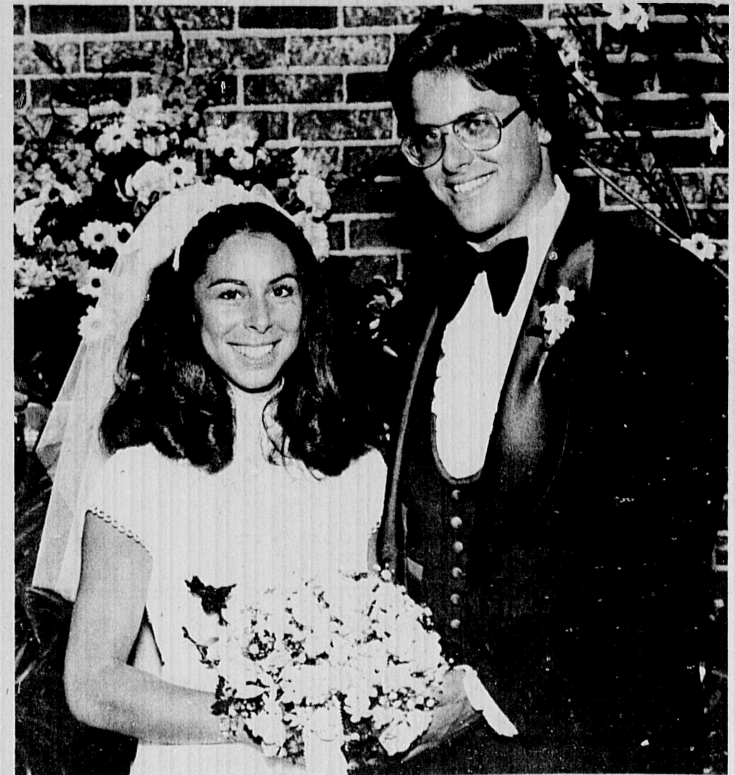

Paul James DeLuca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeLuca of 6 Bates rd., was married Sept. 17 to Pamela Beth Gainsborg of Stoughton at the Mill Falls Restaurant, Newton Upper Falls.

Miss Gainsborg is the daughter of Mrs. Herbert Silver of Wayland and Sumner Gaiborg of Stoughton.

The bride attended the University of Massachusetts at Boston and is employed as a medical secretary.

The bridegroom also attended UMass-Boston and is employed as a youth care worker at the Roslindale DYS detention center.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Rico, the couple resides in Watertown.

Tufts conference on aging problems

A major international conference on the problems of the aging will be held at Cohen Auditorium at Tufts University, Medford Oct. 27 and 28.

Chairman and organizer for the conference is Dr. Salvatore R. Traina of Medford, local obstetrician and gynecologist. The conference will feature distinguished researchers, doctors and scientists of international stature as speakers and discussion leaders.

All aspects of the problems of the aging will be reviewed, with opportunities for discussion and sharing of experiences between participants and leaders.

The two day conference is sponsored by the Order of St. Lazarus and Tufts University School of Medicine, Ongoing Education Division. The conference on the aged will highlight the problems of the aged themselves and the lack of communication within the field in general. The Order of St. Lazarus has for almost 900 years been concerned with the problems of the lepers and the abandoned aging and chronically diseased.

The conference is open to anyone interested in the aged. Advance registration is requested to expedite planning. There is no admission charge for the senior citizens and students; coffee and donuts are provided.

Arlington Catholic entrance exam set for October 25, 26

Registration for the December entrance exam for Arlington Catholic High School will be held Oct. 25 and 26, from 2:30-4 p.m.

There will also be an Open House and registration Oct. 24 from 7-8:30 p.m.

All students desirous of entering Catholic high schools in the area must take this entrance exam. They do not have to take the test at the school. If they wish to attend, they must take the test at the school where they registered. Results of the test will be sent to the high schools of the students' choice.

Consideration for admission will be given by results of the exam, seventh and eighth grade marks, and the recommendation of teachers.

Only those students who have registered will be eligible for the exam. The exam will be given Dec. 2 at 8:30 a.m.

Birth

Shea baby

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Shea Jr. of Lynn announce the birth of their fourth child and second son, Evan Martin, at the Lynn Hospital Oct. 2.

Mrs. Shea is the former Avis R. Rex. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Evans D. Rex of Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Shea of Glenwood Ave.

The new-born's grandmother is Mrs. Martin H. Hogan of Woburn.

Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth P. Trevett

Miss Kent, Mr. Trevett wed June 10 at Unitarian

Barbara Kent of Winchester and Kenneth P. Trevett of Winchester were married June 10 in services at the Unitarian Universalist Church, with the Rev. Jack Zoerheide officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Hudson E. Kent and the late Barbara Burt Kent of Rumford, Me. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Laurence Trevett of Winchester.

The former Miss Kent was given in marriage by her brother, Allen S. Kent of Lafayette, Calif.

Mrs. Arthur C. Waltman of Winchester served as matron of honor. Gordon I. Trevett of Somerville was best man.

Serving as ushers were Dr. Frederick H. Kent and Richard B. Kent, both of Rumford, Me., and Robert E. Kent of Los Angeles, all brothers of the bride.

The reception was held in the Frances Greely Curtis Room at 5 Commonwealth ave., Boston. Dr. and Mrs. William Waltman hosted a wedding luncheon at their home at 34 Rangeley rd. for the bride and her family prior to the ceremony.

The couple took a 12-day trip to San Francisco, highlighted by a stay at Pebble Beach and return via Los Angeles.

The bride earned her BA from American University in 1970 and an MA from Boston University in 1973. She is employed as the public information officer for the Mass. department of Youth Services.

She is a member of the Descendants of the Mayflower Society.

Mr. Trevett attended Winchester schools and graduated from Colgate University in 1969. He is attending his final year at Suffolk University Law School's evening division and is employed as an assistant to Secretary of State Paul Guzzi.

The couple plan to live in Winchester. Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. Mary Jo Smith, the groom's aunt, from New Jersey; and Mr. and Mrs. James Bayles, friends of the bride's family, from Virginia.

Harvest Fair this Saturday

A Harvest Fair will be held at the Second Congregational Church Saturday. Hours for the fair will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with a sit down dinner at 6:30.

The ladies of the Second Congregational Church have been working throughout the past year on many items. Among the many tables of goods for sale will be knit goods, plants, handcrafted gifts, Christmas decorations, and "white elephants." For the younger set there will be games and related activities.

Mrs. L. Cudmore and Mrs. A. Ferguson are chairwomen of the fair and are working with their committee of Mrs. L. Boodakian in charge of knits; Mrs. E. Patterson and Mrs. R. McKinney selling baked goods; Mrs. R. Richburg offering plants; Mrs. F. Smedley handling hand made gifts; Mrs. G. Hagstrom and Miss L. Nyquist tending Christmas decorations; and Mrs. O. Larson collecting items for the white elephant table.

A snack bar will be open all day offering coffee and donuts in the morning, luncheon and tea and pastry in the afternoon. A chicken dinner and all the fixings will be served at 6:30. Reservations are requested and may be made by calling the parsonage. All are welcome.

Tennis for Early Birds

If you like playing early in the morning, sign up to be a Tennis 128 Early Bird! Here's how Early Bird works: For Monday - Friday play, you pay one charge at the beginning of the season of $175. Play weekday mornings, 6-9 a.m. We'll reserve five courts for 70 players. Just show up weekdays, 6-9 a.m. and you'll have a match with someone of your ability level (one of our pros will hit with you at the beginning of the season to check your level of play). So, if you like a variety of playing partners, and like to get up early in the morning, join the rest of our Early Bird crew.
For $40 more, you can become a 7-day Early Bird.

Tennis for Insomniacs

Can't sleep at night? Try our insomniac special. Here's how it works: Pay $175, and you can play Sunday through Thursday from 10 p.m. to midnight. We'll reserve five courts for 60 players. Like the Early Bird Special, we'll have a pro test your level of play, then arrange matches for you when you show up.

Panel at WHS

Can we afford our expectations?

Can contemporary government provide essential human services in times of fiscal austerity?

This is the crucial question that a five-member panel will struggle with in the third session of the high school adult education program's lecture series, "Our American Government: Its Origins, Current Problems and Future Prospects."

The program, free and open to all, will take place Tuesday from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the social studies open area at Winchester High School.

Panel members will include Harrison Chadwick, former town moderator and state representative; Charles Friou, assistant to the director of the Community Services Administration; Allan Rodgers, executive director of the Massachusetts Law Reform Institute; Sam Rotondi, state senator; and Sherman Saltmarsh, state representative.

The first two sessions in the series have laid the foundation for a basic understanding of how the current federal system of government has evolved over the years. The question at hand is, given the nature of this governmental system and the complexity and severity of present economic problems, can contemporary government meet the multitude of human needs that society has come to expect?

Flea market

Saturday for

ImCon Queensmen

On Saturday and Sunday, the Immaculate Conception Queensmen will be holding a Flea Market. The flea market will take place in the Immaculate Conception parking lot from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday, and on Sunday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Items to be sold include games, baked goods, jewelry and much more. Anyone interested in donating items can drop them off at the Immaculate Conception School Hall today from 7 to 9 p.m., and tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m.

Anyone interested in buying a table, contact Sean Fallon at 729-0743.

In case of rain, the flea market will take place in the Immaculate Conception Parish Hall on Sheridan circle in Winchester.

Each member of the panel will speak to this question from his own perspective for approximately 10 minutes. After the opening statements, the evening's moderator, social studies teacher William P. O'Connor, will direct a discussion between and among the panelists and audience.

New program

for widowed

A support group, The Winchester Widowed-to-Widowed Program, is being offered twice a month on Friday afternoons, beginning tomorrow, from 2-3 p.m., at the Jenks Senior Center, 109 Skilling rd.

This is a community support group for widows and widowers of all ages.

Epiphany market opens Oct. 25

Epiphany Market the annual fair of the Women of Epiphany, will open at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 25, in Hadley Hall, Church of the Epiphany.

The opening event, a traditional roast beef dinner with all the trimmings, is "guaranteed to please the hearty appetites of fair-goers," according to Hilda Hope, president of the Women of Epiphany.

Chefs Marjorie Kauffman and Joe Biagiotti are in charge of the dinner, which will be served from 5 to 9 p.m. Reservations are being handled by Edith Knott, et.

While the dinner is in progress, colorful market stalls offering an assortment of tempting items will compete for the attention of fair-goers.

Specialties for gourmet appetites will include cheeses and spices, Claxton fruit cakes, and an opportunity to taste exotic recipes. A food stall will feature home-made baked goods prepared in the kitchens of Epiphany gourmets.

Other stalls will offer knitted goods, plants, handcrafted jewelry, Christmas decorations and wraps, dried flower arrangements, books, rocks and minerals, cutlery, white elephants, and other unusual gift and household wares.

Another opportunity to browse and enjoy Epiphany market will be offered Thursday, Oct. 26, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Coffee Committee Chairman Hilda Zerwekh promises home-made pastries and coffee to early shoppers. Browsers can also plan to lunch at the fair between noon and 1:30 p.m.

The menu, under the supervision of Debbie Broadhurst, will include turkey salad, cranberry salad mold, and home-made desserts. No reservations are necessary for the luncheon.

Coronary risk program at NE Memorial Hospital

Starting Oct. 24, the health education department of the New England Memorial Hospital will present the coronary risk program in the hospital auditorium. There will be four sessions each beginning at 7 p.m.

"We want to help people reduce their chances of suffering from coronary disease," explains Walter Day, assistant director of health education.

He describes the program. "Those who wish to attend the Coronary Risk Program must be present on the first evening because we will measure your height, weight and blood pressure. Then you will make an appointment for your lab test; you will have a choice of any morning during the following week for the lab test as a 14-hour fast is necessary. The results of the lab test will be returned to you when the program continues Nov. 21 with an in-depth discussion of the results and their relationship to coronary heart disease."

Pre-registration for the Coronary Risk Program is mandatory and the fee includes all of the tests and a two-night lecture series. If you are interested, call the health education department about the coronary risk program, at 665-1740, extension 426.

PLANNING BOARD NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING REGARDING PROPOSED ZONING BY-LAW AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given that the Winchester Planning Board will hold a Public Hearing on

Monday, October 23, 1978, at 8:15 P.M.

in the Board of Health Meeting Room, Basement, Town Hall, on the proposal to amend the Zoning By-Law as follows:

ARTICLE 15 To amend the Zoning Bylaw by deleting therefrom Section 3.21 and substituting therefor the following:

Any unimproved parcel of land shown or described as a separate lot in a recorded deed or plan, which, if built upon or used for single-family or two-family use would fail to meet any frontage, lot area, lot width or front, side or rear yard requirement by reason of the subsequent adoption of any amendment to this Bylaw, may be built upon for single-family or two-family use, provided:

a) Such parcel of land is now and was at the time of the adoption of such amendment held in single ownership and not in common ownership with any adjoining land; and,

b) Such parcel then conformed to the applicable zoning requirements for street frontage, lot area, lot width and, if now built upon for such single-family or two-family use, will comply with the then applicable zoning requirements for front, side and rear yards; and,

c) Such parcel contains at least five thousand (5000) square feet and fifty (50) feet of frontage on a street, road or way.

Any such unimproved parcel of land which was shown or described as a separate lot in a recorded deed or plan before the adoption of the first zoning bylaw in Winchester on March 10, 1924, which was held in separate ownership as described in sub-paragraph (a) above, and which contained the lot area and street frontage as described in sub-paragraph (c) above, may now be built upon for single-family or two-family use provided it will, when built, comply with the minimum front, side and rear yard requirements of the least restrictive residential district.

ARTICLE 16 To amend the Zoning By-Law by deleting from Section 4.4, Table of Use Regulation, subparagraph 3, the words "built prior to March 10, 1924."

ARTICLE 17 To amend the Zoning By-Law by deleting the text of Section 5.1 in its entirety and substituting therefor the following:

No separate accessory building shall be erected within fifteen (15) feet of any other building. No accessory building shall be erected in any required yard provided, however, one or more accessory buildings may be placed within a required yard within the RDA-20, RDB-10, RDC-15 and RG 6.5 districts if such accessory buildings: (a) are located in the rear yard; and (b) do not, taken together, cover more than thirty (30) percent of such rear yard; and (c) are not over one and one-half (1½) stories in height; and (d) are not located nearer than five (5) feet to any property line.

ARTICLE 18 To amend Section 5.3 of the Zoning By-Law by adding the following sentence therefor:

In the case of a lot fronting on more than one street, a structure may have access to a street other than the frontage street, if access is not practical to the frontage street.

ARTICLE 20 To amend the Zoning By-law by adding thereto a new Section 3.46, as follows:

3.46 A mobile home may be placed upon the same lot as a residence which has been substantially rendered uninhabitable by fire or other casualty and may thereafter be used and maintained as a single family dwelling, subject to the following limitations:

a. The mobile home is occupied by the owner or immediately prior occupant of the damaged dwelling house; and,

b. Repair or restoration of the damaged dwelling shall commence within six (6) months of such fire or other casualty; and

c. The mobile home shall be removed from such lot upon the sooner of:

1) Thirty (30) days following the issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy by the building inspector with respect to the repaired dwelling; or

2) One (1) year following the date on which the mobile home was placed upon such lot.

Information pertaining to said Zoning Amendments may be obtained at the Planning Board office, Basement, Town Hall.

Introducing the kid's room that just might go to Harvard.

At Workbench, our child psychology is simple: as the child changes so should the furniture. Which is why we imported this handsome white lacquer group from Finland. When your baby is ready, the crib converts to a desk. And both cabinets have tops that can be recessed to function as a changing table, put flush or removed to let you stack pieces. What's more, each piece is over-sized. A full 22 inches deep. So even if you don't have little ones, these big units are perfect in living rooms, dining areas, anywhere you want extra storage. Our exclusive new kid's stuff goes from sweet dreams at 6 months to serious study at 17. But, of course, it won't get into Harvard unless your child does.

1978

The baby's room:
32h x 44w x 22'd crib, $125;
mattress, $30; Two 27½h x 31½w x 22'd 3-drawer cabinets, $175 each; 27½h x 31½w x 22'd open cabinet, $160; plinth base raises cabinets to crib height, $12.

1996

The student's room:
Crib converted to desk;
cabinets at desk level;
desk chair, $80.

Table of Contents:

5• Cover Story/Under The Big Top

The Ringling Bros Barnum and Bailey Circus is making its way into Boston this week, bringing with it all the three-ring extravagance of the big top. by Maggie Hall

6• Air Time/Meet The Soap Stars

At Massachusetts' first Soap Opera Festival, you can meet the kings and queens of afternoon television. by Gareth Caldwell

7• Theatre/Annie

The musical Broadway baby, Annie, has come to town, full of verve and excitement. What more could you ask for? by Vivian Noble

8• Movies/Days of Heaven

A romantic triangle, beautifully photographed, is the focus in Days of Heaven. And sometimes, pictures speak louder than words. by Maggie Hall

Section Two/Dining

In this special section, we'll tell you everything you need to know about dining out, from wines to exotic terms, and give you a whole roster of restaurants to get acquainted with.

10• The Week

9• Movies/Short Subjects

12• Listings

18• The Puzzle

On the cover: Gunther Gebel-Williams and friends.

Clown It Up

When all was said and drawn, we received over 700 entries in our clown contest — all of them marvelously inventive, all of them clearly winners. Alas and alack, we could choose only nine, each of whom receive five free tickets to the Ringling Bros Barnum and Bailey Circus. They are (draw roll please): Brian Allison of North Weymouth, Marcia Cardinale of Dedham, Ezra Chasin of Newton, Heather Hoffman of Winchester, Melinda Lester of Arlington, Elizabeth Nee of Peabody, Colleen "Twinkles" O'Keefe of Chelmsford, Allan Pagnotti of Belmont and Jennifer Statton of Cochrane. Congratulations to you all!

We'd also like to add that these nine winners' entries, as well as about 100 selected clowns, are on display at the Prudential Skywalk, in eight glass cases overlooking Boston. They'll remain there, for all to see, until October 26.

At Tech Hifi, it's returnable.

JBL-L110 loudspeakers.

If you're thinking about buying a high-performance pair of loudspeakers like JBL, there's an advantage to buying them at Tech Hifi.

We'll give you a 7-Day Moneyback Guarantee in writing. Which gives you an entire week to play the JBL speakers in your home, and decide if they sound as great as you hoped they would. In the unlikely event they don't, return them to Tech Hifi within seven days and we'll give your money back. Without giving you the third degree.

Also, at Tech Hifi you'll get a

1-Year Loudspeaker Trial. If you buy loudspeakers from us this week, you can trade them back to any of the 62 Tech Hifi stores a year from now. You'll get full credit on your original price towards the purchase of any new pair of loudspeakers costing twice as much. All we ask is that the speakers be undamaged.

At Tech Hifi, JBL loudspeakers are returnable, and tradeable.

And, thanks to the enormous buying power of the 62 Tech Hifi stores, they're also affordable!

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus opens its Boston run on October 18 at the Boston Garden.

It is no accident that the circus is called a three-ring extravaganza, The Greatest Show On Earth. Sometimes, there is so much going on that you can't take it all in. You are dazzled by spangles and stunts. Circus people think of the circus as a celebration of life, an affirmation of the human spirit. Circus people may be inclined to hyperbole, but the fact remains that the circus is Something Special. Who can resist a clown or a chimp or a baby elephant? Is there anyone blasé enough not to gasp at the dare-devils who work the high wires? Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, "I wish I could run away and join the circus?"

Dyed-in-the-wool circus fans don't need any coaching, but if you haven't been for years, or if (is it possible?) you've never been, take a close-up look at life under the big top. These aspects of the circus prove the old adage that the sum of the parts can be greater than the whole. Some are anecdotes, some are facts; they all add up to The Greatest Show on Earth.

Gunther

There are two units of the circus, one Red and one Blue. The two units play the same cities in alternate years, and both are full-scaled circuses, with a complete panoply of animals and acrobats. Boston is host to the Red unit this year, and what that really boils down to is Gunther Gebel-Williams, the matinee idol cum Tarzan who trains the circus' wild beasts.

Gebel-Williams is the animal ace. With his golden, leonine hair and his sleek costumes, he seems to speak to the tigers and pumas with an inner voice. He is the Lord of the Rings, but he isn't impervious to slashes from an unruly claw. Gebel-Williams is covered with scars, and he blames each wound on his own inattention, never on the beasts he works with.

He deserves his star billing. In his animal act, he combines elephants, tigers, pumas, lions and horses. When you consider the fact that these animals are mortal enemies in the wild, and that the tigers loathe teamwork under any circumstances, you have to admire Gebel-Williams' nerve and dedication. One false move and it's shredded Gunther. The cats are never fed before show-time: a full meal makes them sluggish and disgruntled. Nor are they tranquilized, de-fanged, or de-clawed.

Bring On The Clowns

The clowns, oh! the clowns. All the glitter and sequins in the world wouldn't make a circus a circus if there were no clowns. Clowns are old and young, big and little. They have a long and happy history. They are the court jesters, the harlequins, and pagliacci. And no, they aren't crying on the inside. They are clowning for the fun of it.

P T Barnum called the clowns "the pegs to hang the circus on." They do more than provide laughs. In the case of an accident, the band plays "The Stars and Stripes Forever," which signals the clowns into the ring to distract the audience. Happily, circus-goers have not heard the Ringling bands play "Stars and Stripes" for about two years.

There are three basic clown types. White-face may be the oldest type, with thick white make-up. "Neat" white-face has stylized features painted on; the "grotesques" wear splashes of color. The augustes — their name is synonymous with bravo — specialize in baggy costumes, baggy faces and slapstick. Carpet clowns are a variation of the augustes, and the most common variety is the very American tramp. Emmett Kelly, perhaps the most famous clown who ever lived, was a carpet clown.

Not all clowns fit neatly into one of the types, however, because clown make-up is highly personalized, designed to exaggerate each clown's face. You won't see two clowns who look exactly alike.

Up In The Air

Aerialists and acrobats are two different kettles of fish. Aerialists work the high wires, the rings and the trapezes. The acrobats stay closer to earth, but their feats are no less breath-taking. They tumble on mats and trampolines, and fling themselves from teeterboards onto each other's shoulders.

Carl Wong, one of the stars of the Red unit, has a unique sway-pole act. He does his thing on top of a steel tower 65 feet above the tanbark. The Carillo Brothers also travel with the Red unit. They aren't really brothers, they're Pedro Carillo and Daniel Acosta in private life, and in the circus, they work the wires. They balance each other, walk above the arena, and play leap-frog, all without a safety net.

In The Footlights

There are also smaller acts in the circus, which may not be heart-stoppers, but are always heart-warmers.

Miss Anna, who doubles as an aerialist, also has her feet planted firmly on the ground when she presents a ring full of poodles. With her bouffant hair and feathery frou-frou around the ankles of her costume, Miss Anna rather resembles a poodle herself. Dog acts are always popular, so Miss Anna's furry friends are not the only canines in the show: there are also terriers and borzois. Most of the performing dogs are also family pets of the people who travel with the circus.

Growing Up In The Circus

Life in the circus is a family affair. Some children are born to the big top, and while away the backstage hours practicing cartwheels. At 18 months, a circus infant may be balancing on a father's hand. Young Tato Farfan, seven, flies through the air with the greatest of ease as part of the family aerialist act.

In the circus, "formal" education is carried on by correspondence, and a tutor travels with the show. Hands-on training is provided by everybody: parents bring their children up in their craft.

Dolly Jacobs grew up in the circus. Her father, Lou, is a tradition among clowns. Dolly's mother was an aerialist, and now Dolly herself, at 20, was an act on the roman rings.

Tina and Buffy Gebel-Williams, whose father is Gunther, have circus jobs, too. Tina presents a ringful of horses and works in production numbers, and Buffy helps to look after the animals backstage.

Behind The Scenes

Of the 300 or so people who travel with each unit of the circus, about 60 never take a bow, but they deserve all the credit they can get. The people who rig the wires, sew on the glitter and unload the animals are all part of the circus family.

When the big top was canvas, the men who put it up (with the help of the elephants) were called roustabouts. Now they prefer to be called workingmen. They are all members of the Teamsters Union, the elephants take it easy, and a strong, handsome word is on its way out of the language.

When the circus strikes the sets and packs up its 14 million pounds of equipment, it resembles an army on the move. The logistics of moving everyone and everything require teamwork, practice and a lot of planning. During the first World War, the US Army dispatched some of its high staff to travel with the circus, to see what they could learn about troop movements from the pros who move the circus.

On The Road

Last week, the circus was in Detroit. When the Boston engagement is over, it's on to Cleveland. The circus is on the road for 48 weeks out of the year's 52, traveling mostly in railroad cars. First-year clowns and showgirls live in dormitory-like Pullmans; more senior performers have roomettes and stars have their own suites and family-living quarters.

When the circus train pulls onto the spur near Boston's Museum of Science, probably some time in the wee hours of October 17, an advance team will hot-foot-it over to the Garden to begin setting up the cages and quarters for the animals. Most of the stock will be loaded into closed trucks for a private ride across town, but the elephants will walk the distance, by way of Quincy Market, where everyone takes time out for a pachyderm smorgasbord.

Joining The Circus

Not too many kids run away to join the circus, a la Toby Tyler. These days, it is mostly grown-ups. If you are seriously interested in becoming a clown, you can audition for the Clown College, a tuition-free (you pay your own expenses), eight-week program in Venice, Florida. There are 50 openings for the term that starts next September, and the audition in the MetroBoston area starts at 2 pm sharp on Wednesday, October 25, at the Boston Garden. Come in costume if you like, with or without make-up. For more information on Clown College, write to Clown College, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, Box 1528, Venice Florida 33595.

Just The Facts, Ma'am

The circus has a rather complicated schedule for its run at the Boston Garden. Here is the run-down. Wednesday, October 18: 7:30 pm. Thursday, October 19: 4 and 8 pm. Friday, October 20: 10 am and 8 pm. Saturday, October 21: 11 am, 3 and 8 pm. Sunday, October 22: 1:30 and 5:30 pm. There are no performances on Monday, October 23. Tuesday, October 24: 8 pm. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 25, 26 and 27: 4 and 8 pm. Saturday, October 28: 11 am, 3 and 8 pm. Sunday, October 29: 11 am, 3 and 7:30 pm. Monday, October 30: 4 and 8 pm.

Tickets are $4, $5, $6.50 and $7.50. You can charge them to your Visa or MasterCard account by calling 742-0200. Tickets are also on sale at all Ticketron outlets and at the box office at the Boston Garden, on Causeway Street at North Station. Box office hours are 11 am to 7 pm Monday through Saturday, and 1 to 7 pm on Sunday.

Airtime | Meet The Soap Stars

At Massachusetts' first Soap Opera Festival, fans can meet their television favorites face-to-face.

By Gareth Caldwell

Joanne Vincent, a widow for the third time, has in the last 27 years nursed her daughter through blindness, suffered her in-laws, been kidnapped and crippled.

Steven Aldrich has been a physician for ten years.

Dr. Susan Stewart suffered an accident and had to be hospitalized in connection with the birth of her daughter, Emmy.

Carol Stallings is considering reconciliation with her husband, so that she can keep the baby daughter born to his old flame while married to her.

What do all these people have in common?

Viewers of daytime dramas can answer that with one hand tied behind the back, but let us take a closer look.

Joanne Vincent (Search for Tomorrow) is Mary Stuart, a descendant of Confederate

General J E B Stuart. She enjoys playing the guitar and recording her music.

Steven Aldrich (The Doctors) is David O'Brien. He divides his time between Boston, Manhattan and Fire Island. His New York apartment is covered — floors, walls and ceilings — with burnt orange carpeting.

Susan Stewart (As the World Turns) is Marie Masters, the mother of twin daughters, Jennie and Jessie. She lives on the West Side of Manhattan, and summers in Westport, Connecticut.

Carol Stallings (As the World Turns) is Rita Walter, who with her Baptist preacher husband Norman, has written a book on Christian marriage. Rita used to be on Mr Wizard, and was last year's Azalea Queen in North Carolina.

What do all these people have in common?

Massachusetts' first Soap Opera Festival. The Festival takes place on Saturday, October 21 at 12:30 and 3 pm at Weymouth North High School, 1051 Commercial Street in Weymouth.

"Festival" may be a bit of a misnomer (it's really more of a question-and-answer session), but you can bring your camera and snap away to your heart's content, and it is a chance for all fans of the soap operas to meet the stars face-to-face, and get the low-down on what is happening on their favorite shows. And questions aren't limited to the shows the stars represent. David O'Brien, for instance, used to appear on Secret Storm, and catches up on The Young and the Restless whenever he has a chance, so he may be able to fill you in on an episode you missed.

The festival is a benefit for the Protestant Social Service Bureau's family counseling and adoption services, and is presented and hosted by Joyce Becker, whose very biography is the stuff of television.

At 13, Becker was the president of the Eddie Fisher Fan Club, and at 16 was a private secretary to Connie Francis. By the time she was 18, Becker counted Paul Anka and Frankie Avalon among the clients of her public relations firm.

Reserved seats for either show of the Festival are $10, and general admission is $7.50. A $25 donation will get you a "Mingle with the Stars" brunch and reserved seats at the 12:30 show. Tickets can be obtained by telephone (and charged to your MasterCard or Visa account), by calling 773-6607. For mail order tickets, write to the Protestant Social Service Bureau, 776 Hancock Street, Quincy 02170.

Theatre Annie

Annie swishes by as quickly as you'd read the funnies in any newspaper.

Annie

By Vivian Noble

"Programs, records, T-shirts, with all the words, ma'am!" is the hawker's cry in the lobby of the Shubert Theatre these days, as the national touring company of Annie, the fantastically successful Broadway musical, makes its Boston debut. The little kid with no eyes is big business, a genuine smash. And yes, the show is spectacular and beautifully done, with a memorable score and some witty dialogue. It's also cute, funny, light and frothy — a living comic strip. The only thing it lacks is heart.

For those of you who've been following the ageless orphan for years, this version of Annie traces the moptop from her days at the New York City Municipal Orphanage, where she is miserable, to the start of her new life as the foster daughter of the fabulously rich Oliver Warbucks, who she loves. The adventures along this rags to riches route include Annie's excursion into a New York Hooverville, her grand and unsuccessful search for her real parents (with the aid of Warbucks), a meeting with FDR and his Cabinet and the foiling of a plot against her life. Whew! It all may sound overly dramatic, but it's hardly that. Annie is, in a manner of speaking, a cheery child of Thirties entertainment. Even though Annie's orphan friends sing of their "hard-knock life" and many characters are in tatters, the spirit is more New Deal than stock market crash. Annie's theme song is appropriately titled "Tomorrow," and a rousing number it is too, in volume if not emotion.

There is an exceedingly smooth professionalism at work here, of course. The sets are great, opulent creations, changing quietly and perfectly, almost slinking across the stage. One minute there is the fantastic reception hall at the Warbucks mansion, the next the bright lights of New York City (with moving sidewalks, yet); then, almost immediately, the rooms of the orphanage come into view.

The performances are like that — technically varnished, almost flawless, and with about as much emotional depth. The orphans (Kristin Williams, Shelle Monahan, Alyson Mord, Dara Brown, April Lerman and Dana Tapper, all very young girls) make an engaging chorus of tough little muffins, presided over by a very witchy, very funny spinster, Miss Hannigan (Ruth Kobart). Oliver Warbucks is portrayed by Norwood Smith, a stolid type who flashes a fatherly, billion dollar grin whenever Annie's near; Jan Pessaro plays his secretary, Grace Farrell. Annie herself comes in the form of Kathy-Jo Kelly, who has been promoted from orphan in the Broadway show to touring company star. She is a boisterous presence, shouting out her songs as well as "Oh boy!" throughout. All of the performers are entertaining and clever and graceful; they just won't touch you too much. Annie, a long show, swishes by as quickly as you'd read the funnies in any newspaper. It will be at the Shubert through November 4.

October 1978. Work on a project you'll remember in October 1982.

This is what it's like to be an Arthur D. Little secretary. Working with creative people solving problems that often have worldwide impact.

This October, our consultants may be analyzing a possible wheat shortage in a foreign country. Reorganizing a city's public transportation system. Advising a pharmaceutical company on a packaging problem.

Governments and industries all over the world call us. We say hardly anything is none of our business. We make what we're doing our secretaries' business, by solid orientation and the chance to move from project to project.

This is an excellent place to shape your career. Informal atmosphere. Fast pace. Would you fit? Are you more than a skilled secretary? Can you type 65-75 wpm? Have you had secretarial experience? Flexible, personable, used to pressure, responsible — with intellectual curiosity and a desire to be involved?

We should talk. Our excellent benefits include three weeks' vacation, profit sharing, and much more.

Call 864-5770 and speak with Helen Taverna, ext. 2204, or Kathy Semple, ext. 2205.

Movies | Days Of Heaven

Days of Heaven isn't an actor's movie. It's more like a big coffee-table book of photography.

Days of Heaven

Written and directed by Terence Malick, with Richard Gere, Brooke Adams, Sam Shepard, and Linda Manz. At the Charles in Boston.

By Maggie Hall

Days of Heaven is a movie in which, by design or accident, content runs a poor second to form. How the movie looks is more important than its somewhat pedestrian plot. In brief, the story of Days of Heaven is one of the eternal triangle. Richard Gere as Bill, and Sam Shepard as the Linda Manz plays the little sister in Days of Heaven.

Farmer, vie for the love of Abby, played by Brooke Adams. Bill and Abby, and Bill's little sister, are itinerant laborers who follow the threshers as the wheat harvest moves north.

The little sister, who also does the voice-over narration, is played by Linda Manz. She has a strange Gothic face and a coarse, dulled voice. Her narrative speeches are full of the surprising insights of childhood, her words are a little too sophisticated for her years. Sam Shepard, the playwright, has here his first on-camera role; he is perfect for the part, with a raw look, as though he had seen too many windstorms. As the Farmer, he is supposed to be suffering from some abiding and soon-to-be-fatal disease, but he looks perfectly healthy and when he dies, as he inevitably does, it is not from any sickness.

These shortcomings of dialogue and plot can easily be ignored. Days of Heaven isn't an actor's movie. It's more like a big coffee-table book of photography.

And what photography. Director Terence Malick has seen the incomparable beauty of the western prairies and knows how to deal with it. The amber waves of grain have never been so lovely. Sometimes the fields look as though they were constructed of green-gold silk, sometimes they are gold shot with platinum. Nestor Almendros directed the photography, with additional shots by Haskell Wexler, and they deserve applause. Some scenes are framed like pieces of art, others slide in and out of your eyes, and you are barely aware that you saw them, until they come into your dreams.

It is a movie of the great outdoors. There are brooding buffalo, pheasants, a train crossing a trestle, the sun and the moon, images that pile up and linger. The trains don't stop; the farm-workers jump on and off and the road keeps running. What plot there is, what dialogue there is, are like the captions to pictures on a page: Workers in a Field at Dusk, the Gauze Gazebo, Grasshoppers in Wheat. The interior shots are not nearly as interesting. They are crowded and murky, and there is no room to breathe. You can't wait to get outside, into the days of heaven.

This is a curious, stunning movie, delightful to look at, impossible to hold.

Movies Short Subjects

The Big Fix

Richard Dreyfuss stars as Moses Wine, an ex-Sixties radical with a bundle of mid-Seventies problems. Wine is a private detective in California, investigating political dirty tricks and residual terrorism. Dreyfuss himself co-produced the movie with Carl Borack. Jeremy Paul Kagan directed. Paris; Braintree, Framingham, Hanover Mall.

The Boys from Brazil

Hollywood, and Publisher's Row, have long had a weird fascination with Adolf Hitler and his henchmen. The Boys From Brazil is the latest entry in the "Alive and Well and Living in South America" sweeps. Based on a novel by Ira Levin (who was also responsible for Rosemary's Baby), The Boys — a cavalier title if ever there was one — tells the story of Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor known as the Angel of Death for his work in Hitler's concentration camps. In the name of all that is holy, do not take children to see The Boys From Brazil. It is technically well-done, expensively produced and slick. But it is still a dirty movie full of violence, explicit and (more terrifying) implied. The final scenes, when Mengele, played by Gregory Peck, and Nazi-hunter Ezra Lieberman (Laurence Olivier) confront each other in a Pennsylvania farmhouse (in the presence of an irritating child, played by Jeremy Black, who is the real clue to the whole scheme) are revolting. Pi Alley; Brockton, Circle, Dedham, Natick, Peabody, Woburn.

Bread and Chocolate

Nino Manfredi plays Nino Garafoli, introduced as a sort of vulgar klutz, a misfit in his purple shirt and perfectly awful tie. Nino is an Italian worker who, like so many of his compatriots, has left behind the land of sun and song to find his fortune in Switzerland. The dream of all these workers is to make enough money to import their wives and children, or to return home as heroes. Some live for their dream, some live on it, some lose track of reality altogether. The theme of nostalgia, the real ache for the homeland, is diluted with slapstick and satire. Manfredi has a few moments of quiet desperation: he can't seem to decide whether to be Mastroianni or Chaplin. He doesn't break our hearts, but he's a likeable guy in a likeable movie. Bread and Chocolate is sweet and filling and not, ultimately, very nourishing. With Anna Karina, John Dorelli, and Paolo Trucchi. Beacon Hill.

Death on the Nile

Based on the archetypal Agatha Christie novel of the same name, the movie version is camped up by producer John Bradbourne and director Richard Goodwin, and played for laughs by Peter Ustinov as Hercule Poirot, the brainy Belgian detective. Bette Davis and Maggie Smith spit one-liners at each other with a kind of "damn your eyes, darling" panache, which is good; Lois Chiles and Simon MacCorkindale strike poses and bare their teeth, which is not so good. It is a decorative movie, not up to the level of the book, but diverting on its own merits, although marred by too much reiterative gore. Cheri; Brockton,

Chestnut Hill, Danvers, Dedham, Framingham, Lawrence, Woburn.

Girl Friends

An unusual movie with documentary feel. Ostensibly, it is the story of a mutating friendship between a struggling photographer, Susan, and a married, would-be writer, Anne. The true focus, though, is on the wonderfully real Susan (Melanie Mayron), unfolding and snatching images from the people around her. Claudia Weill directed and co-wrote the elusive and frequently sensitive story; Anita Skinner, Christopher Guest and Eli Wallach hover in the background. Pi Alley.

Goin' South

Despite the name, a western, with Jack Nicholson as a ne'er-do-well outlaw. Also starring Mary Steenburgen, Christopher Lloyd, and John Belushi. Charles; Allston, Dedham, Framingham, Hanover Mall, Liberty Tree Mall.

Interiors

Proof, if anyone needed it, of Woody Allen's genius. The film is poised and distant, a cool, introverted look at a family that is trying hard to be a family, but they are too analytical to be happy with each other. Beautiful photography and first-class acting tear at the heart. An unbelievable movie, with Diane Keaton, Geraldine Page, Mary Beth Hurt, and Maureen Stapleton. Exeter; Brockton, Danvers, Dedham, Lawrence, Natick, Woburn.

The Opium War

A rare movie, the first picture to come out of the People's Republic of China since the overthrow of the "Gang of Four", who had suppressed it since its production in 1964. Notwithstanding its importance as a sign of rapprochement between this country and an emerging China, it is basically a 15-year-old B movie that wouldn't be out of place on late-night television. You can root for Lord Lin Tse-Hau and his faithful band who are trying to end the opium trade carried on by British merchants. If you are the sort that likes baddies, you can cheer for the British. Considered as entertainment, the wonderful thing about The Opium War is that the Chinese suddenly seem familiar. You can imagine movie-goers in Peking sitting back and being entertained, just like you. Galeria.

Rocky Horror Picture Show

The camp phenomenon of midnight, with the action divided about equally between the screen and the audience, whose participation is encouraged to such an extent that discounts are given to movie-goers in costume. Exeter.

Up in Smoke

A comedy, written by and starring Cheech (Marin) and (Tommy) Chong, two young humorists who hitherto have appeared in clubs and on records. Edie Adams, Stacy Keach, and Strother Martin co-star. Charles, Savoy; Sack Brockton, Circle, Lawrence.

A Wedding

A collection of character pieces, hung on the framework of a family wedding, and the subsequent reception, both of which go merrily astray despite the best efforts of Geraldine Chaplin, who plays a bridal consultant. Director Robert Altman is very good at this genre (see Nashville), he has a fine eye for detail and a roving camera for his cast. Amy Stryker is the bride, Desi Arnaz, Jr. is her silly groom. With Carol Burnett, Dina Merrill, Lillian Gish, and Vittorio Gassman, among others. Cheri; Brockton.

EDUCATION

SECRETARIES...

An Exciting Job And More...

- Generous benefits package including tuition assistance to attend many local schools and colleges, medical and life insurance.
- Participation in cultural activities: dance and drama groups, choral society, symphony orchestra.
- Access to recreational facilities and instruction: swimming, tennis, sailing, track, crafts.
- Easy access by public transportation.

MIT combines these unusually fine benefits with a variety of interesting job duties to create employment opportunities for the secretary with 1 to 5 years' experience. Openings are in our academic departments and laboratories as well as in administrative offices. Some positions are part-time. Most positions require the ability to transcribe machine dictation. Shorthand is helpful but not necessary.

Unwanted Hair?

Let's face it. Every woman has some unwanted hair. You don't have to be afraid to admit it, or to do something about it. Finally there is Depilation.

Of course, you've heard of other methods of removing unwanted hair, but often they involve pain and irritation.

Depilation is the alternative for safe and painless removal. It utilizes the same radio frequency used in standard electrolysis. Treatments given by licensed electrologists.

Make-up can be applied immediately and all parts of the body can be treated. Depilation...for both men and women.

So why face this problem day after day? Finally there's Depilation.

To celebrate our upcoming 3rd anniversary, Depilation is offering its usual free consultation with a free introductory treatment. Let us introduce you to the painless world of Depilation soon.

We're conveniently located at Coolidge Corner with ample parking and easy access to the Green Line.

BEWITCH A KITCHEN!

the good luck kitchen witch

You'll lead a charmed life once the Good Luck Kitchen Witch puts your household under her spell! Traditionally hung in Norwegian kitchens to ward off mishaps and conjure up good fortune, the 9" high sorceress is handmade by "Glasswerks". She even comes with her own delightful incantation:

*I'm a Norwegian Kitchen Witch riding my broom. Love and affection I'll bring to this room. Pots boiling over are a thing of the past.
With my kind of magic good fortune will last. I'll keep burnt foods and bad coffee away, for I'm the Good Luck Kitchen Witch and I'm here to stay.*

Cheerfully dressed in a bright peasant costume with matching babushka, she's an enchanting addition to any kitchen.

Even the worst culinary catastrophes a little less painful. She makes a great gift too, adding a dash of humor and color. And what cook can't use a bit of luck now and then?

#49 "What Hath God Wrought?"

By Don Rubin

On May 24, 1844, Samuel Finley Breese Morse transmitted those historic words, in code, across forty miles of wire stretching from the US Supreme Court in Washington, D.C., to Baltimore, Maryland. On the other end waited his partner, Alfred Vail, according to some historians the actual inventor of the code that bears Morse's name.

Had Vail's reply been more imaginative — he simply repeated "What hath God wrought?" — this week's puzzle would be testing your skills at International Vail Code.

In any event, we'd like you to transcribe the following message. A key has been provided, but we've eliminated the traditional spaces between letters and words to make it interesting.

Look what's happening around The Corner.

Downtown Boston is coming alive again.

Right across the street from Filene's and Jordan Marsh. At The Corner.

It's always been the busiest intersection in town. But now it's even busier.

Because all around The Corner is the most exciting collection of stores and restaurants you'll find anywhere.

Around the outside is the biggest selection of junior fashions in Boston.

Inside, it's something else.

Imagine a shopping mall that's three stories tall.

Imagine an area that opens up to restaurants serving everything from Japanese and Mexican food to seafood and hot dogs. That's The Food Experience.

Imagine a floor devoted to independent merchants and craftsmen, selling things you'll never find anywhere else. That's Potpourri.

You don't have to hunt around all over town to see what's what in contemporary fashion any more.

You don't have to decide where to meet everyone for lunch.

And you don't have to wonder where to go when you're looking for something to do.

See what's happening around The Corner.

Peter Wittman Jewelry:
Simple, yet elegant jewelry handwrought exclusively in sterling silver and 14K gold.

Weather Report:
A complete line of fashion accessories and rainwear.

The Yogurt Shop:
Fresh yogurt with a variety of fruit and nut toppings, yogurt sundaes, shakes and Tutti Fruittis.

The Riverboat:
Boston's newest, most exciting Junior fashion store.

The Enchanted Prints:

One man's fish is another man's poisson.

King's Dictionary of Boston, published in 1883, reported:
"The leading French restaurant of the city is 'Ober's.' This has more than local fame. The viands here are unsurpassed."

A small booklet issued shortly thereafter introduced next door neighbor Frank Locke's recently opened 'Wine Rooms' as having "the general appearance of an enchanting picture, a sumptuous apartment in some palatial edifice."

And so Ober, with his plain interiors and fancy food, found himself in an alley fight with Locke, with his plain food and fancy interiors.

The Winner was Boston.

As history would have it, both men departed Winter Place and other places of this world having never consummated a marriage.

And it wasn't until 1901, that a Frenchman of considerable charm and estimable taste, broke down the small barrier (in actuality, a door) that separated both establishments.

And from that memorable year until his death in 1939, it was Emil Camus who gave Locke-Ober its distinctive character.

Today, under the direction of David H. Wells, Locke-Ober still offers (from their menu of elaborate resources), Frank Locke's Dover Sole and Louis Ober's filet of sole bonne femme.

One man's fish. Another man's poisson.

Jason's is going under.

For a lot of restaurants and clubs that could be real bad news. But they're not Jason's and they're not opening "Downstairs at Jason's" which is going to be the biggest underground excitement in Boston since the subway opened.

For starters you can pick on a fresh shrimp at the Oyster Bar or choose a cherrystone or two. Then you ask the chef to carve you one of Boston's best sandwiches, from a steamship roast or a giant baked ham.

Or you can just sit around the Piano Bar and share the cocktails and conversation. Downstairs at Jason's will be open for lunch, cocktails, late night delicacies and good times till closing.

The directions are simple. Go to Jason's and JASON'S go downstairs.

A Gazetteer To Dining Out

Since we know that so many of you enjoy dining out, we've prepared this special section which maps out practically everything you need to know to more fully appreciate the experience.

Steven Raichlen, food critic and wine connoisseur, wrote the bulk of this guide. He covers many bases: how to choose a wine, what to tip, how to figure out prices, how to read the menu and much more. He also gives you a glossary to help you figure out what certain foods really are. In addition, Maggie Hall compiled listings of many restaurants in the area. Bon appetit!

Consulting the Menu

The menu is your road map to the world of culinary delights. Consult it carefully — the pleasure of your evening depends on it. A meal is more than the succession of appetizer, entree, and dessert. It should be a harmonious ensemble.

The maitre d' of a posh French restaurant once prevented my companion from ordering lobster bisque for a first course and a crayfish gratin for the entree. "Too much crustacean," he gravely admonished. I doubt that maitre d's in this country take their jobs so seriously. But you should be aware of such considerations as you plan your menu.

Fish for the main course? An excellent choice, considering Boston's proximity to the water. Perhaps a slice of pate or artichokes vinaigrette would be good for starters. Suppose you settle on the Quiche Lorraine for an appetizer. Then by all means avoid something eggy, like crême caramel, for dessert.

Grilled beef makes a Spartan main course. Indulge yourself in something rich and fancy for a first course. One rich sauce makes a meal memorable; two or more soon become overkill. Try to order something out which you wouldn't ordinarily make yourself at home.

It's a good idea to consider the daily special. In a reputable restaurant — not necessarily a fancy or expensive one — the daily special reflects what was good or fresh at the market. The daily special provides the chef an opportunity to experiment or try something new. It's a switch from the regular routine. Thus, many chefs base their reputations on the daily special.

Less reputable restaurants, on the other hand, use the daily special to pawn off yesterday's leftovers. Does the waiter seem overly eager to push the special on you? Or does he recommend it sincerely, leaving the final decision up to you?

All foods have their place and season. Order fish on the coast, where it stands a chance of being fresh. Have steak at a steak house, curry at an Indian restaurant, and don't hold your breath waiting for the sugar at a macrobiotic eatery.

Similarly, don't expect fresh vegetables in the winter. This fall be sure to try bay scallops, duck and turkey, squash, pears, and desserts made with apples. Winter calls for wild fowl and wild game — when and where you can find them. Avoid wintertime lobsters; these have been penned up since November.

Finally, don't hesitate to ask about the food. What's in this particular dish? How is it prepared? Are the ingredients fresh or frozen? (In California restaurants are obliged by law to indicate frozen dishes on the menu.) It's the waiter's first duty to provide information. As a paying dinner guest, it's your right and responsibility to know.

Wine Primer

The right wine for any occasion is the wine you like. And don't let anyone — wine snob or stuffy maitre d' — tell you the contrary. Most people find, though, that certain wines go better with certain foods. In general, dry wines are best drunk with the meal; sweet wines, before or after it.

There's good sense to the adage: white wines with white meat, red wine with red. I generally prefer white wine with fish, seafood, and chicken, pork, or veal in a light sauce; red wine with beef, lamb, duck, wild fowl, and venison. I also favor red wine for egg dishes, strong cheeses, pasta, pizza, and other Italian dishes but prefer white wine for mild cheese and Oriental food. When a dish comes with a wine sauce (beef burgundy or coq au vin) a similar wine makes the best accompaniment. There's one wine which goes with anything, sweet or savory, fish or beef, and that's champagne.

Since wine seems to complement food so perfectly, I like to have several wines with a large meal. Start with the driest wine and work to the sweetest, the lightest wine and work to the heaviest; start with white wines and work to reds. The youthful charm of a Muscadet would be utterly lost following a robust Saint Emilion. More and more restaurant-goers are ordering dessert wines. A honey-like French Sauterne or Barsac, German Auslese, or Hungarian Tokaji brings a great meal to a stylish close.

One way to enjoy more than one wine at a meal, without denting your pocketbook is to order two or three "splits" (half bottles of wine). This accommodates both the fish and meat eaters at your table and it gives everyone a chance to broaden their taste experiences.

How To Get The Best Value

For most restaurants, wine sales represent a sizeable source of income. The markup on lower priced wines ranges between 100-200 percent of wholesale price. Many restaurants mark up their wines by adding $4 to $5 to the wholesale price of the bottle. Thus the pricier wines actually turn out to be the better value.

The cheapest wine on the menu rarely represents a bargain. On the other hand, the house wine, particularly at a reputable restaurant, can make a smart buy. Ask the serving person what the house wine is; Some of the California jug wines, like Inglenook, Emile's, and some of the Sebastianis, are eminently drinkable.

You'd best avoid the "super star" wines — wines which have become too widely known and popular, like the white Pouilly-Fuisse from Burgundy and the red Chateaufort du Pape from the Cote de Rhone. They're the only French wines that all non-wine drinkers have heard of and, as a consequence, cost double or triple what they're worth.

The vintage — the year the wine was made — can prove a veritable Gorgon's knot, unless you're prepared to carry a vintage chart with you. In general, all but the best white wines are best drunk within a few years of vintage, while all but the worst red wines benefit from five or six years aging in the bottle.

The Wine Steward Cometh

Why has the simple act of ordering and savoring wine in a restaurant become such an awesome, snobbish ritual? It's unfortunate, because wine is meant to be enjoyed; it's not an arduous rite of passage. The wine steward is your friend. Ask for his or her advice on whether the vintage is a good one and whether the wine you've selected will go well with the meal.

When the wine comes to the table, first look at the label. Make sure you've gotten the brand and year you've ordered. White wines should be chilled in an ice bucket; the better red wines should be opened a half hour prior to drinking time to allow them to "breathe." Only the best red wines need be decanted — poured from one bottle into a crystal flagon, leaving the sediment behind in the bottle. With lesser wines decanting is a harmless pretension.

Watch the waiter open the bottle. While it rarely happens, I've heard of waiters "opening" the bottle in the kitchen and bringing something quite different back to the table. When the wine steward hands you the cork, carefully examine it. Is the wine end moist and winy? If so, you've probably got a decent bottle. If the cork is dry and crumbly, the wine has been improperly stored. Occasionally, the wine end of the cork will be covered with tiny crystals. Wine experts offer a variety of explanations for these crystals, including poor filtration, excess sugar, or the trauma of transatlantic travel. They rarely affect the wine's taste.

Tasting the Wine

The waiter pours an inch of wine in your glass and proffers it to you with a challenge. Pick the glass up by the stem (holding it by the bowl obscures the color of the wine and warms it needlessly). Tip the glass and examine the wine's appearance. Swirl the wine gently in the glass to bring it in contact with the air, this helps release the "bouquet" (smell, and flavor). Put the glass up to your nose and inhale deeply. Does the wine smell fruity or berry-like, spicy, smoky or flinty? Or does it smell dank, moldy, or acetic? The experts do most of their tasting with their noses. Now lift the glass to your lips and take a little sip. Most wine lovers draw in a little air as they taste the wine to further release the flavor. How does it taste? Smooth? Full-bodied? Rich?

Perhaps a little "sappy" or "racy." If the wine meets with your approval, politely nod to the server, who will fill your companions' glasses.

A few power-hungry brag-garts think that they can impress their guests by sending the wine back. More often than not, the same snobs know nothing about wine. Bad wine usually gives you plenty of advance warning.

How-to-Eat-It

"Did it fly or swim?," you nervously ask. In either case, you haven't the faintest idea how to eat it. There are foods which yield their delectable secrets only to practiced hands.

Artichokes — Artichokes are edible thistles. To neophytes, they're about as uninviting as hand grenades.

To eat an artichoke, tear off the outer leaves one by one, dip them in the mayonnaise, melted butter, or vinaigrette sauce, and chew the bottom, fleshy part of the leaf. The tough tops of the leaves go uneaten. The further into the artichoke you go, the more of the leaf you can eat. Eventually, you come to the "choke" — the fibrous thistle at the center which will irritate your throat if you swallow it. Carefully scrape the choke away with your knife or spoon to reveal the treasured "heart" of the artichoke. I like to spread the heart with sauce and cut it into minuscule pieces — the pleasure lingers that way.

Crabs — Break off the large claws and crack each section with a mallet or nut cracker. Then, break off the crab's spindly legs, crack them, and suck to extract the sweet juices. Next, invert the crab body and pry up the V-shaped latch on the belly which loosens the hard red carapace from the body. Before discarding the carapace, be sure to scoop out the yellowish "mustard" from the pointed corners — it's considered a delicacy.

Take the body in hand and remove the gills, or "feathers," from each side. Likewise, scrape away the white spaghetti-looking stuff between the halves. Now, break the crab body in two. Split each half horizontally. Painstakingly extract the succulent backfin meat from each shell compartment. Reward yourself with a slurp of wine or beer and renew your labors.

Escargots — Escargots, French land snails, come sizzling in garlic butter, tightly curled in their shells. To get them out, mankind invented the escargot tongs and the two-tined fourchette. Proceed with caution, as the indented serving dish has just emerged from the broiler. Fit the tongs firmly around the shell with your left hand and fish the critter out with the tiny fork in your right. If you're the least inclined to ponder which part you're eating, you're best advised to gobble the escargot in a single bite. Now lift the empty shell to your lips and suck out the buttery juices. A crusty chunk of French bread nicely mops up the remaining garlic butter on your plate.

Mussels — Most often mussels are served a la mariniere (sailor-style) steamed with white wine in the shell.

Survey your plate to find an empty mussel shell with both valves attached at the hinge. Squeeze the two halves together at the wide end to form a set of pincers. Now use the bivalve pincer to fish the other mussels from their shells. No fork or spoon is needed.

A Menu Glossary

Bearnaise — Perhaps the greatest of the French sauces, bearnaise combines the pungency of tarragon, peppercorns, shallots, and vinegar, with the exquisite smoothness of pure egg yolks and butter. The robust sauce bearnaise goes best with grilled beef and lamb, poached eggs, scallops, and salmon.

Bourguignonne — Bourguignonne means "Burgundy-style" and Burgundy is one of the chief wine-making regions in France. Thus boeuf a la bourguignonne (beef burgundy), is a stew made with red wine. Escargots a la bourguignonne, however, are snails cooked in a garlic-parley butter.

Cordon Bleu — This dish won the cordon bleu (blue ribbon), at a Paris culinary exposition. At its best, it consists of a chicken breast or veal escallop layered with prosciutto ham and gruyere cheese, breaded, and sauteed in butter. In this country the dish has suffered all manner of abuse.

Crepes Suzette—"My how delicious, Henri," exclaimed the Prince of Wales. "What do you call it?" The year was 1898, the place, the ritzy Cafe de Paris in Monte Carlo, and chef Henri Charpentier had been hard at work all day on a new dessert. The recipe called for crepes—thin French pancakes—to be sauteed in a scrumptuous mixture of butter, mandarin oranges, and Curacao (orange liqueur). At the Prince's side sat a glittering companion, an actress named Suzette. The obliging chef immortalized her.

Dim Sum—The Chinese words for "little treats." Dim sum are tiny Chinese tea pastries served as hors d'oeuvres and snacks. They come both sweet and savory, filled with meat, fish, or vegetables. Whether steamed or deep-fried, the best are always cooked to order.

Eggs Benedict—The Benedictine monks were no ascetics and—holy vows notwithstanding—they gave the world's gourmets monastery cheese, heady Benedictine brandy, and the mouth-watering brunch treat, eggs Benedict. The French version of the dish sets a poached egg atop a slice of ham, and that atop a round of fried bread, the whole crowned with unctuous, lemony hollandaise sauce. Our chefs substitute Canadian bacon and English muffins with equally felicitous results.

Flambe—Chefs are showoffs and no trick of the trade has more ostentation than a dish flambeed. To flambe, warmed spirits are ignited to burn off the excess alcohol. The final result is only as good as the brandy or liqueur you start with.

Hoomis—A Middle East dip made with chick peas, hoomis is one of the trendiest appetizers in town. It's flavored with garlic, lemon juice, and olive oil and should be deftly scooped on a wedge of pita—Middle East bread. Baba ghanouj, made with eggplant, is similarly seasoned; Tahini, another Middle East dip, is made with sesame seeds.

Mu Shi Pork—A popular Mandarin dish, mu shi pork is the Chinese version of the taco. The pork comes stir-fried with cabbage, bean sprouts, Chinese mushrooms, and "tree ears" (slippery black fungus). You also receive a plateful of paper-thin pancakes. Fold a spoonful of the pork mixture into the pancake to make a neat bundle.

Paella—Paella began as yesterday's leftovers and became the national dish of Spain. To the Spanish peasant, it's rice with a few scraps of fish or meat. In Spanish restaurants, it has become a splendid affair of saffron rice baked with chicken, sausage, clams, mussels, and, sometimes lobster. Traditionally, paella is served in its baking pan—a flattened wok-like tray with beveled sides.

Sashimi—This national appetizer of Japan requires no cooking. Sashimi consists of neat chunks of impeccably fresh, uncooked fish, such as tuna, bass, and mackerel, served with Japanese soy sauce and powdered horse radish. Sushi, another raw fish specialty of Japan combining vinegared rice with nori seaweed, and uncooked fish, is pressed into tidy sandwiches or rolled into decorative spirals.

Sacher Torte—The Sacher Hotel is the Ritz-Carlton of Vienna. Its gifted pastry chefs have bestowed upon lovers of sweets one of the world's most glorious desserts. A Sacher Torte is a dark, rich chocolate cake, spread with a layer of home-made apricot preserves, covered with an ebony-colored, glass-smooth chocolate glaze.

Souvlaki—Souvlaki is to Greece what the hamburger or grinder is to this country. What you get is marinated grilled lamb on a pita with lettuce, tomato, and yogurt.

Sweetbreads—Anatomically, they're the growth glands of calves. Metaphysically, they're one of the great glories of gastronomy. Sweetbreads have a unique flavor all their own. Imagine the most delicate, milk-fed veal you have ever tasted with the texture of chicken livers or perfectly cooked scrambled eggs. Sweetbreads are often served braised in Madeira.

Wienerschnitzel—"Viennese-style veal" is the national dish of Austria. Wienerschnitzel starts with an escallop, or thinly sliced and pounded piece of veal, which is dredged in egg batter and bread and crumbs, and deep-fried or sauteed in butter. When it's prepared fresh it needs no other embellishment than lemon juice. When it sits on the steam table all day it becomes horrid.

Welsh Rarebit—This dish has nothing to do with rabbits. It's an old open-faced grilled cheese sandwich raised to a fine art. The best rarebits are made with flavorful cheeses, like Leicesters, Cheshires, or sharp country cheddars. Add a dab of spicy mustard and a generous splash of ale and you'll understand why rarebit has been a British favorite for centuries.

Money Matters

Like everything else, inflation has hit the restaurants. Even your favorite hole-in-the-wall fails to provide a bargain. How much should you pay for a bowlful of chili, chicken Kiev, or a salmon coulibiac? It depends on the locale.

No reasonable diner likes unexpected surprises when the check comes. A la carte, an entree might run $6 on the menu. "Fine," you think, "I'll surely dine for less than $10." That's before you add in the $2 appetizer, 75 cent vegetable, $1 salad, $2 dessert, $4 bottle of wine, 50 cent coffee, 15 percent tip, and Massachusetts meal tax. The grand total of your under-ten-dollar dinner is somewhere around $18. The example is perhaps a little extreme, but in general, an à la carte meal will run you twice the cost of the entree.

The alternative to the à la carte dinner bears the inviting name of table d'hôte (dinner special). This includes some combination of appetizer, entree, dessert, and other dining amenities at a fixed and reasonable price.

The table d'hôte narrows your choice but you always pay less for a full meal than by ordering à la carte. Moreover, restaurants usually offer their most dependable, if not always most exciting dishes as the special dinner.

Tipping

Tipping is the chief means of livelihood for the throngs of artists, writers, unemployed PhD's, and food jocks who comprise the ranks of waiters and waitresses. With the rise in the cost of living, a 15 percent tip is no longer considered particularly generous. If the service was reasonably good, I tip 20 percent. If it was really awful, I tip ten percent.

You used to be able to figure out a 15 percent tip by doubling the sales tax. With the meal tax cut, this is no longer possible. To figure out a 15 percent tip, I drop the last digit of the total, which gives you 10 percent, then halve this figure and add the two together. Thus 15 percent of a $20 bill becomes $2, plus half of $2, or $1, which makes a grand total of $3. It's simple, really.

Complaining

If you dine out frequently, it's bound to happen: you'll get a dish that's unpalatable, or downright inedible. Stay calm. If the fault is fixable (the soup is cold or your lamb-chop raw in the center), discreetly summon the waiter and have the dish returned to the kitchen. If your steak is overdone, you can ask for another one.

Some kitchen disasters, however, are utterly beyond repair. The sauce may be way too salty, for example (its a favorite trick of restaurants to slightly oversalt dishes to make them seem more flavorful), or the shrimp in your Shrimp Ding are rancid. The first rule is: when in doubt, don't eat it. There's no sense risking food poisoning. A perceptive waiter should notice if you haven't touched your food. If he hasn't, politely call the fact to his attention. At very least, the management should strike the offending dish from your bill. Often restaurants offer complimentary desserts or after-dinner drinks, by way of further compensation.

To my mind, the worst thing you can do when such accidents arise is make a big fuss. It's not the waiter's fault. Yelling at him will only antagonize a potential ally. Likewise, yelling won't make the untasty dish in front of you any better. It will, however, upset you and your companions, ruining not only one course, or one meal, but the whole evening.

Where can you get the best steak in Boston?

In Brookline Burlington, Lowell Danvers and Beverly.

Boston Magazine recently honored one of our restaurants as having the best steak in Boston. Well, you don't have to drive all the way to Boston for the best steak in Boston, you can just go to the one closest to you. Our names may be different, but everything else is deliciously the same.

In Brookline, the Colorado Public Library is according to Boston Magazine, the best place in Boston for steak. We agree. But it's also a place where you'll feel warm, elegant and totally relaxed.

In Burlington, Dandelion Green is an atrium of delight. Not all French, not all steak... somewhere deliciously in between. For lunch or dinner, the perfect spot.

In Lowell, you'll find a pleasant surprise. A. G. Pollard & Son's is a bit out of the way, but the food is out of this world. Actually, we're just 10 minutes from the junction of Routes 3 and 495.

In Danvers, is one of those rare cozy restaurants... The Hardcover. It's the kind of restaurant you frequent often and wish no one else knew about... The secret place everyone thinks is theirs.

The Beverly Depot, which by the way is still a working train station, retained much of the original structure, including the curved brick wall at the far end of the dining room. If you listen carefully you will hear the faint rumble of the Boston & Maine.

veau. Reasonable prices, full bar. Hours: Mon–Fri 11:30 am–2:30 pm; Mon–Thurs 5–10 pm; Fri–Sat until 11 pm; Sun, 11 am–10 pm. Reservations are recommended on Fri and Sat. AE, MC.

Aku-Aku—390 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, 536-0420. The South Seas: Polynesian, Chinese, India (curries) and Chicago Chow Mein. Full bar, with flower trimmed exotica. Hours: Sun–Thurs, 5 pm–3 am; to 4, Fri and Sat. AE, DC, MC.

Cafe l'Ananas—281a Newbury St., Boston, 353-0176. There is more on the menu than the eponymous pineapple at this boile in the Back Bay. Continental specialties like steak au poivre vert, veal. Moderately expensive, full bar. Hours: Noon–2:30 pm and 6–11 pm, Mon–Sat. Sun noon–2:30 and 6–10 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

Cafe Budapest—90 Exeter St., Boston, 734-3388. Elegant and expensive, the fare is haute Hungarian: stroganoff, Wiener Schnitzel, tournedos, and rich, rich desserts. The Cafe is open Mon–Sat, noon–3 and 5–10:30 pm; until midnight Fri and Sat; 1–10:30 pm Sun. There is a full bar, and reservations are accepted every night except Sat, when the place is likely to be jammed. AE, BA/V, CB, DC.

Charlie's Eating and Drinking Saloon—344 Newbury St., Boston, 266-3000, and in Braintree and Chestnut Hill. Good food: crab-stuffed shrimp, London broil, and excellent service, in an active Victorian room. Full bar and moderate prices. Hours: Daily, 11:30–1 am. AE, CB, DC, MC.

Colonnade Hotel—120 Huntington Ave., Boston, 261-2800. A couple of choices: the Cafe Promenade for international food and snacks, with fashion shows and Zachary's which is formally continental. Hours vary, call for details. Both, full bar, reservations. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Copley's Restaurant—In the Copley Plaza Hotel, 136 St. James St., Boston, 267-5300. Continental favorites from more than one continent, curries rub elbows with clams Casino on the menu. Moderately expensive, fully licensed. Hours: Mon–Fri 11:30 am–3 pm, and 5:30–midnight; Sat and Sun 5:30–midnight, also noon–4 pm Sun.

Cafe Promenade—In the Colonnade Hotel, Huntington Ave., Boston, 261-2800. The menu pretty much circles the globe: chicken Bombay, crepes Budapest, New Orleans Jambalaya. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 7 am–11:30 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Delmonico's—In the Lenox Hotel, 66 Exeter St., Boston, 536-2200. There's a full bar and free parking for dinner patrons. Reservations are accepted. Hours: dinner from 5–10 pm on Sun–Fri; from 5–11 pm on Sat. Sun brunch served from 10:30 to 2:30. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Durkin Park—30 North Market St., Boston, 227-2038. Durkin Park is an institution. Be prepared to stand in line (unless you can dine before 6), to share a table, and match wits with the grouchy waitresses, who are part of the tradition. A generous seafood plate, roast duck, and roast beef are among the specialties. Prices are moderate. Hours: Mon–Sat 11:30 am–9 pm.

Friday's—26 Exeter St., Boston, 266-9040. Housed in a kind of solarium next to the Exeter Street Theatre, it is a very popular spot. Steaks and shrimps are two favorite choices. Full bar. Hours: Daily 11:30–1 am. AE, BA/V, MC.

The Ground Round—Prudential Center, Boston. Also in Natick, Framingham, Danvers, Peabody, Andover, Cambridge, Braintree, Norwell, and Cohasset. From half pound hamburgers to sizzling steaks, a wide variety of foods at easy prices. There's also live entertainment, large screen TV, old time movies and cartoons. Hours: Daily from 11:30–2 am. No reservations except for children's birthday parties. Full bar. No credit cards.

Hunan—700 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, 878-7000. Mandarin and Szechuan cuisine. Reservations are accepted. Hours: Lunch from 12–2:30 pm; dinner from 2:30–10 pm. Full bar. AE, DC, MC.

Hyatt Regency Cambridge—575 Memorial Dr., 492-1234. Three ways to eat: the revolving rooftop Spinnaker Lounge for lunches and light suppers; Jonah's on the Terrace for seafood and Sun brunch; and the Empress for continental Chinese cooking. Hours vary. All have a full bar, no Sun reservations at Jonah's. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Jason's—130 Clarendon St., Boston, 262-9000. Dining among palm trees and sensational salt-water aquariums. Seafood and continental specialties: oysters Rockefeller, veal Oscar, roast Long Island duck. Moderately expensive, full bar. Hours: Mon–Fri, 11:30 am–3 pm. Dinner daily 5 pm–midnight. AE, DC.

Joseph's—279 Dartmouth St., Boston, 266-1502. Under the aegis of the estimable Locke-Ober, Joseph's offers an elegant setting and a continental kitchen: Rack of Lamb, Sole Marguery. Expensive. Joseph's is closed on Sun, other days the hours are 11:45 am–11 pm. Reservations accepted. AE, BA/V, MC.

Joyce Chen—390 Rindge Ave., Cambridge, 492-7373. A fine place to investigate the many regional varieties of Chinese cuisine, including the more exotic Szechuan, which is available in degrees of spiciness. The all-you-can-eat buffet on Tues and Wed nights from 6–8 is a boon to the hungry. The prices are moderate and the service is speedy. Open every day from 11:45 am–9:15 pm. Full bar; reservations accepted. AE, DC, MC.

Legal Seafoods—237 Hampshire St., Cambridge, 547-1410. There are two principal schools of thought about Legal Seafoods: broiled or fried. Debate the issues while you are waiting in the upstairs bar; the lines at Legal are very long, even on weeknights. Patience is rewarded because the fish is great and the prices moderate. Hours: Open Mon–Sat from 11 am–9 pm and Sun from 1–9 pm. The bar provides all drinks. No credit cards and no reservations.

Lily's—29 North Quincy Market, Boston, 227-4242. Stylish and expensive, continental and three kinds of French cooking: Haute, provincial, and nouvelle. Full bar. Reservations are recommended. Hours: Daily for dinner, 5:30–11 pm. AE, MC.

Locke-Ober—3 Winter Pl., Boston, 52-1340. For more than a century, Locke-Ober has been a bastion for local politicians and businessmen. Even today, ladies may feel more comfortable upstairs. Continental cuisine: everything is a la carte; impeccable service; expensive but not extravagant. Hours: 11 am–10 pm, daily except Sun. Full bar, reservations. AE, BA/V, MC.

Lulu White—3 Appleton St., Boston, 423-3652. A New Orleans style place, appropriately in the South End: shrimp Creole, dirty rice, barbecued ribs. Moderately expensive, full bar. Hours: Daily, 5 pm–2 am. Sun brunch 11–2. Cover charge for entertainment (jazz and Dixieland). AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

99 Restaurant—125 Pearl St., Boston, 423-4792. One of a number of branches, sandwiches and burgers in a saloon style setting. Inexpensive, fully licensed. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am–1 am. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Parker's—In Dunley's Parker House, 60 School St., Boston, 227-8600. Seafood, beef and veal, to go with your Parker House rolls. Moderately expensive. Full bar, reservations are recommended. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am–2:30 pm and 5:30–10:30 pm, except Sat lunch. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The Red Coach Grill—43 Stanhope St., Boston, 266-1900, and other locations. A steak place like a colonial tavern, with prime rib, lobster, steak, and other hearty American fare. Full bar, moderate prices. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am–11:30 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Rusty Scupper—85 Atlantic Ave., Boston, 742-7041. In a restored wharfside warehouse, seafood and steaks, also kushiyaki, a steak and chicken kabab. Moderately expensive, fully licensed. Hours: 5:30–10:30 pm Mon–Fri; until 11 Sat; 4–9 pm Sunday. AE, BA/V, MC.

Seaside Restaurant and Bar—189 Faneuil Hall Marketplace, Boston, 742-8728. Intimate dining in a contemporary ambience. Specialties include fresh seafoods, salads, sandwiches, prime sirloin, lobster, homemade desserts, choice wines. International bar on two levels. Popular and correspondingly crowded, so a reservation is a good idea. Full bar. Hours: 11–2 am, daily. AE, MC, House charge.

Top of the Hub—Prudential Center, Boston,

Captain Courageous Restaurant

A favorite of discriminating diners for assortment of seafood, steaks, and chops, with the accent on exceptional New England specialties.

Open for luncheon, cocktails, and dinner year 'round. Sunday Buffet each week from 2-8 p.m. An extravaganza for the entire family!

Try our Fall Dinner Specials — A choice of complete meals, from appetizer to dessert, served Monday through Friday evenings at a surprisingly reasonable price.

25 Rogers St.
Gloucester, MA 01930
(617) 283-0007

536-1175. On the Pru's 52nd floor, the Top of the Hub has the best of the views; prices are somewhat more down to earth. The cuisine is Stouffers continental: Veal Cordon Bleu, Rack of Lamb. Hours: Mon-Sat 11:30-3; Sun brunch 11-2:30; dinner Mon-Thurs 5:30-10 pm; Fri and Sat, 5:30-11 pm; Sun 5-9 pm.

Truffles—55 Congress St., Boston, 523-6080. The only place we know of that names crepes for Rosencrantz and Guildenstern. Also, a large variety of sandwiches, pasta, pizza, and the intriguingly titled, "dinner de Sade," and "flying trappes." Hours: Mon-Fri from 4:30-midnight and Sat and Sun from 3 pm-midnight. Full bar: AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Union Oyster House—41 Union St., Boston, 227-2750. Boston's oldest eatery, the place is aptly named: oysters and other marine life star on the menu. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 11 am-9 pm, until 9:30 Fri, until 10 Sat.

NORTH

Beverly Depot—10 Park St., Beverly, 927-5402. Take the Boston and Maine to the Depot, for steaks, chops, and all the trimmings, in railroad surroundings. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: Closed on Mon, it's open for dinner 5-10 pm, Sun-Thurs, 5-11 pm Fri-Sat. AE, MC.

Captain Courageous—25 Rogers St., Gloucester, 283-0007. Eat fish, while you look out across the boats they arrived in. Also steaks and chops. Fully licensed. Winter hours: Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-9 pm; Fri-Sat, until 10 pm. Reservations are accepted. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Fiske House 1788 Restaurant—1 Billerica Rd. (at Rte 129), Chelmsford, 258-4464. A registered National Historic Site, serving American food with some continental accents, like Veal Spaulding, scampi Trabucco, and filet of sole Lafayette. Moderately expensive. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11 am-11 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, MC.

The Landing—At the Town Landing, Marblehead, 631-1878. Right on the harbor, a mostly seafood menu: Marblehead scrod, seafood casserole, fisherman's platter, and some landbound specialties as well. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: From 11:30 am Mon-Sat, from 10:30 Sun, until 10 pm weekdays, 11 pm weekends. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The Lyceum Restaurant—43 Church St., Salem, 745-7665. The Lyceum is housed in the building in which Alexander Graham Bell made the first public demonstration of the Telephone. The menu is extensive and continental: cuisses de grenouille Provençal, veal Zurichoise, duckling à la Montmorency flambe. The prices are moderate, and there is a full bar. Hours: Daily, from 11 am-10 pm. Reservations are recommended. Fri-Sat evenings, and for Sun brunch. BA/V, MC, house charge.

WEST

Le Bellecour—10 Muzzey St., Lexington, 861-9400. Now open under new management, Le Bellecour offers French cooking with some other touches, like an Indonesian Sale Babi at lunch, and medallions de chevreuil, which is venison. Full bar, reservations are recommended. Hours: Mon-Fri, 11:30-2 and 6-10; Sat, 6-10:30 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, MC.

The Every Day Gourmet—Mill & Speen Sts., Natick, 653-8010. Not quite everyday, actually, it's only open on weekends. The menu from this teaching kitchen changes all the time. Make reservations, and bring your own things to drink. Hours: Fri-Sat, noon-3 pm, Sun, 10 am-2 pm. No credit cards.

Fellini's—1114 Beacon St., Newton, 527-2440. There's an oyster bar. Free disco lessons on Tues. Hours: From 11-2 am daily (lunch from 11-3, dinner from 3-11). Reservations are accepted and there's a full bar. AE, BA/V, MN.

Legal Seafoods—Rte 9, in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Centre, 277-7300. Legal's outpost on the western front is sometimes less hectic than the Cambridge branch, especially if you are willing to eat early or late. Otherwise, the set-up is pretty much the same: the crowds, crowds, crowds are offset by the fish, fish, fish. Reservations for large parties. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11 am-9 pm; Sun, 1-9 pm. AE, and personal checks.

Upper Crust—At the Sheraton-Tara Hotel, Framingham, 879-7200, and Braintree, 848-0600. Steaks and fish, chicken Hongroise, and the Tom Jones Dinner, a massive feast that requires two days notice. Fully licensed. Hours: Mon-Fri, 5-10:30 pm; until 11 Sat; Sun, 3:30-10 pm. Lunch, 11:30 am-3 pm, Mon-Fri. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The William Paul House—Reservoir St (Rte 31) Holden, 829-6667. The specialty of the House is seafood, with a continental accent:

Served in A Rarefied Atmosphere Of Elegant Simplicity And Congeniality

Christo's—782 Crescent St, Brockton, 586-4200. Huge and crowded, the accent at Christo's is Hellenic. A variety of Greek salads, shish kebab, moussaka. Efficient service, inexpensive. Full bar. No reservations, no credit cards. Open Mon-Sat, 11-12:30 am; Sun, 12:30 pm-12:30 am.

The Country Fare—1217 Main St, Hingham, 749-2260. Wildlife from land and sea among the entrees: King Crab casserole, roast duck. Moderately expensive. The premises are fully licensed, and reservations are recommended. Hours: Tues-Sat, 11:30 am-9 pm; Sun, 11:30 am-8 pm. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

The Greenhouse—8 Stagecoach Way, Cohasset, 383-6770. Continental and seafood specialties on the menu, lots of trees and plants to look at (not on the menu). Teriyaki brochette, veal, daily specials like snapper and swordfish. Full bar, reservations advised. Open for lunch Mon-Sat 11:30 am-2 pm, for dinner Mon-Sat, 5:30-11 pm, closed Sun. BA/V, MC.

The Ground Round—Kings Plaza, Braintree, 848-4848, and other locations. A multi-media dining experience, music and TV along with burgers and other sandwich specialties. Inexpensive. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11:30-1 am. No credit cards.

Humarock Lodge—Humarock Beach, Mass, 834-7981. Fine cuisine featuring steaks and seafood. Overlooking North River. Caters to special functions. Hours: Open for dinner from 11:30 am-10 pm on Sun; on Tues-Sat from 5 pm on. Sun brunch from 11:30-3. Live entertainment on Fri and Sat (easy listening for dancing). There's a full bar and reservations are accepted. AE, DC.

Inn For All Seasons—32 Barker Rd, Scituate Harbor, 545-6699. Imaginative continental menu, topped off with special desserts, like three-layer chocolate cake and Linzertorte. Entrees include chicken Kiev, veal Oscar, and individual beef Wellington. Moderately expensive. Licensed for beer and wine; set-ups are provided for patrons who bring their own liquor. Closed on Mon, otherwise, the hours are noon-2 pm, and 5-10 pm. Sun brunch 11-2. Reservations. MC.

Ken's Fish House—218 Dedham St, Norfolk, 384-8152. A fish house, with steak and chicken, too, for landlubbers. Moderate prices. Full bar. Reservations are required on holidays. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-10 pm. AE, DC, MC.

Plaza Inn—Rte 1, Wrentham, 384-2800. "The pleasures of the table are of all time, and all ages, of every country and of every day." Entrees, which are French, Italian, and American, start at $5.95. Full bar. Hours: Daily, from 11 am. AE, MC.

Plymouth 1620 Restaurant—158 Water St, Plymouth, 746-9565. Escargots, steamers, swordfish, lobster, steak, all manner of things that once trod the earth or swam the seas, all at moderate prices. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11 am-10 pm. Reservations are generally a good idea. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Ronnie's Kosher Restaurant—1179 N Main, Randolph, 986-6743. Strictly Kosher, all the food is made on the premises under rabbinical supervision. Roast brisket, krep-lach soup, and stuffed chicken are a few of the favorites. No liquor. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 8 am-11 am, noon-4 pm, and 5-9 pm. Fri: 8 am-5 pm, Sat: 5-9 pm. BA/V, MC.

Tinker's Dam—Rte 139, Pembroke, 826-5748. Cozy, candlelit dining in the upstairs dining room. A glowing pine bar provides a full range of drinks to complement a menu that is basically Continental: veal Oscar, beef Wellington, and homemade desserts. The prices are moderate. Open 11:30-2:30, Mon-Fri, and 6-10 pm Tues-Sun. Reservations for large groups only, eight or more. BA/V, DC, MC.

An Historical Dining Experience

The 1798
Fiske House
RESTAURANT

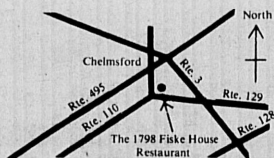

Majestically overlooking the Chelmsford Common is the Fiske House . . . admired for its architectural beauty since the 18th century, and enjoyed as a tavern in the 1800's, it was later bought by the Fiskes to become their home. The Fiske House is a registered National Historic Site, almost entirely in its original form. Today, the building remains one of the most stately houses in Chelmsford with its prominent place in the center of this beautiful New England Town. The area, history, and unique architecture of the building vividly express America's past.

The Fiske House invites you to relax and partake of sumptuous cuisine in the romantic atmosphere of our six eighteenth century dining rooms, each complemented by a fireplace and candlelit tables. The Fiske House is truly elegant dining for the discriminating gourmet.

SEASIDE RESTAURANT & BAR

Seaside is a restaurant with the emphasis on fresh food from the sea and land. Seaside is a broiled or baked stuffed lobster, prime N.Y. sirloin, rack of lamb, or an array of crisp salads, sandwiches and burgers. Seaside is a homemade cheesecake, or a simmering Jamaican coffee, while overlooking the marketplace.

Yet, Seaside is an international bar on two levels and the most popular spot on the waterfront. Fresh pina colodas, strawberry and banana daiquiris on your favorite cocktail are served in a contemporary ambience.

MBTA approves mini-bus; to go to fall town meeting

More than three months of meeting, planning, researching, and drafting has paid off for the mini-bus advisory committee. Winchester has been awarded a mini-bus system by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

The around-town, interconnected triple-loop system, developed by Harvard Planner J. David Smith of 52 Wedgemere ave., was selected over four other towns which had submitted proposals to the MBTA.

The T invited 57 communities around Boston to submit plans for local bus services, but only six towns took advantage of the invitation. Framingham, Lexington, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wellesley and Winchester competed for two openings in the MBTA's Suburban Experiments Program.

Lexington was awarded the other contract. If approved by the town meetings this fall, and if approved by the MBTA's advisory committee in December, the T will fund half the operating deficit of the system.

The operating cost of Winchester's system would be $101,500 with $22,800 in revenue, leaving a net operating cost of $78,700. The T would pay about $40,000 and the town would have to foot the remaining $40,000.

Should town meeting reject the proposed system, first alternate to be awarded the contract is Stoneham; second alternate is Framingham; third alternate is Wellesley; and fourth alternate is Swampscott.

Town Manager Thomas Groux said he was "very pleased" when he heard the good news. "Now all we have to do is try to convince town meeting to accept it," he said.

Groux shifted credit for the success of the system to the mini-bus advisory committee. Members include Smith, chairman, Charles E. Fiske, president of the Winchester Business and Professional Association, Gary Waytore, U.S. Department of Transportation analyst, Richard Young, principal of Muraco School, representing the public school system, Anne Feuss, president of the Winchester Seniors Association, and Richard Steven, consultant for ARI Limited, an area transportation company.

When informed of the news for the first time by The Star, Smith's immediate reaction was: "You're kidding...that's fantastic. I can't believe it." He said, "Our proposal must have been the best. It was a good one, not because of me, but because of the (advisory) committee," Smith said.

Even though the system may begin Jan. 1, Groux said the town would probably wait until March 1 "when the weather is a little better." The town has to enter a one-year contract with the T, starting the day the buses begin rolling.

Rep. Sherman Saltmarsh Jr., who was instrumental in assuring the success of the system, said Winchester's system was the "best of all the proposals." He said Winchester was different from the other communities that submitted plans in that "we have the greatest amount of commuter rail service connecting us with Boston than any of the other applicants." He said the committee which selected Winchester for the award especially liked how Winchester's mini-buses would connect existing transportation systems.

Saltmarsh has been a member of the MBTA's advisory committee since its inception in 1964. He accompanied Groux and other mini-bus advisory committee members to one presentation and interview with the T. Decision on the award was to be announced by Sept. 30, one month after the submission deadline, but MBTA officials sat on their decision for a couple of weeks.

Saltmarsh said "The Town of Winchester has done its part. Now it's up to the town meeting members to fund it."

The system has been fully endorsed by the board of selectmen.

Similar mini-bus systems running currently are in Bedford, Needham, and Natick. According to the MBTA, mini-buses carried almost 137,000 riders in 1977 in Needham, a community of 30,000 residents. The T said figures are running even higher in 1978.

"The MBTA-subsidized bus service has proven especially beneficial to young people under 16 and senior citizens who formerly depended on family and friends for their transportation," T officials said.

Projections for 1979 enrollment show more decline

Enrollments for the 1979-80 school year will probably decline by about 240 students, according to figures released by the school department Wednesday.

The current enrollment is 4326 students in grades K-12, according to totals reported at the school committee meeting Monday night. That number includes 54 special needs students being served under Chapter 766 programs.

The projected total number of students for next year, not including special needs students, is 4029. Enrollments have been on the downside for several years now, with between 200-300 fewer students entering school each fall.

MacDonald proposed was formalizing the use of aides and specialists to make sure that, in the interim between morning and afternoon sessions, some educational activity was going on.

Citing the debate that led to last year's decision to expand the program, the superintendent said, "Now we find a large number of people pleased with the program and an equally large number of people who are not pleased with the program." He defended the extended hours, saying the children were ready for three hours of instruction.

MacDonald's plan called for the hiring of several teacher aides, at a cost of at least $5000, to fill in for kindergarten teachers. He said the program was a "top priority" and added, "You can't do something better unless you pay for it.... I can think of no place I'd rather spend the $5000."

Dr. Clare Corcoran backed him up. "We fund the hockey program, we fund the field hockey program, we fund the high school radio station, now it's time we funded the kindergarten program," she said.

Noonan parent Marilyn Davis, who was one of the women starting up the petition, told the committee, "The best solution for now is something you know has worked," and she argued that reinstating the old schedule was the best alternative.

The teachers, who unanimously supported switching to last year's hours, argued it was "educationally unsound" to not have the teacher in the room when the children were arriving and leaving. They also complained of a lack of time for preparation.

Mystic parent Stephanie Hughes supported MacDonald's plan, which she said, "wouldn't be slipping back into a schedule that is really inadequate."

Board member Catherine Alexander said most of the calls she had received on the issue supported keeping the longer sessions. In response to the superintendent's plan, she noted adding aides to some of the schools would put the classes way out of line with accepted pupil-teacher ratios.

Board members questioned why the plan appeared to be working in some buildings and not in others. All were hesitant to draw any further funds from the personal services account.

Last Thursday, the Community School Association held a meeting at Noonan to discuss the kindergarten issue. The next day, the association presidents met again and agreed to support a compromise proposal which would cut back the morning session to two hours, 45 minutes, and the afternoon session to two and a half hours.

After defeating MacDonald's proposal 5-0, the board Monday unanimously approved the compromise plan.

Circulation expanded for Plus People Week

This week is another Plus People week for The Winchester Star, and newspapers will be sent out to all residents in town. This week's mailing will not affect regular subscriptions; all papers will be marked "sample copy."

The fall season is in full tilt now, and to find out about the wide variety of coming events around town, from fairs and flea markets to dramatic productions and club meetings, turn to the second section of today's Star.

Also inside you'll find special features, guest columns, our regular features such as 50 years ago, Town watch, and About town, and complete coverage of Winchester High School sports.

Effective Monday

Kindergarten schedule shortened

As of Monday, Winchester's kindergarten children will be on a new schedule.

The school board voted Monday night to amend the schedule after hearing a long debate between parents, teachers, and the school administration on the relative merits of several alternative plans.

Under the new schedule, the morning sessions will run from 8:45 to 11:30, and the afternoon session will run from 12:15 to 2:45, 15 minutes shorter than the morning session. The controversy over the schedule goes back to last year, when a group of parents came before the board seeking to expand the kindergarten program. As a result, the two-hour afternoon session was stretched to three hours, the same length as the morning session.

The problem with the new schedule was the morning session was ending and the afternoon session was beginning at the same time, giving the teachers no time for lunch and travel between schools (three teachers commute between six schools, teaching a morning session in one school and an afternoon session in another).

In order to make up the time to the teachers, the administration attempted to place aides and specialists in the classrooms while the teachers ate lunch and traveled to their second school.

However, neither teachers nor many parents seem to like the idea. A group of parents, focused around the Noonan School, got together and petitioned the school board to change the hours back to last year's schedule.

Monday night, the kindergarten teachers read a statement to the board asking the board to support to the parents' position.

However, Superintendent William C. MacDonald had another alternative. What

Residents petition to stop amendment to zoning by-law

If you have a garage, a pool cabana, a tool shed, a dog house, or an out house in your back yard, you may be affected by a zoning by-law amendment being submitted to town meeting this fall for approval.

A group of residents in the Thornberry road area are circulating a petition urging defeat of the amendment. But there is some confusion as to exactly what the amendment proposes to do.

The old present by-law, section including 5.1, puts restrictions on the erection of accessory buildings, where they may be built, how large they may be, how tall they may be, and how close to the property line they may be built.

The new proposed replacement for this section would add the restriction that any two accessory buildings must be at least 15 feet apart. According to Zoning Administrator Domenico Serratore, the intent of the change is simply to "clarify" the by-law.

However, the residents circulating the petition take a different view. They feel that the present law has been interpreted in the past to mean no more than a single accessory building will be allowed in a residential district. They fear that the language of the amendment will change that policy.

The present law states: "No accessory building shall be erected in any required yard, and no separate accessory building shall be erected within fifteen feet of any other building except in accordance with the following regulations:

"(a) Within (residential) districts, accessory buildings may be placed with a required yard area provided the same are:

— located in the rear yard;

— covering not more than 30 percent of such rear yard;

— not over one and one half stories in height;

— not located nearer than five feet to any property line."

The proposed amendment, rather than referring to "building" and "buildings" specifically refers to "one or more buildings," and it is this language the residents oppose. The amendment reads in part:

"No separate accessory building shall be erected within fifteen (15) feet of any other building. No accessory building shall be erected in any required yard provided, however, one or more accessory buildings may be placed within a required yard."

The Thornberry road residents apparently have a special interest in the change. One of their neighbors, Jack Wilson, operates a business out of his home and maintains several sheds in his back yard.

The residents feel that Wilson's accessory buildings do not particularly add to the spacious, residential feel of the neighborhood.

Wilson has been cited by the zoning administrator for by-law violations; he has appealed the ruling to the board of appeals (see related story).

However, at least one of the residents, who asked to remain nameless, felt the issue affects the whole town.

The petitioners say the present by-law at least allows for an interpretation that would prohibit allowing more than one extra building per yard. Their petition reads, in part:

"Such an amendment of the zoning by-law would clearly permit the erection of multiple sheds, mini-warehouses, and other such inappropriate, and often commercially oriented structures within the rear yards of all the residentially zoned districts of the town."

"While such a plan of development may provide a truly Steinbeckian motif, we do not feel that is either in keeping with or in the best interests of Winchester's residential neighborhoods and their residents."

On Thornberry road

Neighbors dispute impact of home-run business

If Jack Wilson's numbers are accurate, he and his wife Merna, residents of 42 Thornberry rd., are one of 600,000 Shaklee Corp. distributors across the country who operate out of their homes.

But he is the only one, apparently, in the Thornberry road area, and some of his neighbors don't like the idea.

One of Wilson's neighbors has filed a complaint, and the town zoning administrator, Domenic Serratore, after visiting the Wilsons, has issued a cease and desist order.

The order points to two complaints raised by neighbors. First of all, they object to what they claim is an inordinate amount of traffic related to Wilson's business. Secondly, they feel the two sheds in the Wilsons' back yard are in violation of the zoning by-law regarding accessory buildings.

The order from Serratore directs the Wilsons to:

"(1) Immediately cease the operation of conducting a business at the premises. . . and

"(2) Remove all accessory buildings located in the rear yard for which building permits have not been issued."

Wilson has appealed. A hearing before the Winchester Board of Appeals has been set for Nov. 8.

Operating a business in your home is allowed under certain circumstances. However, under the zoning by-law, the business must not take up more than 25 percent of the area of one's home; only residents of the home may work in the business; traffic may not be increased above the level normally expected for a residential area; and the business must be "clearly incidental and subordinate to the residential purpose" of the building.

The neighbor who brought the complaint reported that large delivery trucks make regular stops at the Wilson home to unload merchandise, and that UPS trucks make daily stops to pick up the goods. The neighbor also complained that regular sales meetings were being held at the residence.

Wilson does not contest any of this. He confirmed that the UPS trucks arrive daily, and that a larger delivery truck comes by about three times a month. He commented that UPS "generally makes drops in this neighborhood anyway."

Wilson said he measured the amount of space he uses for his business and claimed that it did not exceed the 25 percent limit. He said usually two or three persons a day go in and out, usually for training sessions.

"I have an office, a meeting room for training, and storage of products in a part of the garage," Wilson explained. He said the other sheds in his back yard were unrelated to his business.

As for the sheds, Wilson claims they were built in 1970 and 1971, before the zoning by-law went into effect and before the Massachusetts Building Code, which requires the building permits, was adopted. He reported that he has a third building constructed in 1975, for which he has a permit.

The Wilsons have lived in Winchester for 16 years, and Jack Wilson said he has never had a complaint. "I'm surprised there's a problem. . . No one has ever mentioned a problem."

For the past eight years, he and his wife Merna have been running a "pretty successful" business as the New England distributors for the Shaklee Corp., which makes and sells "consumable home products of the non-polluting variety," such as cleaning products, cosmetics, and vitamins. "I know a lot of people who conduct some sort of business from their home," said Wilson. "It's our livelihood."

★ By-law

At least two dozen residents have signed the petition, which will be presented to the planning board, the selectmen, and town meeting.

Planning Board Chairman Stephen Anderson said the change was "purely technical; there is no change in substance. . . There is nothing in the present by-law that prohibits you from having more than one building."

Anderson said the board feels residents should be allowed more than one building, as long as the present restrictions are adhered to. "If you have a garage, you should be able to have a tool shed, or a cabana for a pool. . .

Safety tips

Chief of Police John McHugh reminded area motorists today that reduced visibility is one of the added hazards of winter driving. "Take a few extra minutes to brush snow, ice and slush off your headlights and tail lights so that you can see and be seen," the Chief said.

Arson death tolls

The Mass. FAIR Plan cites statistics which estimated more than 700 persons were killed in arson-caused fires in 1977. Report suspicious fires to local authorities. No community is immune from the crime of arson.

Woodburning stoves

An alarming side-effect of the parlor stove boom, has been the increase in the number of house fires due to the improper installation and operation of stoves. If you must have a woodburning stove, have an expert set it up in your home.

I don't know that the law has ever been interpreted to mean that you only could have one accessory building."

Serratore said he would interpret the amended law the same as the present law. He added that it was "very understandable" that residents would not want to see too many sheds in their neighbors' yards.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

McCall Parents Assn. to meet Tuesday, 7:30

School Committee members Cathy Alexander and Jean Weyman will be the featured speakers at a special open meeting of the McCall Parents Association on Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the McCall Social Studies open area.

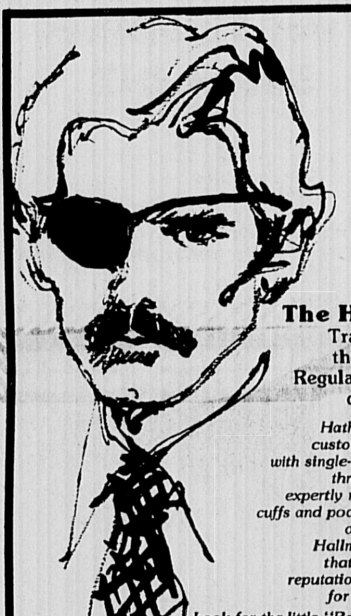

Curriculum, transitions and planning for a four-year high school will be among the topics they will address at the informal meeting.

Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Weyman, in separate interviews this week, both urged McCall parents to make a special effort to attend this meeting. "Parents of school-age children now make up only 20 percent of the population of Winchester," said Mrs. Alexander. "It is urgent that their voices be heard."

Mrs. Weyman echoed her sentiments and added, "This is a very important opportunity for school committee members to get feedback from the parents. We need to hear about the issues that concern them," she said.

The format of the evening will be informal discussion — a sort of "fireside chat," with lots of questions and answers. McCall Parents are urged to make a special effort to attend.

Officials say rats
now under control

After two months of steady baiting with poison, the rat problem around the Mill Pond by Town Hall seems to be under control.

That's the assessment of Public Health Director Michael Saraco, who reports that the exterminating company hired this past summer has been coming in once a week to bait along the shores of the pond and the Aberjona.

Rats have appeared periodically in past years; however, this summer the population grew to alarming proportions. At one point, as Saraco put it, the rats were competing with the ducks at the feeding station for bread crumbs.

Now, as a result of the baiting, Saraco says complaints from residents and visitors to the pond area have been less frequent. "We haven't had a complaint for the past couple of weeks," he said.

Another area affected by the infestation this summer was in the vicinity of Robinson park, along the shores of the Upper Mystic Lake.

Saraco said he has not heard from those residents recently. Because the area is not town owned land, and because of a limited budget, the health director suggested the residents seek private means of controlling the problem.

Norma Porras, who lives on Robinson circle, said she contacted the MDC, which has an extermination program for Sandy Beach and other recreation areas. She added that some local residents have gotten together and bought poison and traps. "I haven't seen any rats lately," she reported.

Mrs. Porras also said she had heard from neighbors up on Myopia Hill that rats had been spotted. "It's not isolated here," she said. "I wish there could be some kind of yearly program everyone could get involved with. . . . We have to treat it constantly, it's a regular problem."

John Capobianco, superintendent for the Stoneham-Revere MDC Park District, which includes Winchester and the Mystic Lakes, assured that there was a regular extermination program underway. The MDC reportedly hires a company to make regular inspections and bait the animals when necessary. He said this arrangement includes the shores around the Mystic Lakes, as well as the public recreation areas.

Owner's relative guilty of larcenies from store

The son-in-law of the proprietor of Neno's Market, 32 Swanton st., was found guilty Tuesday in Woburn District Court of larcenies committed at the store over a three-year period and was sentenced to one year in the Middlesex County House of Correction in Billerica.

Stephen Zboya, of Malden, formerly of 93 Harvard st., was charged by Winchester Police with larceny over $100, a felony. Lt. Andrew Crawford, prosecuting officer, said Zboya took more than $10,000 from market receipts.

He said Zboya would transport the market's receipts to a local bank for deposit and would keep at least one deposit for himself.

Gladys Marchesi, of 86 Irving st., the store proprietor, sought the charges against her son-in-law. Police were seeking restitution as an additional penalty on Zboya, but Judge Francis P. Cullen imposed the one-year sentence instead.

The trial Tuesday lasted five hours. A hearing on the charges was held July 27 and arraignment was Sept. 11.

In other police business, a three-car collision at Church and Bacon streets Sunday at noon left three persons injured.

Michio Yatsuhashi, of 189 High st., received head and neck injuries and his passenger, Mascho Yatsuhashi, also incurred head and neck injuries. Paul Keeler III received head and right arm injuries.

According to police, a car operated by Gary Todisco of Stoneham was heading east on Church street when it allegedly ran a right red light striking Yatsuhashi's car which was traveling north on Bacon street. The impact forced Yatsuhashi's car to collide with Keeler's car traveling south on Fletcher street.

Todisco has since been charged with failing to stop at a red light and his case will be heard sometime after Jan. 1.

For the first time in several months, not one breaking and entering was reported this week in Winchester. Chief John McHugh said there's at least one housebreak in town every week, and five were reported in a seven-day period two weeks ago. "This area is very prone to b and e's," McHugh said, "since 83 percent of the town is residential."

Although the chief was happy there was no housebreaks, "I never want to say that things are quiet, because, as soon as you do, all hell breaks loose," he joked.

He said housebreaks are cyclical. "Right now, we're at the bottom line, but it could very easily peak if residents are not careful about security measures."

A couple of two-way radios were reported stolen sometime Friday night from two town trucks parked in the town yard on Lake street, police said.

A few other radios have been taken from the town trucks in the past six months.

You know it was a quiet week for police. Officer Richard Fisher was forced to shoot a "sick skunk" as he called it. Police were also called out this week to capture a loose horse, missing from a Woburn corral. The horse was loose on Johnson road.

Warning on make-up kits withdrawn

A warning by area police departments to parents and children about the safety of a Halloween make-up product is being withdrawn after a state Food and Drug Administration investigation proved negative.

The product, Blood and Scars Gook, was confiscated last week from CVS store shelves in Gloucester after it was blamed for seriously burning the faces of two 10-year-old Gloucester girls.

It is still not known what caused the burns, but Dr. George Michael, state FDA director, said the product "tested out OK." Dr. Michael said the product was tested on "mice, guinea pigs, and seven laboratory technicians and there were no ill-effects."

He said the food coloring ingredient of the product which was mixed with petrolatum, a vaseline-like substance, certified with the FDA. Other ingredients, according to the product's manufacturer are FDA approved also.

Steven Feldman, plant manager for Topstone Industries Inc. of Danbury, Conn., said "there is nothing harmful in the product and I am quite surprised that anyone would think there was something harmful in it."

Inspector John Curtis, of the Gloucester Board of Health which ordered the product off the shelves, said Topstone has "a darn good reputation" and that the product will be released as soon as the health board receives formal notification from the state laboratories on the product's safety.

Curtis said the product was also checked through federal Food and Drug Administration laboratories in Washington, D.C. but that the Gloucester health board will continue its investigation on why the girls were burned. Curtis said an allergic reaction to the product has been ruled out because dermatologists have determined that the burns were caused by chemicals.

He said the health board has interviewed the girls three times to determine whether the girls used soap or any other product with the Halloween kit. "We're checking every possible lead to find out how this happened," Curtis said.

A Danvers dermatologist, Dr. William Flanagan, has been treating the two girls. Curtis said on each occasion that he interviewed the girls, their faces bled.

Curtis said the product's safety will be sent over police teletypes across the state and country just as its questioned safety was broadcast.

Feldman said he was upset "how the police acted so hastily." He said he was "amazed how bad news travels so quickly." He continued, "The experience last week threw us for a helluva loop. It took 10 years off my life."

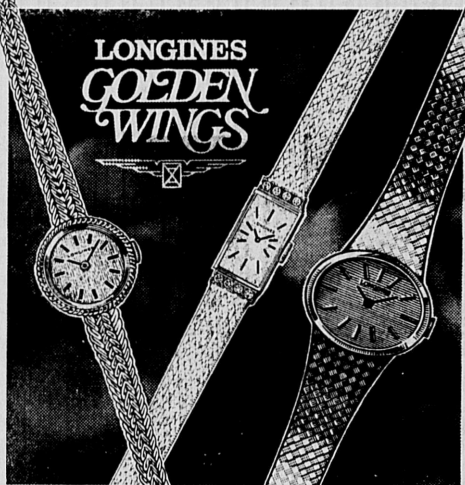

The product is being sold in CVS stores and several other discount stores throughout the region.

A CVS official in the company's main office in Woonsocket, R.I. said the product was recalled from the shelves of its 350 stores across the nation. Robert Kwait, director of buying administration for Consumer Value Stores Inc., said the product will be restored to the stores' shelves once he receives written documentation from the FDA that the product is safe.

He estimated that the product will be available to the public by the end of this week.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Guest column

Congrats and gratitude

Recently, The Star reported an operation to repair a bullet wound in the heart of a young man. The patient has since been discharged from the hospital and is doing well.

The incident illustrates a dramatic change that has occurred not only in medical care in community hospital but in the very concept of what constitutes a sick patient. Both physician and patient in this day and age, might take a nap and wake up with future shock, the changes are so rapid.

There is a great debate ranging in the country about the extent to which society wishes to support medical care. It appears to some that the curtailment of this support may be necessary to prevent bankruptcy. But curtailment should be taken only after careful consideration of the potential losses.

With all the hue and cry over cost of medical care, it is well to keep in mind that a considerable portion of this cost is expended in cases such as this; that is, cases which in the very recent past would simply have been considered hopeless and almost certainly would have ended in death.

It's certain that the expense of operation and intensive care represent a marked increase over the cost of death in terms of dollars. It is also clear that, in this case, human being has been restored to look forward to an additional 50 years of useful and productive life.

The case illustrates well the resources which are available in this community. Ambulances are not simply at the ready. They are supplied with men of high motivation add excellent training in emergency resuscitative techniques. The hospital is attended by a physician at all times, and, within our own community, there can be rallied within moments, as in this case, surgeons of all types, including cardiovascular surgeon, cardiac physicians, anesthesiologists and the long list of essential paramedical personnel such as nurses, operating room staff, inhalation therapy technicians, blood bank technicians and so on.

This particular case demonstrates the advantages of the hospital's affiliation with Cardiothoracic Associates, three of whose members live in the Town of Winchester. These men are qualified and experienced cardiovascular surgeons and, as luck would have it, the heart surgeon on-call and almost immediately available was Dr. Thomas Boyd, who, in addition to his other accomplishments, is assistant professor of surgery at Boston University and clinical instructor in cardiothoracic surgery at Tufts University.

The lucky coincidence in Dr. Boyd's case is that not only does he bear the predictable credentials and record, but is widely experienced and an author in the field of treatment of injuries of the heart. Much of this experience was gained during long years of service at the Boston City Hospital.

This is not the first case in which our own medical resources have been pooled with this group of surgeons to preserve life in an apparently hopeless situation. Four years ago, a young man was admitted to the hospital with a stab wound of the heart. Dr. Gerard Des Forges responded. The story of that event is similar to the present one:

The rush to the hospital by men who, while using all their training and experience to try to sustain life for a few precious moments, still appear in the accident room with the shocked faces that can never become opaque to the tragedies with which they deal.

In the accident room comes the speedy application of basic life support techniques: massage the heart; control bleeding; anesthesiologist, places tube in trachea to breathe for patient; the patient's stricken heart no longer needs support respiration; a plastic tube as big as possible into the largest vein; tubes of blood for crossmatching; fluid into the veins; salt, albumin — anything to support the circulation. The rare case where uncrossmatched blood is justified, pumped in; transfusion reaction better than death; punctation for all the above provided by phone calls, radio calls, hurried movement of supplies and equipment, cardiograms, x-ray.

Off to the operating room: secure the patient; cradle the blood and I.V.'s; Drag along ventilators and monitors; nurses, technicians, doctors finishing preparations while on the fly; in the O.R., a long tube up the arm veins, through the heart and into the lungs; These vital gimmicks that have replaced patting pillows and smoothing sheets; readings say more blood; at least this is of patient's type; injections slipped into I.V. tubing; hiss of gasses; decide how to position patient; plug all the numbers into the equation for locating the incision; final review of all the tapes and tags, supports and systems; it's go now.

In for a penny, in for a pound; replay all the tapes; recall all the bizarre trajectories; consider every vital structure; control bleeding, control bleeding, control bleeding; the heart now; reassurance from anesthesia; blood's ready; support team poised; follow the hole in the sac; repair the damage; exhale for what seems like the first time.

Speed is no longer critical. From the strict surgical technical viewpoint, the case now becomes routine. Time to relect and take inventory on the exotic and erratic missile tract, to double check and reconsider every possibility of oversight. Time to worry about whether the wracked body and what we have done to it have forced the brain too deeply into oxygen debt.

Close up. Clean up. Nth check. Off to ICU and another team to monitor, to watch, to support, to worry to wait.

The hospital is like a body. At night its vital organs function, while many of the peripherals take R and R. As the organ regains its full waking functions the word gets around. Congratulations everywhere and gratitude.

Town watch... Promises, promises

By The Observer

Ah, how soon they forget. Remember Michael Dukakis and his tax cut promise? It got him elected, and it probably had a hand in defeating him in the Democratic Primary this year. But it sure sounded good at the time.

Now we've got the Frank and Ed show. Republican candidate for governor Francis W. Hatch Jr. is pushing a tax limitation proposal which would link state taxes to the rise in personal income throughout the state — an idea which has a lot of support locally, according to the Star Reader Survey conducted in August.

Hatch's plan would also take fiscal autonomy away from school committees and guarantee at least 50 percent of all growth in state income and sales taxes to local aid.

And on the other side we have Edward J. King, the Democratic candidate, who is proposing a "Massachusetts 13" modeled on Howard Jarvis' infamous "Proposition 13" out in California. King has promised (that word again) a $500 million property tax cut in the program's first year and additional cuts of $400 million a year for the next two years.

The California experience proves that taxes can be cut, though to what end only the future course of the state administration and private business will tell.

But the Dukakis experience lends a different sort of lesson, one which Hatch and King should pay close attention to.

One promise the governor did keep was for the handicapped. Gov. Dukakis announced the establishment of an Office for Handicapped Affairs Friday at the annual meeting of the Mass. Association of Paraplegics at the Hyatt Regency in Cambridge.

The office will operate under the department of administration and finance and will take its problems straight to the governor, according to Maureen Winn, a local resident who was at the meeting Friday. Ms. Winn is a member of the state Architectural Barriers Board and the legislative chairperson for the MAP. She said she was dumbfounded that Dukakis would keep his promise after losing the Primary: "He had no reason to care."

Ms. Winn also reports that The Duke is not finished yet — he warned the association members Friday to keep an eye out for him in 1982.

The stories reprinted here were taken from old editions of The Winchester Star and were compiled by Henry Simonds, local historian. By and large these articles are taken from the same month they appear here, 50 years ago.

The Food Shop, long an institution on Mt. Vernon street, the haven of summer bachelors and local business men and women, is to move.

Owing to the requirements of the Central Hardware Company, which will take the whole street front of the building now occupied, the Food Shop will vacate its present quarters about Oct. 15.

The new location after the above date will be at 32 Church street, opposite the Winchester Trust Company. A complete new equipment is to be installed, including one of the latest and most modern restaurant stoves, and patrons are assured of even better service in the new location, if such is possible.

The specialty of home cooking, fresh wholesome food and prompt service will be continued with the usual delicious baked beans to take out every Saturday.

The interest which little Eleanor Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene of 329 Highland ave. took in the misfortune which had befallen the family laundry man resulted in the recovery of a substantial sum of money lost by Louis Ames of 592 Main st., Woburn, while delivering from his Winchester Laundry team on Highland avenue not far from Prospect street last Friday evening.

Mr. Ames had just left the Greene home when he discovered the loss of a roll of bills amounting to $42. He returned to the house and secured a lantern but a diligent search failed to locate the money.

Little Eleanor, who is seven and a pupil at the Mystic School, felt badly at the plight in which the friendly laundry man found him-

Even the diehard mourners of summer's passing must have been impressed Monday morning at the sugary spectacle of the season's first good frost. The combination of that silvery coat, a light mist on the ponds, and the bright rust of the woods should be enough to temporarily calm apprehensions about the winter to come.

Our industrious charter committee chairman David Mortensen tells us that WGBH-radio will broadcast Winchester composer T.J. Anderson's Sept. 29 concert on Wednesday night, Nov. 1 at 10 on the program "Brave New Music."

Mr. Anderson was featured for his work by Allegra Atkinson, a free-lance writer, which was published in The Star Sept. 21.

We would like to congratulate Mr. Anderson for his success and Mr. Mortensen for sharing his information with us.

The Star incorrectly identified a Winchester resident in a picture of last week's edition. Mrs. Ann Maselunas was identified as Sylvia Saslow in a picture of the seniors' fall fiesta fair.

According to Mrs. Maselunas, many persons often confuse her with Mrs. Saslow who, evidently, looks a lot like Mrs. Maselunas.

Nevertheless, that is no excuse for misidentifying someone in a newspaper. The Star would like to apologize to Mrs. Maselunas and Mrs. Saslow for the mixup.

Nick Molea, Winchester Police Department's canine control officer, reports that he has grown and eaten an 11-pound watermelon.

Nick said his prize watermelon was "twice as large" as any watermelon he saw at the Topsfield Fair. When asked why he didn't submit it for competition at the fair, he said, "It was too heavy to carry!"

We hope somebody helped Nick eat the watermelon, because we wouldn't want to carry Nick if he did.

self, and despite the darkness wished to go out in search of the missing bills.

She was, however, persuaded by her parents to wait until morning but bright and early Saturday accompanied by her younger sister, Eleanor, set out on her quest. Her confidence in herself was not misplaced for she succeeded in locating the money in the driveway of the Johnson residence across the street. It would be hard to tell which was the more pleased, Mr. Ames in getting back his money or Eleanor in returning it to him.

Letters from readers

Thanks to all

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Seniors Association desires to voice through the pages of The Star an expression of sincere gratitude to The Winchester Star for giving the space so generously week after week for material submitted pertaining to the Fall Fiesta Fair and other regular publicity. It has helped enormously to ensure the total success of many undertakings, the most recent of which was the fair.

Appreciation is extended to all of the workers at the fair — to those whose artistic fingers created articles for sale at the boutiques and the Christmas and knitted articles tables; to the silent auction committee; to those who collected and sold jewelry, white elephants, and items at the children's table; to the dispensers of food, cheese, and fruitcakes; to all who served the dinner to 500 people; to those who donated exotic plants; to those who handled tickets and contest items; to those who used their cars to pick up saleable items; to the dinner cooks and the snack bar committees; and to some 2000 people who visited and purchased at the fair.

The support of the community has been heartwarming to all who have had any part in the preparation for this most important event in the program of the Winchester Seniors Association.

Zoning changes

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My purpose in writing is to bring to the attention of the residents of the RDA-20, RDB-10, RDC-15 and RG 6.5 zoning districts, the top residential areas in town, the proposed zoning by-law amendment concerning the erection of accessory buildings, which appeared under legal notices in the Oct. 5 issue of The Star.

The purpose of the amendment appears to be to clarify the existing by-law which could be interpreted to allow more than one accessory building in any one yard providing they are in the rear, cover not more than 30 percent of the rear yard, and not over one and a half stories in height, and not nearer than five feet to any property line.

The proposed amendment clearly states that more than one accessory building meeting the above criteria may be erected in a single yard.

I feel that this is a step in the wrong direction and that if the existing by-law is to be amended at all it should be to specify that no more than one such building may be erected in a single yard in the residential areas and that one building must be of a comparable quality of construction as the residences in the area.

This should satisfy the needs of a residence and protect the property owners against abuse by others. I encourage anyone who shares my concern to attend the public hearing on Monday at 8:15 p.m.

Deplorable

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The following is a situation that took place here at Wildwood Cemetery on Saturday the 30th of September:

On the date mentioned above, I was a member of a funeral procession. Most of the others involved were from out of state. As we entered the cemetery through the main gate, we followed one of the town trucks assigned to the cemetery.

To my astonishment, and to many others present, we went through an open green gate and headed down a dirt and dusty road, with brush on either side, barely passable for a vehicle to travel. (I might add, I thought we were going to the area where they dispose of the dead flowers.) As a matter of fact, someone made the statement "we're on the quarry road".

Once we arrived at the designated spot, we witnessed the removal of flowers etc. from the hearse, all very distracting to the mourners, not to mention the obvious presence of the town employees and truck within sight and hearing distance.

When we stepped out of the cars, we had to walk through mounds of dirt piled on the side of the unpaved road and at this point the air was still thick with dust.

The point is, we could have traveled a hot top road only a few yards from the lot, whereby it would have been feasible for the mourners not to witness the unloading of the hearse. Our out of town visitors, knowing that Winchester has the reputation for being "the beautiful town north of Boston", were very surprised and, of course, the residents were embarrassed.

More than two weeks ago I wrote to the Director of Public Works, Walter J. Tonasuck, whom I understand is responsible for the cemetery and I have received no answer, written or otherwise.

Face lifts?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I often wonder about the wives of our great men in Washington. If they need a face lift, whether the government picks up the tab for this. Does anyone know?

If so, I think this is awful, because some of our people with no money left for even clothes can't possibly pay for Blue Cross-Blue Shield. They really need National Health Insurance. I hope when people vote they vote for this insurance. As far as getting poor care if it goes through, what do poor folks get now. If they can't pay some doctors could care less.

Adults today

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

People say that kids today aren't what they used to be. But what about adults? What has happened to the people of great ethical and moral standards — the honorable, reasonable adults such as Thomas Jefferson, Ben Franklin, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and George Washington? What has become of the inspiring heroes like Charles Lindbergh?

The adults of today are imperfect, to say the least. Child abuse has become out of hand, while crime is still soaring. Authority is no longer respected. Adults today are involved with alcoholism and drug addiction and, thus, they are figures of hypocrisy to the children of the United States.

Children demand something they can respect about their parents and elders. But maybe the adults of today are too weak to deserve this respect and authority. Perhaps adults should look at themselves and discover that it is not the kids who have changed.

Where have all those upright heroes, who set good examples for the youths gone? Ben Franklin was such a person and Charles Lindbergh was another. Both heroes were respected and viewed by Americans for their success and good examples set for the youths of their time.

In addition, both something of themselves behind to help those who came later to lead better and fuller lives. They were great men!

What are the problems of today's adults? They are getting into alcohol, drugs, and crime. They are ruining our world and us. It's true! The percentage of drug-using adults is on the rise.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Census Report of 1975-76, 59 percent of people 18 and older (adults) are users of alcohol. Of this number, one of 12 is an alcoholic. Other alarming statistics are 19 of 20 alcoholics are "intelligent" men and women between the ages of 30 and 55, and that the average alcoholic has four other people in his family.

Alcoholism is, too often, responsible for loss of income and respect and can lead to divorce, crime, and suicide. But alcohol is not adults only vice, nor their worst. They are also getting messed-up with drugs. According to the same Bureau of Census Report, 21 percent of adults had used marijuana, 5 percent had used LSD or other hallucinogens, 4 percent had used cocaine and 15 percent had misused psychotherapeutic drugs.

What does this mean? It means that many adults are using and abusing drugs. This is not even counting the over-the-counter drugs, which are used daily by some adults. This means that some adults depend on drugs to relieve daily pressures. But the drugs don't work, because they don't solve problems. On the contrary, they usually cause more, such as crime.

Adults are very active in crime. Politics, for example, is the national spotlight. Spiro T. Agnew resigned as vice-president because he was being investigated for taking bribes.

Adults are not just into political crime, though. They also commit many other crimes, which are more violent. The adults commit more of the specified crimes, than do youths, by the following ratios: Murder nine to one, manslaughter 10 to one, forcible rape seven to one, aggravated assault five to one, prostitution 27 to one, and driving while intoxicated, 48 to one.

But through it all, youth is told not to do these things, even though it is clear to see they are not shown perfect examples. What's the matter with kids today? What's the matter with adults today? The answers might be shockingly similar.

As the years have gone by, adults have grown less like the type of people that youth wants and needs as examples and inspirations. They have changed from idealists into people who, more or less, let down our society.

It is now clear to see that they must change and that the "perfect" adults of yesterday are needed once more to support the leaders of tomorrow. Adults today cannot be trusted with the responsibilities of the society, unless they try to set better examples for the up and coming youth.

Gone are the days of Roosevelt, Lindbergh, and Einstein, but, through proper training and guidance, adults can be brought back to their senses. It may be hard, but that's no matter — tomorrow we will run faster, stretch out our arms farther... And one fine morning — (The Great Gatsby, F. Scott Fitzgerald, p. 182)

Appreciation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We wish to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to our relatives, friends, neighbors and the Rev. Bernard Hoy who by their words of consolation and acts of kindness helped to lighten the burden of our recent bereavement. Also the Winchester Police and Firemen for their assistance.

For the number of floral tributes, spiritual bouquets, sympathy cards and contributions to the Heart Fund and Jenks Senior Citizens we are very grateful.

Cogito, ergo...?

A part of history

By Karen Webber

Somewhere in Freeport, Me., an office aide has assumed the tedious task of applying address labels to mail order catalogs. From the Aarons to the Zimmers, the label sticker stacks, sorts, and organizes the booklets that will eventually find their way into homes throughout New England and beyond. But at least one man on the mailing list will not read the summer-fall outdoorsmen catalog that the letter carrier has dropped in the mail slot. This man won't read it because he doesn't exist.

Linda S. accidentally created the non-existent reader. The birth of Col. Mark L. Smith, (not the unreal person's real name) occurred three years ago when Linda moved into a new suburban Boston apartment. A single woman, living alone, Linda was subject to a series of obscene phone calls and uncomfortable encounters with the neighborhood peeping Tom. As a precaution, she had her phone number unlisted in the directory. She notified the police. She sat home and worried about what this creep would do next.

Her father, worried about his daughter's safety and well being, carried the precautions one step further. He would "marry" his daughter to a Marine Corps officer... a figurehead that he assumed any neighborhood pest would respect.

The farce worked simply. Linda's dad would address all of his daughter's correspondence to Col. M. L. Smith. Since the Smith name was already posted on Linda's apartment mailbox, the post office delivered the colonel's letters without batting an eyelash. Col. M.L. Smith had been created. And, remarkably enough, the neighborhood pest stopped dropping by. Mr. Smith's daughter was safe. But unknown to Mr. Smith or Linda, the legend of Col. Mark L. Smith would continue.

A project that was initiated out of fear turned into something humorous. One spring, Linda's dad ordered a fire escape ladder for his daughter by mail using the colonel's name. Soon, Col. Mark L. Smith was placed on a catalog mailing list.

To this date the colonel receives monthly catalogs from a variety of unsuspecting distributors. Booklets from L. & L. Bean, Orvis, and Eddie Bauer dot Linda's living room coffee table. Through the colonel, Linda is kept up to date in the latest in hardware, fishing tackle, camping equipment and clothes.

A gun club got ahold of the colonel's name. Assuming that since he is a military man, he is also a gun enthusiast, the club sent a questionnaire asking for the colonel's opinions on gun control issues. The club asked him for financial support, and notified him of their Boston area meetings. Needless to say, the colonel never showed.

Linda's dad had a good chuckle over the way things had worked out. At one point, he changed his daughter's husband's rank to major, and the letters and catalogs still kept coming.

Eventually the neighbors caught on that Col. Mark did not exist. But the neighborhood pest never came back. Linda was tempted to propagate the colonel's existence by answering one of the many resident's surveys he received in the mail but she never did. She continued reading the glossy pages of the mail order catalogs and wondered why their publishers were wasting so much paper.

One day, an invitation to view real estate caught Linda's eye. The colonel and his "wife" were invited to attend a premiere real estate showing, designed especially for the first-time home buyer in mind. The newlyweds could spend a leisurely afternoon chatting with the real estate sales representative, presumably over coffee and crumpets in a plush shag carpeted office.

Out of curiosity, Linda called the real estate agent. No, she told him, the colonel and she were not interested in viewing the real estate. She would like to know however, how the company got ahold of Col. Mark L. Smith's name.

The agent's answer was from the city directory, of course. Determined to get to the root of the source, Linda made further inquiries to the publisher of the city directory. She asked the directory representative to have the colonel's name deleted from the list. A return letter from the publisher said they would comply with her request, but asked, did she know of the city directory's importance?

The form letter, titled, "What is a City Directory," left no questions asked. "For one thing," the letter reads, "it's one of the few permanent records of your existence. It has been recognized by the courts as a reliable record of one's activities. It has also been recognized by the Bureau of Immigration in determining whether an applicant for citizenship actually lived in a given area at a specific time."

"Lives have been saved, criminals apprehended and long lost kin have been located...because of a city directory."

"These are only a few reasons why one should be correctly listed in their city directory...it's a history book in the making and you are a part of it!"

Life keeps you guessing. Col. Mark, may your "history" live on.

Election '78

Charter commission deadline

Each week, the Winchester League of Women Voters is providing an analysis of one of the referendum questions to appear on the November ballot.

The proposal would allow local charter commissions 18 months from the date of their election to submit a proposed charter or charter revision to the voters of their communities. Current law requires such commissions to place the charter before voters within ten months of their election.

If passed, charter commissions would have 18 months to prepare new or revised charters.

It defeated: the current 10-month deadline would remain in effect.

Pro: Supporters argue that the importance of charter drafting requires adequate time for deliberation, preparation and voter notification and education. The extension would allow sufficient time for the commission's duties.

Con: Opponents argue that extending the time period would slow down the charter proposal process, could reduce citizen participation in the process, and reduce public interest in home rule.

Meeting Monday

Parkhurst fate in doubt

The school board is facing a heady decision Oct. 23, when they discuss what to do with the Parkhurst School.

Last spring they voted to close the school, in response to declining enrollments, by September, 1979. The closing is part of a larger plan which includes closing the Noonan and Washington schools in 1980 and moving the administration from Sanborn House to Lynch, which will become an elementary school.

The problem is, enrollments may not be down enough to justify closing Parkhurst so soon. The problem is, if Parkhurst is closed, students will have to go to either Vinson-Owen or Ambrose. V-O is the only school which has come in under the projected enrollments this year and would have no trouble accommodating its share of students.

However, Ambrose has come in 16 over the forecasted enrollment with 259 students as of Oct. 2. Last year Ambrose held 274 students.

Back in the spring, the board said they'd reconsider closing Parkhurst in 1979 if a) no suitable use for the building could be found, and b) Ambrose and/or V-O would become overcrowded. And it looks like Ambrose might just be overcrowded.

Parkhurst parents have reportedly been getting ready to fight to keep their school, and if there might be a squeeze at Ambrose, parents there might join in. Even the superintendent seems to be leaning that way. Supt. William MacDonald listed several alternative courses of action, none of which was much to his taste, excepting keeping Parkhurst open for another year.

To update probate

Cavanaugh runs programs

Middlesex Register of Probate Paul J. Cavanaugh, candidate for re-election announced two new programs in his efforts to update and professionalize the Registry of Probate and to bring it closer to the public.

Cavanaugh stated that on Wednesday, at 5 the Registry of Probate will conduct a seminar for legal secretaries, paralegals and any other interested persons. The topic will be "Divorce Procedure."

The main speaker at the seminar will be Beryl Browne, head of our divorce department. Browne has over 20 years of dedicated service in the registry and is known to be one of the legal experts in Middlesex County on this subject. Other Middlesex registry personnel will be in attendance to answer questions.

This seminar is free of charge and open to all members of the public.

Additionally, Cavanaugh revealed that the Registry of Probate has obtained a set of audio cassettes, tapes outlining the new "Omnibus Probate Act."

Cavanaugh stated, "These cassettes detail probate procedure and would be most helpful to those interested in the new act and its implementation. These cassettes will be available to the general public for listening at the Registry. They are additionally to be used by staff personnel for in-service training."

Cavanaugh concluded, "I believe that the two programs announced above will be as popular as our seminar on the new family abuse law which was held in September and was attended by approximately 300 people."

"As Register of Probate for Middlesex County, I shall continue my efforts to professionalize the workings of the court and to bring the registry and the court closer to the people through increased communications and public participation in seminars and other related activities."

On inflation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The monthly Federal Reserve Bulletin has stated that the quantity of money in circulation on Jan. 31, 1962, was $351 billion, and on Jan. 31, 1978, it was $812 billion, an 8% increase of 131 percent in 10 years.

My Webster's defines "inflation" as an "increase in the quantity of money or credit, or both, relative to the amount of exchange business." Inflation always produces a rise in the price level.

John Maynard Keynes, an economic advisor to Pres. F.D. Roosevelt, and the father of "modern progressive economics," wrote in his book, "The Economic Consequences of the Peace" in 1920, the following: "By a continual process of inflation, governments can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of its citizens. The process engages all the hidden forces of economic law on the side of destruction, and does it in a manner which not one man in a million is able to diagnose."

You will notice that someone has to deceive someone in order to make the destructive forces on inflation work! The deception lies in the use that inflation is caused by the businessman, the worker, the housewife, the consumer, etc., but not the government.

Your government and it alone is the source of our present destructive inflation.

Rupert W. Kuglin

Supports Brooke

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am writing to express my appreciation and gratitude to the people of Massachusetts for the superb job done by Sen. Edward Brooke in support of medical research. Sen. Brooke has not only voted for sound and productive medical research programs, but has also taken the time and trouble to study them carefully over many years. He has a comprehensive grasp of what needs to be done, what is feasible, and how to get it done.

I am the director of a small cancer hospital in Colorado and I can see the slow but steady progress that is being made in saving lives. Also, preliminary results show that we can prevent the nausea and vomiting caused by chemotherapy in more than half of our patients. We are eagerly looking forward to the second generation of anticancer drugs that will be less toxic and more effective than the medicines we have today.

In other areas of health, similar progress is being made. The life expectancy of people with high blood pressure has jumped significantly because of advances made possible by the support of Sen. Brooke and some of his colleagues.

Sen. Brooke has not seen this letter and knows nothing about it. It's my way of saying thank you to a man who has helped and is helping save some of my patients.

Solomon Garb, M.D.

Manager protests

Road salt price rises 47%

A 47 percent increase in the price of salt needed this winter for local streets has prompted Arlington Town Manager Donald Marquis to ask the Attorney General to investigate.

Marquis has raised questions about possible anti-trust violations by the two major companies which supply salt in the state.

In a separate letter, Marquis has asked MBTA chairman Robert Kiley to do what he can to provide low bidder Eastern Minerals of Lowell with a South Boston deep water terminal. Eastern Mineral's lease with the MBTA has expired and a consultant is studying land use at the site. Marquis suggests that the interests of the MBTA and Eastern Mineral can both be met.

The reason the manager is pushing for the South Boston site is because the cost of salt will drop by $4 a ton if the salt can be stored in Boston rather than being trucked from New Hampshire.

"Our greatest concern and apprehension is over having a sufficient supply of road salt this winter," Marquis wrote to Kiley. The concern is that in an emergency salt delivery to this area would be delayed.

Selectmen's notes

Liquor license

In probably its lightest agenda of the year, the board of selectmen unanimously adopted Monday the application instructions and rules and regulations pertaining to alcoholic restaurant licenses for the town.

Selectman Hankins said the 14-page document "admirably reflects our feelings on the subject."

Selectmen Richard Wilsack said the regulations represent "superlative effort" on the part of Town Counsel Douglas Randall and Town Manager Thomas Groux.

Minor revisions to the original document have been made over the past two weeks by selectmen. The original appeared in the Oct. 5 issue of The Star.

Copies of the regulations may be obtained from the public library.

Complex supported

Selectmen conditionally supported Monday proposed plans to build a six-story, 105 unit apartment complex for low-income and elderly residents.

Selectmen said they would fully support the project if the complex is reserved solely for the elderly, that the number of parking spaces for the complex be increased, and that due consideration be given to fire department recommendations and planning board recommendations.

Fire Chief Robert McElhinney recently expressed concern over the lack of a fire lane at the proposed building. Town Manager Thomas Groux said the concerns should be addressed by the developer before town agencies give final approval to the project.

The planning board Monday night also voiced their approval of the project. The matter is now in the hands of the board of appeal which will reconvene a public hearing Monday at the town hall.

Domenic Serratore, building commissioner, said about 70 residents attended a public hearing last Thursday on the development to be built on Waterfield road by the news shop and railroad station.

He said most residents in attendance asked about rent rates at the complex and were not complaining or objecting about it too much. "I have no basis for objection and I think other town departments may have suggestions for improving the project, but we do not have any objections," he said.

Serratore said construction of the project would begin in late spring or early summer of next year and would be completed by the winter of 1980.

Abutters of the area, residents of Rangely Ridge road and Rangely road, have voiced disapproval of the project.

Medford Police

have no leads

in shooting

Medford police are "checking all possible leads" into the Oct. 10 shooting of Garry Yagjian, 65, of 47 Wedgemere ave., at his liquor store in West Medford.

Lt. Leo Sacco said the shooting case is a difficult one because there were no witnesses. He said he was not sure what happened before the shooting but hypothesized that the gunman leaped the counter as soon as he entered the store and pointed the gun at Yagjian from close range.

Lt. Sacco said Yagjian may have reached for a candy jar sitting on the counter to strike the intruder just before he was shot. "That's the way it looks from the pictures we took, but we can't say for certain," Lt. Sacco said.

Services for Yagjian were held Saturday at Holy Trinity Armenian Church in Cambridge. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

He leaves his wife Alice (Bagegian) Yagjian, a son, Marc Yagjian of Winchester; a daughter, Tanya Yagjian of Winchester; and a brother, Jacob of Medford.

Born in Worcester, he lived in Winchester for several years.

The Aram Bedrosian Funeral Home, 558 Mt. Auburn st., Watertown directed arrangements.

Professional news

The seventh Annual Conference on Multiple Sclerosis is scheduled for Oct. 22 from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at Freeport Hall in Dorchester.

The organization has worked with the townspeople to implement many changes including zoning, absentee ballots for small town elections, improved telephone service in towns serviced by several telephone companies, follow-up of the Lakes Region Planning Commission's reports concerning water control and pollution.

The United Associations has some 800 members residing in the islands and mainland of the lower part of Lake Winnepesaukee.

Mrs. Barone was born in Winchester and has been active in local affairs for many years. She authored the book "Navy's Joe Bellino" and was chairman of a reception for John A. Volpe while he was governor and resided in this town.

A past town meeting member, she was an elected member of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee for eight years serving as Chairman of its Executive Committee.

In game of halves

Sachems squeeze by Belmont, 8-6

Sunday's game was, to say the least, a game of halves. From the half-filled stands to the half of a half time show, (Belmont's band was not present), it was to be a day in which nothing was to be completed properly.

The problems of the day might have originated on Saturday, when the scheduled game against Belmont was postponed due to the weather conditions.

The Sachems might have been psyched up for the Saturday contest. When the game was held on Sunday, they could not completely get their act together, though they did win.

And the same goes for the fans, few of whom showed.

Anyway, the Sachem's 8-6 victory over the Belmont Marauders does secure the second place Winchester position for another week.

Winchester's potent offense was clogged by turnovers, critical turnovers. The major ones stranded the Sachem's inside the Belmont 20 yard line twice, and the other fumble led to the Marauder's only touchdown of the afternoon.

"Thank heavens for our defense," said a less than ecstatic Winchester Coach, "without them we might have lost another game."

The Sachems defense was (again) the factor behind the victory. Lennie Bellino, Tom Murray, and Rob Cooke combined to harass the Belmont backfield the entire day.

When the Marauder's could not run, they threw. But the Sachem defensive secondary was ready and allowed just three completions for 43 yards. Dave Guarnaccia and John McPhee anchored the defensive backfield, with McPhee hauling in his first interception of the year.

Winchester's offense can not be so commended. Winchester managed only 187 yards total offense which when compared to the two previous weeks, 245 and 328 yards respectively, is not a pleasant thought.

There was no single key to the Sachems offensive troubles. The wet ground and the Belmont defense which shut off the outside are two possible explanations.

Though Winchester's offense suffered some difficulties, Belmont's offense was also not exempt from mistakes. In the first half alone the two teams switched possession seven times. Winchester controlled the ball and the half, but still came up short as Belmont converted a Winchester fumble into six points.

The Marauder's regained possession of the ball after Mark Sacco had recovered Dave O'Neil's fumble on the Sachem 41 yard line. Belmont's John Lakin and Steve Demarco, the Marauder quarterback, carried twice for a first down on the Winchester 30-yard line.

Demarco then completed a 17-yard aerial to Chris Starr coming out of the backfield to position the Marauders on the Sachem 13-yard line.

Mike Sacco carried once for five yards followed by Demarco's seven yards in two carries. Chris Trelogan then punched through to pay dirt.

The point after attempt failed when the snap to the holder went high. The Marauder's defended their lead to end the half leading 6-0.

Winchester opened the third quarter in much the same position as they ended the first half. They controlled the ball for the entire quarter with no reward for their efforts.

With 2:10 remaining in the quarter, Steve Smith recovered a Belmont fumble at the midfield stripe. Tom Murray carried four times for 23 yards, and Don McMillan picked up two more to end the quarter with Winchester poised on the Marauder 24 yard line.

Winchester rolled off five more plays, including a pass by O'Neil to Steve Wolfe, before Murray danced in from the Belmont 13 yard line.

The Sachems faked the point after kick as O'Neil caught the snap from center Red Campbell in the holder's position, stood up and drilled a pass to Murray for two points.

The conversion provided the Sachem margin of victory, which the staunch Winchester defense protected to end the game.

Officers elected

Winchester Boat Club awards trophies at annual banquet

Following a traditional chowder party, the Winchester Boat Club held its annual meeting at the clubhouse Friday, with more than 100 members in attendance.

Annual reports were presented by club officers, directors and fleet captains.

A moment of silence was observed by the membership in honor of the late secretary of the WBC, Everett D. Littlefield, who served the club for many years in various capacities.

Commodore Gerard P. Donahoe and trophy Chairman John M. Harrington Jr. presented the 1978 awards to the following members:

Commodore's Trophy (most helpful)—Dorothy E. Dobbins; Sidney Burr Memorial Trophy (most improved sailor)—Michele M. Adams; James A. Newman Trophy (sportsmanship)—Richard C. Towle; George B. Field Trophy (best performance in off-site regattas)—Norman E. Towle; William L. Hall Memorial Trophy (outstanding performance)—Thomas Rafael; Clarence S.

Lyon Memorial Trophy—Martha M. Coakley; Walter C. Bolton Memorial Trophy—James A. Bowers family.

Also, the Shu-Shu-Gah Trophy was presented to Cathy McCarron by Vincent T. Berger, past commodore of the WBC and chairman of the Shu-Shu-Gah trustees.

Gifts in recognition of past services were presented to outgoing Commodore and Mrs. Donahoe and directors Ralph M. Swanson and Stanley F. Harms Jr.

The WBC officers elected for 1979 were as follows:

Commodore, George E. Dillon; vice commodore, Francis P. Furey; rear commodore, James A. Bowers; secretary, Gerard P. Donahoe; treasurer, William A. Wilde Jr. Directors elected were William J. Brady, Arthur F. Gast, John M. Harrington Jr., John A. Mills, Salvador Porras, Noel A. Thyson, Frank Van Ummerson, Walter Weylman, Richard P. Williamson, and Richard H. Young.

Spartanettes win one, tie one

In what turned out to be a battle of defenses, the Spartanettes, through the tremendous efforts of goalie Sarah Richardson, fullbacks Suzanne Cote and Paula Papastathis and Halfbacks Martha Davis, Kim Donlon, co-captain, and Maria Montouri, co-captain, successfully foiled all offensive play to defeat Lynch.

Though unable to score with the formidable Lynch defense, a determined effort was put forth by forwards Liz Bracken, Karen Brown, Julie Gibbons, Kristen McNamara, Melissa Mende, Beth Miara and Patty Taylor.

Against east Watertown, all was even at the half. However, the Spartanettes were soon on the move and tied the game through a goal scored by Kim Donlon. With pressure constantly being applied by forwards Liz Bracken, Karen Brown, Kim Brown, Julie Gibbons, Kristen McNamara, Melissa Davis, Kim Donlon and Maria Montouri the McCall Spartanettes gained a 3-1 advantage through the scoring efforts of Beth Miara and Maria Montouri to end the game with a 3-1 win.

Fine aggressive defensive work was displayed by Suzanne Cote, Paula Papastathis and Sarah Richardson.

Tie Wakefield

Sachemettes field hockey holds off Lexington team

By ALICE GREEN

The WHS girls' field hockey team once again kept spectators, coaches and JV members on their toes and cheering for a victory. The thrilling battle was played between first place Lexington and Winchester at the WHS field last Wednesday, the 11th, and the final score was 1-1.

A vigorous defense and determined forward line played to the very best of their ability, as was necessary against Lexington's skill. It was Winchester's gutsy spirit that led them to mar Lexington's perfect record of 7-0-0.

Left inner Kebbie Bosco scored Winchester's goal in the first minute of play. The early lead put a new light on the game that many thought would be a undoubted blow to Winchester's record.

Minutes later, though, Lexington tied up the game with a skillfully maneuvered corner play. The score remained the same right until the end of the battle.

Both teams played stubbornly; Lexington persistently shot on goal and Winchester was always there to block it up.

Goalie Nella Barrow consistently knocked, whacked and kicked the ball away from the cage, but at one point, late in the second half, she fought for authority over the ball too far away from the net. Lexington dragged it by her and took a biting shot on goal. Fortunately fullback Alice Greene was there to block it and drive it out of jeopardy.

Winchester had their chance for glory when Beth Noble was called on to make a penalty shot on goal. With a quick jump and exceptional reactions, Lexington's goalie was able to block it.

When time was called, Lexington departed with disappointed grimaces while Winchester was satisfied, if not elated.

Girls' JV also tied with a score of 0-0. The quality of play was about equal and kept Winchester's self esteem up.

Winchester vs Wakefield

Perhaps the Sachems used up all their spirit against Lexington, or maybe the work load was especially heavy that week, but it's for sure that their usual zip(?) was lacking in the game against Wakefield last Friday. Their recent achievement and Wakefield's lovely, smooth green invited a boost to Winchester's record, but another 1-1 tie resulted.

Wakefield's left wing scored first by lifting the ball over Winchester's sticks and into the net.

Not to be intimidated, Winchester got it back in the same half and the score remained constant until the anticlimactic end. Left inner Debbie Bosco tied it up for the Sachems.

Wakefield played with the pizzazz absent from the Winchester squad, while the Sachems reacted slowly and awkwardly. Their clumsy feet and high sticking called for many free hits in Wakefield's favor.

A Manny for fall seasons

By BILL HART

Five disappointed men were talking quietly about the weather and tomorrow's game when I walked into the coaches' room at the Winchester High School on Saturday, October 14 at 11:30 a.m. It had the appearance of a Wednesday night prayer meeting at a local church.

"What's happening?" I asked.

"Game called," said Manny. "We play Belmont tomorrow. I hope like hell that they aren't tough on Sunday."

Earl Johnson, assistant coach, was sitting in an old dilapidated couch. On the other end, in a more relaxed position, was the former coach of 37 years, Hank Knowlton. Tipping his chair and leaning against the wall was sophomore Coach Mike Houghton. Coach Tom Kline, the other assistant, sat more formally in a wooden chair as though he was about to take a final blue book examination. Manuel Marshall, the head football coach of the Winchester Sachems, was at his desk spinning in a swivel chair.

Manny Marshall has been the head coach of the Winchester high school varsity team for 11 years. Earl Johnson, inside line coach, was at Manny's side from the start. Both came up through the ranks as football coaches from the McCall Junior High School. They were together for three additional years, '64-'67. The two have been a team for a total of 14 years; a little less than Johnny Carson and Ed McMahon of the Tonight Show.

Coach Tom Kline came along in 1972 to work with the line backers and defensive ends. These three comprise the troika of the red and black.

Manny lives in Chelmsford. He has four children. One is attending U. Mass; another is a senior at Chelmsford High School; two others, ages 10 and 11, are in the elementary school. Both Manny's and Earl's wives become sacrifices between mid-August and November.

The Sachems lost their first game to Natick. They tied Reading at six-all. Things looked pretty gloomy for a team that was considered to be a strong contender for the Middlesex League Championship.

"I've got a bunch of good kids," said Manny. "The attitude of the team is great and the boys will play to their capabilities."

Winchester took the next two games and are 2-0-1 in league competition. "However, the tough part of the schedule is before us," said Manny.

"The only reason for playing football is to capture the Middlesex League Championship," said Manny. Coach Knowlton nodded his head in agreement. "If you play, you might as well be a winner. Why be a loser?" Manny said convincingly.

"The boys work 10 hours each week beyond their regular classroom schedule," Manny continued.

"Ten?" questioned Earl. "Much more than that!"

"Not only do they have to keep academically, but they must put in many hours beyond their regular schedule for that one game each week," Manny said looking at Earl for his approval. "So why not be a winner?" Manny said swivelling his chair to look at me.

"There's the classroom experience and the field experience. Both play an important part in the growth of a kid. Both are different — both are necessary... Manny hypothesized. Earl jumped in on this statement. "I teach math in the classroom and football on the field. In the classroom the atmosphere is different. When a kid is on the field you get to really know him."

"The kids want to be here," Manny said. "Friday night sessions, after school, all for the interest of playing football. There's very little recognition for them. They are honest, interested in playing high school football. And I am interested in teaching them; in helping them grow. If you can't teach, which comes first, you can't coach."

Manny has coached football, basketball, baseball and track. He has no future plans to go on but only to coach at the high school level. According to Manny, this is where coaching is at. At a higher level, you don't get a chance to coach. It's all done for you by specialists. In high school, you work with the kids, side by side, watch them grow, and bring out their character. Not develop it. It's already there.

Coach Kline nodded to Manny. "Let's go. The boys are waiting for us in the gym."

We went upstairs to the gymnasium. The mercury vapor lights were beginning to brighten. In the semi-darkness, I could make out the form of 48 boys clad in their uniforms, clapping their hands in unison. They were getting ready for another workout.

Manny walked over to the boys and called them together in a huddle. He talked to them for a few minutes and they clapped, once, and took their places with precision and discipline. Sunday is Belmont. Another practices session toward the Middlesex League Championship.

VHS Cross Country defeat Stoneham

By MARK COSTELLO

In a crucial meet they had to win, the VHS Cross Country team went out and defeated a fierce Stoneham squad by 21 points, 20-41, in a victory that was a real triumph for the team. In desperate contention for a winning season, with a record of three wins and three losses, the team is now in the unenviable position of having three remaining dates and needing to win two of them. If 1978 is to be a winning year, the team must defeat Belmont, Stoneham, and either Belmont or Stoneham, (they are favored), and either upset Lexington in Lexington, or upset a young Woburn team, in Woburn.

In this meet, the varsity took four out of five first five positions en route to an easy victory over Stoneham. It was held in near perfect conditions in Winchester last Tuesday.

As generally predicted, captain Andy Wilsack won the Varsity race by a comfortable margin. Wilsack's three-mile time 16:34 was good enough to out distance the rest of the field and 16 seconds faster than it of his closest competitor, the second place finisher, Thomas Harrigan of Stoneham.

Coming in third overall and second on Stoneham was senior Jim Wilber. Wilber, a number one two-miler on Winchester's indoor and outdoor track teams last year, ran one of his fastest times ever, 16:56.

Another veteran of the two-mile, Joe Flynn, was 4th in 17:21. Finishing fifth, in 18:32, was sophomore Tom Derry.

Derry is a runner of rare promise. In his sophomore year, however, he is showing promise of the wanton and glaring inequity of Winchester's non-existent cross country track program. It is indeed a sorry state of affairs when a once proud track town produces in nearly half a decade, only one sophomore cross-country runner worth real mention; Jan Oehm, Andy Wilsack and Tom Derry.

While town achievements in any sport should ideally take a backseat to the mental and social development of those individuals involved in it, it remains tantalizingly true that the cost would be minor. Any slight expenses incurred in establishing this program would be swiftly recouped in the form of the vast developmental benefits reaped by the children attending school in this town.

In the race against Stoneham, Rob Flynn was seventh in 18:03 followed by Dave Demars in his fastest time ever of 18:10 and Mark Costello in 18:14.

Placing 11th for Winchester in 18:21 was Greg Cummings. Tom Doocey was 12th in 18:31. Running the fastest race of his life and establishing himself as a fixture on the varsity team was junior Steve Quinn. Quinn's time was 18:32 and his placing was 13th.

Although seriously depleted by the seemingly permanent transfer to the varsity of Quinn and Demars, the junior varsity squad made a strong showing against Stoneham on Tuesday.

Like any successful group, when deprived by circumstances of their leaders, they simply found new ones. They found them Tuesday in Jim Connolly and John Provenzano.

Stoneham won the JV race, with junior John Polcari first in 18:56. Jim Connolly rose mightily to the crisis by coming in second. Connolly's time 19:00 is by far the finest he has ever clocked. Connolly's teammate, sophomore John Provenzano nipped several seconds off previous best and took a third in 19:10. Stoneham took 4th and 5th.

Phil Kirkpatrick was 6th in 20:03 followed by Peter Delgreco at 20:06, John Ward at 20:30 and Jim Obrien at 20:46. Rick Jarvis was next in 21:01, followed by Jim Cullen at 21:02 and Greg Brown at 21:08.

The next meet for both cross country teams is scheduled for tomorrow at home against Belmont. All meets, home or away, begin at 3.

WHS runners in road race

By MARK COSTELLO

Beneath forbidding grey skies that promised a prodigious rainfall and eventually produced it with a vengeance, the top 14 runners on Winchester High School cross country team travelled to Franklin Park in Boston to compete in the prestigious Catholic Memorial Road Race last Saturday.

Second only to the state championships to be held there Oct. 28th, the Catholic Memorial drew more than 50 teams from every New England state. Nearly 250 runners compete in the Varsity division two race alone.

The weather for the race was the worst in memory. When the team arrived in Franklin Park it was raining steadily, but as the day progressed the skies showed signs of clearing and the rain slackened. Soon after the start of the varsity race at 11, however, the heavens opened up and rained in earnest.

Despite an awesome field of runners and perilous weather conditions, Winchester did surprisingly well.

Andy Wilsack won a medal by placing 24th in 15:31. Joe Flynn was 59th in 16:18 and Tom Derry was 77th in 16:29. Mark Costello was 97th in 16:49 followed by Rob Flynn, who was 116th in 17:02. Late minute varsity entry, Tom Doocey was 134th in 17:17 and Greg Cummings was 140th in 17:26.

In the Division two Junior Varsity race, in a field of over 250 runners, Dave Demars was 67th in 17:10. Steven Quinn was next, 88th in 17:28, ahead of John Provenzano who was 104th in 17:43. Rick Jarvis was 133rd in 18:03 and Jim Connolly was 153rd in 18:20. Phil Kirkpatrick was 161st in 18:39. Peter Delgreco was 183rd in 19:12.

Girls outpace Burlington, Reading

by DONNA FARRELL

Winchester High School's Girls Cross Country team solidly beat both Burlington and Reading in Middlesex League action.

The Schems hosted Burlington Oct. 3, and in one of the most bizarre cross country meets ever held, defeated the Red Devils 20-39. On Oct. 6, Winchester girls traveled to Reading, where they demolished Reading High's team by a score of 15-40.

The Winchester-Burlington meet started off normally, and most of the runners completed the race unaware that anything had gone wrong while they battled for position on Winchester's rocky, hilly course.

But for Winchester's top competitor Sara Folsch and Burlington's number one runner, Lynn Farr, the meet seemed like a nightmare. Folsch was unable to complete the race due to an aggravated respiratory problem. She dropped out at the halfway point, leaving Farr in the lead. But Farr never made it to the finish line either, as she became lost about two-thirds of the way into the course.

Coach Joe Cantillon believes youths playing in the Fells area moved the tail markers which he had set up just prior to the race. With nobody to follow, Farr came to a fork in the course where the stakes had been moved, and unfortunately chose the wrong path.

Winchester's Michelle DeMars, running behind Farr, suddenly noticed that Farr was out of sight, but thought that she had just gotten too far ahead to be seen. DeMars went on to win the race however, but when she finished, found that both stopwatches used to time the meets had malfunctioned, and no times were available! Although times are not used in scoring, they are extremely valuable for runners, allowing them to evaluate their individual performances.

Coming in second was Winchester's Lauren Fryklund, who, while only a sophomore, has had an excellent season, and shows tremendous potential for the upcoming years. Burlington took third place, but Winchester's Sally Weylman and Barbara Myers (both juniors) captured fourth and fifth. Burlington runners placed sixth and seventh, and Winchester's Donna Farrell crossed the line in eighth place, rounding Winchester's score out to 20.

Also finishing for Winchester were Amy Anderson in ninth place and Lisa Griecce in 10th. Kathy Cullen came in 12th followed by Diane Franchi, Sandy Earlam and Sue Gunby in 13th, 14th, and 15th positions. Despite the loss of Farr and two of her teammates, and the lack of times, the coaches decided Winchester was clearly the victor with a score of 20-39.

Reading Meet

The Winchester girls made their arrival in Reading known by capturing the top five slots, completely shutting the Reading girls out, with a classic display of cross country pack running.

In first place was Sara Folsch, finishing in 16:56. Michelle DeMars finished only seconds behind Folsch with a time of 17:06. Barbara Myers, Winchester's sensational track runner, took advantage of Reading's track finish, grabbing third place in 17:09. In fourth place was Lauren Fryklund, right behind Myers with a time of 17:11. Capping the victory for Winchester was Sally Weylman in 17:17.

Following the Winchester group was a pack of Reading runners. They finished by capturing the next five positions before the next Winchester girls finished.

In 11th place was Lisa Griecce in 18:28, followed by Donna Farrell, finishing 12th in 18:45. Amy Anderson took 13th in 19:11 while Diane Franchi and Sandy Earlam finished 14th and 15th respectively. After one more Reading girl finished, Nancy Lane called it a day for Winchester with a 21-00 finish.

By chalking up these two victories, the Sachemettes have a season record of 4-1, and show no signs of weakening. They still have a couple of tough teams to face though, and the season is by no means over. But the Sachemets aren't through yet either!

BONNELL RT3, WINCHESTER

Soccer club travels to BC in tournament

The Winchester Soccer Club's representative in the BAYS "C" Division journeyed to Boston College Oct. 14 to play in a round-robin tournament.

This boys' team had won the North Division I of BAYS in June and was invited by the Boston College Soccer Coach and N.E. Team player, Ben Brewster.

Twelve teams were to play in three groups with the winners to play semis and finals before the BC-UConn game Saturday night.

Heavy rains caused several teams to withdraw. Winchester, therefore, played the three toughest teams — Holliston, Framingham and Wellesley in the morning group.

Playing Holliston in Alumni Stadium on the artificial turf, the Winchester team showed a little rust until Geoff McIntosh scored after a beautiful pass from Ed Brickley.

Brickley then made it 2-0 by settling a David Donnellan pass at his feet, turning and driving a hard shot to the Holliston goalkeeper's left. Ricky Parker scored from the left wing, converting another David Donnellan shot on the rebound for a final score of 3-0.

The Framingham team proved to have a tough defense, matched only by the Winchester crew of Mark Herlihy, Drew Bairnsfather, Shawn Collins, Bill Derry and Charley Cowin, who effectively bottled up the Framingham defense.

McIntosh received a John Donnellan throw-in, dribbled in the goal area and drilled a shot past the Framingham goalie.

Winchester then scored on a direct kick just outside the penalty area. Framingham fought back with a late second-half goal to end this game in a 1-1 tie. Heavy rain hampered the play of both teams.

The premier game of the day was then played at noon in light rain between unbeaten Wellesley, 1978 MYSA Champs and Winchester, unbeaten BAYS Champs.

Wellesley had beaten Chelmsford 7-0 and Holliston 2-0. Wellesley started with a strong attack, floating a striker at mid field. Mark Herlihy marked this player well, effectively neutralizing his effort.

David McCall, Winchester goalkeeper, held Wellesley scoreless, stopping several hard drives from close in. A questionable "hands" penalty was called against Winchester and Wellesley converted the penalty kick to take the lead 1-0.

Strong halfback play by Nathan Bokil, David Johanson, Ricky Suvak and David and John Donnellan was countered by a tough Wellesley mid field.

Winchester had a chance to tie the game on a penalty shot, but the Wellesley goalkeeper anticipated David Donnellan's shot and smothered it at the side of the goal. Wellesley then finally drove a goal past David McCall who had stopped several previous hard drives.

This put Wellesley ahead by 2-0.

Winchester failed to concede and fought back with a goal resulting from a John Donnellan direct kick from about 25 yards. The Wellesley goalkeeper could not handle the hard shot which went in the upper right-hand corner of the goal.

This goal buoyed the Winchester team who mounted a furious attack led by the forward line of Parker, Brickley, McIntosh, Scott Falzano, Kevin Driscoll and Bobby Paine.

Driscoll repeatedly dug out clearing passes from his midfielders; but, the Wellesley defenders managed to hold off the determined Winchester team until time ran out.

Each boy received his BAYS trophy from Brewster along with a congratulatory handshake and applause from parents and friends who braved the driving rain to cheer on the team.

Fall days are perfect for romping through the grass, as Stephanie Mobbs, Laurie Tucci, and Maura Kennedy discover on a recent sunny day in Winchester.

McCall soccer undefeated

In its first season of play the McCall Junior High School Soccer team is unbeaten after four games.

The team opened its season with a 2-1 victory over Lynch Junior High School with Ned White scoring the winning goal.

They then traveled to Woburn and with four different players scoring, came home with a 4-0 victory over Kennedy.

In its third game McCall trounced Watertown 6-0 with Eric Lowenstein and Eric Paskerian each scoring two goals.

In its most recent game the team fought to a 0-0 tie with Lexington's Muzzey.

The soccer co-captains are Ned White and Mark Steranka.

The team is coached by David LaFauci.

Lynch girls field hockey record 2-0-1

The 1978 Lynch girls field hockey team has flown through the first three games of the season with a 2-0-1 record.

The girls won their first game against Melrose 3-0 Sept. 25. On Sept. 27, the girls traveled to Arlington to play Watertown West for another shutout, 2-0. But when they came up against rival McCall Oct. 2, neither team could score, and the game ended a 0-0 tie.

Three goals have been scored by Betsy Keyes, one by Martha Doherty, and one by Deirdre McCarthy. Goalies Karen Muckley and Lisa Wiley have not been scored upon and have put in superior performances.

Members of the team include co-captains Martha Doherty and Katy Jopy, along with Margaret Boland, Deirdre Buckley, Lee Ann Muehler, Meg Follen, Ann Hitchcock, Christine Johnson, Betsy Keyes, Phyllis Porter, Sonia Stryker, all ninth graders.

Eighth graders SHEILA Corkery, Karen Buckley, Tricia Corkery, Susan Ferry, Lauren Fidalgo, Christine Franchi, Christine Grossi, Laura McNeely, Arleen Murray, Kim Pierce, and Lisa Wiley; and seventh grader Sheila Connolly.

Managers are Nulifer Taspinar and Anna Formichella. Mary Boghigian is the coach. The girls played Tuesday against Lexington Diamond at home and play tomorrow at Wakefield, Tuesday at East Watertown, next Thursday at home against West Watertown, and Oct. 31 at McCall. Games are played at Lynch Field and start at 3:30 p.m.

No one ever said soccer was an easy sport, and the WHS girls' team plays with the toughest. Here Mary Ruyssos gets the better of her Lexington opponent in heading the ball. Other team members are Christine Driscoll, Barbara Jacobs, and Carol Donahoe.

REAL ESTATE by Ann Blackham

MOTIVATIONS FOR BUYING

Strong forces are keeping the single home market very much alive despite the increasing price trend over the past several years. A probe of the motivations behind current sales has found that buyers are convinced that home ownership is worth the financial sacrifice for environmental reasons. A better place for their children to live and the farther from the city the better.

A second powerful influence is inflation. Buyers are convinced that the housing inventory is too short to see any significant over supply or reduction in value in their lifetime.

Another influence, not to be ignored, is retirement. In many cases, home ownership offers the only hope to enter retirement in a condition other than poverty. Since Social Security was designed as a supplement and not sufficient to live on, a free and clear home, or the investment potential of home equity, provides a solid base for retirement.

In all your real estate needs - buying - selling - rentals - appraisals - consultation - please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 THOMPSON ST., WINCHESTER. PHONE 729-1663. We're here to help!

Winchester Hospital recipient of AABB accreditation

Winchester Hospital has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Jack R. Hunter, senior vice president.

Accreditation follows an on-site inspection by representatives of the association, and establishes that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within Winchester Hospital meets or exceeds standards set by the AABB. By successfully meeting the requirements, Winchester joins more than 2,000 facilities across the United States that have earned the accreditation rating and recognition.

Vice President Hunter explained, "The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but like many others, our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that exceeds governmental regulation alone. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence and to provide higher quality blood, blood products and service to patients," he said.

The standards for blood banks and transfusion services were set by a panel of experts in the field, composing the AABB Committee on Standards, and are enforced by the AABB National Committee on Inspection and Accreditation. These standards set the level of proficiency for blood banks and transfusion services in the United States as well as providing the basis of practice for similar facilities around the world.

High school update

Seniors protesting this year's yearbook

By CLAIRE FITZGERALD

There has been great static this past week at WHS between the high school senior class and the year book staff.

This static arose when the seniors were informed that changes were to be made for the class of '79 yearbook. One of these changes is that individual pictures of all the underclassmen shall appear in this year's edition. The reason for this is according to the yearbook staff, so that the sophomores and juniors will purchase the yearbook (knowing that their picture will be in it).

Since the yearbook is supposed to be and always has been primarily for the seniors, many of the high school seniors feel that this new concept is unfair. So that the pictures may be added, the seniors are being deprived of the traditional length yearbook. The class wills must be cut out all together and the superlatives will be shortened to a mere 11.

These decisions have been made throughout the year by the 10 or 11 students on the year book staff without keeping the rest of the student body informed or updated on such changes.

At a senior class assembly Friday in the high school auditorium, the news was broken to the class, and everyone in the auditorium went wild. Seniors yelled that they shouldn't have to get "ripped off" just because the yearbook staff wants to do better business.

When the year book staff was asked why they hadn't kept the rest of the student informed of the seemingly sudden changes, and why the class wasn't allowed to vote on the matter, they replied with, "Well, if you all seem so concerned with your yearbook, then why didn't you join the year book staff?"

Then the staff and Miss Austin, head of the staff, told the senior class that it is too late to do anything about it now.

Many concerned seniors are going to do something about it. A meeting was scheduled for Wednesday with the seniors and the yearbook staff. Hopefully something will develop.

If a compromise cannot be reached, then more problems may arise. When asked about the situation, one senior told me that if nothing is done, he and a lot of his classmates definitely will not buy their own yearbook.

High school student union

holds two entertainment events

The Winchester High School Student Union sponsored two entertainment events this past week.

Coney Island Basketball, played on Thursday night, was a smashing success. The Winchester students were pitted against the faculty members from both junior high schools and the high school. The final score, 34-32 in favor of the students, was indicative of the tremendous play between the two teams.

The game itself is played on oversized tricycles, thereby forcing each team to utilize a passing attack. The student squad was led by Kathleen Driscoll, David McCarthy, Dana Dupuis, and John Shattuck. Kathleen and Dana were the scoring leaders while John and David provided expert court savvy.

The faculty was the pregame favorite, but like the Philadelphia 76-ers, they suffered from too much individual talent. Vice Principal Vandy French, former captain of the Tuft's basketball team, showed his athletic prowess as he repeatedly tried to coordinate the faculty attack. French's court leadership was complemented by the scoring and rebounding of Lynch Principal Robert Fitzgerald. However, despite their noble efforts, the teachers could not secure the victory.

The second student union event was a disco dance on Saturday night. Discotronics provided the music entertainment, and twice during the evening held contests. The first contest was won by Carol Thomas, a Winchester high school senior who successfully counted the various number of Beate tunes played. The second contest was a disco dance contest won by Robin Getson and Tony DiSilva.

Both events were a financial success with proceeds going to the general student fund.

About town

William G. Meserve of Winchester served as national chairman of the recently completed 1977-78 Tufts University Annual Fund appeal.

The appeal, which utilized the efforts of 954 alumni volunteers nationwide, raised a record $705,538 in unrestricted gifts, surpassing the previous high set last year by more than 22 percent. The appeal raised more than $4.3 million in total funds, also a record.

A 1962 graduate of Tufts, Meserve has been active in several other alumni-related activities, including the Silvanus Packard Society, the Tufts Jumbo Club and the Tufts Alumni Council, which he at one time chaired.

Two Winchester volunteers were honored recently for their work at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston. Raymond Barry of Albamont road was cited for his work in the hospital's architecture department; Clara Real of Chandler street was cited for work in physical therapy.

Paul E. McManus, of 46 Church st., recently received his master of science degree in public administration from Shippensburg State College, Shippensburg, Penn.

McManus received his bachelor's degree from Holy Cross College in 1959.

Ellen Elizabeth Knight of Winchester recently received her doctorate from Brigham Young University. She was among 2,024 graduates who received diplomas at the 103rd summer commencement exercises Aug. 18.

Two local brothers were winners in the Somerville Marathon held Sunday, in which about 240 runners competed.

Amy Cracknell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Cracknell, 145 Mt. Vernon st., is the winner of the second annual drawing for the Harriet Hootor Memorial Scholarship, which entitles her to a scholarship for the 1978-79 season at the Harriet Hootor Winchester Ballet School, 19 Thompson st.

The scholarship drawing is in memory of the late former famous ballerina, Harriet Hootor, who began the Winchester Ballet School 28 years ago. It is now under the direction of Mary Bigelow-Vasel.

Miss Cracknell, a sixth-grade student at the Lincoln School, has been a pupil at the ballet school for four years. Her sister, Rachel Cracknell, is also studying ballet at the school.

Coming in first in the 8-10-year-old group was Shawn Herlihy, 10. Brother Mark, 13, took first in the age 11-13 category. The Herlihy's live on Johnson road.

Al Longo and Mrs. Frances D'Andria, both of Winchester, will be serving on the committee for the Twelfth Annual Banchetto sponsored by the Friends of Don Orione Home of East Boston.

The event will take place Nov. 11 at the Chateau de Ville in Framingham. A special added attraction to the Banchetto this year is the Mitzi Gaynor Show.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Fay of Winslow road were spending the weekend with their daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Michael Ciarcia of Columbus, Ohio, when the dream of every golfer came true on the twelfth hole of the Indian Run East Country Club for Al as he scored a hole in one on the 225 yard hole using his driver.

Barbara Thomas of Winchester will be exhibiting some of her cats at the Liberty Tree Cat Fancier's Show Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Minuteman Regional Vocational High School in Lexington.

Stanley H. Vaughn of 19 Ledyard rd., was honored by John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. as a regional sales leader.

A member of the company's Somerville district office Vaughn was among 170 representatives from the company's Northern New England Region who qualified to attend the Regional Honor Club conference at Tamiment, Pa. Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

Prof. Thompson joined the research project at MIT in 1955 which eventually led to the completion of the five megawatt facility at MIT. The reactor "first went critical" on July 21, 1958. Thompson, who headed the research reactor design group for the project, was an engineer and an environmentalist.

At one time, he headed a team of American scientists at the SALT talks and was one of the American representatives to two of the International Atomic Energy conferences in Geneva. He also served at the Hon. US Atomic Energy Commissioner. He was killed in a plane crash at Lake Mead on the Nevada-Arizona border in 1970. Thompson lived in Winchester for 22 years.

A framed photographic portrait was presented to Mrs. Thompson at ceremonies at MIT in July. The portrait is to be hung in the foyer of the laboratory where Prof. Thompson worked at MIT.

The Friends of Maryknoll will hold their fourth annual brunch and international market Nov. 3 from noon-4 p.m. at the Sheraton Boston Hotel at the Prudential Center. Local residents Mr. and Mrs. William Sweeney are helping organize the market.

Proceeds from the event will directly benefit the St. Vincent's Home for the Amerasian Children in Incheon, Korea. For tickets and more information, call Mrs. John Lawlor, 322-9372.

Director Hester Keller will be coaxing the best acting she can out of Curtain & Cue Society members at the high school for the next few weeks in preparation for performances of "You Can't Take It With You" Nov. 17 and 18. (Photo by D.K. Funkhouser)

Cat show Sunday at Minuteman Voke

The Minuteman Regional Vocational High School located off Rte 2A in Lexington, will play host to over 300 purebred and domestic cats on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. This event is being sponsored by the Liberty Tree Cat Fancier Club.

Champion and novice, purebred and ordinary cats and kittens, popular and scarce breeds will all be competing for ribbons and trophies before six judges from the United States and Canada.

Highlighting the show will be the presentation of the Morris Award to the best household pet. This award is dedicated to the memory of America's most famous feline celebrity, Morris the "finicky" cat, who recently died at the age of 17.

A large portion of the proceeds from this event will be donated to the Morris Animal Foundation for research into feline diseases and to various local humane societies.

The Gourmet Kitchen

A melting pot of meals

By JOANNE REISS

What do spaghetti, sukiyaki, sopapillas, shark fin soup and sauce Bernaise all have in common?

You can learn how to make them at Jeanne Tahnk's new cooking school, The Gourmet Kitchen, on Main street.

Ms. Tahnk, well-known for her Chinese cooking classes here in town and for appearances on WBZ-TV Channel 4's "Women 77" as a regular guest chef, has moved to a new location at 910 Main st. as of Sept. 1. The spacious, newly refurnished quarters include a teaching and catering kitchen with a well-stocked cookware shop.

The month-old cooking school offers a variety of classes in French, Chinese, Italian, Japanese, and Mexican cuisine, including a chef from the North End and a native French-woman. There will also be special demonstrations such as how to prepare a Thanksgiving Feast and how to use a food processor. In addition to all of this, a special chef from the New England area will give a demonstration once a month. This month's guest chef is from the noted Blue Strawberry Restaurant in Portsmouth, NH.

The five-session courses run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday afternoon. They are relatively small with only eight to 10 students per class, and the age ranges anywhere from 16 through 80.

One of the youngest and most enthusiastic students is Cynthia Covino, a student at Winchester High School. After attending The Gourmet Kitchen, she has decided to become a chef and will be going to cooking school in New York next fall. But for now, she prepares exquisite meals for her parents when they entertain.

Ms. Tahnk is a firm believer in teaching the young how to cook because they will be able to use their skills when they leave home for college. She also feels that "the kids don't have anywhere to go in Winchester, so they need an outlet." "Besides," she says, "they will be able to help out their mothers with dinners."

In an effort to provide an outlet, Tahnk intends to begin two junior coeducational classes by the end of October. They will be held during the late afternoon hours for a nominal price. There will be eight, two-hour sessions including Chinese, French, and Italian cuisine.

Jeanne Tahnk, born and raised in Taiwan, has diplomas from several cooking schools which specialize in all types of Chinese cuisine. These include Sze-Chuan, Pekinese, Cantonese, and Mandarin cooking techniques.

In addition, Jeanne's school has been written up in Better Homes and Gardens, the Boston Globe, and the Herald American. Ms. Tahnk also lectures for Rotary and women's clubs in the Winchester area.

The Gourmet Kitchen has become so well-known that students come from as far as Salem, Marblehead, and New Hampshire to participate.

Ms. Tahnk says, "This is the first gourmet cooking school and shop in the New England area which gives professional advice and does catering for dinner parties." She continues, "If you want to make a request, please call 729-8027 or come in to visit our new location at 90 Main st. There's plenty of parking too."

"All courses consist of both demonstration and participation to familiarize the student with the many techniques of gourmet cooking," says Jeanne. Printed recipes are given to all students during the beginning of class, the meal is then prepared and eaten. Thus, by the end of class, students have a detailed menu for a luscious gourmet meal.

In addition, only "natives" teach cooking to give the student a true flavor of the country and its food. "The students learn a lot in these cooking classes and it is very entertaining for them," says Ms. Tahnk.

One of Jeanne's most frequent lecturers is Jacqueline Hill, a Winchester resident and native French-woman, who teaches the fine art of French cooking. She received her formal training in Brussels at Le Bayeux Restaurant. Impressed with Jeanne's speedy opening of the cooking school and cookware shop, Hill says about Tahnk, "What Jeanne wants, Jeanne gets."

A typical French cooking class consists of approximately eight students all intently studying Ms. Hill's every move. She describes each step in detail in her soft-spoken French accent. As Ms. Hill is quietly teaching at the stove surrounding her students, Tahnk is racing around the kitchen cleaning dishes, answering the telephone, and keeping her business in tact.

"People entertain more and more today at home because of the high price of restaurants," says Jeanne, "so now everyone wants to learn how to cook. All they need is a little guidance."

She continues, "After people learn how to cook, they can entertain at home and can show their friends how well they cook. It's a challenge and needs time and patience."

Tahnk's philosophy of cooking is: "We want to share our love of cooking with students. Our goal is to teach international cooking for a small price."

78 donate blood in two blood drives

Thanks to the efforts of hard-working members of the Sons of Italy and the Elks, 78 donors presented themselves at two Winchester Bloodmobiles over the weekend of Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

A total of 56 pints of blood were collected, making it "a most productive weekend" from the standpoint of replenishing the depleted Boston area blood supply.

Saturday's bloodmobile, sponsored by the Sons of Italy, resulted in the collection 36 pints of blood from 48 donors. Many lodge members helped to make the Bloodmobile a success. They included: Gus Baldacci, venerable; Tony Saraco; Bob Cintolo; Dom Saragosa; Tony Staffiere and Frank Antonuccio.

The following members of the Women's Lodge also worked at the Bloodmobile: Teresa Fiumara, venerable; Angie Tuttle; Angela Scafati; Sue Caputo; Kathy Johnson; Eleanor Yore and Peggy Perinick.

Sue Porter, a Red Cross volunteer registered nurse, was in charge of medical histories and Nancy Burgatti, a Red Cross volunteer, took temperatures.

A meat ball and pasta supper was served to all donors by chef Tony Staffiere and his assistants.

On Sunday, at the Winchester Elks Hall, 18 pints of blood were collected from 28 donors. John and Linda Mawn spearheaded the Elks blood drive, and prepared a supper for donors which included roast beef sandwiches. Red Cross volunteers who helped at the Elks Bloodmobile included: Grace Mahoney, Lou Maroney, Gertrude Parker, canteen workers; Diane Tracey and Monica DeBiase; temperature specialist Nancy Burgatti and Evelyn Trageser, volunteer registered nurse.

Donors at the Sons of Italy bloodmobile included: Peter S. Antonuccio, Philip J. Ardagno, Giustino R. Baldacci, Jeremiah A. Borsini, Jeremiah A. Borsini Jr., Joseph E. Capone, Paul A. Capone, Sue E. Caputo, Gregory M. Christo, and Robert P. Cintolo.

Also, Henry J. Davidson, Joseph S. Dischino, Americo Fiore, Rudolph V. Fiore, Teresa M. Fiumara, James V. Gambino, John J. Gambino, Katherine M. Gerade, Helen F. Hennelly, Samuel M. Kenton, and Edward L. Kintieen.

Also, Gaspare J. Lentine, Katherine M. Lentine, Paul F. Lentine, Carl A. Lombardi, Grace Mandeville, James Marrone, Laura S. Medeiros, James V. Michienzi, and Ann T. Miller.

Also, Joseph C. Pandolph, Antonio C. Paonessa, Charles W. Penna, Charles H. Perinick, Charles J. Potzka, Norman R. Richburg.

Mark Wilder honored for life scout rank

Mark Wilder was honored as a Life Scout, the rank just before Eagle Scout, at the awards ceremony Tuesday of Troop 503 at First Congregational Church.

Tom Funk was awarded the Star Scout rank. Charles Kenyon, Gerry Malloy and Mark Sobkowicz became First Class Scouts; Paul Cirignano, Geoffrey Fraser, John Kenney and Ken Maio became Second Class Scouts, while Peter Allison and Peter Conrad became Tenderfoot Scouts.

Earning their Scout progress award were Domenic DiVincenzo, Brian Foley, Jim Funk, Bill McCarter, Jay Rice and Bruce Schwartzman.

Matt Byron, Paul Cirignano, John Comita, Tom Davis, Pete Conrad, Chris Harrington, Ken Maio, Mark Rexrode, Mark Sobkowicz and Greg Quill each earned a skill award, while two went to Geoffrey Fraser, Charles Kenyon and Gerry Malloy and five to John Kenney.

John Comita, Pete Conrad, Geoffrey Fraser and Chris Harrington each received a merit badge. Earning two each were John Feeney, Bobby Moran, Mark Sobkowicz, and Greg Quill. David Krikorian, Ken Maio and Mark Rexrode each earned three merit badges; Chris Farrar, John Kenney and Gerry Malloy earned four, and Charles Kenyon earned five. Tom Funk was awarded six merit badges and Tim Howard, seven.

Tim Howard and Brian Feeney were elected to the Order of the Arrow.

Ross Farrar, who is now troop committee chairman, was presented with a gift in appreciation for his years as Scout Master. New Scout Master is John Cirignano. Assistant Scout Masters will be John Howard, Rich Conway, Rick Porter and Mike Kelliher.

The Board will consist of Frank Wilder, Bob Conrad, Roger Tietzsch, Tony Sobkowicz, Robert Shirley, Wally Gagel, Ken Tully, Ed Mitchell and Donna Funk. Tom Raphael is institutional representative.

The sign outside Area 1 Civil Defense Headquarters in Tewksbury reads: "You can and will survive and recover from man-made or natural disasters. This agency is concerned with you as an individual and as such, merits your wholehearted support."

Bill Conlon, Winchester's civil defense director, is looking for the same support. And, so far, he has received it.

Just two months after he was appointed to the state-mandated position, Conlon has developed a 20-page emergency operations plan for the town. The plan has been approved by the board of selectmen, Area 1 Civil Defense Headquarters, state civil defense headquarters, and is scheduled to meet final approval within two weeks from regional civil defense headquarters. Regional headquarters is the approving level of the federal government.

Area 1 CD director William Lennihan said Conlon has "done an outstanding job since he has taken over and I am very confident that Winchester's preparedness will be up there with the best of them."

Lennihan, a 16-year veteran of civil defense operations, continued his praise of Conlon. "I couldn't ask for better cooperation from Bill. He has attempted to the best of his ability to get Winchester's plan up to level and, as far as I am concerned, he has met the needs of the town and this office."

Lennihan said Winchester's civil defense status has been in "a state of flux" since John Blanchard, the town's CD director, retired in the early '70s.

"There's been good people in charge of civil defense, but they didn't seem to be getting the support and cooperation that Bill is getting. I think it has something to do with Bill's position. He is more familiar with town operations than the other directors," Lennihan said. Conlon is the town's water and sewer supervisor, and, as a result, has access to town operations and equipment and is familiar with town systems.

Section 13 of Chapter 639 of the Acts of 1950 requires all political subdivisions of the Commonwealth to hire a civil defense director and the 351 municipalities in the state are part of a civil defense network which is split into four areas. Area 1, of which Winchester is a part, encompasses northeastern Massachusetts and includes all of Essex County, four communities in Norfolk County, 34 communities in Middlesex County, and all of Suffolk County, or 86 communities in all.

Each area is further divided into sectors, and, up until 1975, each sector had a director. Now, due to budget limitations, only the area has a director. Lennihan's staff has been cut from 11 in 1975 to four today.

Area 2 controls southeastern Massachusetts; Area 3 central Massachusetts; and area 4, western Massachusetts.

Robert H. Cunningham is state civil defense director and he works out of state headquarters in Framingham. That facility, completed in 1963, is completely underground and is capable of surviving a nuclear explosion. Area 1 Civil Defense Headquarters in Tewksbury is located above ground on the Tewksbury State Hospital grounds.

Lennihan said Winchester should develop its own emergency operations facility and that 50 percent of its cost would be picked up by the federal government. He also said the government would pay half the operating costs as well.

Conlon said, "Sometime in the distant

'...I am very confident that Winchester's preparedness will be up there with the best of them'

William Lennihan

future, I would like to see an emergency operations center in Winchester." He said it is "a little premature" to be thinking about such a center now.

Lennihan said it's difficult convincing communities to spend money on civil defense operations. "Only when danger is imminent will they take great interest," he said.

Conlon could even be compensated for his services if the local government picks up half the tab. The federal government will pay the other half. "I would like to see Bill get paid," Lennihan said.

Conlon's plan for Winchester includes a general mission — "To insure the maximum survival of people and preservation of property in the Town of Winchester in the event of natural or man-made disasters" — situations and assumptions, organization, support, control, and special requirements. In addition, a detailed explanation of concept of operations, plan activation, and mission assignments are contained in the plan.

Under the concept of operations section of the plan, Conlon has divided it into three phases; an increased readiness phase and actions; an emergency phase and actions; and a recovery phase and actions. The plan also carries three attachments; an emergency operations chart of organization; maps of the area; and a change record.

The line of authority in a local state of emergency is the town's chief executive officer (town manager) with the selectmen to the civil defense director. In such cases, funds can be expended without going through the normal process for acquiring them, such as first getting approval through the finance committee. Also, vehicles may be removed from the street in a disaster situation and traffic regulations may be set up on order of the civil defense director through the chief officers.

In a state-wide emergency, more extraordinary powers are granted the Commonwealth's governor, as practiced for the first time in 25 years during the blizzard of '78 by Gov. Michael Dukakis.

In that situation, the line of authority is the governor, his public safety commission (Charles V. Barry Jr., director), the state director of civil defense (Cunningham), the area director of civil defense (Lennihan), the local executive officer (Thomas Groux), and the local civil defense director (Conlon).

Even though a declared local state of emergency does not carry unusual powers as does a state-wide emergency, state and federal officials are automatically notified of the local emergency through an elaborate civil defense communication network. "This network lets the proper officials know that a locality is in a very serious situation" and, through this knowledge, the officials may send out additional aid to the stricken community.

Whereas a local emergency notifies state and federal authorities on the situation, a state-wide emergency should tell citizens that the governor is in complete control of all state functions. For instance, if the local civil defense director orders something done, it is done per order of the governor. Every action taken by local and state authorities during a state of emergency is done under the name of the governor. "A lot of people do not realize the extent of the extraordinary powers given a governor in such a case," Lennihan said.

The governor can preempt any National Guard units within the state's borders in an emergency and a county sheriff can preempt the Guard in his county and a town manager can preempt them if the Guard is located in his town.

Lennihan, born and raised in Lynn and now living in Peabody, said it's important residents know their local civil defense plan. He said, "Right now, Winchester is in better shape because of Bill's involvement than ever before."

You can save a lot by borrowing money at Shawmut.

Save embarrassment.
We want to lend you money.
But we also realize how unnerving it can be to walk into a bank for a loan, big or small.
That's why at Shawmut, we'll do everything possible to lend you the amount you need. And we'll do so in a cheerful, professional manner.

So if you need a loan, by all means, don't hesitate to ask.

Save worry.
Shawmut offers a wide variety of loans, many of which can actually be tailored to fit your needs.
For example, when you get an installment loan at Shawmut, you can lower your monthly payments by spreading them over a longer period of time.
Or vice versa. And you can get installment loans for any good reason: a home improvement, a new car or van, a trip ... your reason.

We have a loan for it. Then with our Super-check, you can write yourself a loan, anytime, up to your available credit. The money is there when you need it.
And with Master Charge®, you can avoid carrying large amounts of cash for shopping or traveling. It's one of the most convenient ways to borrow frequently. All of which leaves you with little to worry about.

Save confusion.
If revolving loan agreements are a mystery to you, read Shawmut's.
Our new loan agreement forms for Super-check and Master Charge are written in a form you're sure to understand: plain English.
The language is crisp and concise. It's all in a pamphlet available to you in our lobbies.
Simplified language from Shawmut.

Save running around.
Getting to a bank can often be more difficult than getting a loan. You can save yourself this inconvenience by coming to any of the over 100 offices of the eight Shawmut banks.
From Salem to Brockton.
From Boston to Springfield.
We're all around so you don't have to run around.

Save money.
You can save money the very instant you become a Shawmut Way customer.

Unitarian Players on stage Nov. 9-11

Many amateur performers from Winchester will be featured in the melodrama "Ten Nights in a Barroom," this fall's presentation from the Unitarian Players.

The show will be presented Nov. 9, 10, and 11 at 8:15 p.m. in Metcalf Hall, Winchester Unitarian Church.

The production features musical numbers of the gay nineties and pianist Leslie Eggerling has an enthusiastic group following the beat.

Sydelle Pittas assists director Robert Storer in developing the choreography to fit the musical numbers into the dramatic sequences.

The intensified sentiment and exaggerated emotions of the melodrama appeal to young and old and all age groups are represented on stage. Ross Cunningham plays Tommy, the young shoeshine boy, and Pilar Pittas is Little Mary, the angel child who descends from heaven with forgiveness as the evil barroom is transformed into a bakery. The whole family will enjoy the happy ending, celebrated by the favorite old song, "Look for the Silver Lining."

Registration Tuesday for baton twirling

The Winchester Recreation Department will be conducting registration for its Baton Twirling Program Tuesday, at the Muraco School. Registration time for the Baton Twirling program is as follows:

Beginner, Grades 1-6, 2:30-3 p.m.

Advance, Grades 2-6, 3:30-4 p.m.

Brenda Gardner, who is a former state champion and registered N.B.T.A. (National Baton Twirling Association) teacher and judge, will be the instructor.

She has twirled two batons, two fire batons, flag and knife. She has an Associate Degree in Child Study from La Salle Junior College and has attended Lesley College in Cambridge.

Recycle!

Recycle in Winchester at the town dump off Swanton street.

Materials should be separated into the following categories: rags, used clothing, cans, newspapers, and glass. Glass must be sorted by color — amber, clear, and green. Cans and glass should be rinsed out.

The Massachusetts Open Meeting Law establishes that most meetings of public bodies are to be open to the public. This means anyone can attend, and whatever anyone who attends such a meeting says is a matter of public record, whether there are 100 persons in the audience or no other persons at all at the meeting.

Town hall focus of library exhibit

Winchester's historic Town Hall is the focus of the current exhibit on display in the lobby of the library. Coordinated through the Archival Center, the exhibit traces the history of the building through photographs and documents. The building celebrates the 90th anniversary of its opening this month.

The Town Hall housed the police "lock-up" until the current police station was built in 1914. The left wing, now the home of the town clerk, was an addition to the original plan and served the town as a library until the library building opened in 1931.

The Town Hall library offered a balconied stack area framed by a high-domed ceiling. The current selectmen's room was once the home of the Winchester Historical Society.

The impressive red brick building has always been a much photographed building and has appeared in nearly every pamphlet and book produced by the town over the years. The exhibit shows early photographs and architectural drawings, as well as documents from the cornerstone laying in 1887 and the opening ceremonies in 1888. A major focal point of the display is the large poster announcing the open house at the "new" Town Hall on October 20, 1888.

Another part of the display shows the diversity of the representation of the building on dishes, medallions, telephone books and Christmas cards.

The Archival Center would enjoy adding to its Town Hall collection. If you have any other memorabilia, you may donate it by calling archivist Susan Keats at 729-3063.

CSA meeting on kindergarten schedule changes

The Community School Association was right on top of the issues this month when they held their monthly meeting last Thursday morning at the Noonan School. The topic was kindergarten hours.

The school committee was presented with a petition last week to change the present system because the schedule does not give teachers adequate time to prepare for class, eat lunch, and travel to and from the schools without missing a good part of the scheduled class time.

Arguments pro and con were heard at the CSA meeting, which CSA President Sally Cusato characterized as "very productive." The following day, the CSA presidents met and decided to support a compromise schedule. That schedule was in turn approved by the school committee Monday night.

Next month's CSA meeting will be held at the Vinson-Owen School Nov. 9 and will focus on split classes. Then on Nov. 29, an evening meeting at the high school will feature a League of Women Voters program on Chapter 622, the state equal opportunity law.

Map-making topic at fall meeting of historical society

The Winchester Historical Society will hold its fall meeting on Thursday evening, Oct. 26, in the Michelson Room of the Unitarian Church.

The speaker will be Laurence Story, a historian who collects maps of the world. He will show maps as the early explorers first made them and maps of early Winchester.

There will be a short business meeting at 7:30 p.m. conducted by Mrs. James Naylor, president.

The program will begin at 8 p.m.

All those interested in map making are invited.

Story's map collection will be on special display between 7 and 7:30 p.m.

Lexington LWV candidates night Tuesday at 7:30

The Lexington League of Women Voters is sponsoring a Candidates' Night for state and district candidates Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lexington High School.

Sen. Rotondi and Diane Porter, who is challenging Rotondi, will both be there.

Speakers for Hatch and for King will be present. District candidates will also speak. Everyone is invited.

If you are planning a trip abroad this year plane reservations, the acquisition of passports, and other arrangements should be taken care of as far in advance of your departure as possible. Flights, even the non-charters, are booked months in advance, and Passports can take up to several weeks to arrive after the initial application has been filed. This too should be taken care of in advance, should there be a delay. There are photography studios that will take passport pictures while you wait. You can choose between black and white or color, and your passport application requires that you submit two pictures at least 2 1/2" x 2 1/2" in size.

We can offer many helpful hints at MCGRATH TRAVEL SERVICE, 14 Eaton Avenue, Woburn. When planning your vacation, why not leave the planning to us! Save yourself countless hours and substantial sums of money. You go knowing that everything possible has been done to smooth your way and make your trip the most enjoyable you've ever had. Call 935-0600. Open Monday-Friday 9-5, Saturdays and evenings by appointment.

TRAVEL TIP: Be sure to check if the country you visit requires shots to be taken.

Seniors fair grosses

$8700 for Jenks Center

The Winchester Seniors Association grossed about $8700 from their annual Fall Fiesta Fair Oct. 4 and 5, reports publicity chairman Dr. Leonore Rich.

Some of the proceeds from the fair will go to defray expenses, while the greater part of it will be used to maintain the Jenks Senior Center and its programs.

Several local persons were winners in the fair drawings. Mrs. Charles Raffi won an oriental rug, and Mrs. Sontag won an afghan. A basket of cheer went to Austin Smith; a $10 check was won by J. Bennazzani; and the $25 "money tree" went to Mrs. Nancy McManus.

Mini-college

Every Wednesday after school at 2:30 p.m., in the cafeteria of the high school, the guidance office will be conducting a Mini-College Program to which all high school students and their parents are invited.

On Oct. 25, the following institutions will be represented:

American College in Paris, France; Aquinas Junior College in Newton, Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, New Hampshire; University of Paul Smith's College (N.Y.); Princeton University (N.J.); Salem State College, and Syracuse University (N.Y.).

On Nov. 1, admissions representatives from the following institutions plan to attend: Brandeis University, Chamberlain School of Retailing, Endicott Junior College, Goucher College (MD), Hiram College (Ohio), Lowell, University of Massachusetts Bay Community College, Nataniel Hawthorne College (N.H.), St. Michael's College (Vt.), and San Francisco, University of (Calif.).

Annual book sale

at library Oct. 28

The Winchester Public Library will hold its annual book sale Oct. 28, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The sale will take place in the meeting room of the library and will feature all types of books, including fiction, nonfiction, adult and children's books. Records and paperbacks are also available.

Mrs. Lella-Jane Roberts, director, is in charge of the event.

Annual Epiphany Market opens Wed.

Epiphany Market, the annual bazaar of the Parish of the Epiphany, will open at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Hadley Hall. Betty Haley, ways and means chairman of the Women of Epiphany, sees the Market as a mecca for early Christmas shoppers searching for unusual gift items while avoiding downtown parking hassles.

According to Mrs. Haley, handmade items to be featured at the fair include knitted wear, jewelry, dried flower arrangements and Christmas tags and decorations. Food stalls will feature unusual cheeses and spices, as well as traditional homemade bread, pies, cakes and cookies. Visitors can taste concoctions at a recipe-testing stall.

Rocks and minerals, plants, books, cutlery, new and used jewelry, and white elephants in all sizes and shapes will be offered at other market stalls.

It's still not too late to make reservations for the roast beef dinner Wednesday night, says Mrs. Haley. The dinner will be served continuously from 6 to 7:30 p.m. and will include desserts, home-made by Epiphany chefs. Reservations are being handled by Edith Knoettner.

Fair-goers can get off to a good start Thursday morning at 10 with coffee and home-made pastries, and a turkey salad luncheon will be served from noon to 1:30. No reservations are needed for the luncheon, a community favorite each year, according to Mrs. Haley.

Epiphany Market will close at 4 p.m. next Thursday.

Many women have assisted Mrs. Haley in the production of Epiphany Market. Hilda Hope, president of Women of Epiphany, was a consultant on the fair.

Other workers include: Kate Shoemaker, knitting; Betty Rutherford, jewelry; Joan Kingsbury, hand-crafted jewelry; Vibs Goodman and Connie Davy, food stall; Barbara Pacetti and Et Blanch, white elephants; Peg McCreery and Betty Huron, cutlery; Eleanor Hall, Pam Hall and Virginia Bird, cheese and spices; Edna Parks, recipe testing.

Also, Alison Taber and Wendy Paulos, boutique; Lois Louise, Christmas decorations; Emily Holt, Christmas tags; Eleanor Banks, minerals and fruit cakes; Virginia Carr, books.

Marjorie Kaufmann and Joe Biagiotti, dinner; Florence Smith and Marjorie Nichols, hostesses; Hilda Zereph, coffee; Debbie Broadhurst, luncheon; Marie Car-swell, waitress; Marjorie Crawford, tickets; Phyllis Knopf and Harold Crawford, publicity; Anne Everett and Mary-Jane

Foreign policy

lecture topic

Wednesday, 7:30

On Wednesday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester High School Social Studies Open Area, the Adult Education lecture series on government will continue with a special focus on American foreign policy in the late 1970's and beyond.

William P. O'Connor, director of social studies for the Town of Winchester, will set the context for the evening's activity by identifying the Congressional actions that have limited the Executive branch of government's power in the field of foreign policy since Vietnam.

His presentation will lead into the featured speaker of the evening, Dr. John Gibson, professor of political science specializing in international affairs at Tufts University, and, among a number of other commitments, vice president of the Center for International Visitors.

Dr. Gibson will speak on the current and future status of East-West relations in light of our experience in Vietnam and President Carter's particular style and foreign policy priorities.

His talk will be about 40 minutes long followed by a question and answer period. The lecture series is free of charge and open to all interested students of government.

Volunteers sought

by Mystic Valley

Mental Health Assn.

The Mystic Valley Mental Health Center needs volunteers for its ongoing and newly developing programs. Anyone interested in gaining experience in the mental health field and in serving where there is a need can find opportunities to work in various areas with staff involvement and supervision.

Volunteers work with individual clients and assist with activity groups and social clubs in the Partial Hospitalization Programs (day hospital programs). Other areas of involvement include Mental Retardation, Early Intervention Programs with children, working with elderly, and in clerical and administrative areas.

Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer for Mystic Valley, should contact Mrs. Cecile Wilson, M.S.W., Coordinator of Volunteers at the Arlington office.

Two horribly annoying reasons to introduce Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline.

A car should be seen and not heard.

That's why we're introducing new Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline with a higher octane level.

Not only does it help knock the knocks and pings out of your engine, it could also give your car more power than most other gasolines. (In fact, millions of cars on the road today are being cheated of peak engine performance.)

And what's more, if your car is properly tuned, and still shakes, sputters and backfires after you turn the key off, using Mobil Super Unleaded may help eliminate all that. And that's whether your car is new or old.

And even if you've been using leaded premium gasoline you'll be glad to know that Mobil Super Unleaded's high octane level is high enough to meet anti-knock requirements of most cars today.

Mobil Super Unleaded. Because when you're driving, one of the nicest sounds in the world is the sound of absolutely nothing.

Not available yet at every Mobil Station.

Two friends share a quiet spot off the watershed road by the reservoir recently. The area was open to the public for foliage admirers.

Octoberfest deadline Monday

Reservations for the St. Mary's Mr. and Mrs. Club Oktoberfest will be accepted until Monday. Tickets are limited to 200 people. The dinner-dance will be held at St. Mary's Hall Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m. A complete German dinner will be served. Singing and dancing to a German band will complete the festive event.

Larry and Erna Worthen and Joe and Kathie Costello are the chairpersons.

Ticket reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Philip Stackpole, 729-7937; Mrs. Richard Fennell, 729-8524; Mrs. John O'Callaghan, 729-6539; Mrs. Frederick O'Herron, 729-5919 and Mrs. Robert Costello 729-2288.

STOP FIRES

Play It Safe ...Everywhere You Go!

Carelessness has no boundaries. No one can predict when or where the next tragic fire will happen. That's why it's important that we all do our jobs and practice fire prevention in every way. Make it your business to look for fire hazards...in the home, on your property and where you work! Fix any faulty wiring...immediately; empty trash regularly...avoid buildups; keep heating and cooking equipment in top repair; store old oily rags in metal containers. Make sure you and everyone in your family knows what to do in a fire emergency...before it happens. Play it smart...be fire safe!

Murphy announces for Congress

Name: James J. Murphy
Party: Independent
Office: Candidate for Congress, 7th District
Age: 52 yrs.
Married: 27 yrs. (to former Ann T. Shea of Medford)
Resident: 7th District more than 50 yrs.
Malden, Melrose and Everett. Home owner and taxpayer 26 yrs. Melrose.
Education: 13.2 yrs.
Semi-retired and self employed.
Marine Veteran, WW II.
Member American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Amvets.

My quest for Congressional office in the 7th District began in 1974, at the age of 48, after reading that some of our senior citizens were eating dog food to survive, because of meager fixed incomes.

Also, of a case where a Vietnam veteran with his face blown off in combat was refused medical assistance from the Veterans Administration, on the grounds that the government did not pay for cosmetic surgery!! I thought my God!! What has become of America?

When I ran in 1976 and was asked what were the three most important issues, I responded, Jobs, Jobs, and Jobs! Several weeks later my response was echoed by Sen.

Kennedy in answer to the same question. (DID someone agree with my logic?)

Many of the problems I addressed in 1976 have still not been solved satisfactorily to this date, i.e., social security funding, employment, financing of homes for young couples, property tax relief, readdressing fiscal autonomy for school costs, and a reasonable and fiscally responsible approach on health care (no plan, so far proposed, is fiscally prudent or equitable for lower income brackets).

It is now 1978. Our incumbent Congressman (Edward Markey) has so far voted against veterans, against possible union jobs, against tax relief, against civil servants, against reduction of social security withholding taxes (due Jan. 1, 1979), against addressing the cost of the Panama Canal giveaway ($638 million) and he just walked away from the problems of postal letter carriers in this district (but he votes to give foreign aid to Communist Vietnam). Would you say he has a negative attitude?

I see a disastrous impact upon our country if this type of voting persists. It's time the cynics and detractors of our America were taken to task. Anyone who would try to clip the wings, or tether the talons of our Eagle of Freedom will not long endure.

I intend to run for this office every two years until elected. God willing.

James J. Murphy
...Congressional candidate

Clearing up the history puzzle

By SUSAN KEATS
Town Archivist

As I sit here at the archival center, I realize that many people have probably been following the antics of the "history seekers," and also gotten involved themselves. I know they have gotten involved, because I have such terrific response from townspeople, that I can hardly get back to my research! It is at this point that I think I should explain the difference in the three organizations in town that are involved in history.

First of all, the Winchester Archival Center was established just over three years ago by an act of the town meeting. It has a small budget, a part-time archivist, and room at the Carriage House of the Sanborn House on High Street for its headquarters.

The archivist (that's me) is answerable to the library trustees, since a good deal of the material at the archives originated at the library. The center is under the auspices of the library. The records and documents housed at the archival center include such things as street directories of Winchester (and Woburn) from as far back as 1874 and Winchester Town Records, which include the lists of taxpayers in town. We use them in our search of owners of houses at different dates.

The center has a good collection of maps of Winchester, dating as early as 1638. Some of the maps have houses and residents' names and have been used on research also. Photographs are another area of interest, and the center is developing a reputation for its collection of early 20th Century town development.

Now that you all understand the archival center, I will add another area...that of the historical commission. The Winchester Historical Commission is comprised of seven historically-minded individuals appointed by the selectmen to address the issue of historical preservation of the town. (You probably can see why the archival center and the historical commission work closely...any information that the commission might need will probably be found at the archival center.)

As you know, the BIG project that the historical commission is working on this year is the house survey. The project has been funded by the Town of Winchester and a matching grant-in-aid from the Department of the Interior, Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service through the Massachusetts Historical Commission, under the provisions of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966.

The survey is to inventory Winchester's historical assets that date from 1961 and before. The survey involves about 2000 houses, churches, business, public buildings, schools, and things like the Middlesex Canal, Wildwood Cemetery, Mill Pond area, war memorials, bridges, and the like. When the house survey is completed in February, the town will be properly listed with the Massachusetts Historical Commission, and can go on to denoting historical districts within Winchester, recommending certain buildings for the National Register (for instance the Vinson-Owen House and the Winchester Savings Bank) and acting as a recommendation council to the town on future projects.

Aside from the house survey, the historical commission is looking into plaques for older houses and markers at parks commemorating their historical significances.

Now...the historical society has been in existence in the town forever, as in many towns across the nation. The Winchester Historical Society was instrumental in convincing the town that it needed an archival center. The books and artifacts that have been in the historical society's possession are now housed at the archival center, along with all the accumulation of goodies found at the Town Hall, library, and in anyone's attic.

The archival center has become a productive, functioning unit within the town system, and is open to the public on Tuesday, 9 a.m. noon and 1-4 p.m., and Thursday evenings, 7-9.

The historical society supports projects at the center, and is actively involved in getting townspeople to become aware of preservation and history of Winchester. Join us! It's just like peanuts, once you start, you can't stop.

Mr. Auburn Hosp. Lecture Series To Teach About Body

As part of its third year of community health education programming, Mount Auburn Hospital is offering a course about the body based on the premise that if we know about our bodies, we'll take better care of ourselves. This series, which is free of charge and begins next Wednesday evening, is called "Your Marvelous Machine."

The first program of the series is "Exercise Without Injury: Muscles and Bones." It will be held Oct. 18. On Oct. 25, how muscles know when to move and how they are coordinated into activities such as walking will be explored in "Motion and Strength: Muscles and Bones."

"Reproduction: Male and Female," to be conducted on Nov. 1, will look at the reproductive systems of both men and women. Diabetes, human growth and sexual arousal have something in common—they are all controlled by glands of the endocrine system. What these glands do and where they are located in your body will be examined in "Control and Response: Glands and Their Hormones" on Nov. 8.

The final session of "Your Marvelous Machine" before a holiday break will be "Control and Response: Brain and Nerves" on Nov. 29.

Physicians and other health professionals from Mount Auburn Hospital will conduct these educational sessions and ample time for questions and discussion by participants will be provided. Residents may attend all five programs or come to individual sessions. All sessions run from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m. in Mount Auburn Hospital's cafeteria at 330 Mount Auburn St., Cambridge. Admission is free including parking in the hospital's garage.

A California study of 7,000 adults over a five year period reported that life expectancy and better health are significantly related to a few basic habits: three meals a day, breakfast every day, moderate exercise, seven or eight hours of sleep a night, no smoking, moderate weight, and little or no alcohol.

The physical health status of those persons who followed all seven of these good health practices was consistently about the same as that of persons 30 years younger who followed none of the practices.

Rehab hospital recruits help

A recruitment drive for new volunteers was launched recently by Karen Marques, director of Volunteer Services at the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn. Plans announced for a "Volunteer Fair", Oct. 25, from 10:30 to 1:30 a.m.

The program will include an introduction to the volunteer program, tours, and exhibits of at least 10 activities open to volunteers.

Some 85 women and men within a 15 mile radius now make up the permanent volunteer force and many will be on hand to outline the specialized service that volunteers can give.

Ms. Marques pointed out that volunteers may serve four hours any of seven days or evenings.

Volunteers will explain the work in occupational therapy, recreation, transportation, gift shop, tour guides, office opportunities, out-patient, switchboard, the busy bees, and other functions.

Coffee and refreshments will be served.

Those interested are urged to contact Ms. Marques at the 100-bed facility, 935-5050.

Social Security Benefits are being paid to residents of Middlesex County at the rate of $250 a month at the start of 1978, Elizabeth McGuigan, social security manager in Cambridge, said recently.

Social security benefits can be paid to retired persons age 62 and over, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65, and to survivors of deceased workers.

Monthly social security checks are also paid to certain dependents of a worker who has retired, become disabled or died.

Of the 193,116 social security beneficiaries living in Middlesex County, 113,587 are retired workers and 12,488 are disabled workers. Another 16,258 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widows, widowers and dependent parents of deceased workers number 27,811.

In Middlesex county, 55,452 people under the age 65 and 137,664 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly social security benefits. Of the total beneficiaries 60,564 are men, 109,580 are women and 60,564 are men, 109,580 are women and 22,972 are children.

Area swimmers sought by Easter Seal

Area swimmers are being recruited to support swimming and recreation programs for handicapped children and adults by participating in the Third Annual Easter Seal Aquathon Weekend.

Easter Seal will be sponsoring Aquathon events in communities across the state, including one in the Lexington-Woburn area, Nov. 5th.

The swimmer who raises the most money in these events will win a week-long trip for three to Disney World in Florida, arranged by Garber Travel.

Other prizes include a 10-speed bicycle and an AM-FM radio donated by Zayre's for the second and third place winners.

Swimmers from Woburn, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester, Bedford and other area communities will be swimming at the Lexington Minute-Man Pool in Framingham.

Participants will be recruiting sponsors to pledge money based on the number of pool lengths they are able to swim in a 15-minute period.

Funds raised will benefit the Easter Seal Society's statewide program of swim and recreation classes for handicapped children and adults, including one in Woburn for children in this area.

This program, conducted at the Woburn Boy's Club, serves children with varied disabilities. In addition, Easter Seal sends many children to residential camp every summer.

Volunteers are needed to swim and to help recruit other swimmers. For more information, contact the Easter Seal office at 482-3370 or Dianne Lakutis at 861-9543.

small treasures early IRISH art at mfa

The Irish Treasures are unique, unlike anything you may have seen before.

By Stan Bicknell

An exhibition entitled "Treasures of Early Irish Art", which opens at the Museum of Fine Arts on October 24 and runs through January 21, could well be the most glorious thing of its kind Boston has seen in years.

Yet there are no paintings, sculptures, nothing massive or overwhelming; neither is there the archaeological perspective that made "Pompeii, 79 AD" such a wonderful insight into a whole culture.

The Irish Treasures comprise six dozen pieces of jewelry, religious artifacts, icons and four illuminated books spanning 3000 years of Irish history, from the middle of the second millennium BC to the late Middle Ages. They are not just a sampling from that span of time, each piece representing, say, an age, epoch or style. This small handful of craftsmanship and sensibility is — in a word — it. Nothing else from the period has been discovered.

Anyone who has a drop of Irish blood in his veins has surely heard of the Book of Kells, and probably the Cross of Cong and the Armagh Chalice as well. Yet surprisingly few people, and that includes scholars, have actually seen these treasures. They are normally housed, in not altogether felicitous surroundings at Trinity College in Dublin, the National Museum of Ireland and the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin. (The purpose of the exhibition is to raise money for the preservation and display of the objects.)

A few words about the objects and then a few more about how they will be displayed at the MFA.

The pre-Christian pieces are purely decorative — earrings, collars and armlets, fasteners for clothing and hair. Most are made of gold, but a few are bronze. More than the metal used, the fineness and precision of the craftsmanship, or even the loveliness of conception, you are immediately struck by the pains and time it took to make each piece.

A pair of gold lock rings used as hair clips, found at Gortennaghy, County Clare and dating from 800 BC, offers a vivid example of this. These lock rings, about four inches in diameter, look like two drummer's cymbals placed together to form a double cone. Each of the conical plates is made of thin gold wire — three wires per millimeter and soldered together. They are so fine and perfectly done that they look like incising on sheet gold. Not a trace of solder remains on the outside of the rings.

A bronze crucifixion plaque of the seventh century AD that probably decorated the cover of a gospel is, at first glance, so crudely modeled as to be almost laughable. It is the kind of figure, without proportion or perspective, that a child creates in first grade art class. Yet as you study the face, you slowly begin to understand the vision of the solitary artist who lived, quite literally, on the farthest edge of Europe, away from all artistic, intellectual or historical tradition and influence. Jesus is portrayed as a bullet-headed man with flat nose, fat cheeks, squinting eyes. Only in the downturned mouth is there the expression of pain, a real and genuine agony. It is the work of an artist who had only the Gospels, his imagination and fiery soul to instruct him.

The centerpiece of the show will be the Book of Kells, a masterpiece of manuscript illumination dating from the eighth century. This book, standing slightly more than a foot high, is the work of several artists who abhorred empty space every bit as much as nature does a vacuum. The decoration is highly geometric, with right angles and circles filled with spirals and complex interlacing, all colored in pink, amber, yellow, turquoise, burnt orange and cobalt.

The portraits in Kells are, again, crude to anyone conditioned to the western tradition of figure craftsmanship. Yet there is poignancy, even a whimsicality, that makes you wonder what went through the artists' collective minds.

A figure of Jesus being arrested shows him standing knock-kneed, with arms protruding from a cape, palms open and fingers together in what must be a benediction. He is blond and curly-haired, with large blue eyes and a scarlet beard. His captors, who have a distinctly Eastern cast to their features, possess carefully sculptured red hair, blue eyes again and carbon black beards.

Unfortunately, you won't be able to study the Book of Kells closely. A thousand-odd years have taken their toll. The book is enclosed in its own climate-controlled module behind bullet-proof, ultraviolet light-filtering plexiglass. No light shines directly on the book, and what light there is so faint that it will be like trying to read in a dimly lit room. Two curators from Ireland travel with the exhibition, one of them assigned solely to tend the Book of Kells. He and only he can handle the book; one of his tasks is to turn the pages, which he does at the rate of one page a week.

The MFA has gone all out for this show. It is the last one of consequence they will have for three years, while they build their new wing and install climate control in the galleries.

Unhappy with the mounting originated by the Metropolitan Museum in New York, the curators and staff have devised their own display which will allow for better viewing of the objects — all of which are quite small — from all four sides.

They expect huge crowds, so they have worked out a system of ticketing (as they did with the Pompeii show). While waiting, the visitors will have photomontages, text panels and various audio-

If You Decide to Go . . . . .

The Museum of Fine Arts is located at 470 Huntington Avenue in Boston. There are no special hours for the exhibit yet; it can be viewed during regular hours, which are 10 am to 9 pm on Tuesday, 10 am to 5 pm Wednesday through Sunday. Admission (to the regular exhibits as well as the Irish Show) is $1.25 on Sunday, free Tuesday evenings from 5 to 9 pm; at all other times, the rate is $1.75 adults, free for those 16 and under. Those over 65 can enter free on Friday.

For all information about the Irish Show, the special number to call is 267-0600, once the exhibit opens. Until that time, you can reach the museum at A-N-S-W-E-R-S (recorded information) or 267-9300, where you'll be in touch with an actual human voice.

visual aids to study by way of a preview to the treasures themselves.

One innovation the MFA has devised is something called "Afterimage", designed to "let the visitor down gently instead of thrusting him right back onto Huntington Avenue". (A depressing thought at any time!) Essentially, "Afterimage" is an explanation of what you have seen. Audio-visual aids are used to place the display in a historical context. "Between Afterimage" and the other explanatory material, the Irish Treasures will come across as something more than items of curiosity. And they are.

Like museums everywhere these days, the MFA will merchandise this show to the hilt. On your way out after "Afterimage", you will pass a gift display (no way to avoid it either) of reproductions and Irish knick-knacks, ranging from records of Irish songs to dish towels with a silkscreened Guinness label. Of special interest, though, will be a sampling of items from the Kilkenny Workshop, a government-supported design center, which has earned a reputation for handsome work. All gifts will be moderately priced.

The MFA expects 200,000 people to visit the exhibit during the three months. But they have, curiously, ordered only 15,000 catalogues, which seems far too few. The catalogue will offer a much more detailed view of the treasures than the visitor could possibly hope to receive in person. Once again, the Irish Treasures are so unique and unlike anything you may have seen before that it would be well worth ordering the catalogue, and studying it so that you won't be overwhelmed or surprised. Priced at $7.95, you can order the catalogue directly from the MFA. It is well done with superb color plates and historical text by several Irish scholars.

Don't miss this show. You'll never see its like again.

Irish Concerts

In celebration of all the Irish Treasures, the MFA is going Celtic, musicwise. There is a variety of concerts planned through January — and they're all free, in the museum's Tapestry Hall unless otherwise noted. The first is October 24 at 7 pm, and features traditional Irish music, performed by Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éirann. Next at 3:30 pm on October 29, there's "The Poor Soldier", a whole Irish ballad opera. It will be repeated on November 14 at 7 pm. November 4 and 5 bring in the Celtic New Year at the MFA, which will be celebrated with lectures, films and concerts, of course. Call for the complete schedule. On November 15, the offering is a program of "Fenian and Folk", at 3:15 pm. November 21 brings in a concert of nocturnes and piano sonatas by Dublin-born John Field.

Moving on to December, The Beggarmen perform on the 5th, at 7 pm in Gallery 2-45. At the same time on the 12th, Paddy Cronin plays the fiddle, David O'Dougherty the tin whistle. A lecture/recital on Uilleann bagpipes and a Celtic harp is at the same time, on January 9. Finally, at a location to be decided, on January 16 at 7 pm, there's a program of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", Irish parlor songs of the 19th century. They're sung by Leiderkreiss.

Sports | Head-Of-The-Charles

This Sunday tens of thousands of people will line the Charles River, to cheer friendly but fiercely competitive crews across the finish line.

By H. Constance Hill

The Head-of-the-Charles is the largest single-day regatta in the world and this year marks its 14th anniversary. For those of you who'd enjoy a festive and free outdoor sporting event, Boston's where it's at — this Sunday, October 22.

Last year, 60,000 enthusiastic spectators turned out to see the Charles River blanketed by boats. All day, they watched the waters of the Charles churn under the furious assault of 3200 top rowers from private clubs, colleges and schools across the United States and Canada, racing in 720 shells on a circuitous three-mile course. Again this year, spirited crowds will line the river banks during this unique fall meet, and cheer the friendly but fiercely competitive crews across the finish line.

The races begin by the BU Bridge, across from the Boston University law library. They extend upstream past the Eliot Bridge and the Cambridge Boat Club, which since 1973 has officially sponsored the Regatta, to the finish line located near the MDC park on Soldier's Field Road, opposite Harvard Stadium and the WBZ tower.

Where To Watch

This colorful occasion, augmented by the last of this fall's foliage, can be enjoyed equally well from the Boston or Cambridge banks of the Charles River. For most of the course there are paved paths on both sides of the river, so that you can keep active (walking, jogging or bicycling) while keeping up with competitors in one event. Or, if you prefer to see the shells sweeping by as you sit in one place, perhaps with a last-of-the season picnic, the banks between the Weeks (foot-bridge) and Anderson (at Boylston Street, Cambridge) Bridges are gently sloped and well suited for watching.

The most difficult maneuvering point in the race comes two-thirds of the way through the course, at a sharp curve in the Charles between the Anderson and Eliot Bridges. Stand on the Eliot Bridge for a choice view of the final dramatic changes in position as the shells surge to the finish line.

Each event — fully registered due to the ever increasing popularity of the Head-of-the-Charles — features 40 competing crews.

Since 40 shells attempting to make a simultaneous start mid-stream would produce a situation similar to the crush at the beginning of the Boston Marathon, the boats are given running starts singly, at ten to 15 second intervals. Computers record the starting and finishing times of each shell to a tenth of a second, so that rowers are really competing against the clock rather than against each other.

What You'll See

Each boat is fitted with bow marker numbers indicating the starting order within the event. As the boats navigate through narrow bridge arches and vie for position along the course, these numbers indicate the relative position of a shell; spectators can voice their approval of a shell well ahead of its starting position.

The assignment of bow numbers is based on the position in which the crew placed in the same event the previous year. Part of the fun of Head-of-the-River races, long a popular tradition in England, is for the same crew (or at least a team from the same club or school) to return and finish stronger each year, thus advancing through successive starts to lower numbers and eventually to number 1, the head-of-the-line position.

Eighteen different races, from seven categories of Singles to a full array of Eights events, are scheduled for this Sunday. There are two-oarsmen events, Pairs (two crew, two oars) and Doubles (two crew, four oars), and both men's and women's Fours (four crew, four oars). Fours and Eights shells also carry a coxswain.

Competitor qualifications for men in a given event are by weight and age. Races are separated into Lightweight (a maximum of 154 pounds), Midweight, and Championship, the equivalent of heavy-weight, since heavier men — assuming the extra body weight is muscle! — can, in general, row faster. Men's events are also divided into age categories: Youth (under 20); Master (at least 35); and Veteran (at least 50).

For women, competition opportunities in the Head-of-the-Charles have increased substantially since 1969, when a lone woman entered the Novice Singles event. Events for women include Singles, Fours, and Eights. In addition, for the first time in international competition, the Cambridge Boat Club has scheduled a Mixed Eights event this year, with four women and four men in each boat.

If You Decide To Go . . .

The Head-of-the-Charles will be held rain or shine. If you come by car, the best parking is located at the MDC areas near the end of the course on Soldiers' Field Road. If you want food during the day, Harvard Square is only a four block walk up Boylston Street from the Anderson Bridge — one of the prime viewing places. Programs, listing all competitors by name and affiliation, and including photographs of past races and background information, will be on sale for $1 at the Charles River on Sunday. Call the Cambridge Boat Club at 354-3176 for all the particulars.

HATCH VS KING

GOOD GOVERNMENT

Frank Hatch has worked in public office for sixteen years and never had a bad headline. In this State, that's some kind of miracle.

He started fighting to save the environment years before it became a popular cause. He was the author of the Hatch Act that protects our wetlands back in 1965.

He organized S.O.S. which saved the Boston and Maine Commuter Rail Service.

THE BOYS WITH THE BIG CIGARS

Ed King says he'll run Massachusetts the way he ran the Port Authority.

Well from what we've learned recently about his days at the Port, the back room politicians must be wringing their hands in anticipation.

The United Press reports widespread patronage at the Port Authority.

The Boston Herald reveals sweetheart severance deals.

The Boston Globe reports no-bid contracts and lavish expense accounts — including a tab of $29,000 that Ed King and the Port Authority boys racked up at Jimmy's Harborside and Pier Four in one seven-month period.

And the Board of Directors say expenses at the Port were going up at a faster rate than income when they dumped Ed King.

Frank Hatch won't run Massachusetts the way Ed King ran the Port Authority!

Food | Durgin Park

Durgin Park still serves the best New England fare you'll find anywhere.

By Judith Barrett

When I was a very young diner, Durgin Park meant huge slabs of roast beef dangling from platters, bowls brimming with hot Indian pudding, long crowded tables and work-horse waitresses with dozens of plates stacked up their arms.

Of course with the passage of time, some minor changes have taken place. The outside of the place has had a facelift as part of the work on the just-opened Fanueil Hall North Market Building. There are new owners, and the bar downstairs, now called Oyster Park, is a spiffed-up watering hole. All of this might have meant drastic changes for dear old Durgin Park.

But, upstairs, the dining room is the same as it always was. The stained, cigarette-burned, red-checked table cloths haven't given way to butcher block table tops, the hard seats of the old bentwood cafe chairs aren't cushioned with printed, fluffy pillows and the white-painted tin ceiling remains free of any hanging plants. The old lampshades sit precariously over bare light bulbs, the same old signs posted over the coat hooks on the walls remind you to take your belongings, and the waitresses who have been hauling roast beef for 20 years are still there to advise you on what to eat and where to sit.

Happiest of all, the food is the same. Durgin Park still serves the best New England fare you'll find anywhere. And as the weather turns cold, it is the place to go for deliciously nourishing, filling and quite frankly, fattening, food.

To be sure that things really were as I remembered them, I gave the house specialty — the prime ribs — a try. I also ordered cherry-stones to start, but the waitress, a trooper who had been at Durgin Park for 19 years, advised that I take the roast beef right away, as the best "cutter" was going to lunch.

And within a few minutes, a most impressive rib of beef, on the bone, was delivered — two inches thick, almost a foot long, perfectly medium rare, intensely flavorful and oozing juices. Perhaps the plate had shrunk in the intervening years, but the rib was plenty big enough. In fact, it was too much to eat at one sitting. There isn't another rib of beef like it in Boston.

I also sampled the scrod, at the urging of the same knowledgeable waitress. It turned out to be delicately broiled in butter, as ocean-fresh as any I've tasted, and moist and flaky as only scrod is.

The menu is long, and the choices are almost obscured by information impressing you with the restaurant's originality and authenticity. Spruce gum cigars are on sale at the cashier's desk; filter water is used for coffee and tea; steaks, chops and hamburgers are broiled on an open fire with real wood charcoal; only fresh strawberries go on the strawberry short-cake; and desserts, corn bread and baked beans are baked on the premises.

Once you make your way through the anecdotes, you'll find that appetizers include oysters and cherrystones on the half-shell, fish stew and chowder, vegetable soup, and a selection of juices. With over 50 main courses to choose from, there is something for everyone — even frankfurters and baked beans or chicken pot pie for the kids.

Accompanying every meal is hot corn bread, light but still coarsely textured, and mashed potatoes (really mashed, not whipped, and made from real potatoes) or French fries.

Desserts are well worth saving space for. The Indian pudding was as I had hoped — hot and sweet with dark molasses flavor, thick with corn meal and topped with a scoop of vanilla ice cream that rapidly melted over the bowl of sludgy sweetness. The hot apple pan dowdy was a deep dish of sliced, sweetened apples heavily flavored with cinnamon and topped with a flaky crust and vanilla ice cream.

The people eating at Durgin Park range from businessmen to mothers with babies to chic ladies in silk blouses and signature handbags. Clearly, Durgin Park is an experience open to everyone. And, especially for children, the place is an event.

Eating at Durgin Park can also be a bargain. Prices may have escalated since my formative years (I wasn't footing the bill then, so I'm not sure), but the menu today sports more $2 and $2.50 entrees than any other in Boston. The majority of the items listed are priced under $6, and only a few $9 choices, including the prime ribs, are there to tempt you. Desserts are reasonably priced, from 50 cents to $1, and vegetables are all 50 cents each.

A full range of mixed drinks from the bar, beers and even a few wines and champagnes are offered.

Notes:

Durgin Park is located in the North Market Building (just where it always was) at Boston's Quincy Market. The dining room opens at 11:30 am and serves until 9:30 pm, seven days a week. The Sunday opening is the only visible change the new owners have instituted thus far. No reservations or personal checks are taken, and American Express is the only credit card accepted. Call 227-2038, for any other details.

Parking is a major drawback at Durgin Park, as it is with all the restaurants in the Quincy Market area. Keep in mind that you'll find only limited on-street parking and a few expensive lots.

workbench

With all the cheaper copies, here's why we've sold 25,000 of them.

You can spend less on a chair that looks a lot like this one. But you'll get less, too. Because when it comes to the details that make the difference, we're far superior. We use a 1-piece solid steel tube frame. This is essential because if the tube is several pieces joined under the seat, the chair won't have the proper give and will be less comfortable and durable. Our chrome finish is triple-plated then hand polished. Our lines are unusually graceful thanks to skillfully curved arms, perpendicular arm uprights and carefully rounded tubing. Our joints are dove-tailed and our cane smoothly finished. The Workbench classics. Choose yours in natural, deep walnut or black lacquer. After all, you don't want to stand for a cheap imitation.

Dance | Cheek To Cheek

Most of the big bands have passed away, but the sound they created has never died.

By Gary Provost

The demise of the big band sound and ballroom dancing has been greatly exaggerated.

It's true that the day is long gone when any band fan could tell you that it was Sonny Lee who played trombone for Bunny Berigan, or that Clarence Hutchenrider was Casa Loma's clarinet player. Crazy fads fade away and common knowledge finds its way into the pages of books on trivia. But when the big band bubble burst in 1946, disenchantment with the music itself was not the pin that pricked it. A lot of mundane matters conspired to end the swing era; hundreds of top musicians had been drafted into the army, stratospheric gasoline prices cut into band travel schedules, a 20 percent amusement tax made going out to dance too expensive, and the recording industry strike of 1942 dealt many bands a fatal economic blow.

Most of the bands passed away, but the sound they created has never died. There are big bands and ballroom dancing to be found in the MetroBoston area even now, and the coming season is particularly rich in the sound that made the 'Thirties and Forties swing. So if you're all discoed out and want to sway to the strains of "Sentimental Journey" or "Begin the Beguine," there is hope.

At the Colonnade Hotel, for example, you can forsake the Patriots and the Giants on Sunday afternoons beginning November 5, and treat your soul to something a little more romantic than a quarterback sneak. You can come to the Sunday afternoon tea dances from 4 to 7 pm and foxtrot to continuous live music, or daintily partake of tea, coffee, tea sandwiches and petit fours. The price of this lulling interlude is $25 a couple, which means that you probably won't do it more than once or twice (unless you happen to own a parking lot concession at Boston Garden). But the proceeds go to charity, and this year's beneficiary is the Association for Performing Arts, which means that the money you put into tea dancing this fall might come back to you in the form of a free ballet on the Esplanade next summer.

Traditionally, tea dances have been places where debutantes came out, and watchful parents sipped tea while the young ladies met their suitors. Well, times change and debutantes are somewhat of an endangered species, but the mood at the Colonnade is still a lot closer to a reception for the Queen than a rock around the clock. Gentlemen are asked to wear jackets and ties, and ladies will be properly dressed if they wear Sunday or cocktail dresses.

"Touch dancing is definitely back," says the Colonnade's Bobbie Albire, who was given the names of several good psychiatrists when she came up with this tea dance idea a few years ago.

"I was told that Bostonians just wouldn't dance on Sundays," she says.

As it turns out, Bostonians do like to dance on Sunday, so you'll need advance reservations to attend the tea dances at the Colon-nade. However, the emphasis is definitely on couples, so if you're still seeking that elusive perfect dancing partner, read on.

You can also do your Fred Astaire or Ginger Rogers impression at the Hyatt Regency in Cambridge, Friday evenings from 6 to 9, with the big difference being that you might meet Fred or Ginger there. Whether you're under age or golden age, you can swing to the big band sounds of Dick Johnson and his orchestra, waltz, jitterbug, lindy, or simply listen. The Hyatt program, which has free admission, also provides charity taxi dancers of both sexes, tea, and full cocktail service. The dress code is described by a spokesman as "whatever makes you feel like dancing."

"We're trying to create an atmosphere where people can meet each other without the 'singles scene,'" says Frances Ashley of the Hyatt Regency.

Out in Dedham, a grand and inexpensive place to go is Moseley's On The Charles, right at the junction of Routes 1 and 109. True to its name, there's a full view of the Charles River from the back. Moseley's has been offering ballroom dancing since 1905, and, though disco has crept in on Thursday nights, the floor's free for swinging any way you want Wednesday and Saturday nights. Johnny Shea and his eight-piece orchestra are the house performers; every so often, they're given a rest and folks like Larry and Les Elgart come in. You needn't make a reservation, even though anywhere from 400 to 500 people can be found here on certain nights, and the charge for it all is a mere $3.50 per person. The dancing starts at 8 pm and lasts until midnight, the age range is from 30 on up.

If you still need more ballroom dancing and you remember the Totem Pole Ballroom at Norumbega Park from an earlier life, you might want to check out the Totem Pole evenings of ballroom dancing and live band music, which will be running throughout the season. The first event has already been held, but you can get information on future Totem Pole evenings by calling 653-1157, or writing to Totem Pole Enterprises, 562 Worcester Road, Natick 01760.

Movies | Short Subjects

THE ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW, the camp phenomenon of midnight, has expanded to the suburbs, and can now be seen Friday and Saturday at midnight at the General Cinema in Brockton, as well as at its old haunt, the Exeter Street Theatre in Boston. Anyone in costume is admitted to the show at a discount price, and audience participation is definitely the name of the game.

The African Queen

Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn are at the top of their form, he as a grimy river-boat captain, she as a missionary spinster. John Huston's direction and James Agee's script combine to make The African Queen one of the all-time movie classics. Harvard Square.

Animal House

Brought to us by the folks at the National Lampoon, Animal House is sometimes freshman-iacal. John Belushi, the pudgy psychopath from Saturday Night Live, is Bluto, principal animal of the worst house on campus, at war with the other frats, the college administration, and the local government. Not every slapstick moment is a scream, but most are. It's a very funny movie. With Tim Matheson and Donald Sutherland. Cheri; Braintree, Brockton, Chestnut Hill, Danvers, Framingham, Hanover, Lawrence, Woburn.

The Big Fix

Richard Dreyfuss stars as Moses Wine, an ex-Sixties radical with a bundle of mid-Seventies problems. Wine is a private detective in California, investigating political dirty tricks and residual terrorism. Dreyfuss himself co-produced the movie with Carl Borack. Jeremy Paul Kagan directed. Paris; Braintree, Danvers, Framingham, Hanover Mall.

The Boys from Brazil

Hollywood, and Publisher's Row, have long had a weird fascination with Adolf Hitler and his henchmen. The Boys

From Brazil is the latest entry in the "Alive and Well and Living in South America" sweeps. Based on a novel by Ira Levin (who was also responsible for Rosemary's Baby), The Boys — a cavalier title if ever there was one — tells the story of Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor known as the Angel of Death for his work in Hitler's concentration camps. In the name of all that is holy, do not take children to see The Boys From Brazil. It is technically well-done, expensively produced and slick. But it is still a dirty movie full of violence, explicit and (more terrifying) implied. The final scenes, when Mengele, played by Gregory Peck, and Nazi-hunter Ezra Lieberman (Laurence Olivier) confront each other in a Pennsylvania farmhouse (in the presence of an irritating child, played by Jeremy Black, who is the real clue to the whole scheme) are revolting. Pi Alley; Brockton, Circle, Dedham, Natick, Peabody, Woburn.

Bread and Chocolate

Nino Manfredi plays Nino Garafoli, introduced as a sort of vulgar klutz, a misfit in his purple shirt and perfectly awful tie. Nino is an Italian worker who, like so many of his compatriots, has left behind the land of sun and song to find his fortune in Switzerland. The dream of all these workers is to make enough money to import their wives and children, or to return home as heroes. Some live for their dream, some live on it, some lose track of reality altogether. The theme of nostalgia, the real ache for the homeland, is diluted with slapstick and satire. Manfredi has a few moments of quiet desperation; he can't seem to decide whether to be Mastroianni or Chaplin. He doesn't break our hearts, but he's a likeable guy in a likeable movie. Bread and Chocolate is sweet and filling and not, ultimately, very nourishing. With Anna Karina, John Dorelli, and Paolo Trucchi. Beacon Hill.

Days of Heaven

Days of Heaven isn't an actor's movie. It's more like a big coffee-table book of photography. Director Terence Malick has seen the incomparable beauty of the western prairie and knows how to deal with it. Some scenes are framed like pieces of art, others slide in and out of your eyes, and you are barely aware that you saw them, until they come into your dreams. Charles.

Death on the Nile

Based on the archetypal Agatha Christie novel of the same name, the movie version is camped up by producer John Bradbourne and director Richard Goodwin, and played for laughs by Peter Ustinov as Hercule Poirot, the brainy Belgian detective. Bette Davis and Maggie Smith spit one-liners at each other with a kind of "damn your eyes, darling" panache, which is good; Lois Chiles and Simon MacCorkindale strike poses and bare their teeth, which is not so good. It is a decorative movie, not up to the level of the book, but diverting on its own merits, although marred by too much reiterative gore. Cheri; Brockton, Chestnut Hill, Danvers, Dedham, Framingham, Lawrence, Woburn.

Girl Friends

An unusual movie with documentary feel. Ostensibly, it is the story of a mutating friendship between a struggling photographer, Susan, and a married, would-be writer, Anne. The true focus, though, is on the wonderfully real Susan (Melanie Mayron), unfolding and snatching images from the people around her. Claudia Weill directed and co-wrote the elusive and frequently sensitive story; Anita Skinner, Christopher Guest and Eli Wallach hover in the background. Pi Alley.

Goin' South

Despite the name, a western, with Jack Nicholson as a ne'er-do-well outlaw. Also starring Mary Steenburgen, Christopher Lloyd, and John Belushi. Charles; Allston, Dedham, Framingham, Hanover Mall, Liberty Tree Mall.

Interiors

Proof, if anyone needed it, of Woody Allen's genius. The film is poised and distant, a cool, introverted look at a family that is trying hard to be a family, but they are too analytical to be happy with each other. Beautiful photography and first-class acting tear at the heart. An unbelievable movie, with Diane Keaton, Geraldine Page, Mary Beth Hurt, and Maureen Stapleton. Exeter; Brockton, Danvers, Dedham, Lawrence, Natick, Woburn.

Juliet of the Spirits

One of the less frequently seen movies by Italian maestro Federico Fellini, whose wife Guilella Masina stars in this 1965 picture. Masina's round piny face is a little mirror for the surreal fantasies she finds herself in. The psychic symbolism is sometimes puzzling, the visuals are terrific. Coolidge Corner.

King of Hearts

People from Cambridge always refer to King of Hearts as a Cambridge cult movie; actually, it attracts a loyal following wherever it plays. Everyone should see it once just to see what all the fuss is about; some people see it every chance they get. Alan Bates stars as a soldier who finds himself in a village deserted by all of its citizens except the inmates of the local asylum, who don't know there's a war on, and don't care. The film asks the question, "Who are the real crazies?" Nickelodeon Boston.

The Opium War

A rare movie, the first picture to come out of the People's Republic of China since the overthrow of the "Gang of Four", who had suppressed it since its production in 1964. Notwithstanding its importance as a sign of rapprochement between this country and an emerging China, it is basically a 15-year-old B movie that wouldn't be out of place on late-night television. You can root for Lord Lin Tse-Hsu and his faithful band who are trying to end the opium trade carried on by British merchants. If you are the sort that likes baddies, you can cheer for the British.

Considered as entertainment, the wonderful thing about The Opium War is that the Chinese suddenly seem familiar. You can imagine movie-goers in Peking sitting back and being entertained, just like you. Galeria.

The Sound of Music

Some people love Julie Andrews, on other people she has an effect like eating too much sugar; whatever your feeling, you cannot help but enjoy the splendid Rodgers and Hammerstein score: it's like an old friend. The alpine scenery is worth a visit, too. Brantree, Burlington, Newton, Peabody.

The Third Man

Carol White directed this post-war thriller with Joseph Cotton, Trevor Howard, and Orson Wells, based on a story by Graham Greene. The zither music by Anton Karas, alternatively gay and chilling, is just one of the unforgettable things about this movie. Nickelodeon Maynard.

Up in Smoke

A comedy, written by and starring Cheech (Marin) and (Tommy) Chong, two young humorists who hitherto have appeared in clubs and on records. Edie Adams, Stacy Keach, and Strother Martin co-star. Charles; Sack Brockton, Circle, Lawrence.

A Wedding

A collection of character pieces, hung on the framework of a family wedding, and the subsequent reception, both of which go merrily astray despite the best efforts of Geraldine Chaplin, who plays a bridal consultant. Director Robert Altman is very good at this genre (see Nashville), he has a fine eye for detail and a roving camera for his cast. Amy Stryker is the bride, Desi Arnaz, Jr. is her silly groom. With Carol Burnett, Dina Merrill, Lillian Gish, and Vittorio Gassman, among others. Cheri; Brockton.

Unwanted Hair?

Let's face it. Every woman has some unwanted hair. You don't have to be afraid to admit it, or to do something about it. Finally there is Depilatron. Of course, you've heard of other methods of removing unwanted hair, but often they involve pain and irritation.

Depilatron is the alternative for safe and painless removal. It utilizes the same radio frequency used in standard electrolysis. Treatments given by licensed electrologists.

Make-up can be applied immediately and all parts of the body can be treated. Depilatron... for both men and women.

So why face this problem day after day? Finally there's Depilatron. To celebrate our upcoming 3rd anniversary, Depilatron is offering its usual free consultation with a free introductory treatment. Let us introduce you to the painless world of Depilatron soon.

We're conveniently located at Coolidge Corner with ample parking and easy access to the Green Line.

We suggest calling ahead for reservations, whenever possible, to avoid disappointment.

HUB

Dunley's Parker House-60 School St., Boston, 227-8600. The traditionally Boston hotel, with Parker's wicki is elegant and moderately expensive, and The Last Hurrah, which has a turn-of-the-century atmosphere and seafood and salad bars. Both are fully licensed. The hours vary, so call ahead. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Durgin Park-30 North Market St., Boston, 227-2038. Durgin Park is an institution. Be prepared to stand in line (unless you can dine before 6), to share a table, and match wits with the grouchy waitresses, who are part of the tradition. A generous seafood plate, roast duck, and roast beef are among the specialties. Prices are moderate. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30-9 pm. Full bar. No credit cards, no reservations.

Ferdinand's Restaurant-121 Mt Auburn St., Cambridge, 491-4915. Stylish and expensive, there's a $4.50 minimum at dinner, but the menu touches quite a few continental bases: chicken Chasseur, entrecote bearnaise, individual beef Wellington, Sangria, and a full bar. Hours: Mon-Fri, 11:30 am-2:30 pm, Sat-Sun, noon-3 pm, Mon-Thurs, 5 pm-10 pm, Fri-Sat, 11 pm, Sun, noon-10 pm. Reservations are a good idea at any time. AE, BA/V, MC.

Gallagher-55 Congress St., Boston, 523-6080. The Dining Room, The Bar, and The Cafe, which turns into Truffles by night, can solve almost any eating exigency, from casual light snacks to formal American and European cuisine. An intriguing menu: the only one we know of that compares crepes to Rosencrantz and Guildenstern. Please call for the complete rundown on hours. AE, BA/V, CB, MC, DC.

Hyatt Regency Cambridge-575 Memorial Drive, Cambridge, 492-1234. Three ways to eat: the revolving, rooftop Spinnaker, for lunches and late suppers; Jonah's on the Terrace, for seafood and Sun brunch; the Empress, for continental Chinese cooking. Hours vary. All have a full bar, no Sun reservations at Jonah's. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Legal Seafoods-237 Hampshire St., Cambridge, 547-1410. There are two principal schools of thought about Legal Seafoods: broiled or fried. Debate the issue while you are waiting in the upstairs bar, for the lines are very long, even on weeknights. Patience is rewarded, because the fish is great and the prices moderate. Legal Seafoods is open Mon-Sat, 11 am-9 pm; Sun, 1-9 pm. The aforementioned bar provides the drinks. No credit cards and no reservations.

Locke-Ober-3 Winter Pl., Boston, 542-1340. For more than a century, Locke-Ober has been a bastion for local politicians and businessmen. Even today, ladies may feel more comfortable upstairs. Continental cuisine; everything is a la carte; impeccable service; expensive but not extravagant. Hours: 11 am to 10 pm, daily except Sun. Full bar, reservations. AE, BA/V, MC.

Polcarl's-238 Causeway St., Boston, 742-4142. Yes, even on Wednesdays. Italian food like shrimp Margherita, lobster Fra Diavolo. Full bar, moderately expensive, reservations are a good idea. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-11:30 pm, opens at 5 pm on Sat. AE, DC, MC.

Premier Restaurant-1130 Washington St., Boston, 426-2218. There is no ticket machine anymore, but there is still a lot of solid Jewish and American food, served cafeteria style, and very reasonably priced. Licensed for beer and wine. Hours: 5 am-8:45 pm, daily except Sun. No credit cards.

The Red Coach Grill-43 Stanhope St., Boston, 266-1900, and other locations. A steak place like a colonial tavern, with prime rib, lobster, steak, and other hearty American fare. Full bar, moderate prices. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-11:30 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

St. Botolph Restaurant-99 St. Botolph St.,

Boston, 266-3030. In a chically remodeled townhouse, Franglia's cuisine: filet of sole caprice, biftek maison moutarde. Prices range from inexpensive to rather expensive. Full bar, reservations a good idea. Hours: Daily, noon-3 and 5:30-midnight. Closed for lunch on Mon, bar open until 1 am daily. AE, MC.

Scotch 'n Sirloln-77 N Washington St., Boston, 723-3677. Menu specials include teriyaki steak, ale-battered shrimp, and King Crab. Live entertainment. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 5:30-10:30, until 11:30 Fri-Sat. Reservations are accepted. AE, BA/V, MC.

Stella of Boston-74 East India Row, Boston, 227-3559. Parlate Italiano? Never mind, the menu is subtitled. Veal is a specialty: Scaloppine di vitello al Marsala, al Zingarella, al Limone, al Francese... you get the idea. Hours: 11:30-midnight, every day. Full bar, moderate prices. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Top of the Hub-Prudential Center, Boston, 536-1175. On the Pru's 52nd floor, the Top of the Hub has the best of the views; prices are somewhat more down to earth. The cuisine is Stouffers continental: Veal Cordon Bleu, Rack of Lamb. Open for lunch Mon-Sat 11:30-3; Sun brunch 11-2:30; dinner Mon-Thurs 5:30-10 pm; Fri-Sat 5:30-11 pm; Sun 5-9 pm. Full bar; reservations accepted. AE, BA/V, DC, MC, Stouffers charge.

Victoria Station-64 Sleeper St., Boston, 542-7771. A link in the national chain, a steakhouse with railroad nostalgia. A variety of beef cuts, teriyaki kabab. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: Lunch, 11:30 am-2:30 pm Mon-Sat. Dinner 5:30-11 pm Mon-Thurs, until midnight Fri; 5 pm-midnight Sat; 1-10 pm Sun. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

NORTH

Andover Inn-Chapel Ave., Andover, 475-5903. On the grounds of the Phillips Andover Academy, but a far cry from school fare. Some of the far-flung favorites are Loempia, scampl flambe. Make sure that the pastry cart rolls past your table. On Sundays, the dinner feature is Rijstafel, a Dutch-Indonesian buffet. Moderately priced, elegant. Full bar. Open Mon-Sat, 11:30-3, and 5-10. Sun, 10:30 am-3 pm, and 4-9 pm. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

Beef and Oyster House-143 Washington St., Salem, 744-4334. Beef and oysters, yes, but you needn't limit yourself to these eponymous delights, as there are other land and sea dishes to be had. Moderately expensive, fully licensed. Hours: Daily, 11 am-11 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

The Lyceum Restaurant-43 Church St., Salem, 745-7665. The Lyceum is housed in the building in which Alexander Graham Bell made the first public demonstration of the Telephone. The menu is extensive and continental: cuisses de grenouille Provençal, veal Zurichoise, duckling a la Montmorency flambe. The prices are moderate, and there is a full bar. Hours: Daily, from 11 am-10 pm. Reservations are recommended Fri-Sat evenings, and for Sun brunch. BA/V, MC, house charge.

Michael's House-26 Atlantic Ave., Marblehead, 631-1255. The house predates the restaurant by nearly two centuries. At lunch, try the quiche du jour, or the open steak sandwich. Seafood is a specialty any time. Prices are moderate. Hours: Open daily, 11:30-2, and 5:30-midnight. Full bar, wine list. AE, MC.

Proctor House-373 Lowell St., Peabody, 531-1598. In 18th-century surroundings, the menu is Yankee con brio, American and Italian specialties. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: 11:30 am-10 pm, till 11 Fri-Sat. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

Rosalie's-18 Seward St., Marblehead, 631-9888. The cucina here is North Italian, the surroundings warmly Victorian. Veal Sorrentino, shrimp Luciana. Open daily, 11:45-2:30, and 5:30-10 pm. Reservations are advised for dinner. Fully licensed, no credit cards.

Siegan's Gourmet Inn-Daniel Webster Hwy South, Nashua NH, (603) 888-0342. European and American specialties, including four different kinds of caviar, in an elegant atmosphere. Fully licensed. No reservations on Sat, otherwise, they are a good idea. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-10 pm, until 11 pm Fri-Sat. AE, BA/V, MC.

Woodman's-121 Main St., Essex, 768-6451. Highly informal, this place is seafood city. Clams, scallops, sole, shrimp, lobster: an ocean of fish, it's inexpensive, and in the winter, not too crowded. Full bar.

WEST

Le Bellecour-10 Muzzey St, Lexington, 861-9400. Now open under new management, Le Bellecour offers French cooking with some other touches, like an Indonesian Sate Babi at lunch, and medallions de chevreuil, which is venison. Full bar, reservations are recommended. Hours: Mon-Fri, 11:30-2 and 6-10; Sat, 6-10:30 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, MC.

Colonial Inn-Merchant's Row Dining Room, 48 Monument Sq, Concord, 369-9200. Continental cuisine in a Colonial atmosphere. Prime Rib, steaks, veal, and fresh seafood. Full bar. Hours: Daily 7-10 am, noon-2:30 pm, 6-9 pm, to 9:30 Sat. Sun hours noon-8:30 pm. AE, BA/V, DC, MC. House charge.

La Petite Auberge-4 Waltham St, Maynard, 897-2850. Hearty French country cooking. Some of the features of the menu are snails in garlic, cassoulet, filet mignon. There is a full bar and an exceptional wine card. Open daily, 11:30 am-9 pm, till 10 pm Sat-Sun, when reservations are a must. No credit cards, but personal checks are accepted.

Sabra-45 Union St, Newton Center, 527-5641. Israeli and Middle Eastern specialties, in gustatory harmony. Specialties include hamin on Sat, and shakshuka for Sun brunch. Not expensive, either. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Tues, 11 am-11 pm; Wed-Sun, 11 am-midnight. AE, BA/V, MC.

Upper Crust-At the Sheraton-Tara Hotel, Framingham, 879-7200, and Braintree, 848-0600. Steaks and fish, chicken Hongroise, and the Tom Jones Dinner, a massive feast that requires two days notice. Fully licensed. Hours: Mon-Fri, 5-10:30 pm; until 11 Sat; Sun, 3:30-10 pm. Lunch, 11:30 am-3 pm, Mon-Fri. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The William Paul House-Reservoir St (Rte 31) Holden, 829-6666. The specialty of the House is seafood, with a continental accent: baked stuffed file of sole, seafood Mornay. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: Tues-Sat, 5-10 pm, Sun, noon-8 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

Yangtze River Restaurant-25 Depot Sq, Lexington Center, 861-6031. Mandarin-Szechuan with Polynesian things as well: Gai-Har-Lo-Mein, Shrimp Almond Ding, Blessed Family Happiness. More happiness: everything is nicely explained on the menu, which is long. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-9:30 pm; Fri-Sat, until 10:30 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.

SOUTH

Casa Berrini-Main St, Marshfield. Continental embellishments on a traditional menu: veal, prime rib, seafood, and Salad Garetto. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: Daily (except Mon) from 11 am-10 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

The Ground Round-Kings Plaza, Braintree, 848-4848, and other locations. A multi-media dining experience, music and TV along with burgers and other sandwich specialties. Inexpensive. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11:30-1 am. No credit cards.

Tinker's Dam-Rte 139, Pembroke, 826-5748. Cozy, candlelit dining in the upstairs dining room. A glowing pine bar provides a full range of drinks to complement a menu that is basically Continental: veal Oscar, beef Wellington, and homemade desserts. The prices are moderate. Open 11:30-2:30, Mon-Fri, and 6-10 pm Tues-Sun. Reservations for large groups only, eight or more. BA/V, DC, MC.

The Victorian-583 Linwood Ave, Whitinsville, 234-2500. Whitinsville may be off the beaten track, but if you're in the area or even if you're not, The Victorian will reward you with period decor and a menu that is mostly French, with continental and American accents. Hours: Tues-Fri from 11:30 am-2:30 pm; and Tues-Sat from 5:30 pm on; Sun from noon-8 pm. Full bar. BA/V, MC.

Winsor House Inn-390 Washington St, Duxbury, 934-2548. The Winsor House is grandly Federalist without, warmly paneled within. Continental menu: Sallimbocca, coquilles St. Jacques, sole Jacqueline. Moderately expensive. Fully licensed. Hours: Tues-Sat 11:30 am-2 pm; Tues-Sat 6 pm-9 pm, Fri-Sat 6-10 pm. Reservations are a good idea for weekend dining. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

#50 Fine for Parking

By Don Rubin

Outrageous! Positively criminal! Nobody should park a car like that and get away with it — least of all a meter maid. We know she was a meter maid because she was in uniform. And besides (heh, heh) she dropped this book of tickets.

Let's see now, where should we begin? Aw, what the heck — we've counted all of this car's numerous violations and entered the combined code total, along with a few other pertinent details, on the front of the ticket.

We'll let you do the honors.

Simply enter the fine due in the appropriate box.

Answer

Total Fine _____

Rules of the Game

- Names of the first ten contestants with the correct answer will be published in METROGUIDE. All contestants submitting correct answers to any of the puzzles through October 26 by the usual deadline will qualify for the Halloween Lottery, and a grand prize of dinner for two with all the trimmings. The METRODINNER winner will be announced in the November 9 issue of METROGUIDE.
- All entries in The Puzzle Contest must be received at the METROGUIDE office, 227 Statler Office Building, Boston, MA 02116, by noon, the Thursday one week after publication.
- All entries must be accompanied by the name and address of the contestant.
- Employees of METROGUIDE and their immediate families are not eligible.
- All entries must be accompanied by a tearsheet of the puzzle page. Whenever possible, the Puzzle answer should be entered on the form provided.

Answer to Puzzle #48 Timber!

Only six of you hit the trees on the head with the correct number—which is 235. Even Paul Bunyan would have had difficulty with all of those. Therefore, being the kind folks we are, we decided that those of you tree-counters who were close (meaning within 20, in either direction) are eligible for the drawing coming up next month. The first six people are the real winners, with the others closer than most.

Howard Caras, Peabody; Bob Keay, Beverly; C Volpe, Ashland; Nick Lazarakis, Peabody; Evelyn Douglas, Norwell; C A Ryan, Quincy; Ross Sigmund, Westwood; Gloria Sheehan, Framingham; Perry Amelman, Newtonville; C Fanara, Framingham.

Ed Brooke means a lot to young people.

When Ed Brooke saw that young families and single persons of moderate and middle incomes were being priced out of the home ownership market — he knew something had to be done.

He introduced the Young Families Housing Act and fought for it until it became law last year.

It means that families just starting out in life can now get a graduated payment mortgage with payments that increase as the family income rises. It means young families can now own their own homes.

On every issue young people care most about — women's rights and equal opportunity; environmental protection; truth in lending; consumer protection; student loan programs; solar energy; lower air fares; and countless others — Ed Brooke has always been on their side.

Ed Brooke means a lot to us.

A copy of our report is filed with the Federal Election Committee and is available for purchase from the Federal Election Committee, Washington, D.C. Brooke Committee, John A. Volpe, Chairman, 15 Tudor Road, Nahant, Mass. 01908.

A tale of a lost cat

Green lights from the computers glow in the shadows as a soft grey creature peers out at the Sunday morning sunlight just poking through the windows. Time for breakfast.

The soft pad of cat paws across the wooden floor. As she crosses the corridor in search of a morning snack, the lifting tail sweeps across the electric eye. PANDEMONIUM! Sirens wail, and the poor lass hasn't the foggiest notion as to what's up, but she knows the safest place is a dark corner.

Minutes later, a sleepy-eyed man with the keys shows up, wondering who the devil set off the alarm at The Winchester Star. Finding no culprit, he turns off the switch and goes back home.

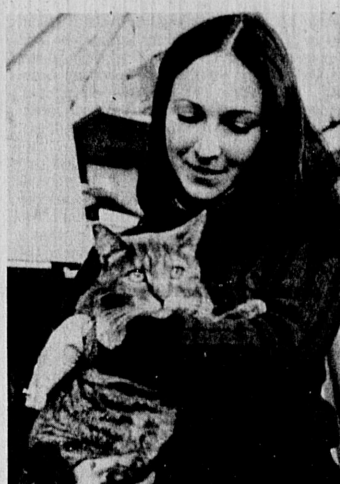

Only to be called back two hours later, after the cat has decided the coast is clear and has set off the electric eye and the wailing sirens again. This time, though, the culprit is discovered.

If you are missing a cat, take note: As of Friday, we have had a visitor at Century Publications on Church st., a mottled grey and brown cat about eight months old. One employee said the cat has been in the neighborhood for three weeks and only recently decided to stop by our production department.

Ad representative Mildred Kane supplied a bit of food and a box of litter Friday, but when she went to go home, the cat was nowhere to be seen. We all assumed the feline had fled. Little did we know.

Twice on Sunday morning our furred friend set off the alarm here at CPI and, our boss being out of town, Ken Henderson of stationery fame was called in to quell the sirens and secure the locks. Sunday morning was not the best time for an alarm to go off, but then again, it could have been at three a.m. Saturday.

For the time being, we are harboring the poor fugitive, who Ms. Kane says is very polite, sweet, and lovable. Accord-

We'd sure like to find the owner of this very beautiful little girl or a nice warm home for her this winter. If you would like to volunteer a home for her or if you can't locate the owner, call us at 725-8100.

ding to our production manager, we haven't had any mice in the building in 10 years—he says they knew the cat was coming.

However, he cannot keep the kitten for long, as there is business to do here. If you think she's yours, come and claim her. If we find no owner by Friday, we will be giving her away to the first suitable caretaker who comes by. And remember, when the alarm's on, keep your tail down.

Board to vote Monday

Superintendent says close Parkhurst in 1980

The Parkhurst Elementary School may get a one year reprieve.

Superintendent William C. MacDonald recommended to the school committee Monday night that Parkhurst be kept open, primarily because enrollments on the west side have come out higher than expected.

The school board will take the question up for a vote at their meeting this Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanborn House on High street.

Last Monday's meeting heard a long and eloquent plea from the Parkhurst parents for "adequate" staffing for next year to avoid the large number of split-grade classes the school has this year.

Monday's gathering at Sanborn House also heard an angry Catherine Alexander, who had a committee to call up the long range task force for a reevaluation of the school closing plans voted last spring.

The task force recommended, and the board voted in the spring to close three elementary schools by 1980. Other elements of the plan included closing up Sanborn House and moving the administration to Lynch, which would be converted to an elementary school; converting McCall to a grade 7 and 8 middle school; and shifting the high school to a four-year program.

Parkhurst recommendation

Superintendent MacDonald based his recommendation to keep Parkhurst open another year on two points.

First, the school has an enrollment of 191 this year, 31 children more than expected. The new projections for next year show Parkhurst populating at about 161 students, MacDonald said.

If the school were closed, those students would have to be transferred to Vinson/Owen and Ambrose. V-O has the capacity to take the extra students, but the administration says Ambrose is "over the top."

If the school were closed, those students would be transferred to Vinson/Owen and Ambrose. V-O would take 84 of them under the district lines already accepted by the school committee, bringing the total enrollment there to 306. That figure is well within the school's preferred capacity.

Ambrose, however, would have to take 77 Parkhurst students, bringing the enrollment there up to 324. The preferred capacity at Ambrose is about 280.

"The numbers are too close to play with at this moment. We would certainly like to save the dollars, but not at the expense of the kids, especially at Ambrose," commented MacDonald.

In voting to close Parkhurst last spring, the school board, unsure of how the numbers might fall, made the closing conditional upon not overrunning Ambrose. The board also said they would not close Parkhurst if a suitable alternative use could not be found.

The second consideration cited by the superintendent in making his recommendation was the special needs class at Parkhurst. "I don't think the contractor will be able to fill all his commitments. He serves nine towns in this area, and if he has to truck the salt from New Hampshire in the bad weather, I don't think we're going to get all we need," Tonasuck said.

special needs classes in Lynch in 1980, keeping Parkhurst open would afford the children some stability.

Claire Keane, president of the Parkhurst Parents Association, asked the school committee for a commitment to provide "flexible staffing" if the school is kept open next year. Staffing at the school has proved difficult over the past two years because of the relatively small number of students enrolled there and because of budgetary pressures to keep staffing at the accepted 25:1 student-teacher ratio.

Because of the small number of children, Parkhurst this year has six split classes. Mrs. Keane noted the second grade has about a half dozen students in each of two split classes and as a result "has no identity as a year in school."

"We're not saying that split classes per se are a bad thing," said Mrs. Keane. "But there are times when and there are places where they are (a bad thing), and I think you can see they are at Parkhurst."

Mrs. Keane noted that many parents felt that the school might as well close if they are faced with as many split classes next year.

Committee Chairman Constance Papas replied, "It will not be my intent to staff Parkhurst any differently from other schools." She noted that this year, after the staffing formulas are applied to projected enrollments to determine staffing levels, principals will be allowed to come to the school committee for extra staffing if they feel their situation merits it.

As for the closing, Mrs. Papas seemed to favor the superintendent's recommendation. "I still think schools need to be closed," she said, "but we should proceed in an orderly fashion. I'm not sure the time is appropriate next year (for closing Parkhurst)."

Recall the task force

Mrs. Alexander, however, said, "I'm not convinced that in fact Parkhurst should not close in 1979." She called for the administration to call back the long range task force to reexamine the enrollment projections and revise their recommendations.

"I'm concerned with the dollars and cents involved. I would put the dollars into staffing. I'm looking for other ways to save the dollars," said Mrs. Alexander. She questioned whether Ambrose might not be able to handle the extra students by utilizing two smaller rooms available on the first floor.

MacDonald noted that use of the two rooms would allow Ambrose to handle about 315 students. He also noted that Ambrose is an open classroom set-up, and that the two smaller rooms would not be in keeping with the present teaching arrangement at the school.

Mrs. Alexander was also concerned about whether or not Lynch would be underenrolled when converted to an elementary school in 1980.

MacDonald responded sharply to the suggestion that the task force be reconvened. "I did not come prepared to rehearse the task force report, which has been discussed in some detail," he said, adding that unless the school board voted to direct him to reconvene it, he would not do so.

Chairman Papas supported the superintendent's position, saying, "Is it our goal to save money or to create a proper educational climate? We have to decide. Why have the task force study the numbers and tell us what we already know? They can't solve it for us."

"Sometimes I wonder if I'm attending the right meeting," MacDonald said, reminding the committee that they had charged him to come back with a recommendation for Parkhurst based on educational grounds.

Mrs. Alexander favored waiting a week to study the issue further before voting. "Ninety-thousand dollars is not peanuts, and one more week can certainly be justified," she said.

The estimated savings from closing Parkhurst range from a high of close to $100,000 to a middle figure of around $37,000 to a low figure of $56,000, according to calculations made by the long range task force.

Soccer teams in first place

The high school soccer teams jumped into first place in their respective divisions this week as the first place Wakefield Warriors lost to Lexington Tuesday, 2-1.

The Warrior loss put the boys soccer team in front with a 12-1 record. The Sachems defeated Stoneham 6-0 Tuesday for their sixth straight victory. Jimmy Olivier scored two more goals to make him the top scorer in the state. Barry McQuillan scored two more, Charlie Mahoney booted in one, and Rob Horne added the final tally against Stoneham.

The girls team defeated Chelmsford Tuesday, 6-1, to take over the top spot with a 7-1 record and a good chance to win the state title in their first year as a team.

Local calligrapher

By DAVID FUNKHOUSER

Pinned on the wall amid a collage of writing samples in Calligrapher Jane Coates' studio is a neatly penned statement:

"For life is too short to be little."

For Coates, who lives at 5 Nassau dr., that quote from a verse by 20th Century French writer and philosopher Andre Maurois has a double meaning.

In one sense of the words, one should not allow life's petty tribulations too much of an influence over one's everyday life. Read another way, the quote hints of greater missions, beyond the scope of day to day living.

To sit and talk with Jane Coates and witness her natural smile and steady disposition, one can readily surmise that she adheres to the former philosophy. And when she hears her speak of her plans, there can be no doubt she has a mission.

Born in Binghamton, NY 40 years ago, Jane (Russell) Coates has come to her mission perhaps later than most, and she has her work cut out for her: She would like to change the way we write.

After attending schools in Binghamton, she went to the College of New Rochelle as an art major. Upon graduating, she moved to Boston to become assistant director of radio and television advertising for Jordan Marsh.

A year and a half later, she took on the job of assistant manager for local newspaper advertising for Jordan's branch stores.

In 1962, she married Vincent J. Coates Jr., who is now director of special projects for the AVCO Everett Research Laboratory. The Coates have two children, a 15-year-old daughter and a 13-year-old son.

For 10 years, Jane maintained her interest in art but stopped working professionally. On her own, she began studying calligraphy (literally, "beautiful handwriting"), and she did some consulting work for a local firm. But it was the calligraphy that appealed to her, not so much the design work, so Jane went to study at the New England School of Art and Design in Boston in 1976.

The formal study of handwriting and letterforms turned an interesting pursuit into an "addiction." Jane went from beginning calligraphy to the advanced course, and as of last spring, she is on the faculty at the New England School.

As testimony to her talents, she was one of three New Englanders and 30 Americans invited in the summer of 1977 to visit Buckingham Palace during the Queen's Silver Jubilee. The visiting "scribes" were given the most literal royal treatment. They toured the palace and got a close up look at the Queen's private collection of hand drawn and inscribed citations, works created by the best scribes in the world during the past 25 years.

It's not every day one is met at the door by liveried footmen. Recalls Jane, "I was so nervous, being on the inside of the gate and looking out at the tourists and the camera men."

It may seem like quite a jump from royal inscriptions to a doctor's prescription, but Jane Coates is making it on a grand scale. When you're a calligrapher, she says, "you become very aware of peoples' handwriting, especially when you can't read it."

Another factor Jane cites as influencing her goals is the handwriting she saw her children bringing home from school. First of all, there are inconsistencies in the way writing is taught. Secondly, as Coates sees it, children have to learn to write twice over in school, because the print alphabet is so different from the cursive learned later on.

Handwriting has a very practical history; only in recent times has its style become increasingly illegible and impractical, explains Coates. Early forms of carving and engraving required a writing tool suited to the materials at hand. The broad-tipped pen imitated the clean lines of the wood-carver.

When copper engraving came into fashion, more elaborate letterforms were created, and these became the basis for our modern "cursive" or script writing style. The split-tipped pen (such as a fountain pen) was invented to allow the writer to style his letters with the same mix of thick and thin strokes as the engraver.

According to Coates, the invention of the split-tipped pen, an "unnatural tool" for writing, was "the beginning of the deterioration of legible handwriting."

If you've ever tried to read a doctor's prescription or a professor's comments on a school term paper, you know what she's talking about.

In the early decades of this century, educators recognized that handwriting as taught in the schools was not all it could be. To try to correct this, they developed the "print script" form taught in schools today.

The problem with "print script," she explains Coates, "There is no correlation between the alphabet you learn to print in kindergarten and the alphabet you learn to write with later on."

And that brings us to Jane Coates' mission. She and her former teacher at the New England School of Art and Design, Calligrapher Richard Merrill, have teamed together to invent and promote a whole new style of handwriting, a "more natural" style of writing that would simplify teaching children how to write and make their writing more legible.

The goal is a letterform that can be taught in kindergarten as print and later on, with a few simple "joins," as script.

The new alphabet developed by Coates and Merrill (which they have trademarked as "The Coates-Merrill Method") is an attractive compromise between the elegant forms of the calligrapher and the tortured script most of us use day to day. And the lettering is not terribly hard to perform—in fact it was developed to be a new form of cursive—"quick writing."

The form for this new version of the alphabet was not taken lightly by the experimenters. They spoke with doctors about writing problems among special needs students; they read what research material they could find, though there was little to go on; and they did some private tutoring, keeping a close watch on the results.

"We're still doing basic research," says Coates. She reports that she and Merrill spoke with two doctors from Children's Hospital Med. Ctr. who told them there was medical evidence that the current style of handwriting being taught in schools makes writing more difficult for some children with special needs. Working with these children is one aim of the Coates-Merrill team.

Learning disabilities are often not noticed for a variety of reasons. Sometimes they are hidden by the children themselves. However, sooner or later the disability tends to surface. And, as Coates puts it, "One reason they can't cope is they can't write." She notes that

In addition to her freelance work, Jane teaches at the New England School of Art and Design and at the Old Schwamb Mill in Arlington. She belongs to a number of professional calligraphers' associations and is active here in town—she belongs to the Quota Club and is involved in the high school parent-faculty association. She just finished up an exhibit in Lowell and is planning another one soon.

But her preoccupation with handwriting takes up more and more time. She now spends as much as 40 percent of her work time on research for the project, and the results are just beginning to peek over the horizon. And so far, there's no money coming in from it, not even for materials. But then, the handwriting project is something more than an occupation.

"Both of us are committed enough, so that if we can't find funding, we'll go ahead and do it anyway," says Coates. "We feel it's a very important contribution that needs to be made to education, because people can't write... There's very little you can do today if you can't write."

Unquestionably, there is something catchy about "The Coates-Merrill Method." It may be coincidence that Merrill is left-handed, while Coates is right-handed. But it is no coincidence that what they have discovered is a simple, legible, revolutionary style of writing that may give the fading art of the written word new life.

writing correlates to a wide range of other skills we learn in school—spelling, note taking, reading, and other language arts.

Another, more general goal, is to develop a teacher training program. "What we can do as calligraphers does not give us a good idea of what the rest of the world can do or would like to do," explains Coates. "We're in the process of developing a long-range teaching method that will apply to a broad range of ages and types."

This past summer, Coates and Merrill incorporated the Institute for Better Handwriting, with an office at 11 Newbury St., Boston. It is a non-profit corporation, and the two are looking into the possibility of a grant to help them continue operations.

The two have been talking with various educational and medical institutions to see how they might go about introducing their method and starting up teacher training courses. "By and large we have received an extremely favorable reaction," Coates reports, adding that she and Merrill are looking to introduce their method at a few key seminars before taking it any further.

"A lot of people are saying, 'Come on and do it'; we're just not ready yet to pick a school—we're primarily interested in teachers," she says.

Winchester resident fined for income tax evasion

Salvatore M. Cipriano, 56, of 30 Squire rd., owner of Arrow Packing Co., New England Produce Center in Chelsea, was fined $10,000 in U.S. District Court Thursday, placed on probation for three years and ordered to perform 60 hours a month of public service work for 36 months after he pleaded guilty to a charge of federal income tax evasion.

U.S. Atty. Edward F. Harrington said Judge Joseph L. Tauro sentenced the Winchester resident who had been charged on April 28 with three counts of income tax evasion by Asst. U.S. Atty. Charles Chase.

The defendant waived his rights to be indicted and later pleaded guilty to one charge.

The charges alleged that the potato and onion business operator reported taxable income for the years 1971, 1972 and 1973 of $760,653 with taxes of $436,903 instead of taxable income of $1,470,451 with taxes of $731,701.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Chase asked the court to sentence Cipriano to one year in jail. The defense attorney told the court before sentencing that his client faces IRS civil action on taxes, penalties and interest determined to be due for the three years in the government's charges.

Man to be sentenced Nov. 2 for fatal crash in August

Robert Marchetti, the 22-year-old Somerville man whose car struck another car Aug. 19 killing two persons, admitted to sufficient facts in Woburn District Court this week and will be sentenced Nov. 2 by Judge Francis P. Cullen.

Police testified that Marchetti's vehicle crossed the solid line on Cambridge street just north of Everett avenue late that Saturday night and collided with a vehicle operated by Thomas Seabrook, 26, of Somerville which was heading north on Cambridge street. Seabrook was pronounced dead on arrival at Choate Memorial Hospital after police and fire personnel had trouble extricating him from his vehicle.

Also killed in the collision was Richard Dwyer, 25, of Teel street, Arlington who was pronounced dead on arrival at Winchester Hospital. A third occupant of Seabrook's car, Judy Flynn, 17, of Henderson street, Arlington was treated and released from Winchester Hospital after receiving treatment for multiple injuries.

Just before the fatal accident, police said Marchetti's car, owned by Margaret Keen of Salem, Oregon, was involved in another accident minutes before the collision. Two Arlington residents reported to police that a car, described as Marchetti's car, clipped the rear of their vehicle at the intersection of Cambridge and High streets. When the Arlington residents turned around to follow the vehicle, they discovered the second accident.

In addition to two counts of motor vehicle homicide which carries no less than 30 days and no more than a two and a half year sentence and no less than $300 fine and no more than $3000 or both on each count, Marchetti will be charged with failing to keep to the right, leaving the scene of an accident, running a red light, and operating an uninsured vehicle.

He was arraigned Sept. 11. Traffic Safety Officer John McKinley and J. Quinn, of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, investigated.

Lt. Andrew Crawford, police prosecutor, said by admitting sufficient facts, Marchetti is not pleading guilty. "By admitting to facts, he is left with the opportunity of appeal," Crawford explained.

In other police business, a White street house was illegally entered last week between 7:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. At this time, it is not known what was taken. There was no forced entry and all doors were locked, police said.

On Sunday, a Ridge street resident reported an antique wood carving missing from his living room. He told police he went to Europe from Sept. 3 to Oct. 12 and just noticed the missing item this week. There was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Police arrest local youth for attempted rape

State Police, Athol Barracks, Sunday arrested a Harvard street juvenile for the attempted rape and assault and battery on a juvenile girl.

According to Trooper Willard Corstange of the Athol barracks, the youth was arrested late Sunday night after State Police obtained a warrant from Orange District Court.

The 16-year-old youth was arraigned Tuesday in Orange and his case has been continued to November. Corstange said the barracks received the complaint on the assault at 5 p.m. Saturday and police began staking out his Winchester residence at 7:15 p.m.

State Police said the incident occurred in Wendell and that he and the girl "knew of each other." Police said the youth slashed the girl's left arm with a knife and is being charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon in addition to the attempted rape charge.

Winchester police aided State Police in staking out the home until the youth returned late Sunday night.

State Police also obtained a search warrant at the residence to "confiscate incriminatory" at the Harvard street scene.

According to police, the youth was transported from the Orange courthouse after his arraignment to Lawrence District Court for a default on a disorderly conduct warrant dating back to the summer.

State Police said they do not know what the youth was doing in Wendell before the time of the incident. The girl was taken to an area hospital and is in good condition.

43 face court for not paying leash law fines

Winchester Police Canine Control Officer Nick Molea reports that 43 court hearings are coming up this week for dog owners who have failed to pay leash law fines.

According to Molea, final warning notices for paying the fines will not be sent out and if residents want to avoid court action, they should pay the fines immediately.

Molea also said that he has obtained a list of all dogs in town that have not been licensed. He said the dog owners will be subject to a $10 fine.

Reception for Rotondi Nov. 3

The Committee to Re-elect Sam Rotondi to the Massachusetts State Senate is sponsoring a reception in his honor Nov. 3, at the Woburn Armory, Main street, Woburn from 8 p.m. to midnight. The donation will include dancing, a buffet and a cash bar.

Sen. Rotondi is seeking re-election to the Fourth Middlesex District, a seat which he won in 1976. The district consists of the towns of Arlington, Lexington, Winchester and the City of Woburn. Sen. Rotondi was nominated in the Democratic Primary by what his office calls an "overwhelming vote throughout the district."

He is continuing his campaign for the upcoming final election. The committee stated, "We trust that the voters of the Fourth Middlesex District have recognized the outstanding job that Sam Rotondi has done in his first two years in office."

"He has kept the promise to be a full-time Senator, and that full-time service enabled him to be involved with such vital issues as court reform, the establishment of a Senate code of ethics, the creation of the blue ribbon commission to investigate corruption in the awarding of state building contracts. Most importantly, Sen. Rotondi has been in the forefront of the efforts to bring property tax relief.

"Recently, he was named 1978 Legislator of the Year by two prestigious state-wide organizations, the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns, and the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association for his work on legislation which would benefit the taxpayers and citizens he represents."

Porter motorcade Saturday morning

The Diane R. Porter Election Campaign Committee will hold a second motorcade on Saturday morning weather permitting. Everyone interested in joining should meet at the Lexington High School parking lot at 9 a.m.

The motorcade will drive through the district, Lexington, Arlington, Winchester, and Woburn, and return to headquarters at 1668 Massachusetts ave., Lexington, for beer and pretzels.

Dance at Lincoln

Nov. 4, 8-11:30

A dance sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Department and the Winchester High School Student Union will be held Nov. 4 at the Lincoln School from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The live band "Sweet Leaf" will provide the entertainment.

Bloodmobile at ### high school Nov. 1

Winchester teachers and high school students are combining their efforts in a bloodmobile to be held at the Winchester High School cafeteria Nov. 1, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Milburn Dixon and Jerry Burdulis, representing the Winchester Education Association, have volunteered their services as teacher recruiters in the blood drive.

High School seniors Mary Russo and Chris Zappala, who are student members of the board of directors of the Winchester Red Cross, are organizing the student effort. The bloodmobile will be open to the public.

"Eye Do" and "Clawed from Lagoon" enjoy a moment together before they make their nightly rounds on Winchester streets. The spooks, Ed Esposito, left, of 22 Johnson rd., and Bruce Brown, of Myrtle terrace, are two of the characters that will occupy the haunted house this weekend at the girl scout campouse off South Border road. The annual event is sponsored by the Winchester Jaycees.

Board members visiting schools

The meeting of parents and school board members at the Ambrose School scheduled for Nov. 14 has been rescheduled for Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. because of a conflict with town meeting.

The school board has been sending sub-committees to all of the schools to talk with parents and find out what their main concerns are about education in Winchester.

Board members have already been to visit Noonan, Lincoln, Parkhurst, Washington, McCall, and Mystic. Cathy Alexander and Connie Papas will be at Muraco this Wednesday; Mrs. Papas and Sandra Rodgers will be at Lynch Nov. 2; Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Rodgers will be at Ambrose Nov. 7; Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Papas will be at Vinson-Owen Nov. 8; and Dick Holland and Mrs. Papas will visit the high school Nov. 15.

Police step up ban on overnight street parking

Chief of Police John McMugh said yesterday the department will "step up" the ban on overnight parking on Winchester streets beginning this week.

Section 8 of the traffic regulations reads: "No vehicle, except those of physicians, nurses, or clergymen on attendance of the sick, shall be parked on any street for a period of time longer than one hour between the hours of 1 a.m. and 7 a.m. of any day."

Section 30 of the Winchester Code of By-laws also prohibits parking over night and authorizes the department of public works director to order a car be towed provided he informs the chief of police of the tow within 24 hours.

The chief said it is imperative that streets be kept clear in the winter months so as not "to interfere with snow removal operations."

Power out here Thursday night

Sections of Arlington, Winchester and Lexington were without power from one to two hours Thursday night when wires came down at the Arlington-Lexington line on Summer street.

Boston Edison responded to the scene and switched over lines, thus bringing in power from other areas, so that those without could have electricity back on as soon as possible.

The first call that the power was off was reported at 8:03 p.m. with most back on by 9:05 p.m., and all power restored by 10 p.m.

There were 3500 outages in Arlington, 100 in Winchester and another 500 in Lexington. The outage was generally confined to the Heights and Morningside section of Arlington, and into Winchester, and East Lexington.

In last session

Saltmarsh cited by 2 groups for votes on municipal issues

Representative Sherman W. Saltmarsh Jr. (R) of Winchester is one of 46 state representatives who got an "A" for effort from two municipal groups for their votes on issues of major importance to cities and towns during the 1978 legislative session.

Saltmarsh voted for municipal needs in five out of six of the roll call votes lallied by the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns (MLCT) and the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association (MSA).

Legislative Director Sheila Cheimets said in announcing the analysis of the House votes for the session. "These were important issues facing cities and towns, and we are pleased to thank publicly those representatives who were sensitive to their constituents' needs." The 1978 session as a whole, she added, "was the best session local government has had, due partly to the efforts of these representatives."

The six issues recorded by the municipal groups include votes on giving appropriating powers for county budgets to local officials, controlling MBTA salaries, school fiscal autonomy, and the classification amendment. In addition, the tally includes a vote on requiring private insurance companies to pay for medical services needed by eligible special education pupils, and a vote on a law allowing communities to rescind their adoption of portions of the state law, without having to file a special bill in the legislature.

"Legislative action on these municipal issues has a significant effect on local property tax rates and on local home rule powers," Cheimets said, adding that this was the third annual "report card" issued by the municipal associations. The groups would continue to "keep score on the legislature," she said.

"People are becoming aware that much of their local real estate tax rate is determined by votes taken on Beacon Hill rather than by decisions made in city and town halls, so they are very interested in how their legislators voted."

In the 1979 session, which will begin in January, the biggest issue facing municipal government will be the effort to curb future state mandates and roll back present mandates, Cheimets said. Mandates "are bills made out by the state which local governments have to pay," she concluded, "and if there is to be any local control by taxpayers and local officials over local taxes, these mandates must be stopped."

Budget items on agenda for school board

A list of priority budget items will be up for discussion at the next meeting of the school committee Monday night at Sanborn House, starting at 7:30.

Among the items are staffing for split grades, the weighting of special needs students for determining staffing levels, extracurricular activities, policy on principals and directorships, reorganization of the central office, energy costs at the high school, and various curriculum matters.

Among the budget-related, curriculum items are the switch to a four year high school, scheduled for 1980; changes in curriculum for grades 7 and 8 when the ninth grade moves to the high school; a review of the high school curriculum; an extended day kindergarten program; and repetition of courses.

There will be other regular items on the agenda, including personnel and school committee reports; however, the prime focus of the meeting will be budget issues.

THE WINCHESTER STAR

Serving The Community For Over 95 Years

Keep it alive

After 20 years, The Winchester Children's Theatre is in trouble, and it is suffering from the same disease that afflicts a wide variety of cultural institutions in the Age of Star Wars: Lack of interest.

For 20 years the organization, largely fueled by the enthusiasm of Carlene Samoiloff and a few other citizens, has provided a unique opportunity for local children to try their hand at the theater arts. As many as four dozen children from age five to 15 are involved, and they learn everything from dancing to mime to juggling and, of course, acting.

The productions involve music, drama, art, and improvisation. But in addition to the various skills and talents developed during the course of putting together a production, the children learn a whole lot more about timing and coordination, working together and having fun. If you've ever seen one of their plays, you should know what we mean.

Children's Theatre has two problems: lack of personnel and money.

Up to 1976, the organization was totally self-sustaining. Expenses were covered by ticket prices and tuition charges. In 1976, the recreation department began subsidizing the theater to the tune of about $1200. That commitment has been continued through this year.

Production costs usually run a minimum of $1600 and often as high as $2000. Generally, from year to year, a few hundred dollars are left in the kitty to help start up the next production.

However, for the past two years, the theater has undertaken a spring workshop. This has proven to be a great learning experience for the children and has been widely accepted by the parents. The theater has brought in special instructors to teach dancing, mime, juggling, and other skills. And that costs a bit — not a lot, but enough to leave start-up funds dangerously thin.

Several ideas are being bounced around to see how they might raise more money. One would be to charge parents for the use and repair of costumes; another would be to solicit individual sponsors. Whatever is decided, it is clear the organization will need some funding in order to continue to operate.

A second, even more pressing need, is for personnel. A very few have been carrying the load for a number of years, and some new blood is needed to ensure that the work of the theater will be continued into the future.

This fall's performance will be Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird." Once again, Mrs. Samoiloff is directing. More than anything else, they need a coordinator to act as liaison between the director and the various production crews and committees. Help is also needed with costumes and several other committees.

When the children sign up, the mothers (it never seems to be the fathers, unfortunately) are asked to help out with the production. Most go along but few can work more than the two days a week scheduled for rehearsals. But putting together a production of the scale the Children's Theatre works in takes much more than two days' commitment.

Children's Theatre has been putting out for Winchester for two decades, teaching its children and providing the public with great entertainment. They have contributed thousands of dollars worth of stage equipment to the local schools. It's about time the town and its citizens considered giving a little back, so Children's Theatre won't die. — DKF

Election '78

Students assignments to schools

Each week, the Winchester League of Women Voters is providing an analysis of one of the referendum questions to appear on the November ballot.

The so-called "anti-busing" amendment would add an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting assignment of students to any public school on the basis of race, color, national origin, or creed.

If passed: The state Constitution would provide that school committees could not assign or deny admittance to public schools to any student based on race, color, national origin, or creed.

If defeated: There would be no change in the state Constitution.

Pro: Supporters argue that a "yes" vote would retain parents' rights in preventing arbitrary assignment of students outside their normal school district.

Con: Opponents argue that the state's moral commitment to integration should allow school committees to consider racial characteristics when assigning children to schools. They point out that the federal equal protection mandate would still require cities and towns now under court order to comply with existing integration rulings.

Cong. Ed Markey from the Seventh Congressional District has been cited by The Coalition on American Rivers for "an excellent voting record against water-related 'pork barrel' bills."

The Illinois-based organization praised Markey for voting against five of six measures they say would have led to the construction of additional federal dams, irrigation projects, and barge canals "at a cost of billions of dollars." Some of the projects involved are among the projects President Carter has opposed in an attempt to control some federal costs.

The coalition is a conservation group which researches public works issues.

An enthusiastic response to the news of an autumn brunch for Congressman Paul Tsongas has been reported by the local support committee. Invitations for the brunch have been sent to voters in Winchester, Arlington, Lexington, Burlington, Woburn, Stoneham, and other Fifth and Seventh Congressional District communities.

Many prominent political figures are expected to attend. Among those of particular local interest are Sen. Sam Rotondelli from Winchester, Rep. Nick Paleologos from Woburn, Gov. Michael Dukakis, Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neill, and U.S. Cong. Ed Markey. Serving on the support committee are: Susan Keats, Barbara Miliaras, Helen Philippi, Jim Frank of Arlington, Don Langell of Woburn, Dr. Ming Chen of Lexington.

The public is invited to attend this fundraiser for Cong. Tsongas, Sunday from 12 to 3 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Winchester.

The new district governor for Rotary International will be paying a visit to Winchester today at the weekly Rotary luncheon at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 12:15 p.m. Harry W. Mellet, an Andover resident, was recently named governor for District 793, which includes Winchester and 40 other clubs north of Boston.

The gubernatorial candidates will meet in debate in Faneuil Hall Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Francis W. Hatch, Jr. and Edward J. King are going to meet with panelists Arnold Friedman, editor of the Springfield Morning Union; Gail Harris, news commentator, Channel 4; and James R. Dorsey, State House correspondent, United Press International. The moderator will be Susan Willshire, president of the LWV of Massachusetts.

The debate will be broadcast live over Channels 2 and 57 throughout the state. Be sure to watch this event on Channel 2.

50 years ago

The stories reprinted here were taken from old editions of The Winchester Star and were compiled by Henry Simonds, local historian. By and large these articles are taken from the same month they appear here, 50 years ago.

The United States Marine Band, the famous "Presidents Own" comprising 48 master musicians under the direction of Captain Taylor Branson, made its first appearance in Winchester last week Thursday Oct. 11 when it played three concert programs during the afternoon and evening to large audiences in the Town Hall.

It's safe to say that Winchester music lovers have never, previous to the appearance of the Marine Band, had the opportunity of listening in their own town to a program of such excellence as that played by this justly famous organization last Thursday. The selections chosen were musically above reproach and rendered in that finished manner which has to be expected from a band numbered among the leaders in the world.

The men are justly proud of their organization's splendid reputation and this price is reflected in their individual efforts toward its success. They are absolutely responsive to the interpretive moods of their leader, Captain Branson, and at all times their playing is so unified as to resemble that of a skilled performer upon the pipe organ. It would have been hard to believe, had one closed his eyes, that there were no strings in the group which played Liszt's beautiful "Dreams of Love," so delicately shaded was the tone, while the spirited performance of Sousa's great march "The Stars and Stripes Forever" was that only attained by a band of martial background. If the band had played only "The Star Spangled Banner" the concert might well have been termed a success, so splendidly did the Marines render our National Anthem.

Aside from the excellence of their playing, as an inspiring spectacle the bandmen in their scarlet afternoon for the benefit of the school children of Winchester who crowded the hall on both occasions and sat spell bound while the Captain Branson and his men, in their orthodox dress blues played groups of selections calculated especially to appeal to the youngsters.

Captain Branson himself was introduced by President Harris S. Richardson of the Rotary Club, which organization sponsored the Winchester appearance of the band for the benefit of the hospital here.

Remember UNICEF

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As we assemble our supplies of treats to give out to costumed callers this Halloween, let's all set aside some nickles, dimes and quarters for those children who come to call with UNICEF boxes in hand.

Those children who carry UNICEF boxes are making a special effort for their less fortunate counterparts in other parts of the world. To the adults who contribute and to the small trick or treaters who visit neighborhood homes, benefits include the satisfaction of knowing they have helped some of the millions of poor children in developing countries.

UNICEF is helping these children to obtain good food, decent health care and education, and clean water, all of which are basic to their development into productive adults.

"The future of the world is in the hands of today's children." Let's help our children help others towards a better world.

Short memory

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I have just finished reading your guest editorial on the gunshot incident and the ensuing surgery, and I would just like to take this opportunity to comment upon Cardiothoracic Associates, Inc., who were the butt of Dr. Evans' lavish praise.

It is too bad that people have such a short memory. It was only two years back that the American College of Thoracic Surgery found that this group of surgeons had a 50 percent mortality rate for open heart surgery, and that this was primarily due to the group's "insufficient experience," and not due to the critical conditions of the patients they were operating on. In other words, one out of every two people undergoing open heart surgery by Dr. Taylor's group at the Malden hospital died. The national average mortality is about 5 percent.

And yet we see praise. And as the Board of Registration and Discipline in Medicine decides what action to take against Cardiothoracic Associates, Inc., we shall most certainly see more praise for these physicians. But the truth will come out, either through the public hearings that will be held, or through outside sources via the news media.

Once the story is out, a story already known by many, perhaps The Star will take the time to give an objective assessment of the matter. No one is denying that Dr. Boyd deserved the glory he received; he performed the ultimate human act: the saving of a man's life. No doubt the other 32 men and women, those that make up the impersonal 50 percent statistic, deserve the same courtesy.

Morale at stake

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

More than a year ago, three former Charter commission members met with the board of selectmen in respect to the harassment and working conditions in the department of public works. The request for relief fell on deaf ears. Also, the public hearing was a whitewash. Since then conditions have become worse.

For instance, three excellent mechanics have been forced to resign from the town garage within the past year. The latest resigned on Oct. 6 after 13 years of service to the town.

How does one explain this? It was because of the gestapo methods employed by the new administration, methods for which the majority of the selectmen act like cheerleaders at a football game. Yet they have the colossal gall to continue to say that the morale among the workers is very good when it is lower than ever.

All this is under the supervision of the head of the department of public works, a man who evidently doesn't know how to handle personnel with common sense and compassion, who shows favoritism and is now receiving a salary of $29,214 after being here for about three years.

The administrators received their fat pay raises while the contract for the DPW workers is still unsettled so that the administrators may sit at gourmet tables while the little guys have a bone for soup.

Also, on Aug. 22, a five-year employee (a native) resigned from her position in the selectmen's and town manager's office. She is a superb typist; could take shorthand perfectly. Her resignation was the result of constant harassment and criticism from the town manager (whose salary is $34,300), yet she often found it necessary to edit his material. In the meantime, another secretary in this same office asked for and was granted permission for a transfer to the office of engineering.

Now, at the same time, the third woman in this office holds the high-faluting titles of administrative assistant at $8626 per year plus staff assistant to the personnel board at $8626 per year, making a total of $17,252 per year, making her the highest paid office worker in this town. Also, it is my understanding that this person has had six weeks vacation with pay. This is supposedly three weeks vacation plus three weeks compensatory time (a great racket!).

Her fatigue is caused by the duty of separating the public from the town manager. Many people are convinced that the combination of these two positions given to one person is a conflict of interest and these positions should be separated and decided upon at the spring town meeting. This is the area where the dissension and dissatisfaction is prevalent among the office personnel.

We have an obligation to correct these inequities and these grossly unfair procedures. It is because the morale of the town employees is at stake.

Who decides?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Whether or not we (the voters) agree or disagree with Edward J. King (gubernatorial candidate) is probably not a top priority issue in our everyday life at present. More important to us is, who in power (past and present) is making the decisions that affect our everyday government?

On Oct. 17 the WBZ-TV Channel 4, 6 p.m. News, spent the first 10 minutes of their program re-hashing over stale news of the Ed King-Massport Severance Pay Plan (Now famously known in the biz as "The Golden Handsake.") This excessively broadcasted item has pushed me to the point of severe boredom.

Mr. King's severance pay was "approved" unanimously by a seven member board of directors under the leadership of the now bearded professor, James Fay. The professor and three other board members are currently claiming that they "didn't realize" King's pay package totaled over $103,000 and it wasn't until 18 months had passed that it was brought to their attention the fact that maybe Mr. Ed had received too much money. Why then did they originally approve the agreement?

It looks to me as though the officials who are making the decisions for us (the public) are terribly confused. No wonder the public is suffering from manic depression. If the appointed "big shots" can't make a decision (or do, but don't know what they're deciding on), who can? Is there anybody out there who can make a decision? If so, please decide immediately to eliminate the Massport Board of Directors.

Gravest threat

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

America is facing the gravest threat to our national security that we have ever known. If the Communists with black terrorists and Castro in the vanguard, succeed in taking over Rhodesia and South Africa, we will have lost our only access to most of the vital mineral wealth in the entire world!

There is absolutely no way we can stand up militarily or economically against the Soviet Union and her satellites if Southern Africa is in their hands. It is apparent that Ambassador Andrew Young and Carter aren't going to do anything to oppose them.

In fact, our foreign policy is to use force to drive these countries into Communist hands. Young has been quoted by the press as saying, "I don't care if Western Civilization is kicked out of Africa as long as there is black majority rule."

Consider this. Africa is the most mineral rich area of the world. We can't run Pittsburgh with its industries without Africa. We can't run a space program without Africa. We won't be able to fight World War III, the Space War, without the ores and minerals from Africa. South Africa has 60 percent of the world's major supply of gold, coal and platinum. Rhodesia has the world's leading supply of quality chromite ore.

The first piece of legislation Carter passed after becoming President was to stop the U.S. from buying quality chromite ore from Rhodesia and to start buying inferior chromite ore from Russia. Russia is getting ready for something by building nuclear shelters for 40 million of its people by insisting upon American unilateral disarmament with the Salt Talks and by strengthening its own military power.

Russia is getting ready for something and America is not getting ready for anything.

The hour is late, but we have a final chance to make changes and the place to start is in the next elections. Demand that your candidates stand up for America. No more Panama Canal give aways, no more wheat deal give aways.

Vote Conservative, whatever the party label.

Annie!

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I'll love you tomorrow, what more can we ask? Go see it for yourself.

No smut, no foul language, no wild away out ideas, but honest to goodness thoughts. Who said that is not what we want?

Would there have been a packed house? Would there have been a five minute standing ovation? Would so many want to shake hands with the musical director and praise all the musicians?

No we do not need and want the other. Theater is on its way back—Hooray! Thanks Annie.

No declawing

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

In the past month, I have read four separate ads listed under Pets Lost and Found that have upset me very much.

Broken-hearted owners have offered large rewards for the return of their pets, but when they had their cats declawed, to save their furniture, were they thinking of the certain death these house pets would face once lost outdoors?

They have no means of escape, no chance of running up a tree or fence when chased or attacked by a dog. No their house furniture was their major concern. A scratching post, a piece of carpet nailed to a door or moulding, an old rug in the corner would have worked.

Declawing is terribly painful for your animal and absolute certain death to them should they get out and get lost, completely defenseless! Think before you declaw your pet and end up offering large rewards—too late!

Compiled for the Mass. Mayor's Assn. by Raymond G. Tonto Ph.D.

The cities and towns in Massachusetts are under a 1974 Supreme Court order to revalue their real and personal property so that assessed values are equal to the full and fair cash value (100 per cent valuation) of these properties. This decision, known as the Sudbury case, resulted from a class action suit brought by the "residents, taxpayers and officials" of Sudbury.

Why would any city or town in Massachusetts want 100 per cent valuation? Because in 1974, the amount of state aid a community received was determined in part by how valuable the taxable property in that community was. The less valuable the community's property was, the more state aid they received. That meant that communities like Sudbury, that had 100 per cent valuation, also had relatively more valuable property according to the forms filed in application for state aid. But communities like Somerville or Springfield, which were not at 100 per cent valuation, had relatively less valuable property on the same state aid forms.

Sudbury decided that they were being given less state aid than they deserved for this reason. They enacted the court case only to improve state aid.

Sudbury's complaint was valid. The court's assumption that justice for Sudbury required state-wide enforcement of the 100 per cent valuation law is, however, questionable.

Ironically, whether a community is at 100 per cent valuation or not is no longer a factor in that community's state aid. Sudbury's problem was solved without the enforcement of full-value assessment, leaving the Court's mandate for 100 per cent valuation still in force with the cities and towns in various stages of the process of revaluation.

The revaluation mandated by the Court will change the distribution of the property tax burden in Massachusetts. For many reasons, the current assessments in most cities and towns are not only fractional, but disproportionate in favor of the residential class. The assessments on the commercial and industrial sectors are at a higher ratio of assessed value to market value than is residential property. The implication of the current distribution of assessments is that a large share of the current property tax burden on commercial and industrial property will shift to the residential sector following 100 percent valuation. This solution is classification of property, which will retain the traditional preferred tax treatment of homes in Massachusetts.

Some citizens believe, however, that an alternative to 100 per cent valuation is not classification but rather some sort of tax reform or tax limits. This is in contrast to the Massachusetts Mayors' Association position (and others) that classification is a first step and tax reform a second step for meaningful property tax relief in this state.

Supporters of 100 per cent valuation (opponents of classification) have not denied that 100 per cent valuation will shift property tax dollars now paid by business onto the tax bills of homes. In fact, they even go so far as to admit that the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation will be harmful to homeowners and renters. Some examples:

The government affairs committee chairman of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has said that 100 per cent valuation would mean "social disruption" in our cities.

The President of the Boston Real Estate Board has referred to the effects of 100 per cent valuation as a "social disaster".

The Chairman of the Committee Against Property Tax Discrimination is quoted in the Lowell Sun as stating that "a lot of people would get burned" if 100 per cent valuation went into effect.

These people offer as their solution to 100 per cent valuation — not classification — but what they call "tax reform". The exact nature of what kind of tax reform they would support or when it should take effect is elusive, but the goal or objective they espouse is a reduction in the level of property taxes.

The evidence shows distinctly that the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation will not be stopped even by such a strict and wide-sweeping property tax cut proposal such as proposition 2½. Taxes on residential

Pro arguments

□ If the voters don't approve tax classification, all cities and towns will be forced by court order to tax property at 100 per cent of market value. That would add an estimated $265 million to the taxes on homeowners and tenants. They are already paying the country's highest taxes on their homes. Property classification would prevent this hardship.

□ A growing number of states — now at least nine — are adopting property classification for tax purposes.

□ Tax classification was approved overwhelmingly by the Legislature. It is being supported by the Governor and city officials as well as by many labor unions and such groups as ADA, Mass. PIRG, Massachusetts Fair Share, and Association of Massachusetts Consumers. Over 30 organizations have formed a coalition to support classification.

property and on vacant land or open space will still rise significantly across the state due to 100 per cent valuation.

Further, if the strictest property tax cutting proposal doesn't work to stop the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation, then the other proposal doesn't work to stop the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation, then the other proposals which are less dramatic and drastic, will have even less effect, and will offer less help to the homeowner and renter.

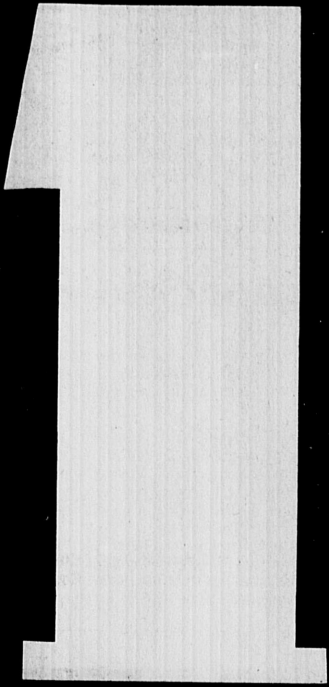

The evidence indicates that the two step program of the Massachusetts Mayors' Association is the only viable solution to the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation and to the need for meaningful reductions in property tax levels.

First, to stop residential tax bills from rising due to 100 per cent valuation, we need classification. Second, to reduce the level of property taxes, we need meaningful "tax reform" to reduce the level of property taxes on all classes of property, both businesses and homes.

A two-step program is the only way that homeowners and renters will see any property tax relief.

In sum, Massachusetts voters and taxpayers who want to stop the adverse effects of 100 per cent valuation forever, and who want tax relief, will vote Yes on Question No. 1 this November. In this way, they will have a "bird in the hand" which will not preclude "two in the bush", but will actually enhance the chances for tax relief.

A Summary of Arguments For and Against Property Tax Classification

Question No. 1 of the November referendum has generated more discussion and debate this election year than any referendum in recent history. Usually, The Star does not report on referenda issues for reasons of space and proximity.

However, the reaction by local citizens and officials to Question No. 1, both for and against, has been so great that many readers have asked us to compile a report on the referendum.

The following attempts to present most of the issues presented with arguments for and against classification. Although the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association voted overwhelmingly to oppose classification, the Massachusetts Mayors Association supports the referendum. It is clearly a battle between the Commonwealth's towns and cities for reasons explained in this report.

Winchester Selectmen and the Winchester Board of Assessors have decided to take "no position" on the issue.

CON:

Compiled by committees against classification

Massachusetts business has traditionally paid taxes at a higher rate than other property tax-payers. However, a new tax structure is under consideration — a structure that will shift so much more of the tax responsibility onto business — that the future of business enterprise in the State is threatened.

This proposal, Tax Classification of Property (Proposition 1 on the ballot), will be put before the voters on November 7, 1978 as an amendment to the Constitution. Currently, public feeling is running for Classification, as it gives the appearance of offering some temporary relief for the homeowner by avoiding the State Supreme Court mandated 100 per cent valuation of all property.

The majority of voters have not examined the ramifications of Classification for business, and ultimately for themselves. However, because Classification will have such a great impact on all our industries, all our businesses, we must take a careful look at its implications.

The increased burden will be more than some Massachusetts business can bear. Massachusetts is growing at a slower rate than the rest of the nation — slower than the rest of New England. Under Classification, the monumental increases in taxes on business and industry will only serve to make the situation worse. More taxes will mean less capital investment, more companies leaving the State for other parts of New England or for the Sunbelt, and increased unemployment.

Massachusetts corporations will suddenly find themselves unable to compete with companies in other states where taxes are lower. Hard hit will be our high-technology industries, which have so long been a strong part of the Commonwealth's economic picture. Yet, at the other end of the spectrum, the effects on small businesses could be devastating. Many, unable to bear this increased burden, will be forced to close.

In a decade where fighting inflation has become a national cause, Classification will have the opposite effect. All businesses, from utilities to large corporations to the corner grocer, will be forced to pass tax increases onto consumers in order to survive.

Higher prices on goods and services will not only have a real effect on the economy, but will have a psychological impact as well. Once again, business will be the "bad guy" who raises prices, causes inflation and makes everyone's life a little harder.

Classification does not guarantee Statewide standards for property assessment. The job of assessing property values and levying taxes will still fall to local town assessors. The opportunities for applying pressure to obtain lower assessed valuations will remain as great a problem as they are today.

Furthermore, the job of assigning specific types of companies or categories of persons to tax classes will be completely in the hands of the State Legislature. These assignments can be as arbitrary or capricious as the Legislature desires.

Even in the initial implementation of Classification, inequities could exist, as there are no useful standards in existence in other states that Massachusetts could directly apply to establish categories or respective tax weightings. Significant dislocations and unfairness could occur for many years while the Legislature, and local tax assessors, gain experience in the realities of a classified system.

Classification is a Boston idea, introduced by Boston's Mayor to rectify the fact that the city has underassessed residences and overassessed business for years.

However, the formula created for Boston will cause financial chaos when it is applied to many cities and towns throughout the State. When $¼ billion in taxes is shifted from residences to business in these towns, local tax structures will be severely affected. Industry will leave, unemployment will rise, the tax base will be narrowed and it will take years, if ever, to achieve equilibrium again.

Of all of the problems inherent in Classification, probably the most striking is that it does nothing to attack the root of our tax difficulties: too much government spending. Further, it does not reduce Massachusetts' excessive dependence on the property tax as a source of income.

Classification merely buys time so public

Con arguments

□ First, if classification is approved, many millions of dollars will be added to the tax burden on business. Second, there are equally effective and better ways than classification to avoid the hardship of 100 per cent assessments: for instance, property tax limits, spending controls, alternative tax sources, and tax exemptions for all households.

□ Massachusetts needs to reduce property taxes. Classification would simply reshuffle an expanding tax burden without providing long-term relief.

□ Classification would be used by public officials to deflect the taxpayers' anger at high property taxes and thus would lessen the chances of getting genuine property tax relief through the Legislature.

officials will not have to cope with 100 per cent valuation, or offer some sort of permanent, across-the-board tax relief.

Meanwhile, those same officials, through public statements, are confusing the issue and dividing the taxpayers. They are characterizing the battle as one between business and homeowners — each wanting something different. This play can be very effective. For while homeowners are pointing at business and business is pointing at homeowners, no one can point the finger at officials who are not willing to cut spending.

Because Classification segments the community, it has the effect of diluting a possible taxpayer revolt. Whole homeowners are receiving a momentary reprieve from tax increases, they will be less likely to push for complete tax reform.

Meanwhile, homeowners will be less aware of increases in local spending because business will be paying for these increases in the form of higher taxes. Municipal spending will be less visible — and when it is less visible it can be less responsive to the community's needs.

The final implication of Classification for business results from the fact that homeowners, in the long run, will receive no real property tax relief. Government officials are effectively isolating individual homes from other taxable property. As long as homes continue to increase in value, taxes will go up. With higher taxes, homeowners will have less disposable income to spend on goods and services. Thus, business will suffer at the marketplace as well as on the tax ledger.

Curtain and Cue to stage play Nov. 17, 18

A ballet dancer who makes candy, letters from the U.S. Government in the ice-box, pet snakes, Marxist circulars, a mother-playwright and lots of fireworks — what does it all mean? It's "You Can't Take It With You," by Kaufman and Hart, which will be presented at the High School 17 and 18 at 8 p.m.

The Curtain and Cue Dramatic Society is presenting the play.

Since its writing in 1937, the comedy "You Can't Take It With You" has been characterized by happiness. And happiness is the very reason why Curtain and Cue will be presenting the play this fall. It will be presented because the actors are happy acting, the people on stage crew are happy making flats and painting, the costume people are happy sewing and finding jackets, hats, and shoes, and the crew on props are happy searching for the interesting objects needed for the show.

Muraco Fun Fair Saturday, 11-2

A Fun Fair is being held at the Muraco School Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The fair will be in the auditorium and is sponsored by the Enrichment Committee.

A variety of games, spin-art, face makeup, and cupcake decorating will be offered. Everyone is invited.

A snack bar will be set up which will feature hot dogs, tonic, coffee, and doughnuts.

Election Day Bake Sale at Mystic School

The Mystic School Parents' Association will hold an Election Day bake sale Nov. 7 in the foyer of the school's auditorium. Proceeds from the sale will go to the Mystic boards' treasury to be held and used for an appropriate gift to the school.

Voters will be able to purchase an assortment of homemade cakes, cookies, breads, etc. Coffee and doughnuts will also be available for a quick snack.

Boston performance

Theater trip to 'Awakening'

Adults and students are invited to join a junior high group of the Winchester Drama Workshop and members of the high school's Curtain and Cue Society on a theater bus trip to "Awakening," an original comedy drama by Theater Workshop Boston, Nov. 4.

Now in its second season, "Awakening" is described as a "a rare juncture of spiritual relevance, psychological insight and artful theater." The scenario depicts five sightseers trapped overnight on the observation deck of a Boston skyscraper by an American Indian custodian who gradually enables them to see beyond the personality limitations of each character. At dawn the awakened beings face the problem of how to re-enter the daily maze while training their new awareness.

Created by the actors and director, Saphira Barbara Linden, the play features Dianne Giardella, who co-led senior and student workshops in Winchester last winter.

and spring. After the performance the actors will discuss with the Winchester group the meaning of the play and the improvisation process used to create it.

The drama workshop is co-sponsored by the Winchester Recreation Department.

The bus will leave the Unitarian Church rear parking lot at Main st. and Mystic Valley Parkway at 7 p.m. Nov. 4, for the performance at Church of All Nations, 333 Tremont st., near the Schubert Theater; the bus will pick up the group there at 11 p.m. to return to the Winchester starting point.

Group rates on both tickets and bus fare are offered with special Arts Boston voucher rates for students and senior citizens. Early reservations are advised by Paulett Taggart, Winchester Drama Workshop, 729-6669; Hester Keller, high school director; and the Unitarian Church office, 729-0949.

Dianne Giardella, who plays a leading role in "Awakening," demonstrates physical warm-up exercises used by Theater Workshop Boston for Ruth Floyd, Helen Parrell, Ann Pearce and Mimi Biagiotti at the Jenks center in Winchester. Interested adults and students are invited to join a theater bus trip to attend the Boston play and meet the actors with the Winchester Drama Workshop November 4.

Sunday's performance has been sold out, but tickets for Saturday's performance may be obtained by calling Cynthia Horn at 729-4480, Liz Masseling at 729-9473 or purchased at the door.

Pickwick Puppet Theater will be presenting "Don Quixote" as the second concert on Nov. 18 and 19 at the school. Again, the Sunday concert is sold out, but tickets are still available for the Saturday 2 p.m. concert. Poulenc's "Histoire de Babar le petit elephant," on Feb. 3 and 4, will be the third program featuring Neston Wayland's orchestration with children's illustrations projected simultaneously. Any parent wishing their child to contribute paintings or drawings to this concert may call Genya Hopkins at 729-3953 for more information. Entry deadline is Dec. 1.

Tickets for both the Saturday 2 p.m. and Sunday 4 p.m. concerts are available.

The Women's Association of the First Congregational Church has been working for months on the Christmas Tree Fair which will open Wednesday at 7 p.m. Members of the Christmas Tree Fair Committee include: (from left), Barbara Haddad, co-chairman of the market place; Dorris Butters, president of the Women's Association; Pauly Keppler, chairman of decorations; Mary Brink, chairman of the event; Mary Lou Eugley, chairman of publicity; and Dorothy Beattie, co-chairman of the white elephant.

Rotondi to speak on human services at CMARC

The Central Middlesex Association for Retarded Citizens, Inc. will have as their guest speaker State Senator Sam Rotondi (D-Winchester). The Senator will speak on human services at the CMARC meeting Oct. 26 in Woburn.

CMARC, Inc., a non-profit corporation, offers services to the handicapped and to mentally retarded adults at their two facilities. One facility is a workshop and the other a day activity center.

The senator serves on the human services committee, as well as on the taxation, health care and transportation committees of the legislature.

Washington School Halloween Carnival Saturday from 11-3

The Washington School is holding a Halloween Carnival this Saturday from 11 a.m.-3 p.m., and all are invited.

There will be games, a chance table, a homemade goods table, and a food table for lunch or a snack. Again this year, the cake walk and face painting will be featured, along with other entertainments for the children. Children are urged to wear their Halloween costumes but are asked not to wear masks.

The CMARC membership meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the CMARC Workshop, 2 Sixth rd., in Woburn (the New Boston Industrial Park). The public is invited.

MVMH board to meet Nov. 1 in Lexington

The Mystic Valley Mental Health and Retardation Area Board will hold its regular monthly meeting Nov. 1 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in Room G-15 of the Lexington Town Office Building on Massachusetts ave., Lexington.

The area board, made up of citizens from each of the six communities in the Mystic Valley area, including Arlington, Burlington, Lexington, Wilmington, Winchester, and Woburn, is charged with the responsibility for management and oversight of mental health and mental retardation services in the area.

Citizens are invited to attend the meeting and bring their questions about services to the board.

Items on the agenda for the November meeting are the Sheltered Workshop Program operated by the Central Middlesex Association for Retarded Citizens and the Mystic Valley Comprehensive Community Mental Health Center.

Winchester residents serving on the Board are Mrs. Katrin Cooper and Mrs. Deborah Cary.

Book sale Saturday at public library

The annual library book sale will be held this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the meeting room of the public library.

There will be hardbacks, paperbacks, and records for sale. Items will be on sale after Saturday up on the main floor for the next couple of weeks.

ICC alumni to hold reunion this Saturday

A gala reunion sponsored by the Immaculate Conception Queensmen-Queen's Cadettes Alumni Association will be held Saturday, at the Woburn Armory.

All past members of the Queensmen and Queen's Cadettes are invited to attend as well as the old "Town Line Gang," "Fence Gang," and "North End-South End."

Invited guests include Fr. Dirscoll and Fr. Sheehan who were directors of the drum corps while at the Immaculate Conception Parish.

The cocktail hour will be from 6 to 7 p.m. A full-course, roast beef dinner will be served at 7 and dancing will be until 1 a.m.

All tickets and table reservations must be paid for by today. For information, contact: Debbie (Horn) Carroll 729-7881 or John Hennelly 729-1841.

Sweet revenge...

Sachem 11 roll over Wakefield, 21-6

By JON KALMAN

There was a score to settle: The need to avenge last year's disastrous 15-6 loss to the Wakefield Warriors. The tension had begun to mount as soon as the final whistle had blown after the Sachems' contest with Belmont last Saturday.

The loss last year marred Winchester's perfect six win slate and had proved to be the beginning of the end. The Sachems dropped from their fourth position Division I ranking, and subsequently lost their next two games.

The final Winchester record for the 1977-1978 season was 7-3, not bad, but it was not for that loss to Wakefield.

The Sachems exacted their revenge after a year's delay, holding off a brief Wakefield surge to win 21-6 Saturday.

The game was what makes high school football the attraction that it is. There was action every minute for the entire 40 minute duration. A Wakefield safety, a Sachem blocked point-after attempt, interceptions, fumbles, everything.

The Sachem victory though, was not as easy as was expected. In fact, if the Warriors had come up with a second half too match their first half play, Winchester might be adding a loss to their 3-0-1 record.

Wakefield scores first

Belying the eventual outcome of the game, Wakefield produced a strong first quarter that propelled them into a 6-0 lead entering the second quarter.

The Warriors struck paydirt on their first drive of the afternoon, beginning their march from their own 18-yard line following Philip Tecce's six yard return of Sachem Charles Perenick's kickoff.

The Warriors started their drive with a pitchout to senior Fred Confalone. Confalone picked up five yards before he was stopped by Sachem Peter Tracy, but Wakefield had located Winchester's Achilles heel - the sidelines.

Confalone followed a three yard gain up the middle with a 44-yard jaunt down the sidelines. He was finally driven out of bounds by John McPhee on the Sachem 26-yard line.

With the Warriors poised in striking distance, the Sachem defense tightened, but Confalone and fullback Jim Brown were able to scrape their way to the Winchester 12 yard line.

Confalone then slipped outside for 10 yards and a first down, and two plays later appropriately capped the Wakefield march by punching through from the two-yard line.

The point after attempt by James Dipaolo was blocked by Tom Murray, and the score was Warriors six, Sachems zip.

Scott Farrar turned Warrior Barry Jensen's kickoff into an exciting 28-yard return as he used his lightning speed to place the Sachems in good field position on their own 40 yard line.

That however, was to be as far as Winchester progressed as Dave O'Neil's handoff was fumbled, and Wakefield regained possession on the Sachem 43-yard line.

Confalone ran another pitchout for the Warriors, but this time he was stopped for a two-yard gain as Winchester's Dave Guarnaccia came up from his cornerback position to make the tackle.

The Wakefield offense then got their first taste of the Sachem secondary as Dipaolo tried two unsuccessful pass attempts the first an aerial to Robert Martini which was broken up by John McPhee, the second an incomplete screen pass, Warrior Jim Brown's punt bounced into the endzone for a touch back.

The Sachems reeled off two plays, runs by Tom Murray and Sam Bellino, but were forced to punt when O'Neil's third down pass to Murray went incomplete.

Steve Smith's punt was downed at mid-field, and the Warriors had good field position for the third time in the game. Confalone ran three straight times for 14-yards to move Wakefield to the Sachem 34-yard line to the end of the quarter with the Warriors on top 6-0.

The Warriors had maintained possession of the ball for more than seven minutes of the 10 minute quarter, completely stifling the Sachem offense, which ran only five plays compared to 17 plays for Wakefield.

The second quarter opened with a ray of sunshine for the Sachem cause. Jim Brown and Confalone ran two plays for ten yards, but the Warriors were called for illegal procedure and on the next play Dipaolo was intercepted by an alert McPhee who stripped Confalone of the ball.

Winchester could not get their offense in gear, and were forced to punt, but four plays later the Sachems regained possession when Tom Murray recovered a Confalone fumble on the Winchester 36-yard line.

Sam Bellino carried once for six yards and Dave Guarnaccia followed with three yards of his own before Bellino broke downfield on a 31-yard romp. Bellino's momentum was checked three times on the run, but he still kept going with great second and third effort to the Wakefield 20 yard line.

The Winchester offense, however, sputtered to a grinding halt as Robert Martini recovered a Sachem fumble on the Warrior nine yard line.

The Sachems got one more shot at a touch-down before the end of the quarter after the Winchester defense came alive to stop all Warrior offensive movement, and this time they capitalized on their break.

The Sachems had possession at the Wakefield 43 yard line where Bellino was tackled after a four-yard punt return. From there, the offense drove toward the goal line as O'Neil threw once to Murray for eight yards and Bellino give Winchester the first down running off-tackle to the Warrior 30 yard line.

Farrar notched 11 more yards on a pitchout, followed by a run by Murray and an O'Neil keeper. This set the Sachems up on the seven yard line, where Bellino's which was pounced on by Fitzgerald in the Wakefield end zone for six points.

O'Neil hit Fitzgerald in the end zone for a two-point conversion, and the Sachems led 8-6 at halftime.

When the third quarter opened, the Warriors found an aggressive Sachem defensive and a potent Sachem offense staring them in their face. The offense immediately flexed its muscle as it drove 75-yards from the opening kickoff.

The Sachems scored in seven plays, using only three minutes of the clock. Farrar and Bellino carried for six and three yards respectively to position Winchester on their own 33 yard line. Winchester then got the big play, as O'Neil hit Fitzgerald on a long range bomb. Fitzgerald was tackled in the Wakefield 26 yard line for a 41 yard gain.

Jeff Micchice then burst onto ground for 19 yards, and it was first and goal to go on the Warrior seven yard line.

Bellino and Micchice then carried on each before Bill Rogers applied the finishing touches, slipping in from the two yard line. The two point conversion attempt failed, and the Sachems led 14-6.

From there it was downhill for the Warriors. Murray intercepted a Depaolo aerial and ran it 20 yards to the Wakefield 28 yard line.

The Sachems capitalized eight plays later as Farrar and Rogers took turns carrying the ball, and O'Neil bulled through for the score from the one. The PAT was good, and the Sachems were in firm control, 21-6, to end the quarter.

The Warriors managed two more points as Steve Smith's punt was blocked into the end zone for a safety, but it really did not matter much then.

The game and the quarter ended with no further developments, completing the Sachems plan of revenge.

(QUIPS: One sad note to the Sachem victory: Nick Fitzgerald, a senior who played both offense and defense and who had been responsible for several touchdowns with his timely catches, broke his jaw sometime during the first quarter. Nick unknowingly went on with the rest of the game, and scored the first Winchester touchdown. His injury will sideline him for the rest of the season.

Scott Farrar has emerged as a fine runner this year. He was tied for the leading rusher of the game with Sam Bellino. Scott had 74 yards in nine carries while Sam picked up 78 yards in seven carries.

Stoneham defeats field hockey but girls squash Watertown

By ALICE GREENE

The match between the WHS girls' field hockey and the Stoneham Spartans remained scoreless and dull until the very end of the game. In the last three minutes of play, Stoneham's right inner Terese Kwiatkowski drove in a goal and won the game for her team, 1-0.

The game was played last Wednesday in Stoneham and was comparable to a tennis match with the ball moving up and down the field. Winchester's free hits didn't go anywhere because of Stoneham's tightly knit defense, but haphazard passing enabled the Sachems to have possession of the ball for their fair share of the 25-minute halves.

To add to the tension in the last few minutes, center and co-captain Beth Noble had a chance to tie up the score when she took a penalty shot. This was called when the Spartans' goalie covered the ball with her body.

Beth, who in the past, has come up successfully in two out of three penalty shots, made an unfortunate flick that dribbled where the ball was all too available for goalie Whitcomb to block and kick it away.

JV had a final score of 1-1. The Sachems' goal was pushed in by center Darcy Fitzgerald and Cheryl Titcomb scored for the JV Spartans.

Winchester vs. Watertown

As the girls' field hockey season draws to a close, let's hope in their final games, their skill can equal that with which they played against Watertown last Friday. The Sachems boosted their record with a final score of 3-0.

The Sachems played well as individuals, as usual, but also made up for what they have been lacking lately: teamwork. There is one player that deserves mention for her consistent addition to this year's team and she is the starting left wing Caroline Twomey, a sophomore.

The offense performed well together as a unit and scored two goals in the first half.

Center Beth Noble slammed in the first one and left inner Debbie Bosco followed suit soon after. When the ball dribbled away behind the goalie, Debbie was quick to hop around and push it into the net.

Accurate passing was evident between Winchester's halfbacks and forwards and as the ball was persistently fed to the offense they took many shots on goal.

The defense, including fullbacks Janet Bishop and Margot vonRosenvinge, was strong and Watertown didn't get past their 25 yard line until about 15 minutes into the game, and did so only once in the first half. Goalie Nella Barrow was quick to knock the ball out of danger with one smooth kick.

The visiting team made the costly mistake of sitting and watching the ball instead of using necessary tackles.

The Sachems' valuable substitute left inner, Kathy Day, drilled her team's third goal in between her opponents' legs to start off the second half. The score and domination of play remained until the end of the game.

JV lost painfully with what should have been a definite defeat. Watertown's left wing Sheila Quinn caused a final score of 1-0.

12-1-1 record

WHS Soccer team on top after six straight wins

By JON KALMAN

The Sachem Soccer team was at it again this week, destroying a beleaguered Burlington and Reading, 7-0 and 4-0 respectively.

The five straight Winchester victories have the appearance of Sherman's March to the Sea. The Sachems, like Sherman, have left nothing behind.

During this drive towards their eventual confrontation with league-leading Wakefield next Tuesday, Winchester has scored a phenomenal 28 goals while allowing only one.

Responsible for this offensive potency has been the Magnificent Four (plus one): Jim Olivier, Charlie Mahoney, Rob Horne, Dave McLaughlin, and the ever-opportunistic Barry McQuillan. This collection of firepower has scored 20 of these goals, playing at times only one-half of the game.

Jim Olivier is personally accountable for 10 of these goals, eight of which have come in the last three games, as Jim has notched two consecutive hat tricks.

"Jim's playing fantastically. He's getting good foot behind his shot and is really placing the ball well," commented a beaming Gene Bouley after Olivier had just gotten his second three against Reading.

"I missed his performance against Burlington, but I heard it was beautiful," continued Coach Bouley. The Sachem mentor was sick, and assistant coach Robert Ford took over the coaching reins during the Red Devil campaign.

Following right behind Olivier is Barry McQuillan. (McQuillan and Olivier are one-two in Middlesex League scoring). "Barry has just come back from an ankle injury, and now seems to be getting it all back together," stated Bouley. "But you can not forget Mahoney and McLaughlin. Charlie is playing the best he has all season; and his play is helping strengthen the entire line."

The play in both the Burlington and Reading contests was identical. The first team took charge and overwhelmed the opponents in the first quarter, and the second team followed up playing the rest of the game.

Burlington

The Sachems travelled to Red Devil land Oct. 17 for this game, and came back after giving Burlington a good freezing.

The Winchester attack was held scoreless through much of the first quarter, not because of lack of effort as they kept the ball in the Burlington territory continuously, but because of the play of goalie Fred Russo.

Russo robbed the Sachems of several scoring opportunities with heads up net-minding, but as always the inevitable could not be forestalled.

Jim Olivier (who else) broke the brief drought with 10:42 gone in the first quarter. Co-captain Wille Strazzulo fired the ball to Charlie Mahoney, who in turn centered the ball to Olivier.

From there it was like putting money in the bank, as Jim danced past the Burlington defender and drilled it into the left corner.

Olivier's ball control is one reason why he has been so effective around the net. "Once he gets the ball from one of the other players, Jim can do something with it confidently," said the Sachem coach. "The whole team, in fact, exhibits good ball control. Last year's team, in comparison, relied on quickness and aggressiveness."

Olivier's goal was followed by a tally from Mahoney. Mahoney took a pass from Jan Franck past the defense and placed the ball by a charging Russo.

Olivier then scored the next two goals to make it 4-0 in favor of the Sachem first string, and then it was time to give the second string some glory.

Junior Steve Kenny scored with six minutes left in the game to leave the score Sachem's 7, Burlington 0.

The Reading game Thursday did not have as much scoring, but there were the same

Carol Donahe (42), Kathleen Driscoll (53), Karen Feldman (33) and a fourth Sachemette chase down ball in game against Belmont which the girls won, 4-0 Oct. 17.

The new kids on the block grow up

By BILL HART

It is known that many of the referees' judgement calls can decide the fate of a game one way or the other.

An example of this was last Thursday, Oct. 19, when the Winchester varsity girls soccer team dominated the Burlington Red Devils throughout the entire game. The final score was 7-3. Our Winchester booters won easily. However, their victory is not the significant point to this story. It is their uncanny ability to dominate a game of soccer through their skill of experience and determination.

After the game, Coach Scanlon, head coach of the girls soccer team, said, "The refs tend to keep the game close if one team is dominating the play. They try to even it up for the losing team." Two out of the three goals the Burlington Red Devils made were "questionable" penalty kicks on goal. "It is not sour grapes, but I feel that the refs don't want a game to become too one-sided. The whole thing was unfair to our team," said Scanlon.

The Winchester Sachem girl booters are now at six wins, one loss, and two ties. A few weeks ago, they were searching for their first win. Last Thursday, not only did they win, but they controlled the game. Proof of this was made by Coach Scanlon. The ball was in Burlington's territory for 17 minutes of the first quarter. He also reminded me that there are four 18 minute quarters in high school soccer. The score at the half was 3-0 a complete take over by the Sachem booters.

What happened in just three short weeks? Why is the Winchester girls soccer team dismantling the opposition? Sounds like questions from "Soap." A couple of weeks ago, I considered them to be just another soccer team.

Coach Scanlon gave me some of the answers to these questions. Our defense is making our offense. He said the defense in "impregnable." The fullbacks are skillful in getting the ball up to the linemen (women), (person), (whatever). This is a functional part of the fullbacks' role. To keep the ball in the opponent's half of the field is good, basic soccer.

The team is beginning to score. The kicks on goal are not coming from the inside forwards only. The scoring is wide open. The shots are coming from the outside wings as well as the inside forwards," said Scanlon.

"It's all coming together," said Scanlon. "The kids are excited and they bring with them so much experience. This is the best team I ever coached," he went on to say in a voice hoarse from yelling encouraging words to his athletes during the game.

From what I heard and saw, the kids respect Coach Scanlon's aggressiveness and sensitivity - two qualities that seem to contradict one another, yet are important to the success of a team. During the game, Scanlon handled each problem of the girls with sincerity and kindness. He listened to them. However, he had much to say to the referees without that same gentle spirit.

Where to? Four more games, and most likely another chance to beat Concord. This was the team that beat the Sachems and tied them in another game. As Coach Scanlon said, "We want to play them again to redeem ourselves."

By the strength and depth of the team, they could be the best in the state. When they play Concord, the Winchester booters winning kick may be the shot that would be heard around the state.

Win one, lose one

X-country to face Woburn in bid for winning season

By MARK COSTELLO

In one turbulent week, the Winchester High School cross country team brought its record to four wins and four losses by splitting a pair of meets. On Oct. 17, the team was roundly beaten by a highly favored, undefeated Lexington team in Lexington, 20-39; and on the ensuing Friday they performed brilliantly in routing Belmont, at home, 23-35.

If the Sachems can win their last home meet against Woburn in Woburn, then they will not only consummate their fourth straight winning season under coach Joe Cantillon, but they will be pulling off perhaps the wildest upset of 1978.

Lexington Meet

On Tuesday the team was defeated in Lexington by the score of 39-20. The Lexington cross country team is unusual in the fact that it wins continuously without one "killer" runner. In the inevitable jargon of the distance runner, a "killer" is a man who can be counted on to win his race most of the time. In averting shutouts, (where one team takes the first five places), breaking up packs and generally acting as a constant on which the basic strategy of the team may be built, the "killer" performs the same job as the ace starting pitcher in baseball.

Lexington makes up for this weakness by having four or five runners better than your number two man. The core of this pack are two outstanding juniors, Adam Rubin and Mike Walsh. Rubin, who holds the Lexington course record and Walsh who is the number three man on the team, are both recent products of Lexington's illustrious freshman track program.

This meet was held on a crisp, cool and clear day in Lexington. The course, predominantly road and sidewalk for most of its 3.1 miles, has relatively few hills, but those it does have are tough. It starts and finishes on a wide open field near Lexington High School.

Most expected Lexington's Adam Rubin to win the varsity race. He had run the fastest time any one had ever run on Lexington's course less than 10 days before. It seemed that for only the second time this year, Winchester's captain Andy Wilsack would lose.

One Winchester runner commented quietly before the race, "I think Andy is gonna get beat today." The cards, it seemed, were stacked against him.

Wilsack is a runner and he does not concern himself with cards. He went to Rubin's home ground and beat him there with machine-like precision. Wilsack won the varsity race in the sparkling time of 15:46. Rubin, along with Walsh and senior Jeff Krichmar was next in 16:08.

Lexington clinched the win early on by also taking fifth and sixth. From this point it was all academic. Winchester's Joe Flynn and Jim Wilber took seventh and eighth in fine times of 16:31 and 16:38. Another of Lexington's Junior High school products, sophomore Charlie Ford, was ninth in 16:50.

Mark Costello, sophomore Tom Derry, and Rob Flynn took 11th, 12th and 13th for Winchester in times of 17:02, 17:06 and 17:08 respectively. Greg Cummings rounded out the varsity by finishing 15th in 17:44.

The Junior Varsity team did not perform particularly good or bad against their Lexington counterparts. Lexington, however, has just about the strongest JV team around. New result: the JV was humiliated by Lexington, 21-45.

Lexington's Steve Newlands won it in 16:56. Winchester took only third, fourth, ninth, 15th and 17th. Tom Doocey was third in 17:26, Dave Demars was fourth in 17:38, Rick Jarvis was ninth in 18:12, Jim Connolly was 15th in 18:53 and closing out the scoring for Winchester, Phil Kirkpatrick was 17th in 19:19.

Also finishing for the JV were Peter Delgreco in 19:25, Jim O'Brien in 19:53, Jim Cullen in 20:02, Jon Haber in 20:04 and John Ward in 20:07.

Belmont Defeated

The atmosphere at the Belmont meet was wholly different from that of the Lexington meet. The prevailing pre-race mood in Lexington was sort of an apocalyptic doom.

Against Belmont, the team ran its last home race of 1978. For seniors Andy Wilsack, Greg Cummings and Jim Wilber it would be the last time they would ever run on the home course. For the rest of the varsity team—Joe Flynn, Mark Costello, Rob Flynn and Tom Derry—this would be their last home race of the year. Most would run their fastest times ever.

The mood before this race was a grim, nervous, silent excitement. There was comparatively little talk among the runners as they prepared for it.

As predicted, Andy Wilsack won the varsity race, cruising to an impressive victory in 16:36. Wilsack is undefeated on his home course this season and his overall dual meet record this season is a fine 7 and 1.

Taking second place for Winchester was senior Jim Wilber. Even though he started out slowly, (he was fifth after 1.5 miles), Wilber ran his fastest time ever. He unleashed an astonishing kick and made a run at the leaders. Wilber eventually caught everyone but Wilsack. His time was 16:49.

Behind Wilber and a Belmont runner was junior Joe Flynn. Flynn's time of 17:06 is his second fastest of this season and two minutes faster than his best of last season. Belmont took fifth and sixth, and Mark Costello took seventh in 17:23.

In a superb time of 17:27, Winchester's number 1 sophomore, Tom Derry placed eighth. Unlike any other outstanding sophomore in the league, Derry is not the product of some Junior High track program. Winchester has none, so Derry has had to develop himself. This he has done to an admirable degree.

Rob Flynn came in 10th. Before the race, Flynn could be heard muttering to himself that all he wanted to do was run in the 17:40's. This would have represented a significant improvement for Flynn. His time was 17:37.

Senior Greg Cummings was 11th. Cummings had been working all season to go under 18:00. He had come within several seconds of it on numerous occasions. This last race, the last he would ever run on his home course, he set his mind to attaining his goal and it as done. Cummings time was 17:39.

The Junior Varsity race was also filled with memorable performances as Winchester crushed Belmont, 18-41.

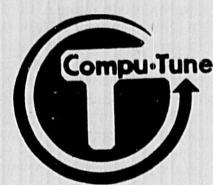

Tom Doocey and Dave Demars tied for first in the JV race with identical times of 18:29. In two of the most brilliant races run, sophomores John Provenzano and Rick Jarvis won varsity letters. Provenzano destroyed his previous best by turning in a searing 18:32. Just five seconds behind Provenzano, in his finest race and by far fastest time, was Rick Jarvis. Jarvis ran an 18:37.

Placing next for Winchester was Jim Connolly. His time was 19:41. Behind Connolly were Peter Delgreco in 19:43, his fastest, and John Ward in 19:46. Jon Baber, the radio voice of the sachem cross country team, was next in 20:04. Just behind Haber in 20:09 was Jim Cullen.

Next Saturday the top seven runners will compete in the state championships at Franklin Park in Boston.

Lose to Chelmsford

Swimmers back on track, defeat Arlington 52-31

By LAURIE GRANT

The Sachemette swim team has picked up their pace, defeating Arlington 52-31 Oct. 17 at the Arlington Boys Club. The girls were due for a win, since their previous record was 1-3. They are now 2-3.

The swimmers started out with a strong medley relay, consisting of Veronica Karp (back), Maryellen Kennedy (breast), Jeanne Cresse (butterfly), and Jaqui Hart (free). The four placed first with a time of 2:14.4. Coming in third was the relay team of Anne Donahue (back), Linnea Carlson (breast), Margie Roll (butterfly), and Carla Gulino (free).

Mary Cresse and Julie De Carlo swept the 200 freestyle, taking first and second with a 2 winning time of 2:30.5.

The 200-yard individual medley saw Hart taking second and Kennedy third. Tri-captains Laurie Grant and Beth Brickley swam a quick 50 free, finishing first and third with a winning time of 1:02.2.

Divers Susie Girard and Beth Bradley sprung up with second and third places in their competition. As a novice on the springboard this year, Beth has executed her many difficult dives like a seasoned veteran.

Hart and J. Cresse flew in with a second and third place in the 100-yard butterfly, while Brickley finished first in the 100 free.

The grueling 500-yard freestyle was won by Arlington, but M. Cresse and Tri-captain Susie Harris placed second and third. Donahue won the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:20.3, while Ellen O'Neil placed third.

Carlson placed a close second in the 100 breaststroke, and Cheryl Fazio swam in third.

The girls wrapped up the meet by sweeping the 400 free relay. Karp, J. Cresse, Gulino and Grant won with a time of 4:42.1. The relay team of Jennifer Gueren, Heidi Lane, Susan Spiller and Martha Johnson placed an easy second.

The girls were in desperate need of the win, and the clear triumph over Arlington lifted their spirits.

Chelmsford meet

The girls were not so lucky against Chelmsford, a non-league opponent who defeated the Sachemettes Friday, 45-38.

The girls from WHS started out with a winning medley relay made up of Karp, Kennedy, J. Cresse and Grant, who won with a time of 2:14.8. Donahue, Carlson, Roll and Gulino came in a close third.

The 200 free event saw M. Cresse place second and De Carlo fourth. Hart swam in second in the 200 individual medley, while J. Cresse finished fourth.

Tri-captains Grant and Brickley picked up a first and a third in the 500-yard freestyle with a winning time of 2:30.5.

Divers Ada Pollino and Bradley showed good performances, but they were unable to top Chelmsford's excellent diving squad and managed only third and fourth place.

The 100-yard butterfly proved to be an exciting match-up, as Hart was out-touched by an eyelash and J. Cresse swam in third. Once again, captains Grant and Brickley scored in the 100 free, placing first and third with a winning time of 1:02.2.

The fatiguing 500-yard freestyle—20 laps of the pool—was won by Chelmsford, with M. Cresse and De Carlo placing second and third. Backstrokers Karp and Donahue swam in second and third as Carlson and Kennedy finished first and third in the 100 breaststroke with a winning time of 1:25.3.

The meet was decided in the last relays, and unfortunately the team of Brickley, Karp, Gulino and Hart placed a close second, while Roll, Donahue, De Carlo and Kennedy finished third.

The girls swim team practices every morning from 5:45-6:45 under the direction of Coach Vin Palumbo at the Northeast Regional Vocational School in Wakefield, and that alone ought to be sufficient evidence of their spirit.

The next meet is Saturday against the L. Street Brownies at 5:30 p.m. Just kidding! The meet's against Haverhill at 5:30 at the Voke School.

Alcoholism drama

The Theater Six drama company will present "Lady on the Rocks," a free one-act dramatization of a woman's deepening alcoholism and its effect on her family at Episcopal Divinity School, 99 Brattle St., Cambridge, 7:30 p.m., Tuesday.

This drama has been presented throughout the country in an effort to increase the understanding of alcoholism as an illness and the ways in which it creates problems for the entire family. Discussion will follow the presentation.

Beat Lexington, Belmont

Girls cross country has near-perfect record

By DONNA FARRELL

With the soft pitter-patter of Nike-clad feet meeting the ground, the Sachemettes Cross Country team has been quietly running to victory all season. Their most recent wins over Lexington and Belmont secured a near-perfect season, marred only by an early loss to Wakefield.

The 16-member girls team is the largest in the Middlesex League, and also one of the youngest, with only four seniors.

Nine of the girls have broken a time of 23:00 on the home course, which is considered varsity running for girls. Of these nine, six are underclassmen. The great depth of the Sachemettes is a major factor in their success. Although in just about every race, one or more of the top five girls has been unable to run, the number six, seven and eight girls have finished well, securing strong Sachem victories.

The Sachemettes literally blew Lexington off their own course, Oct. 17, by capturing the top six places.

Sara Fotsch took the lead at the start of the race and held on to finish first in 19:50. Michelle deMars was right behind her for the entire 3.1 miles and finished in 19:56. Barbara Myers crossed the line in 20:36 followed by Lauren Fryklund in 20:45.

Donna Farrell took fifth place in 20:59 to complete Winchester's blow out, shut-out of Lexington. Sixth place Sally Weylman frosted the Sachem victory cake with a 21:05 finish.

Beth Clower, a promising Junior who has been sidelined all season with a viral infection, placed ninth in 21:32, just seconds behind Lexington's number one and two girls. Beth had an excellent day, finishing in Winchester's top seven in her second meet of the season.

Lexington girls took the next six finishes, followed by Winchester's five remaining competitors. Kathy Cullen finished in 23:37.

followed by Sandy Earlam and Diane Franchi who crossed the line in a dead tie, at 24:23. Nancy Lane finished in 24:40 and Maureen Holahan came in in 28:00. The final score was 15 to 48, with Winchester totally destroying the Lexington harriers.

Belmont meet

On Friday, Winchester hosted Belmont and sent them home with a 27-37 defeat.

Despite Belmont's first and second place wins, Susan Trevithick in 20:27 and Julia Drinker in 20:31, Winchester was able to capture enough of the remaining winning positions to defeat the Belmont girls.

Winchester's first finisher was Michelle deMars in 21:16 and Sally Weylman in 21:19. DeMars continues to establish her supremacy on the home course, while Fryklund continues to improve, easily among the top three Winchester girls. Weylman had an excellent day, running her fastest time on the home course, and placing third for Winchester. Sara Fotsch, Winchester's number one girl in away meets, again needed to drop out of the race before reaching the halfway point.

Placing fourth for Winchester and seventh overall was Donna Farrell, finishing in 22:09. This was Farrell's best finishing time on the home course, more than a minute faster than her best previous finish. Lisa Grieci came in fifth for Winchester and eighth overall with her time of 22:43. She was followed by Beth Clower in 22:50 and Amy Anderson in 22:51. This was Anderson's first success in breaking into the varsity echelon by breaking 23:00. Diane Franchi again tied Sandy Earlam, both girls finishing in 23:36. Placing 14th with her 24:19 finish was Kathy Cullen. Maureen Holahan finished in 29:49 for 17th place.

The final score, although closer than in the Lexington meet, was still a decisive 27-37. There was again a complaint of visiting runners getting lost on the Winchester course. The Burlington coach has already challenged the Winchester girls to a rematch of the ill-fated Oct. 3 meet on the Winchester course. The rematch is to be held in November, and the Sachemettes are expecting to defeat Burlington as they did in the earlier meet. The real challenge lies for Winchester's top three girls to defeat Burlington's Lynn Farr, the girl who became lost while leading the race on Oct. 3.

The Belmont coach was heard to comment, "This course is a disgrace to the league!" in reference to Winchester's three grueling miles of hills, centered in the Fells. The Winchester course is, however, one of the very few true cross country courses in the league. The others, which consist mainly of paved roads, are not really "cross country" courses if one sticks to a strict interpretation of the term.

Winchester coach Joe Cantillon has tried three different methods of marking the course, in response to the other coaches' complaints, but they cannot satisfy themselves with any of these. It is significant that most of the other towns don't go out of their way to mark their courses, some give vague directions like, "Just keep taking rights, until you pass the third left." Others hang a feeble marker, such as a single strand of red yarn from a tree, to mark their course.

Winchester has no intention of finding an alternative course, as suggested by some members of the league. We have a good course, and we intend to keep it!

Good ball control has helped the Sachemettes soccer team along to a string of victories in their first season. Here Ann Porelli takes a pass in game against Belmont Oct. 17. WHS won 4-0. (Photo by D.K. Funkhouser)

Squirts roll over Malden

It was more like shooting practice than a league game, as the Winchester AA Squirts rolled over Malden at the USA Rink Sunday. Most everyone on the team picked up a goal or an assist in the 12-1 shellacking.

Membership meeting of soccer club Oct. 30

The annual general membership meeting of the Winchester Soccer Club will take place in the high school cafeteria Oct. 30 between 7:30-9 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting will be to elect the board of directors for 1979, and to discuss the overall Winchester Soccer Program. This will include management of the program, the Fall Instructional League, the upcoming Boston Area Youth Soccer League (BAYS), and the Massachusetts Youth Soccer Association League (MYSA).

Petey Regan opened and closed the scoring, but in between eight other boys scored their goals. Those boys earning goals in the game were Nicky Geannaris, Jeff Apsey, Brian Griffin, Marc Todisco, Mike White, Greg Winn, David Butt, George Nowell, and Regan. Nowell picked up two goals in the game.

Those who made it all happen for the scorers and gained assists were Winn, Apsey, Nowell, Geannaris, Sukjong Chung, Butt, Billy Coppins, White, and Regan. Brian Griffin assisted in two goals; Anthony Cucinatti also had two assists.

Derek Binding and Scott Paine played outstanding defense and kept the puck carriers from skating in front of goalies Kevin Boyle and Jimmy Chute.

The Squirts' next test comes Friday night, Nov. 3 at Burlington when they meet Newton. Newton will be putting up the same team that won the Middlesex League division two years ago.

McCall field hockey undefeated

Against Stoneham, the McCall field hockey team did an outstanding job offensively and defensively. With the fine scoring efforts of Liz Bracken, Kim Donlon and Maria Montuori along with support from forwards Karen Brown, Kim Brown Julie Gibbons, Kristen McNamara, Melissa Meade, Beth Miara, Jenny Parker and Patty Taylor the offense scored three goals against Stoneham.

Defensively halfback Martha Davis, fullbacks Paula Papistathis, and goalie Sarah Richardson did an outstanding job against many strong offensive drives by Stoneham. In other action, the McCall field hockey team beat East Watertown and West Watertown by scores of 1-0. Continuously, the forwards moved the ball down the field with superb support and effort exhibited by halfbacks Martha Davis, Kim Donlon and Maria Montuori. Fastbreaks by the Watertown teams were successfully thwarted through the outstanding efforts of Julie Gibbons, Paula Papistathis and goalies Liz Bracken and Sarah Richardson.

With only 2 games to be played, Melrose (Oct. 23) and Lynch (Oct. 31), the McCall field hockey team stands 6-0-1.

The Star incorrectly reported last week that McCall defeated Lynch. They tied Lynch 0-0.

Winchester Bantam's beat Newton

Trailing twice by one goal, the Winchester Bantams posted an impressive 5-2 win over Newton last Sunday at the Burlington Ice Palace. Newton broke on top as Fox scored during early first period action, but Chris Parker got the equalizer scoring from in front late in the period following a good pass from Tony Celli who was credited with an assist.

An assist was also credited to Billy Eaton who dove to keep the puck in the Newton end prior to Parker's goal.

With nine seconds left in the first stanza and Newton on the power play, Mosca scooped up an errant puck and on a solo effort put a backhander by Winchester's Giarrizzo to give Newton a 2-1 lead.

The second period belonged to Winchester as they posted three unanswered goals. Tom Sullivan, playing an outstanding game, took an excellent shovel pass from Parker, swept in on the Newton goaltender, and finished off the play with a backhander to the left corner to tie the score at two.

Tony Celli, who is gaining momentum with each game, scored the next two for the Bantams on similar plays; the first after a good pass from Tom Sullivan and the second on a good wrist shot with assists to Sullivan and Eaton.

The third period was played evenly as the Bantams carried the play. With time running out, Newton pulled their goalie in an effort to narrow the gap. However, Winchester controlled play in their end and Sullivan's perfect pass found Chris Parker who backhanded a 60-footer into an open net as time ran out.

Defensively, Steve Marino and the tireless Paul White were standouts. Goalies Giarizzo and Falla were again superb and cool under fire. Steve Tucci and Steve Masiello played solidly and the determination of Mike Griffin and Jim Coppins deserve recognition.

REAL ESTATE

by Ann Blackham

FINANCING INCOME-PROPERTY

If you are contemplating the purchase of income property, the question of how large a mortgage loan you should have will undoubtedly arise. Those who specialize in this type of real estate, almost to a man, go on the philosophy that income property should be purchased with as large a mortgage as possible — provided the property yields enough net income to meet mortgage payments.

From the standpoint of investment analysis, it can be shown that this policy usually gives the greatest capital gain, the largest amount of tax-free income, and the largest percentage of investment return.

In no other investment do you have the opportunity to use leverage (a small percentage of your money to a great percentage of another's) like you do in real estate. So, the larger the mortgage loan, the further your own money will go.

In all your real estate needs — buying — selling — rentals — appraisals — consultation — please phone or drop in at ANN BLACKHAM & CO., 11 THOMPSON ST., WINCHESTER. PHONE 729-1663. We're here to help!

BALLOT QUESTIONS

Question 1
Proposed Amendment to the Constitution
Property Classification for Tax Purposes

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on May 28, 1975, by a vote of 220-53, and on September 7, 1977, by a vote of 243-20?

Summary
The proposed constitutional amendment would permit the legislature to establish as many as four different classes of real property for tax purposes. Property in any one class would be required to be assessed, rated and taxed proportionately but property in different classes could be assessed, rated and taxed differently. The legislature could grant reasonable exemptions. The constitution presently requires all property (other than wild lands, forest lands, and certain agricultural and horticultural lands) to be assessed and rated equally at full value for tax purposes.

Yes ☐
No ☐

Question 2
Proposed Amendment to the Constitution
State Budget Deadline

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on May 28, 1975, by a vote of 267-3, and on August 10, 1977, by a vote of 250-1?

Summary
The proposed constitutional amendment would allow a governor who had not served in the preceding year as governor to submit a proposed budget to the legislature within eight weeks of the beginning of the legislative session. A governor who had served in the preceding year would still be required to submit a proposed budget within three weeks of the beginning of a legislative session.

Yes ☐
No ☐

Question 3
Proposed Amendment to the Constitution
Distributing Information for Voters

Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution summarized below, which was approved by the General Court in joint sessions of the House of Representatives and Senate on June 28, 1976, by a vote of 244-4, and on August 10, 1977, by a vote of 253-1?

St. E's bloodmobile attracts record number of 'first' donors

The Red Cross Bloodmobile's fall visit to St. Eulalia's Parish last week was marked by a record number of first-time donors. Of the 165 people who volunteered to give blood, 28 gave for the first time.

A total of 149 pints were collected, making the Bloodmobile visit one of the most productive of the many held in Winchester.

"We are deeply grateful to the people of St. Eulalia's Parish and their friends," said Walter Armstrong, blood chairman for the Winchester Red Cross. "The need for blood in the hospitals is great. Our special appreciation goes to Mary Adams and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Carey, who head the organizational effort, and to all the volunteers who staffed the Bloodmobile."

Special credit should be given to the eight RN's who volunteered to assist. They include: Jeanne Cresse, Charlene Donahue, Florence Gosselin, Nan Landers, Nancy Mallio, Elizabeth Pizzano, Sue Porter, Pearl Torresyap, and Kathleen Sullivan.

Claire Phelan and Eileen Dowcett volunteered their services as receptionists. Other volunteers included: Aida Arimento, Dorothea Bianchi, Marie Burke, Mary De Lisle, Bianca Della Salla, Andy De Martino, Claire Donohoe, Frances Foden, Cathryn Gambino, Betty Giallongo, Lorraine Gatto, Pat Maguire, and Al Pine, typists.

Also Judy Eissel, Paula Gallant, Mary Guarino, Jean Hogman, Helen Leonard, Gail Pothier, and Lucille Shepard, donor room.

Clorie Becker, Marie Cannava, Eleanor Corwin, Maria Della Sala, Meg Fallon, Louise Madeiros, Mary Ellen Madigan, and Kathryn Welch worked in the canteen.

In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eddy prepared and served a dinner for the bloodmobile workers, and Karen Dowcett, Denise Adams, Amy Baratta, and Katie Kenny served as babysitters.

Those who donated blood include the following:

Michael Abruzzese, Marion L. Anderson, Ann V. Awisus, Catherine R. Bambino, Ann

Patients scheduled for surgery screened for lung disorders

Patients scheduled for surgery at Winchester Hospital are being screened for possible lung disorders that may affect their recovery from surgery.

The screening is done on a computerized pulmonary mini-lab which can detect the presence of such diseases as bronchitis, emphysema, pneumonia and asthma in patients who have no symptoms and no knowledge of their disease.

The pulmonary screening, performed routinely as part of pre-admission testing, is painless and takes less than five minutes to perform. The patient inhales and exhales into a hose attached to the mini-lab which records the flow and the volume of air he produces.

A computer contained in the unit analyzes the data and compares the patient's performance with the norm for his age, gender and physical size. Any chronic lung ailment is disclosed by this comparison and an analysis of the patient's breathing patterns.

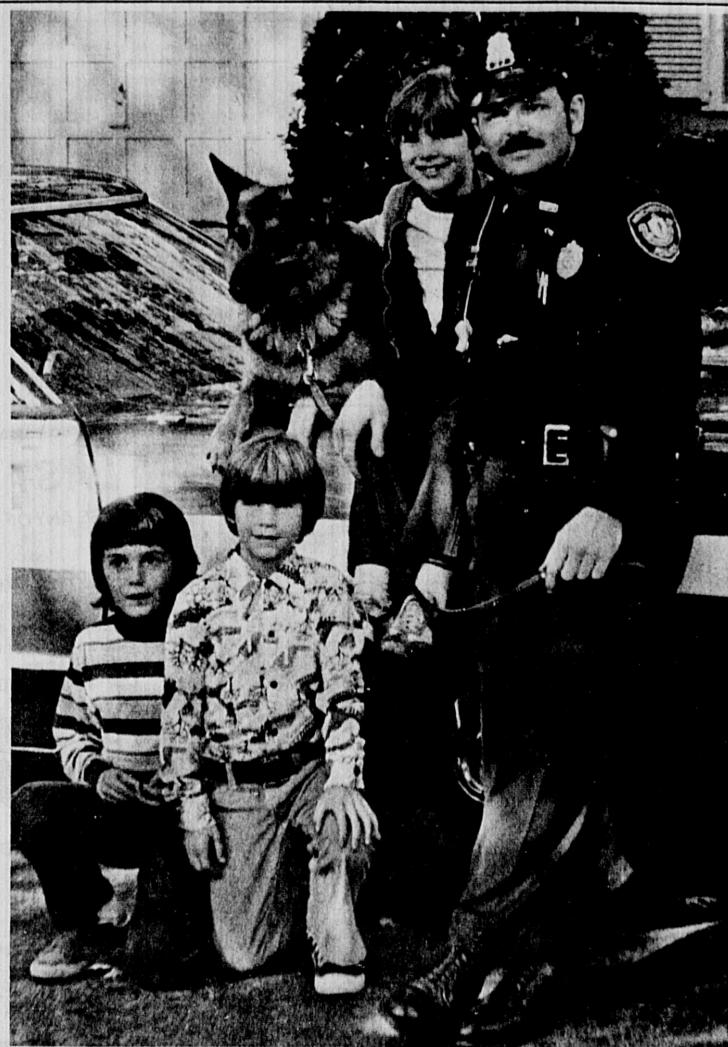

Information gained through pulmonary screening is used by physicians in deciding the type of anesthesia to recommend and alerts them to possible difficulties a patient may have in recovering from surgery. In some cases, surgery is postponed because of the findings of the pulmonary screen.

Winchester Hospital's chief respiratory therapist Joseph Pappalardo was instrumental, according to hospital officials, in obtaining the pulmonary mini-lab from the manufacturer, Med-Science Corporation of St. Louis, Mo., who supplied the lab to him at no charge. Med-Science and other pulmonary lab manufacturers are interested in the results of pulmonary screening when it is performed routinely as part of pre-admission testing.

According to Pappalardo, the mini-lab has been used to screen almost 600 patients since its installation this summer. "We are finding about 70 percent of our patients have some lung abnormality, and most of them are not even aware of it."

Pappalardo and respiratory medical director Dr. Edward Haley are compiling data on the subject for a paper to be published next spring.

Winchester Police Officer John Guarente shows off the new Winchester police dog to younger members of the community, Gregory Falcione of 6 Brookside ave., Noel Langlois of 49 Brookside ave., and Chipper Nastasi of 15 Cardinal st. The new dog will be named Nov. 18 when the Kiwanis Club, which picked up the costs of training the dog, installs its officers.

Judge Perera to address bar association

Honorable Lawrence T. Perera, Justice of the Middlesex Probate Court, will address the Fourth Middlesex Bar Association Wednesday, at 4:30 p.m. at the Fourth District Court of Eastern Middlesex in Woburn.

Judge Perera will focus his presentation on a practical approach to recurring probate issues.

The following is an outline of the areas Judge Perera will discuss: the effect of the earning capacity of the custodial parent and the effect of current family obligations of the non-custodial parent in framing support orders; successful grounds for obtaining an Order to Vacate; visitation considerations; standards for referring cases to the Family Service Office; when and how testamentary capacity can be successfully challenged; when and how an executor or testamentary trustee can be removed; and considerations in determining if and how a division of the marital home is to be made when the parents have minor children.

Members of the bar and guests are cordially invited.

Crafts group to hold fair Nov. 3-4

Candidate Antonelli visits county treasurer's office

Rocco J. Antonelli, CPA, Democratic nominee of Winchester, visited the offices of retiring County Treasurer Thomas B. Brennan last week to observe existing operations and the financial status of Middlesex County.

Treasurer Brennan was very cooperative, informative and candid, stated Antonelli, in discussing the financial administration of the County.

Treasurer Brennan agreed with Antonelli that the county treasurer's position was a financial administrator's job requiring ability and experience. Secretary of State Paul Guzzi's description to voters of the County Treasurer's position is - "Custodian and accountant for all county funds and may disburse funds in accordance with applicable Law."

Antonelli has strongly stated throughout the Primary, and now, that professional experience and qualifications are the prime requirements for county treasurer. He emphasizes that the people of Middlesex County want to know about $80,000,000 in annual receipts, $54,000,000 in retirement funds, a budget of over $36,000,000, and annual tax charges to cities and towns of $15,000,000. Taxpayers are entitled by law to financial reporting which the county has been trying to update for several years.

Antonelli and Brennan discussed in depth the effect of the assumption of the county courts costs by the state and the resulting decrease in the daily cash flow to the county treasurer. This elimination of court deposits has caused the county treasurer to obtain authority to borrow over $18,000,000 in anticipation of tax collections, and therefore cause increased interest expense to the county.

Antonelli, as a CPA and computer expert, reviewed the county records with Brennan including:

1. The annual financial reports required by the general laws.
2. Computer equipment and operations currently existing to handle budgetary accounting and retirement system records.
3. Outside data processing payroll services.
4. Retirement fund assets of $54,028,187.20 and distribution of investment portfolios.
5. Audits of county books by the division of insurance for the retirement fund and by the division of accounts for the entire county.
6. The county budget and details of appropriations affecting the treasurer's office.
7. Personnel organization of the office, staff requirements, duties and functions with introductions to staff persons involved.
8. County retirement system including county employees, retirees, and participants from 31 towns currently under the county system. Cities and 12 larger towns are not in the county retirement system.
9. The role of the county treasurer, ex-officio, as chairman of the retirement board.

Antonelli stayed with Treasurer Brennan well into the evening to find out about the county treasurer's activities. Antonelli firmly believes that the people of Middlesex County should have an overview of the almost invisible county treasurer's part in their tax payments and county services. Some cities and towns refer to the county taxes as "taxation without representation."

Antonelli warrants that the taxpayers of Middlesex County will know where the funds come from, and where they are spent. He states that, "An informed populace, and a treasurer working for them, can achieve common goals for all of us."

New rec director learning the ropes, ways of the town

After two full weeks of employment with the Town of Winchester Recreation Department, Dennis Mullen, the new director, is getting his feet on the ground.

Presently, he is involved in the essential tasks of getting to know the community, meeting people, becoming familiar with town government policies and procedures, understanding completely the budget process and most importantly, he is involved in the plans for the development of the winter program.

Programs that are now under way include:

Women's Physical Fitness for adults at the Lincoln School on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. led by instructor Noreen Arcari. Note that this program will not meet on Tuesday, Oct. 31 - Halloween.

Co-ed Volleyball for adults 18 years and over held also at the Lincoln School from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. Note that the group will not meet on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Winchester Community Theatre Inc. children's group meets at the Lincoln School on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, a noted theatrical expert, coordinates the program which culminates in an early December production.

Drama Workshop for junior high school students is held at the high school on Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. weekly until Dec. 13th. This program operates under the tutelage of Paulett Taggart and Karn Smigaj.

Aton Twirling The most recent program offering is held at the Muraco School on Tuesday afternoons beginning Oct. 31 for children in grades 1 through 6. Beginner lessons are offered from 3:15 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. and advanced classes are held from 3:45 to 4:15 p.m. The instructor is Ms. Brenda Gardner.

25 cub scouts climb mountain

On Oct. 9, 25 of the Winchester Area Cub Scout Pack number 503 donned their cool weather climbing gear and faced Mount Monadnock. By the early morning light, the boys gathered with parent volunteers for a day of hiking, picnicking and fellowship.

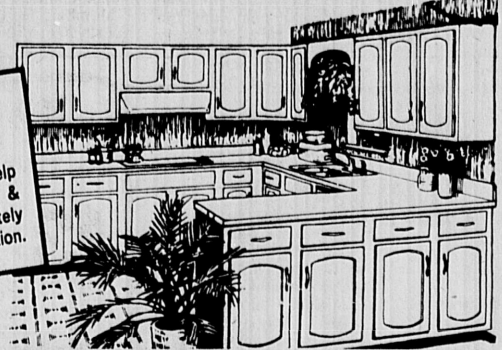

The trip is part of the development program which is a part of the Cub Scout activities for this year.

Boys learn how to work together and get an appreciation of their natural environment. Boys attending the outing were: Kyle Bainsfather, David Callard, Alex Carayannopoulos, Leo Carayannopoulos, Mark Cirignano, Chris Ducharme, Vern Fryklund, Matthew Howell, Andrew Hunter, William Hunter, Matthew Keats, Andrew Lowenstein, Matt MacNamee, Stephen Martinson, Michael McKnight, Nate Osgood, Michael Patti, Jeff Rath, Michael Rice, Brian Riley, Michael Riley, Francisco Rodriguez, Manual Rodriguez, Scott Sterling and Greer Wadman.

PEOPLE BEFORE PROFITS

Speak out! Stop production of the Neutron Bomb! Cut the military budget of 130 billion dollars by 80%. One-third of every worker's wage goes for taxes to federal, state & city governments. 25% goes to the federal government. Well over half of every dollar you pay the feds goes for military expenditures.

For real tax cuts for workers, stop the tax bonus $ to the rich, and plug the loopholes to the giant corporations. NO income or sales taxes for families with income under $20,000.

Rudolph Ferrera

Rudolph R. Ferrera, 50, of Reading, formerly of Winchester, died Oct. 17 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lowell. Born in Winchester, he lived here for 35 years, and was a resident of Reading for 12 years.

He was a certified life underwriter for the Prudential Insurance Company in Newton Lower Falls for the past 18 years. He leaves his wife, Mary (Fischella) Ferrera of Reading; his mother, Mrs. Modesta Ferrera of Medford; two brothers, John R. Ferrera of Somerville and Leonard A. Ferrera of Medford; three sisters, Mrs. Marie Bille of Lexington, Mrs. Edna Grossi of Medford, and Mrs. Carol Ann Bourque of North Reading; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral Mass was held in St. Agnes Church, Reading last week. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Lane Funeral Home directed arrangements. Memorial contributions may be made to the Mass. General Hospital, Cardiac Care Unit, care of Dr. Adolph Hutter.

Alice Plunkett

Alice (Keevey) Plunkett, 85, of 5 Bacon st., died Sunday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton.

Born in Revere, she was a resident of Winchester for 35 years.

She was a member of the Guild of the Infant Saviour and the St. Mary's Sodality.

She was the widow of J. William Plunkett and leaves a daughter, Mrs. Frank Evans of Winchester; a son, Atty. Robert W. Plunkett of Belmont; a brother, Gerald J. Keevey of Winchester; and six grandchildren.

A funeral was held Tuesday at St. Mary's Church. Visiting hours were held Monday at her home. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

The Robert J. Costello Funeral Home directed arrangements. Memorial donations may be sent to the Carroll Center for the Blind, 770 Centre st., Newton.

Robert Livingstone

Robert A. Livingstone, 69, of Woburn died Oct. 13 at his home. He lived for several years at 8 Sanborn st., Winchester.

He leaves his wife Helen (Porter) Livingstone; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Morse of Glen Falls, N.Y., and Mrs. Jean Higgins of North Attleboro; and several nieces and nephews.

Private services were held at the convenience of the family.

Mildred Stone

Miss Mildred Stone died at her home in Peterborough, Sept. 29 after a long illness. Miss Stone, a native and former resident of Winchester had made her home in Peterborough the past 15 years.

She was a graduate of Winchester High School, attended Ossining School for Girls, Ossining, N.Y., was a member of the Congregational Church, a lifelong member of the Winton Club, a member of the EnKa Society all of Winchester; associate member of the Union Congregational Church, Peterborough and a member of the Garden Clubs in Winchester and Peterborough.

Surviving members of the family include a sister, Mrs. Charlotte S. Wood of Peterborough, and nieces and a nephew.

A memorial service was held Oct. 12 in the Jacquith Chapel of the Union Congregational Church, Peterborough. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

All-church

event Oct. 29

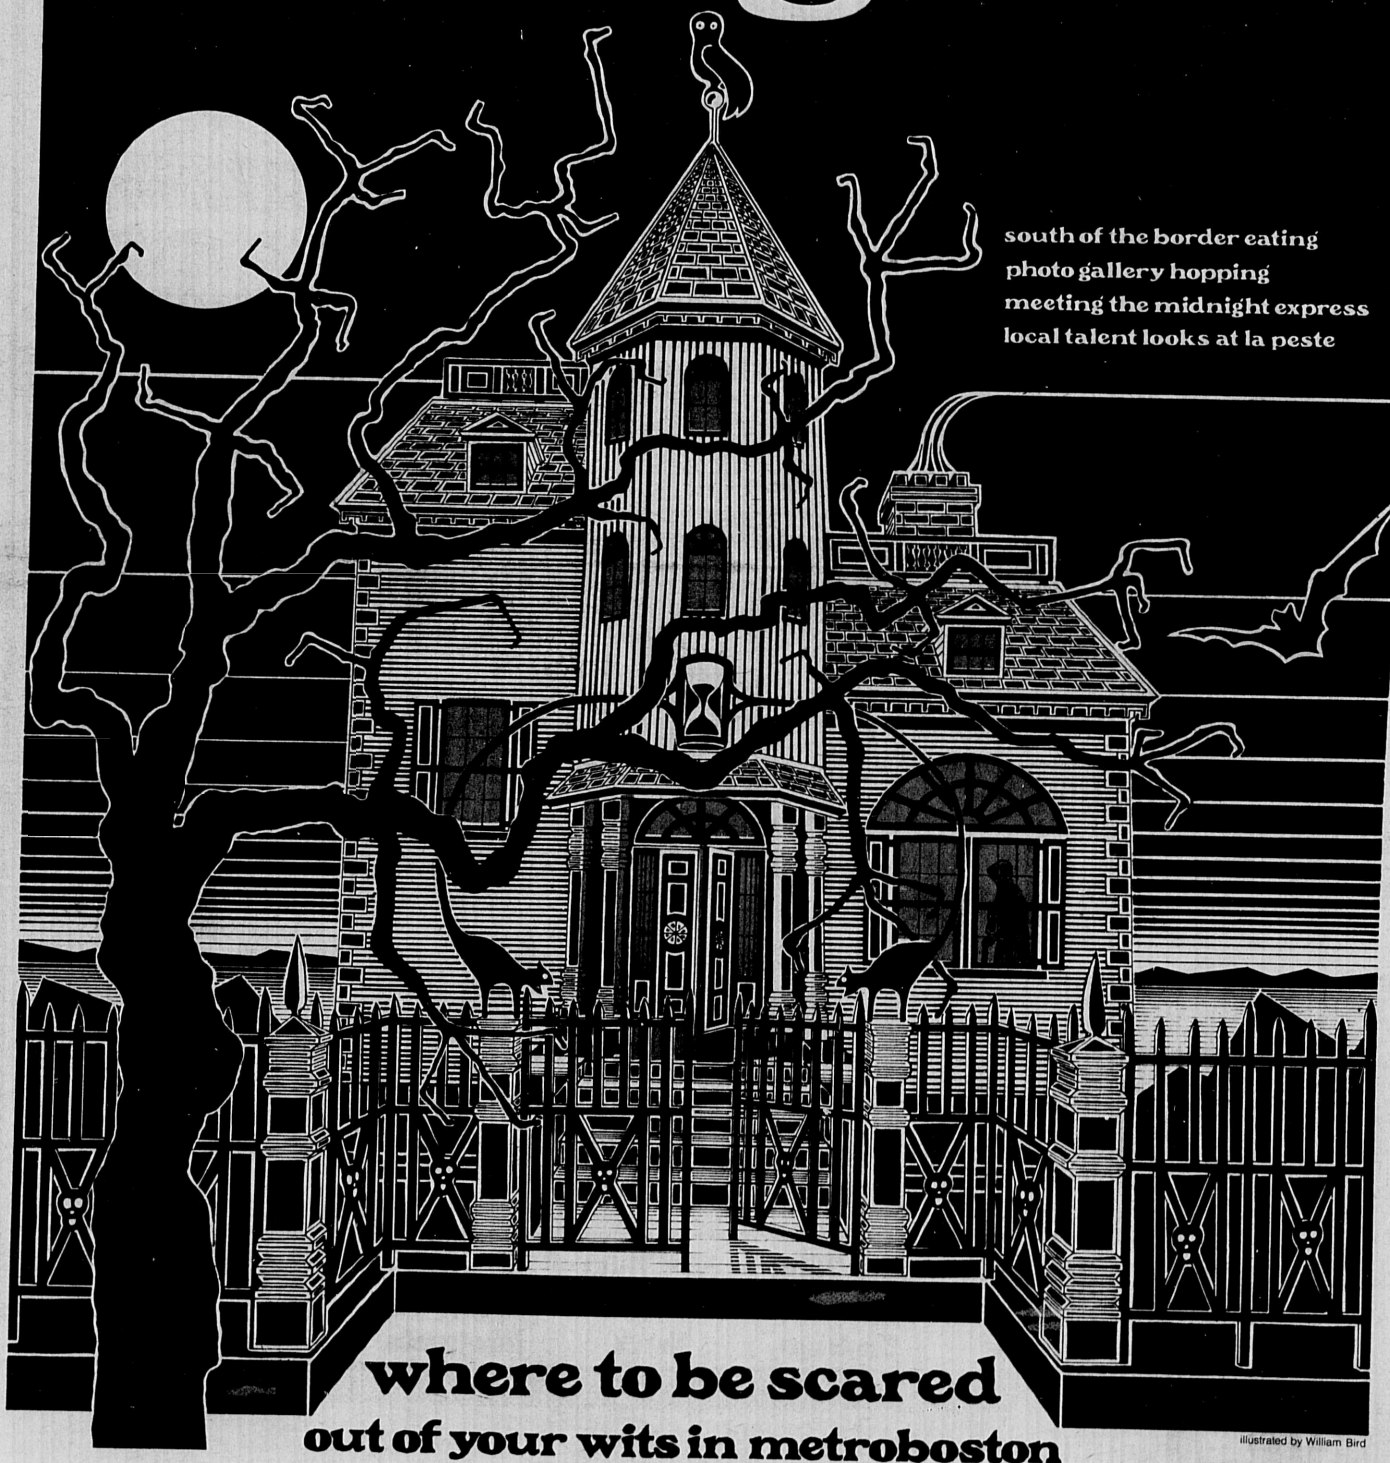

The second All-Church Event of the season will be held at the First Congregational Church on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 5:30 p.m. in Chidley Hall.

A la crepe supper will be followed by a play reading, "Back Yard," put on by junior high students Martha Davis, Tina Harris, Emma Lewin, Karen Rahmeier, and Chad Rosenberger.

Props will be handled by Tom Funk and John Shirley. The supper committee of "French" chefs consists of Robert, Judy, Peg and Andrew Millican along with Susan, Kevin, Danny, and Dan O'Grady.

Table of Contents:

5• Cover Story/Where To Be Scared Out Of Your Wits In MetroBoston

Halloween is coming on, and demons and goblins all over MetroBoston have risen to the occasion. Within the most respectable institutions you'll find witches, frightening films, mad scientists, even a haunted house or two. They all await your visit — if you dare. by Harriet Webster

6• Food/Sol Azteca

For a break from the chill of autumn, you can migrate to Boston's Sol Azteca. With Mexican beer, enchiladas, and quesadillos, you can't help but warm up a bit. by Judith Barrett

7• Art/Photo Galleries

Photographs are now considered works of art, as they should be. We'll tell you where to see some of the best, and how to collect them. by Stan Bicknell

8• Movies/Midnight Express

Midnight Express is a violent movie, but not necessarily sickening. by Maggie Hall

10• Local Talent/La Peste

Following in the footsteps of the Rolling Stone and the Who, La Peste supplies hard-hitting rock and roll, with some irony thrown in. It's quite a combination. by Michael Howell

At Tech Hifi, it's returnable.

Aiwa AD1250 cassette deck.

AIWA

If you're thinking about buying a quality cassette deck, like the Aiwa AD1250, there's an advantage to buying it at Tech Hifi.

We'll give you a 7-Day Moneyback Guarantee in writing. Which gives you an entire week to play the Aiwa AD1250 in your home. In the unlikely event it doesn't please you, return it to Tech Hifi and we'll give your money back. Without giving you the third degree.

Also, at Tech Hifi you'll get a 60-Day Defective Exchange. It means that if you have any trouble with your new cassette deck within the first two months (and we can't fix it in 3 working days), we'll replace it. All we ask is that the returned unit be in good condition, complete with packing.

At Tech Hifi, Aiwa cassette decks are returnable and exchangeable.

And, thanks to the enormous buying power of the 62 Tech Hifi stores, they're also affordable!

FREE BASF

With the purchase of an Aiwa AD1250 (or any other cassette deck) at Tech Hifi this week, you'll get a FREE BASF PRO III C-60 Ferrichrome cassette (retail: $3.99) plus a $5.00 rebate coupon, good on any purchase of 10 BASF Professional Series cassettes.

1200 years ago, Ireland illuminated the Dark Ages.

While Europe lay in shadow from 400 to 900 A.D., Irish art was entering its most creative period. A period that reached its brightest moment during the 9th century, in Ireland's Golden Age of Art.

Now, for the first time, you can see the most famous masterpieces from this legendary age in an extraordinary exhibition spanning 3,000 years of Irish art.

The brilliantly illuminated Book of Kells. Gold ornaments from prehistoric Celtic times. The unsurpassed craftsmanship of the "Tara" Brooch. The simple grace of the Ardagh Chalice. The superbly ornamented Shrine of St. Patrick's Bell. Nearly 70 treasures of early Irish art in all.

And now, the most important collection of art ever to leave Ireland is here in Boston. At the Museum of Fine Arts.

For a concentrated dose of artful spooking, you might check into one of the area's two haunted houses...

By Harriet Webster

The time of goblins and witches, black cats, ghosts and demons of all conceivable natures is upon us again. This is the time to suspend rational thinking, to hearken back to pagan rights, to bow to the strength of supernatural powers. Children busily prepare their costumes for a heavy night of trick-or-treating, but there is much more to Halloween. There are events and occasions to tempt even the most logical soul into the pleasures and shenanigans of a time filled with sinister significance.

The ancient Druids celebrated the feast of Samhain on October 31. Neatly enough, this date also marked the eve of the new year in both Celtic and Anglo-Saxon times, an occasion highlighted by the huge bonfires ignited upon hill-tops, to frighten away unfriendly spirits. It was believed that the souls of the dead revisited their homes on this particular day, assuming many odd guises.

In the 600s, the early Europeans held a Christian festival bearing characteristics common to the Druid celebration. By the time the 700s rolled around, November 1 was set aside as the All Saints' festival. The ancient pagan rites and the later Christian costume eventually combined to form the Halloween festival we observe today. How you personally recognize the event is a matter of taste.

Savvy to the pranks pulled on Halloween itself, many a full-grown person stays home to tend his property on the great eve itself, determined to do battle with the overzealous youngsters out for more than a bite of candy. The need to protect one's home, however, need not stifle the Halloween activist. In MetroBoston, Halloween activities are spread over a period of more than a week, making it possible for all who choose to scare themselves out of their wits.

For a concentrated dose of artful spooking, you might check into one of the area's two haunted houses, both of them favorites to ardent bands of devotees. With six years of experience under their cowls, the organizers at the Children's Museum are quite proficient at making you jump out of your skin. Their haunted house takes the form of a rambling old multi-storied manse, blessed with a profusion of passageways that would baffle a city planner. Naturally creaky and intimidating, the decayed structure serves its purpose admirably. There are giggles and hoots as you enter and proceed up the staircase, but gasps and screeches become more common as myriad horrors unfold.

The glory of the haunted house is that it is not simply a set of automated gimmicks. It is peopled (ghosted? witched?) by real persons in superb disguises. They provide an aura of suspense; you never know when a hand might emerge from behind a crumbling wall. There are hanging things and disappearing things and sound and lighting effects too mysterious to describe. Whatever your favorite phobia or nightmare — be it entrapment in a giant spider web or getting stuck in an MBTA tunnel with a trolley bearing down full speed ahead upon your fragile form — you'll be able to reenact it here.

The rooms are treated differ-

where to be scared out of your wits in metroboston

ently each year, although favorite effects are perpetuated. The Museum staff does not recommend the haunted house for children under six, although some do go through accompanied by a parent. Despite their warts, scars and bandaged limbs, the resident spooks have an uncanny ability to discern the appropriate fear level in kids, and they often terrorize a ten-year-old while treating a six-year-old more tenderly. What they do to big folks, now that's something we'd rather not go into.

The Haunted House at the Children's Museum is open until October 29, 3 to 6 pm Monday through Thursday, 3 to 9 pm Friday, and 10 am to 6 pm Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1 per person. Long lines are not uncommon, but the time is cheerfully passed munching donuts and sipping cider or buying raffle tickets, T-shirts and other souvenirs in the large tent. On weekends, there are often entertainers who juggle, play music and otherwise make life merry for those who eagerly await terror. The museum is located on the Jamaica-way in Boston, and its telephone number is 522-5454.

The haunted house at the Worcester Science Center is open daily up to October 31, from 10 am to 5 pm. Since the Center took up this project three years ago, more than 90,000 people have had the pleasure of scaring themselves silly. The brochure recommends the visit for children aged seven to 12 and "brave adults." Housed in an old and somewhat decrepit house on the Science Center property ("It's been burned a couple of times," a staffer tells us. "We're restoring it, but I certainly wouldn't want to live there now."), the haunted structure is filled to the brim with papier-mâché mannequins and sundry other creations. Visitors move at their own pace, following glowing footprints through the darkness, ever wary of the lively spirits that linger, making bizarre noises and emerging from the gloom when we least expect.

The eerie trip takes ten to 15 minutes. After that, you can relax with cider and donuts, catch your breath and pretend that you weren't scared, not for a single moment. Lines are to be expected on weekends, but it's definitely worth the wait. Admission is 75 cents a head. The Worcester Science Center (791-9214) is located at 200 Harrington Way.

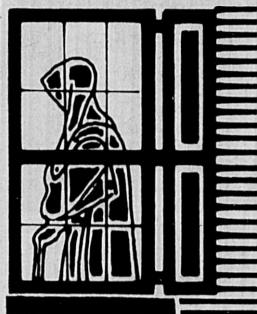

If you take witchcraft more seriously, it will be worth your while to trip out to Plimoth Plantation for a look at the current special All Hallow's Eve exhibit, "Wonders of the Invisible World." The exhibit dwells on the role of witchcraft, magic and superstition in early 17th century life. This was a time when the word "magic" was spoken in deference. From the simple charms and devious spells of cunning men and women to the complex equations and formulae of astrologers and alchemists, magic in its many forms was believed to provide safety and reassurance for ordinary mortals.

"Wonders of the Invisible World" presents the stuff of astrology (based on the concept that the movement of the stars reflects and controls events on earth) and alchemy (the search for the perfected material which would perfect every other substance). Visitors observe a ghostly Ritual Magician conjuring spirits. Inside a tiny thatched hovel, they meet the Wise Woman, who is said to cast spells and effect cures.

In keeping with the painstaking Plimoth research techniques, the character of the Wise Woman has been developed from authentic 17th century documentation. Anne Bodenham is only a young woman in her mid-twenties when we meet her at Plimoth, but much later in life she was accused of witchcraft, convicted and hanged at Salisbury.

A copy of "A Thousand Notable Things for Sundrie Sorts" was found in Governor Bradford's library. It includes a wealth of charms, cures and prophecies, which suggest the extensive influence of the supernatural in the early 17th century. If your memory is less than perfect, you might try this: "Grinde mustarde with vinegar, and rubbe it well and harde on the plants or soles of the feete: and it will helpe and quicken forgetfull personnes." Joggers, if there's a vicious canine in your neighborhood, take note of the following charm: "The teeth of a mad Dogge that hath bytten a man or woman, tyed in leather, and then hangde at the shoulder: doeth preserve and keepe the partye that beare it from being bitten of any madde Dogge."

"Wonders of the Invisible World" will continue through the end of the month. There is no charge except for the regular admission to Plimoth Plantation, $2.50 for adults, $1 for children five to 13. The Museum is open daily from 9 am to 5 pm; further details are at 746-1622.

If your tastes are more contemporary, you might prefer Family Halloween Night tomorrow (October 27) at the Museum of Science. The festivities run from 5 to 10 pm and feature a half-hour presentation called "Frankenstein's Lab," in which the Mad Scientist will let us in on the secrets of creating special effects in horror movies. Informal 15 minute demonstrations on Halloween-related subjects will be held throughout the evening, and visitors are encouraged to come in costume. Admission is just $1 per person, and additional information is available at 723-2505.

Saturday and Sunday at noon, 2 and 4 pm, you can view some frightening flicks at Off the Wall in Cambridge. The program includes Edgar Allen Poe's The Tell Tale Heart, Washington Irving's The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, Ambrose Bierce's The Return, Saki's The Open Window, and two surprises. The 90-minute program is recommended for children eight years and up and for adults. Admission is $1.50 per person. Off the Wall is located at 861 Main Street, Central Square and the telephone number is 354-5678.

Pond Meadow Park in Braintree is also offering Halloween related activities, including arts and crafts demonstrations and a Halloween Eve party, complete with apple bobbing. Craft classes are held Wednesdays at 3, Saturdays at 9:30. All events at Pond Meadow are free, and you can call 843-7663 for further details.

The South Shore Natural Science Center in Norwell is into the Halloween spirit, too. This Saturday, the Center will feature a two-part program called "Bats, Cats and Witches." Four- to six-year-olds are invited to attend from 10 am to noon. A friendly witch will elaborate on bats and on her reasons for choosing a cat as her friend. Seven-year-olds and up are asked to make an appearance at 1:30. They will learn the inside story on Eye of Bat and Tongue of Cat. Both groups of children will be led on an outdoor Spook Walk. Pumpkin carving will also be featured in each portion of the program, and all participants will have a jack o' lantern to take home. Costumes are encouraged but warm outdoor clothing is a must. The fee is $2.50 ($2 for members), and the necessary advance registration can be made by calling the Center at 659-2559.

Food | Sol Azteca

The Sol Azteca has its endearing qualities — well-chilled Mexican beers, blue and white Puebla dishes, and some truly interesting Mexican food.

By Judith Barrett

When you get a craving for some Mexican atmosphere and spicy fare, don't go to Taco Jack's (heaven forbid) or to the local Tex-Mex chili parlor. Just head straight for the Sol Azteca. It's the best Mexican restaurant in Boston.

Of course, it's not the same as being in Mexico. But the Sol Azteca has its endearing qualities, not the least of which are the well-chilled Mexican beers served in ice-cold steins, the blue and white Puebla dishes on white table cloths, and some truly interesting Mexican food.

The place fits twenty tables comfortably into two adjoining storefronts on Beacon Street in Brookline (walking distance to Fenway Park, if you're looking for a pre-game meal). It's decorated with familiar south-of-the-border clichés that somehow work to create a warm and festive atmosphere. Mexican music plays in the background, Oaxacan blankets hang from the walls and rafters, and all kinds of colorful Mexican clutter — figurines, straw hats and the like — livens up the walls.

The food is what really takes one south, though. You start with a basket heaping with crispy tortilla chips (refilled upon request) to dip into a bowl of piquante (spicy hot), fresh tomato sauce spiked with chopped onions and coriander leaves. A few dips of this and you'll realize the importance of ordering your next bottle of Superior or Carta Blanca.

There are three decent but uninspired soups on the menu, all of which should be passed up in favor of the appetizers. Called nachos, the servings are small, and each one is worth trying. The queso asado is deliciously rich, mild melted cheese drenched in tangy oil, topped with spicy chorizo sausage. Higaditos — unusually good here — are chicken livers sautéed with spices and hot pepper. The nachitos are tortilla chips topped with melted cheese and hot green chili pepper. And the guacamole is exceptional, not the bland, smooth avocado paste you usually find around town, but a puree delicately flavored with lime and coriander, studded with chunks of perfectly ripe avacados and bits of chopped onion.

It is possible to make a meal out of the appetizers, but do try to save some room for dinner. If you've never gotten beyond tacos, you should sample selections like the classic mole poblano, a piece of chicken in the rich but bitter, thick, chocolate brown mole sauce; robalo al cilantro, fresh fish in a veil of pungent green coriander and garlic sauce; carne asado, a flavorful fried piece of thinly sliced beef served with sausage, guacamole and an enchilada; or puerco en adobo, a spicy slice of roast pork. I would warn you away only from the shrimp, the camarones al cilantro and the camarones a la Veracruzana. They are tough and unappetizing.

The more typical plates are also consistently delicious. You have your choice of enchiladas: rolled tortillas filled with meat and topped with sauce. They come red (stuffed with beef, topped with tomato sauce and melted cheese) or green (filled with chicken and topped with a green avocado sauce and a splash of sour cream). Tostados are the closest you'll get to a taco. They're toasted flat tortillas topped with meat, refried beans, cheese, lettuce and a slice of avocado. Quesadillas are melted cheese-filled tortillas, and they're the least flavorful of the lot.

All dinners arrive with refried black beans, well-seasoned but dried out rice and a red cabbage salad. The only obvious shortcoming is that there's no basket of fresh hot tortillas (tortilla chips don't qualify) served with dinner — something you'll find almost everywhere in Mexico.

The service at the Sol Azteca can only be described as eager-to-please. No one is falling over you, but water glasses are conscientiously refilled, and the next beer arrives right when you want it. If you choose to start with some appetizers and then see if you're hungry for dinner, you aren't pressured into ordering everything at once. If you can't imagine eating all three enchiladas that are scheduled to arrive in front of you, no problem. Have two or one, and you'll be charged accordingly.

Notes:

Prices for appetizers at the Sol Azteca range from $1.50 to $3, tortilla-based dinners cost $5.95 and the more serious dinners run $6.95 and up. There is a $4.75 minimum charge per person, so keep that in mind if you're planning a light supper of nachos and beer. Both wine and beer are served.

Reservations are advised. There is no parking aside from the ample Brookline Street parking.

The Sol Azteca is located at 914a Beacon Street, Brookline. It is open for dinner only, Monday through Thursday 6 to 10:30 pm; Friday and Saturday 6 to 11 pm; Sunday 5 to 10 pm. The telephone number is 262-0909.

HATCH VS KING

A TAX CUT

VS

A PHONY PROMISE

The Hatch-Cowin tax program is a practical, workable, widely-hailed plan that will cut spending and taxes.

It slams the brakes on both State and local taxation at the same time.

It caps local spending.

It halts the State from mandating programs on the cities and towns.

It calls for the repeal of compulsory and binding arbitration for police and fire, and the repeal of school autonomy.

It lets cities and towns share in the State's built-in "growth" income.

It means some deep, controversial budget cuts and some serious changes in how we spend money for higher education, for welfare, for runaway school costs, for a lot of things.

But it does not mean heartless cuts of needed human services — and it does not mean short-changing our school children!

The Ed King tax "plan" is a one-page press release that was immediately ridiculed by just about every municipal official who saw it.

The President-elect of the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns said "Mr. King is totally unrealistic and naive about local government."

Based on the few details he has supplied, you are asked to swallow the most preposterous proposal ever put before intelligent voters.

He has pledged to cut property taxes by $500 million and the state budget by $500 million!

He has said he will find five times more money in welfare fraud than the most cynical welfare expert has ever claimed could be found.

He has offered no changes whatsoever that could possibly cost him a single vote. And that's the real tip-off to what his "plan" is all about.

Photography is an art form available to everyone . . .

By Stan Bicknell

A few words of preface are in order before coming to the business at hand, namely collecting photographs and local photo galleries.

Photography is an art form available to everyone; given practice and a dash of enthusiasm, any one of us can shoot a good photo, maybe even a memorable one. Taking pictures also sharpens the eye for other people's work — which makes photography different from other arts flip-flopping the usual route to creation via appreciation. The novelist read before he wrote, the painter looked at Old Masters before he daubed, but the collector of photographs has almost always used a camera before acquiring a critical eye.

Photography is no longer culturally suspect. Until recently, the man with a camera in his hand had a whiff of the commercial traveler or strolling player about him. Now, photos are a legitimate part of museum collections, and galleries give them equal consideration, with the other graphic arts, as worthy of the serious collector.

The appearance on the best seller list of Susan Sontag's "On Photography" means the mandarins now approve. It also means that before long we will be inundated with volumes of high criticism, all sober, reasoned, properly obscure and humorless. So beware.

Before that happens and confusion sets in, take some time to look at photographs, something that can be done in Boston as in few other places. The most active spots in the country for photography-as-collectibles are Boston, New York, Chicago and, so I'm told, Carmel, California.

In Boston and Cambridge, there are many galleries that sell photos, and several museums that have extensive collections and are easily within driving distance. They include the MFA, the Fogg at Harvard, Wellesley, the Worcester Art Museum and the Addison Gallery at Phillips Andover.

A Shot At Photograph Collecting

So you have a few dollars, a bare wall or two, and an urge to own photographs. Where do you begin and how much is it all going to cost? Without trying to pass off knowledge that isn't mine, allow me to recommend — and crib from — an excellent book that will tell beginners everything they will need to know about the history of photography and the technical aspects of collecting. The book is "Collecting Photographs" by Landt and Lisl Dennis, published by E P

Dutton at a modest $12.95. One book won't make you an expert, but this one will put you on the right track.

Before you haul out your checkbook, the Dennises suggest that you immerse yourself in the books and portfolios currently being written on photography, take a darkroom course and then begin to haunt the galleries. Don't rely too much on reviews by the local papers to inform you of exhibitions at the galleries. Too often, the exhibitions either aren't reviewed or the review appears just as the exhibition is about to close. What you will have to do is get on the mailing lists of the various galleries and let people

Following are the announced shows that are currently scheduled, which ought to give some idea of the variety and quality of photography available locally for the serious collector. All Newbury Street galleries are in Boston, and open during regular working hours during the week (except Monday) and on Saturday.

Harcus Krakow (262-4483), 7 Newbury Street, has an exhibition of Ralph Steiner, a contemporary of Stieglitz, coming late this winter. His prints are from the Twenties and the Thirties, many of them cityscapes of old Fords and Nehi signs along with whimsies like 'Ham and Eggs' — a slice of ham on a plate surrounded by two dozen eggs still in the shell. All of Steiner's photos have that soft, shadowy effect so often seen in the work of that era. Individual prints will cost about $200 and a portfolio of 11 can be had for $1500.

The Vision Gallery (266-9481) and Stephen Rose (267-1758) now share space at 216 Newbury Street. Rose usually shows antique prints, while Vision is more contemporary; sometimes they have dual shows, at others they alternate. Through November 7, Vision will show new acquisitions while Rose will feature prints of Pompeii as seen by Victorian photographers, costing $65 to $250 a print. From November 7 through the 25, Vision will show platinum prints of Baron DeMeyer's photos of Nijinsky, taken during the dancer's Daighilev days. At this time, Rose will have "James Valentine and the Scottish Landscape." The portfolio sells for $950. November 28 to January 6, Vision will have color prints of Stephen Shore, who recently photographed the gardens Monet painted for his famous water lilies series. Also, Rose will have prints aimed at the new collector that will span the period 1855 to 1900 priced at $100 and lower.

"Rose" by Olivia Parker, currently on display at the Vision Gallery.

Carl Siembab, the doyen of Boston photo collectors, has several shows planned for the fall at his gallery at 162 Newbury Street

A work by experimentalist Frank Siteman, presently on display at Photoworks.

(262-0146). Through October 28, he will show still lifes and landscapes by Gibson Kennedy, a contemporary photographer who lives in New York but studied at BU. The prices range from $250 to $350. Chester Michalik holds forth from November 3 through 25 with photos taken on a recent European trip and priced at $150 to $200. Siembab will have a Christmas show beginning December 1 with prints from $50, supplied by some of his regulars like Carl Chiarenza, Jane Foley and Brett Weston.

The Kiva Gallery of Photography, at 321 Newbury Street, is currently housing the work of Californian William B. Giles. His photographs of stone, ice, and more stay up to November 18. November 21 brings in photographs of New York's Central Park, all shot by Ruth Orkin from a single window in her Central West apartment, over the course of 25 years. The closing date is December 23. Call 266-9160.

The Cambridge Photo Co-op and Gallery, 188 Prospect Street, Cambridge, (354-8299) has the following shows through the fall and early winter: Stephen Smith, through November 4; Jean Keskulla, from November 5 through December 2.

Photoworks, 755 Boylston Street (267-1138), will exhibit an experimentalist, Frank Siteman, until November 6. From that date to November 24 Photoworks will present a two-woman show of Gail Berg and Dolores Kaufman.

A final anecdote will illustrate the regard in which photographs are held these days. About ten years ago, a sociology teacher at Harvard died. When the department cleaned out his office, boxes and boxes of 19th century photos — estimates run as high as 30,000 — that he used in his classes were found. At first, the intention was simply to throw them out. Instead, they were bundled off to the International Museum of Photography in Rochester, New York, which, because of its association with Kodak, had an interest in such curios. A couple of years ago, when Harvard realized it had given away one of the finest collections of period shots extant, it asked the museum to consider returning them. It wouldn't and didn't.

Not all of our local institutions have been as improvident. The Museum of Fine Arts has an outstanding collection of photographs of Alfred Stieglitz, thanks to the foresight of a curator named Clifford Ackley who purchased them in the Twenties. The collection lay ignored for decades, until the current interest in photography triggered someone's memory and sent people scurrying to the basement.

Civil War print will cost $100, a Diane Arbus $1500, and a Walker Evans somewhere in the neighborhood of $3500. But these are the top of the line. If, however, you eschew the trendy and concentrate on the good but little known photographers, you can buy prints for anywhere from $50 to $150.

The photo market is still a new thing. Experts are few. Tastes change from season to season. Dollar values accelerate upwards one day and plunge the next. But anyone who has confidence in his own eye will do well both in terms of appreciation on investment and having lovely photos in his home.

This kind of junketing, besides discovering the rare or unexpected, is that you are on your own and have to make a judgement based on taste and knowledge. By the time you begin rummaging through old trunks you ought to know what a stereograph is, a daguerreotype, a ferrotype and a carte-de-visite.

How much is this new passion going to cost? Surprisingly, not as much as you might think. Obviously, some portfolios are prohibitive for the average collector, running as they do into the mid to high five figures and even more. Individual prints are expensive, too, if you are interested only in name photographers. A Mathew Brady

Movies | Midnight Express

It's the kind of movie excitement that leaves you weak in the knees, not sick to your stomach.

Midnight Express

Directed by Alan Parker. Screenplay by Oliver Stone, based on the book by Billy Hayes with William Hoffer. With Brad Davis, Randy Quaid, John Hurt and Paul Smith. Beacon Hill, Braintree, Burlington, Danvers, Natick, Newton.

By Maggie Hall

Midnight Express (the phrase is prison slang for a means of escape) is based on the book Billy Hayes wrote about his experiences in a Turkish prison. In 1970, he was arrested at the airport in Istanbul for attempting to smuggle two kilograms of hashish back to the United States. Sentenced to four years in jail, he had served all but 53 days when a Turkish government prosecutor, hoping to make an example of Hayes, pressed for a new trial, and a life sentence. Hayes was retried; and given life, reduced to 30 years.

Brad Davis plays Billy Hayes in the movie. A newcomer to feature films, his performance is stunning. Now tender, now brooding, now raging, he descends through the circles of hell. In scenes with Mike Kellin, who plays Mr. Hayes, he is like a lost child. After his retrial, when he has heard his new sentence, he tries to restrain his fury, but he can't, it boils up, he can hardly move his lips fast enough to let it out.

Midnight Express has many scenes that are violent, but the violence is not gratuitous: the abuse of prisoners makes you as angry as it makes Billy. Director Alan Parker doesn't make the mistake of confusing suspense with gore.

There's blood but the suspense element works because Brad Davis does. He's believable in the part, and the audience is rooting for him. It's the kind of movie excitement that leaves you weak in the knees, not sick to your stomach.

Miraculously, Midnight Express is also a love story. There is a serene, sunlit sequence of Billy and his prison friend Erich (Norbert Weisser) doing yoga. Its beauty, out of place in the grime of the prison, gives Billy, and us, the strength to go on. When Susan (Irene Miracle), Billy's girlfriend, comes to visit him in prison, Billy seems barely human (he is in a ward for the criminally insane by now). They have a strange, erotic conversation. Susan doesn't know whether to laugh or cry, but we get a glimmer that everything will be alright, and it is. Billy walks out of prison almost on a fluke, something of an anti-climax to two hours of a movie that is genuinely gripping.

Movies | Short Subjects

Animal House

Brought to us by the folks at the National Lampoon, Animal House is sometimes freshman-ial. John Belushi, the pudgy psychopath from Saturday Night Live, is Bluto, principal animal of the worst house on campus, at war with the other frats, the college administration, and the local government. Not every slapstick moment is a scream, but most are. It's a very funny movie. With Tim Matheson and Donald Sutherland. Cheri; Braintree, Brockton, Chestnut Hill, Danvers, Framingham, Hanover, Lawrence, Woburn.

The Big Fix

Richard Dreyfuss stars as Moses Wine, an ex-Sixties radical with a bundle of mid-Seventies problems. Wine is a private detective in California, investigating political dirty tricks and residual terrorism. Dreyfuss himself co-produced the movie with Carl Borack. Jeremy Paul Kagan directed. Paris; Braintree, Danvers, Framingham, Hanover Mall.

Bloodbrothers

Richard Gere, Paul Sorvino and Tony Lo Bianco star in another coming-of-age-in-New-York saga, based on the novel by Richard Price. Allston, Burlington, Dedham, Peabody.

The Boys from Brazil

Hollywood, and Publisher's Row, have long had a weird fascination with Adolf Hitler and his henchmen. The Boys From Brazil is the latest entry in the "Alive and Well and Living in South America" sweeps. Based on a novel by Ira Levin (who was also responsible for Rosemary's Baby), The Boys — a cavalier title if ever there was one — tells the story of Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor known as the Angel of Death for his work in Hitler's concentration camps. In the name of all that is holy, do not take children to see The Boys From Brazil. It is technically well-done, expensively produced and slick. But it is still a dirty movie full of violence, explicit and (more terrifying) implied. The final scenes, when Mengele, played by Gregory Peck, and Nazi-hunter Ezra Lieberman (Laurence Olivier) confront each other in a Pennsylvania farmhouse (in the presence of an irritating child, played by Jeremy Black, who is the real clue to the whole scheme) are revolting. Pi Alley; Braintree, Brockton, Circle, Dedham, Lawrence, Natick, Peabody, Woburn.

Comes a Horseman

The title is unnecessarily apocalyptic: you don't have to find any spiritual message to enjoy the movie. Jane Fonda as Ella Connors and James Caan as Frank team up to save her ranch from cattle-baron Jacob Ewing (Jason Robards). Alan J. Pakula's direction is a little sluggish, there are a few too many rain-streaked horizons, and for the first half of the film Pakula depends more on Fonda setting her jaw than acting. But, the scenery is terrific (the film is set in Montana, but shot in Colorado), and Fonda is an actress to be reckoned with. If you like westerns, you'll like Comes a Horseman. If you don't, you could be pleasantly surprised. Cinema 57; Brockton, Dedham, Hanover Mall.

Days of Heaven

Days of Heaven isn't an actor's movie. It's more like a big coffee-table book of photography. Director Terence Malick has seen the incomparable beauty of the western prairie and knows how to deal with it. Some scenes are framed like pieces of art, others slide in and out of your eyes, and you are barely aware that you saw them, until they come into your dreams. Charles.

Goin' South

Despite the name, a western, with Jack Nicholson as a ne'er-do-well outlaw. Also starring Mary Steenburgen, Christopher Lloyd, and John Belushi. Charles; Allston, Framingham, Liberty Tree Mall.

Interiors

Proof, if anyone needed it, of Woody Allen's genius. The film is poised and distant, a cool, introverted look at a family that is trying hard to be a family, but they are too analytical to be happy with each other. Beautiful photography and first-class acting tear at the heart. An unbelievable movie, with Diane Keaton, Geraldine Page, Mary Beth Hurt, and Maureen Stapleton. Exeter; Danvers, Woburn.

King of Hearts

People from Cambridge always refer to King of Hearts as a Cambridge cult movie; actually, it attracts a loyal following wherever it plays. Everyone should see it once just to see what all the fuss is about; some people see it every chance they get. Alan Bates stars as a soldier who finds himself in a village deserted by all of its citizens except the inmates of the local asylum, who don't know there's a war on, and don't care. The film asks the question, "Who are the real crazies?" Nickelodeon Boston.

The Opium War

A rare movie, the first picture to come out of the People's Republic of China since the overthrow of the "Gang of Four", who had suppressed it since its production in 1964. Notwithstanding its importance as a sign of rapprochement between this country and an emerging China, it is basically a 15-year-old B movie that wouldn't be out of place on late-night television. You can root for Lord Lin Tse-Hsu and his faithful band who are trying to end the opium trade carried on by British merchants. If you are the sort that likes baddies, you can cheer for the British.

Considered as entertainment, the wonderful thing about The Opium War is that the Chinese suddenly seem familiar. You can imagine movie-goers in Peking sitting back and being entertained, just like you. Galeria.

Rocky Horror Picture Show

The camp phenomenon of midnight, with the action divided about equally between the screen and the audience, whose participation is encouraged to such an extent that discounts are given to movie-goers in costume. Exeter.

Sounder

A family movie about a family of black sharecroppers. It is both romantic and realistic, with good performances by Cicily Tyson and Paul Winfield, and music by Taj Mahal. Cabot Street Cinema in Beverly.

Up in Smoke

A comedy, written by and starring Cheech (Marin) and (Tommy) Chong, two young humorists who hitherto have appeared in clubs and on records. Edie Adams, Stacy Keach, and Strother Martin co-star. Charles; Sack Brockton, Circle, Lawrence.

A Wedding

A collection of character pieces, hung on the framework of a family wedding, and the subsequent reception, both of which go merrily astray despite the best efforts of Geraldine Chaplin, who plays a bridal consultant. Director Robert Altman is very good at this genre (see Nashville), he has a fine eye for detail and a roving camera for his cast. Amy Stryker is the bride, Desi Arnaz, Jr. is her silly groom. With Carol Burnett, Dina Merrill, Lillian Gish, and Vittorio Gassman, among others. Cheri.

The Wiz

With Diana Ross as Dorothy, Lena Horne as the good witch Glinda and Richard Pryor as the Wiz, this is the screen version of the very popular Broadway show. What was Kansas in L. Frank Baum's classic tale is now Harlem, and Oz is a jiving Manhattan fantasy. With Michael Jackson, Ted Ross and Nipsey Russell. Cinema 57.

Local Talent | La Peste

No one else sounds like La Peste. The band blasts with plenty of raw power, but the songs always take some unexpected twist.

By Michael Howell

Negative Energy. Before his mind shifted from killer hooks to Hare Krishna, George Harrison tapped it for "Don't Bother Me." Dylan's "It Ain't Me, Babe" and "Positively Fourth Street" seethe with it. And the Rolling Stones have made themselves a very tidy living from it.

When harnessed, this distilled sound of frustration has been the driving force behind some of rock's most potent songs. All too often, however, it has been abused by lesser talents who drag its pessimistic power into cacophonous nihilism (remember Bloodrock?). Bands successful at utilizing this force are able to meld an angry (though not alienating) stance with harsh music that continually drives toward releasing that anger, music that is impossible to avoid or ignore. And as both the Stones and the Who realized early on, a bit of irony adds that veneer of sophistication so important to commercial success.

La Peste, on the other hand, is strongly ironic, and anything but sophisticated. Its attack — and that is the only way to describe the approach — is raw, loud and bristling with tension. Singer/guitarist Peter Dayton's lead lines are searing and unpredictable. Bassist Mark Karl and drummer/vocalist Roger Tripp lay down a bottom as relentless as a locomotive. As a unit, they create a careening steamroller of noise. In an area packed with talented bands, La Peste may be the most original and exciting one around.

None of La Peste's members had ever played an instrument when they decided to form a band roughly three years ago. Their friends thought they were joking about their ambitions. "We'd get together to play," explains Mark, "and record all our sessions. It wasn't really music at first, but eventually it evolved. The important thing was that we didn't have any rules to hamper us. We just played and what sounded good, we kept." Classic amateurs, they were able to turn their inexperience into an asset and develop a pure, self-generating aesthetic. "That's why our music is different from everyone else's," offers Roger.

He's right. No one else sounds like La Peste. The band blasts with plenty of raw power, but the songs always take some unexpected twist. The subject matter is, well, morbid. When the group plays, often in such unlikely settings as the Boston Architectural Center or the Boston Artist Group theatre (it broke in playing the Bird Cage, a deservedly defunct bikers' hangout in the Combat Zone), crowds dance themselves into a frenzy over songs like "Spymaster," "Skin Tight," "Not Today," and "Leave Me Alone." When La Peste drives into "Kill Me Now," a cold-eyed rocker about a Vietnam vet who can't cope, it's a little eerie to hear people shouting along with the chorus.

Is all this too negative? "We're playing music by and for kids in the suburbs," asserts Roger.

"Superficially, people might think we're death-oriented. But when people first listen to a song, they only hear the hook — 'kill me now.' The song is more complex than that.

"We're asked: why don't you write about love and girls? Well, we write about what's there. Look at the paper... the television... violence and death." These two topics are prime fodder for the band's perversely ironic sensibility. In fact, fascination with these themes occasionally obscures the fact that La Peste is primarily an exhilarating, if unusual, rock roll band.

According to Mark, the band's "sinister" image is unintentional and probably not crucial. "Everywhere we play, people like us.

Anyway, we just create the songs and let people take them whatever way they want." Peter, who writes all the lyrics, is unconcerned. "The energy rush is the primary thing — when you give energy to the audience they give it back and it builds."

However consciously the band is exploiting the darker side of modern life (the name comes from a novel by existentialist author Albert Camus and translates into "The Plague"), La Peste creates forceful, original music that should be heard, if not necessarily by the faint of heart. It's tough, urban and (in an odd way) arty, and such a devastating blitzkrieg won't be everyone's cup of Red Zinger. But for those who are looking for the kick of three fingers of Old Bushmill's, La Peste delivers.

Notes:

La Peste's excellent single, cheerily entitled "Better Off Dead" b/w "Black" is available from Black Records. Highly recommended. La Peste will be appearing at The Club in Cambridge (323 Main Street, 491-7313) October 26 through 28 with The Nervous Eaters. They'll also be at Cantone's in Boston (69 Broad Street, 338-7677) from November 10 to 12, accompanied by Thrills.

"Find out if you can learn real estate this proven no-textbook way."

You can't learn today's real estate from yesterday's textbooks. Not only are most texts obsolete before they're used, most successful real estate professionals are not the bookworm type.

Based on our teaching and real estate experience, we've developed learning aids that are both current and understandable. Since 1972, we've proved to thousands — regardless of age or experience — that they can master real estate. And can pass, through actual classroom pre-tests, the toughest licensing exams.

But is our method for you? Here's how to find out — without risking a penny:

Sell yourself or walk away.

Come, as our guest, to any of the introductory sessions listed below. We start right in teaching you the business of real estate. Then, at the break, you can leave with no obligation. Or you can enroll for the rest of our course and continue learning.

Unwanted Hair?

Let's face it. Every woman has some unwanted hair. You don't have to be afraid to admit it, or to do something about it. Finally there is Depilation.

Of course, you've heard of other methods of removing unwanted hair, but often they involve pain and irritation.

Depilation is the alternative for safe and painless removal. It utilizes the same radio frequency used in standard electrolysis. Treatments given by licensed electrologists.

Make-up can be applied immediately and all parts of the body can be treated. Depilation... for both men and women.

So why face this problem day after day? Finally there's Depilation.

To celebrate our upcoming 3rd anniversary, Depilation is offering its usual free consultation with a free introductory treatment. Let us introduce you to the painless world of Depilation soon.

We're conveniently located at Coolidge Corner with ample parking and easy access to the Green Line.

Listings Restaurants

A highly arbitrary listing of Greater Boston's more notable restaurants. Credit cards are abbreviated as follows: AE... American Express BA/V... Bank Americard/Visa CB... Carte Blanche DC... Diners Club MC... MasterCard We suggest calling ahead for reservations, whenever possible, to avoid disappointment.

Athens Olympia—52 Stuart St. Boston, 426-6236. In the midst of the theatre district, the Olympia has service that's geared to get you to the show on time. On the menu: taramosalata, dolmas, saganiki, souvlaki, baklava. Exotic names, but they're all good Greek stand-bys. Hours: Daily, 11 am to 11 pm. Full bar, reservations accepted. AE, MC.

Benhana—201 Stuart Street, Boston, 542-1166. Japanese cooked at the table by knife-wielding chefs. Hibachi steaks and chicken. Full bar, moderately expensive. Hours: Daily, noon to 2 and 5:30 to 10:30 pm; Sunday 4:30 to 9 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.
Cafe Vendome—160 Commonwealth Ave, Boston, 536-3556. Some of the specials are crepes, a la Reine and de la Mer, beef liver, and drinks with names like Back Bay Bomber and Pamplermousse. Full bar, and reservations are the rule for parties of eight or more. Hours: Daily, 11:30-1 am; until 3 pm Sun. AE, BA/V, MC.

Charley's Eating and Drinking Salon—344 Newbury St. Boston, 268-3000, and in Braintree and Chestnut Hill. Good food: crab-stuffed shrimp, London broil, and excellent service, in an active, Victorian room. Full bar and moderate prices. Hours: Daily, 11:30 am-1 am. AE, CB, DC, MC.
Dom's—236 Commercial St. Boston, 523-8838. Superior veal and pasta. Try the pesto sauce in season. Things can get expensive; 15% service is included in the tab. Full bar, reservations advised. Hours: Daily 11 am-3 pm, 5 pm-1 am. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC. House charge.
Jason's—130 Clarendon St. Boston, 262-9000. Dining among palm trees and sensational salt-water aquariums. Seafood and continental specialties: oysters Rockefeller, veal Oscar, roast Long Island duck. Moderately expensive, full bar. Hours: Mon-Fri, 11:30 am-3 pm. Dinner daily 5-midnight. AE, DC.
Ken's At Copley—529 Boylston St. Boston, 266-6149. Good delicatessen food, including a long list of big sandwiches, is the order of the day at Ken's. The prices are moderate, the atmosphere informal. The line can be long, but moves along quickly. Gaze upon the dessert cases while you're waiting. Hours: Daily, 7-2:45 am. Beer and wine available. No credit cards, no reservations.
Lily's—29 North Quincy Market, Boston, 227-4242. Stylish and expensive, continental and three kinds of French cooking: Haute, provençal, and nouvelle. Full bar. Reservations are recommended. Hours: Daily for dinner, 5:30-11 pm. AE, MC.
Lulu White—3 Appleton St. Boston, 423-3652. A New Orleans style place, appropriately in the South End: shrimp Creole, dirty rice, barbecued ribs. Moderately expensive, full bar. Hours: Daily, 5 pm-2 am, Sun brunch 11 am-2 pm. Cover charge for entertainment.
No-Name—15 1/2 Fish Pier, Boston, 338-7539. Keep looking, you'll find it. Actually, the name is No-Name, and the game is fish, fish, and more fish, depending on the day's catch. Prices range from inexpensive to slightly expensive. No bar. Hours: Daily except Sat, 11 am-9:30 pm. No credit cards. You ought to call for directions if you're not adventurous.

Pasant Stock Restaurant—421 Washington St. Somerville, 354-9528. Daily menu changes on a country-French theme, not too expensive. Beer and wine only. Open Tues-Fri from noon-2. Reservation are required on Tues-Thurs evenings when there is chamber music. No credit cards.
Seaside Restaurant and Bar—188 Faneuil Hall Marketplace, Boston, 742-8728. Intimate dining in a contemporary ambience. Specialties include fresh seafoods, salads, sandwiches, prime sirloin, lobster, homemade desserts, choice wines. International bar on two levels. Popular and correspondingly crowded, so a reservation is a good idea. Full bar. Hours: Daily 11 am-2 am daily. AE, MC, House charge.
Union Oyster House—41 Union St. Boston, 227-2750. Boston's oldest eatery, the place is aptly named: oysters and other marine life star on the menu. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 11 am-9 pm; until 9:30 Fri, until 10 Sat. AE, BA/V, DC, MC.

114), Peabody, 531-1410. American cooking: Lobster pie, roast duckling Cumberland, twin lobster dinner. Full liquor license. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30 am-10 pm; Sun, noon-9 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.
The Easterly Restaurant—87 Atlantic Rd. Gloucester, American and Continental cuisine, with New England specialties, and food for your eyes, too: a terrific ocean view. Full bar. Hours: Sun-Thurs, 11:30 am-10 pm; Fri-Sat, until 11 pm. AE, BA/V, MC.
Fiske House 1798 Restaurant—1 Billerica Rd. (at Rte 129), Chelmsford, 256-4464. A registered National Historic Site, serving American food with some continental accents, like Veal Spaulding, scampi Trabucco, and fillet of sole Lafayette. Moderately expensive. Full bar. Hours: Daily, 11 am-11 pm. AE, BA/V, CB, MC.
Hardcover—15A Newbury St. Danvers, 774-1223. American favorites like sirloin and shrimp, accented with French touches like crepes. Moderate prices. Full bar. No reservations Fri-Sat, but at other times, they are not a bad idea. Hours: Mon-Thurs, 5 pm-10 pm; Fri-Sat, until 11 pm; Sun, 4 pm-9 pm. AE, MC.

Labadini's—165 State St. Newburyport, 465-9842. Small and informal, this family-owned eatery offers steaks, chops, seafood, and Italian specialties, at moderate prices. Full bar. Hours: Mon-Sat, 11:30 am-10 pm; Sun and holidays, 4 pm-10. No credit cards.
The Landing—At the Town Landing, Marblehead, 631-1878. Right on the harbor, a mostly seafood menu: Marblehead scrod, seafood casserole, fisherman's platter, and some landbound specialties as well. Moderate prices, full bar. Hours: From 11:30 am Mon-Sat, from 10:30 Sun, until 10 pm weekdays, 11 pm weekends. AE, BA/V, CB, DC, MC.

NORTH

An Historical Dining Experience

The 1798 Fiske House

RESTAURANT

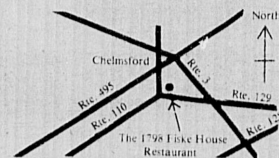

Majestically overlooking the Chelmsford Common is the Fiske House... admired for its architectural beauty since the 18th century, and enjoyed as a tavern in the 1800's, it was later bought by the Fiskes to become their home. The Fiske House is a registered National Historic Site, almost entirely in its original form. Today, the building remains one of the most stately houses in Chelmsford with its prominent place in the center of this beautiful New England Town. The area, history, and unique architecture of the building vividly express America's past.

The Fiske House invites you to relax and partake of sumptuous cuisine in the romantic atmosphere of our six eighteenth century dining rooms, each complimented by a fireplace and candlelit tables. The Fiske House is truly elegant dining for the discriminating gourmet.

Puzzle #51

Blocks, for Instance

By Don Rubin

Children are different today. Maybe you've noticed. Everything about them has changed, right down to their toys. Take blocks, for instance.

When we were kids every side of the block had a different letter on it. (Oh, sure, some had cows and ducks, but that was kindergarten stuff.) Not today. Now there's just a single letter on each of them, "scientifically designed to provide the child with a more balanced understanding of spatial relations and dimensionality."

Hogwash!

Say, why don't you join us down here on the rug and give us a hand. We were just trying to make a sentence out of these piles of cubes.

Answer to Puzzle #49

"What Hath God Wrought?"

Many of you probably wondered what it was we wrought. This puzzle was certainly one of the more difficult ones. As a matter of fact, computers at a very distinguished university had difficulties with it. The answer is: "Great Remorse to No Avail." Only eight of you knew this, probably an all-time record. Here are the winners: A M Nicolson, Concord; WW Thompson, Beverly; Meike and Larry Olin, Peabody; Connie Lawson, Arlington; Judith LeDuc, Arlington; C Volpe, Ashland; Ron Civins-Mills, Millis.

All that's new, and a sweepstakes too... It's

"SKI DREAM" SWEEPSTAKES OFFICIAL RULES...NO PURCHASE NECESSARY

On an official "SKI DREAM" entry blank, or 3" x 5" piece of paper, print your name, address, city, state and zip code. Mail entry to "SKI DREAM" SWEEPSTAKES, Box 1, Imlaystown, NJ 08526, or bring to Ski Show 78 box office. Mail entries must be received by Nov. 11, 1978. Winners will be determined in a random drawing Sunday, November 12, 1978, from among all entries received, under the supervision of an independent Sweepstakes Committee whose decisions will be final. "SKI DREAM" SWEEPSTAKES open to residents of the United States, except employees of The Ski Show Company, their agents, affiliates and families. Void wherever prohibited or restricted by law. All Federal, State and local laws and regulations apply. No substitution of prizes is allowed. Limit one prize per family. All prizes will be awarded. This Sweepstakes may be distributed in conjunction with other sponsors. Taxes and fees on prizes are the responsibility of the winners. Odds of winning will be determined by the total number of entries received. Winners will be notified by mail immediately following the drawing. Winners must be 16 years of age or older, and may be asked to execute an affidavit of eligibility and release. All awards must be presented for fulfillment in 1978. For a list of major prize winners, send a separate stamped self-addressed envelope to Ski Dream Sweepstakes Winners List, c/o The Ski Show Company, Box 1, Imlaystown, NJ 08526. (Do not include request for winners list in sweepstakes entry.)

Ed Brooke means a lot to working people.

Ed Brooke's strongest support comes from working people, the middle income families who are sick and tired of having their pockets picked by inflation and taxes. Senator Brooke has their support because he has earned their support! They know that Brooke is their voice in Washington — independent, innovative, caring, never knuckling under to the pressure groups who seem to think your paycheck is theirs to spend.

Look at Ed Brooke's record! His Young Families Housing Act; his NOW Account legislation; his Anti-Inflation Tax Relief and Reform Act; his "Brooke Amendments" to help people on fixed incomes; his battle against Fair Trade price fixing — almost every bill that carries his signature is a real, effective weapon to help the middle income wage earner! He is using his seniority, his position on powerful Senate Committees, to make it possible for working people to own a home, to keep their home, to send their children to college, to afford decent health care, to buy the things they need, to get a good job, to make the American Dream come true.

Ed Brooke is your voice in Washington — and it is a voice that is heard.

Ed Brooke means a lot to us.

Appeals board gives ok to elderly apartment complex

A comprehensive permit was granted Friday to the Winchester House Company to erect a six story, 105-unit, low or moderate income housing project for the elderly and handicapped on about a two acre site adjacent to Waterfield road and Rangely road.

The decision to approve the project, subject to 14 conditions, was handed down by the Winchester Board of Appeal. Winchester selectmen have voiced their approval of the project as long as the Boston developer addresses the conditions.

Dominic Serratore, clerk of the board of appeal and building commissioner said "Any person aggrieved by the granting of the permit may appeal to the court" as provided in Chapter 40A, Section 17 of the Massachusetts General Laws and such appeal must be made within 10 days after filing with the town clerk's office.

Now that the house company has the permit, Serratore said they must "get the financing for it."

The company is expected to apply for federal and state funds for the project since it would serve low and moderate income elderly and handicapped residents.

"We've given them the ball and it's up to them," the company, to see what they can do with it," Serratore said.

The applicant originally applied for the permit on Dec. 13, 1977. On Dec. 16, 1977 the board of appeal scheduled a public hearing for Jan. 12, 1978 in accordance with the law.

On request of the company, the hearing was postponed twice, from Jan. 12, to Feb. 2, and finally the hearing was held on March 1.

Following several revisions to the original application, the developer withdrew his request on June 20 and submitted a new application containing the same project but with more detail and information than the original.

A public hearing on the second application was held Sept. 13 with several citizens present.

Additional information requested from that public hearing was submitted by the developer Sept. 22 and a third public hearing was scheduled for Oct. 12. Again, a large number of residents, about 80, attended the hearing. The meeting was reconvened Oct. 23 and from that final hearing, the planning board informed the board of appeal that the application was acceptable "in general."

The site of the proposed project is 1.978 acres and consists of two parcels. One is 27,514 sq. ft. and is owned by Richard Realty Trust and fronts Waterfield road.

The other is 79,877 sq. ft. and is owned by Waterfield Associates and is located between the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks and Rangely road.

Joined together, the two parcels form an L shape.

The applicant has entered into contracts to acquire the land parcels at a cost of about $330,000.

A report on the project specifications will be published in next week's Star.

In Amberwood area

Loose horse keeps police running

Winchester Police have been horsing around with Dana.

Dana is a horse—a 15.2-hand-tall palamino-colored Arabian stallion.

The problem is that none of the policemen chasing Dana is a horse officer. Winchester has a dog officer who enforces the town's leash law, but how do you get a leash on a horse if you don't know how to rope?

It's hard. And Officers Donald Jackson, David Richardson, Lawrence Hill, and Thomas Parsons were the first to tell you.

The four officers have been involved in the "loose horse" affair all week in the Amberwood drive area. On four occasions, the horse evaded capture. Only once, on the fifth try Monday afternoon, was the horse captured by a girl and her dog.

Leann Papas, who says she is "almost 10 and a half," reported that she was trying to rope him and he kept on running away. "I brought my dog up and he started barking at the horse and the horse started kicking at the dog and then I grabbed his reins. Then I took the horse down to my house and we walked around."

Leann said neighbors called police "but the police never came" so she called the owner Frederick Claides of Crossman st., Woburn and the owner came and took it, she said.

On Oct. 25, Officer Jackson submitted the following report:

"I checked 28 Amberwood dr. and found a large, tan horse in the yard. I tried to grab its halter, but it shied away."

On last Friday, at 4:34 p.m., Officer Lawrence Hill wrote in his report, "I spoke to Mr. Fitzpatrick who told me the horse had left the area before I arrived. I told him to call if the horse returned."

On Monday, the horse returned. At 3:02 p.m., Officer Thomas Parsons received a call from Mrs. Fitzpatrick to report "a horse is back on her property and is damaging the lawn."

Karen Claides, 14-year-old daughter of Frederick, has been riding horses for years and who cares for this horse, said she doesn't know how the horse gets loose.

She explained, "We had a pony and he broke a fence in the corral so we got rid of him. But this horse is kept in the barn and I don't know how he gets out," Karen said.

She said the main beam to the barn recently broke and she says the horse is in the stall. She thinks the horse kicks the door and breaks the rope.

When asked why the horse returns to the same area on each escape, Karen replied,

"He goes to the house where two girls live who have been riding him for a while. I don't know who the girls are, but Dana likes them."

She said the horse is taken by the girls to their house on occasion and the horse remembers the route. The Claides live on Crossman road, Woburn which is right near the northern border of Winchester. She said

Election Tuesday

Eight questions on ballot

Winchester voters will be going to the polls Tuesday to vote for a variety of offices and to decide on several referendum questions.

Along with the state offices of governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary, treasurer, and auditor, voters will choose who to send to Washington to the US Senate and House of Representatives.

Local races include representatives to the House and Senate on Beacon Hill, district attorney for the Northern District, and the county offices of register of probate, commissioner, and treasurer.

There are seven state-wide referendum questions on the ballot, along with one local question, No. 3.

The seven state-wide questions are all proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Question No. 1 deals with a proposal to reclassify property according to its use and tax it at different rates according to that use.

Question No. 2 Would extend the time allowed for a new governor to submit his budget to the legislature.

Question No. 3 would allow the secretary of state to send ballot information to each voter or residence of one or more voters, instead of sending it to simply each voter as is now the case.

Question No. 4 Would change the definition of "residence" for census purposes to mean where a person spends most of his or her time rather than where they have a "legal domicile."

Question No. 5 would extend the time allowed for a charter commission to prepare and present a new or revised charter to the voters of a city or town.

Question No. 6 would provide that a student could neither be assigned to nor denied admittance to a public school on the basis of race, color, national origin, or creed.

Question No. 7 proposes allowing the legislature to set a different property tax rate for land used for recreation and land left in its natural state.

Question No. 8 on the Winchester ballot would instruct the local state senator whether or not to vote for a tax limitation bill. The bill would require the reduction and limitation of local property taxes by substituting revenue from state taxes. The tax limitation legislation would also provide that all state and local taxes combined shall not take a larger percentage of the total personal income in Massachusetts than the average percentage taken in the three year period immediately preceding approval. For a complete list of the candidates and questions as voters will vote on, turn to the sample ballot on pages 6B and 7B of the second section of today's Star.

Town Clerk Elsie Nelson advises voters to cut out the sample ballot, mark their votes on it, and take it with them to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 7, so that they will be able to vote quickly once in the booth. Mrs. Nelson anticipates there will be long lines at the polls because of the many questions to be answered.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. for the convenience of those who must work.

direction and general public interest over the extended period would likely result. Vote NO on Question 5.

QUESTION 3 School Assignments VOTE YES or NO

This is an unfair question. The proposed amendment says "No student shall be assigned to or denied admittance to a public school on the basis of race, color, national origin or creed." On its face, it is a simple statement to assure equality; it may even be seen as a remedy for the de facto segregation in the state. But it is supported by people who believe it will have some effect on the federally ordered desegregation of Boston schools. It won't.

In an analysis of specific situations the federal Constitution remains supreme. But you can't quarrel with the text of the amendment because if you were to reverse its meaning you'd end up saying "Blacks must go to black schools, Jews can't go to predominantly Irish or Italian schools." At the most, a YES vote and passage of this amendment is only one more factor courts would have to take into consideration in determining the fairness of school assignments and can no way limit equal protection guarantees under the Federal Constitution. There is a fine line between Linda Brown and Alan Banks and the courts will still have to draw that line. Vote YES or NO depending on whether or not you feel an additional statement of equal rights is necessary in the Massachusetts Constitution.

QUESTION 7 Land Use Taxation VOTE YES

This question would allow for a lower level of taxation on land kept in its natural state or used for recreation. It differs from Question 1 in that it addresses less than 5 percent of the land in Massachusetts, but an important 5 percent in terms of insuring environmental amenities in crowded suburban areas particularly. It is supported by the Secretary of Environmental Affairs, the Massachusetts Association of Conservation Commissioners and the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association among others. Opponents say it will benefit golf courses. Less than one-half of one percent of the land is occupied by golf courses. It would really only make legal the special consideration assessors give open space and golf courses now. If golf courses were assessed strictly as house lots now, there wouldn't be a golf course left in the state. A few years ago, much open space was lost in Stoneham when the Unicorn Golf Course was developed for office buildings and apartments. Vote YES on Question 7.

TAX LIMITATION QUESTION VOTE YES

The last question on the ballot is a non-binding advisory question which would urge a ceiling or cap on taxes. This is the only method which will cause the Massachusetts postal machinery to stand up and take notice. It is advisory only, but if you want to send a message to the legislature about taxes Vote YES on the last question, Tax Limitation.

'A close call'

School committee votes 4-1 to close Parkhurst in 1980

The vote Monday night at the school committee meeting was 4-1 to keep the Parkhurst School open until 1980, but most of the board members agree it was a close call.

Under the consolidation plan accepted by the school committee last spring, Parkhurst was to be closed in September, 1979 on two conditions: if the transfer of students would not overcrowd the Ambrose School; and if a suitable use could be found for the vacated building.

Enrollments at the school turned out to be above the projections this fall, and, according to next year's projections, Ambrose would have had to house 324 students. The administration, backed by Principal Robert Forest, recommended a top capacity at Ambrose of 300, and that was enough to convince the school board not to close Parkhurst.

The lone dissenting vote came from Dr. Heinrich Holland, who proposed renovating the Ambrose basement to handle the extra students. Holland argued that the roughly $30,000 cost of renovation would be more than made up for by the estimated $97,000 savings to be realized from closing Parkhurst.

But Superintendent William MacDonald opposed the idea, noting that the extra space at Ambrose would only be needed for one year.

"It was a close one to call," commented MacDonald of the decision. "I would like to be responsive to the community in terms of the economic needs. But I felt my charge was not to close if I feel the building (Ambrose) may be overcrowded."

The superintendent said renovating Ambrose "would allow us to operate that one year perhaps without a problem, but it still would not be ideal in terms of how the grade levels fall."

Board member Catherine Alexander put it another way:

"It was a very close call. It came down to the fact that the town wouldn't even entertain the notion of renovating the Ambrose basement, though it might have saved $60,000. She added, "The numbers were too close to call. We would have been providing a less than satisfactory environment at Ambrose. It's really not worth taking the risk for one year."

Committee Chairman Constance Papas agreed. "I strongly believe in closing schools. I prefer to spend money in areas other than buildings. But the numbers made it unreasonable to close a school at this time."

As for the Ambrose renovation, she said, "We have lots of space in this town; to create more space that soon won't be needed is a poor investment."

"I think it's a victory for common sense," said Parkhurst Parent Association President Claire Keane. "It's not an emotional issue at all. We're not making an issue about the actual building or keeping it open, but really about the educational process. It's a practical impossibility to get our children into Ambrose next year."

The board considered several alternatives, such as redistricting or moving the

Editorial

The Star's position on the 1978 referendum questions

Our editorial position on the ballot referendum questions is presented here along with a short summary of our analysis of the long range public impact of each. Our recommendations are made in light of how we see the questions affecting a suburban Boston community and the public generally.

QUESTION 1 Property Classification VOTE NO

This is perhaps the most complex question on the ballot. Proponents claim it will relieve local property taxes by shifting 10 to 15 percent more of the burden to business and industry. It sounds good but will have little actual impact here because of the small business and industrial tax base in town. Statewide, the implications for business and industry could be serious; Massachusetts has already lost enough jobs and industrial development to New Hampshire and a new anti-business tax could hurt in the long run.

But the real danger is that Question 1 is seen as a sort of safety valve by politicians who are feeling the heat of public reaction to the excessive property tax burden. They believe it will head off a Proposition 13 type movement by confusing the issue for a few years while we "give it a chance." The answer is not a phony reshuffling of tax percentages but a present limit on both state and local spending in a fixed ratio to property valuations. Only when legislatures, town meetings and school committees go into session knowing there is a present maximum annual budget which can't be exceeded will they make hard choices on priorities.

A NO vote on Question 1 means that Massachusetts will be forced to come up with a meaningful system of state and local spending limits within two years—the next election. A yes vote holds out a false promise of tax relief, means little to the suburbs and defuses the tax revolt. A similar scheme was voted down in 1970 and this one should be voted down on Tuesday. Vote NO on Question 1.

QUESTION 2 Budget Extension VOTE NO

The Governor has three weeks after January 1 to submit his annual budget to the legislature. This amendment would extend that time to eight weeks for an incoming Governor who had not served the previous year. This has been no major problem to the governing process in the past and the fact that the incoming Governor had to rely on the basic form of the outgoing administration's budget actually forces a smoother transition. The Governor may feel changes once he gets a feel for things and the present system doesn't mean unnecessary delay. It seems this amendment is change for the sake of imagined bureaucratic convenience and doesn't reflect a serious enough problem in our minds to warrant tinkering with the state Constitution. It may even be detrimental. Vote NO on Question 2.

QUESTION 3 Information for Voters VOTE NO

This is an attempt to make it even more difficult for people to get information to understand what these questions are all about, saying the state will save money on printing and mailing voter information pamphlets. The savings are projected at $75,000 but no one has calculated the costs of uniformed voter decisions on the basis of Question 1. Vote yes on this one and you may be cutting off your own copy of the official state information for Voters pamphlet, the main function of which is to summarize ballot questions and put forth pro and con arguments. Then you'd have to rely on this newspaper as your sole source of information. While we hope you'll agree with our analysis of ballot questions we think you ought to have access to as many views as possible and your own personal copy of the full question text. This $75,000 so-called "savings" is a small price to pay for priceless information. The whole idea of amending the Constitution to help cut off information to voters tests one's imagination. VOTE NO ON QUESTION 3.

QUESTION 4 Census Residence Standards VOTE NO

This amendment would require the state to use the federal system of residence standards in determining the population of cities and towns for representation purposes and distribution of state and federal funds tied to population counts. It may be a nice idea to have a system compatible with the Federal government which takes its census in years ending in 0 while the state's is in years ending with 5, but the Federal system is the one which is out of line, not the state's. The Federal system counts people where the census takers find them on census day not where they claim their legal domicile or voting residence. To adopt the Federal system would mean cities like Boston and Cambridge would get to count their transient and out-of-state college students for purposes of representation, which is only one inequality this would bring. Leave the census system which has been in effect since 1836 alone and let the Federal government do its own thing for its own purposes. Vote NO on Question 4.

QUESTION 5 Charter Time Extension VOTE NO

This would extend the time for Charter Commissions to report their recommendations to the selectmen for inclusion on the ballot at the next election. The time would go from 10 months to 18 months. Over 100 Charter Commissions in the state have successfully completed work within the 10 month deadline. Stretching it out to 18 months would only mean people would be less likely to serve on charter commissions and a loss of members, sense of
